Tweed

TWEED — Little Miss Barbara Cox is progressing favorably after sustaining a badly lacerated leg from a freak accident which necessitated several stitches some days ago. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Cox of town.

The Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly, rector of the Church of the Ascension, of Wellesley, Ont., and Mrs. Dwelly, spent a few enjoyable days in Tweed visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jarrett, and also at the Jarrett's summer cottage on Loughborough Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Keefe and children of Campbellford, spent the majority of this week visiting with Mrs. M. LaFontaine and family in Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Chisholm of Rostin and children, Mary-Ann, Shirley and Bobby of Roslin, were visitors recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Martin and Mrs. Davis of 4th Thurlow.

The Public Library was reopened on Thursday, August 7, when the librarian, Mrs. P. C. Hall, returned from her annual vacation.

Miss Judith Ann Coghlan of Port Colborne, is spending a few weeks' holidays with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Monds.

The Tweed Branch of the Canadian Legion states that when the expenses are paid from this year's bingo calculated from their well-planned Civic Holiday weekend, the remainder will be used for welfare work.

Mrs. Jim Kitchen of Belleville, spent last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Roy Kitchen, and Jimmie of Hotel Victoria St.

Miss Norma Skinner of Toronto, was a recent caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jarrett, McGowan St., Tweed.

Mr. Fred Roberts, the father of Mrs. Harry Austin, at whose home he has been staying, was taken by ambulance to a Montreal hospital on August 4th for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Aston and Jimmie and Billie, of Montreal, are spending a two weeks' holiday with Mr. and Mrs. George Thurston, Moira St.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Aston of Long Island, N.Y., are spending their vacation at one of the Bancroft cottages on Stoco Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Aston and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moffatt of Bolton, are enjoying their holidays in the Cotton cottage on Stoco Lake.

Mr. Clarence Thompson and Mr. Harvey Spencer spent Wednesday of this week in Toronto.

Operations at the local Tweed Foundries and Engineering Ltd. recently ceased and some of the equipment will be disposed of. One or two members of the staff are busy doing odd jobs and will be looking after the winding up of the business.

The strawberry crop is a good one, despite the dry weather.

Mr. John Breen is still hospitalized after being stricken suddenly at his Tweed home two weeks ago.

Mrs. Alex Laton of Tweed, and her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Chapelle, of Ottawa, are enjoying a few days' trip to Copenhagen, Denmark, where they are visiting relatives.

Harvards, Chipmunks Destined for Scrap Pile?

By DON HARVEY

There was an interesting story in last Thursday's Globe and Mail. It had to do with a house cleaning job which this Commons estimates committee suggested.

The committee recommended, among other things, that outdated elementary and intermediate RCAF training aircraft be replaced by a primary jet trainer. This would mean, presumably, that the piston-engine Chipmunk and Harvard planes would be replaced.

Flying instructors in the RCAF have believed for some years that Harvards are a little too advanced for novice pilots. Some time ago the Air Force inaugurated a brief primary training course on the basic Chipmunk trainer at Centralia, Ont.

However, it ought to be plain to see that maintaining primary and intermediate trainers in the RCAF is a costly business. Therefore, as the estimates committee has recommended, both aircraft should be retired and replaced by one jet trainer that could fill the bill as both a primary and intermediate trainer.

This is a jet age in the RCAF. Future jet pilots now must take their intermediate flying training on single-engine piston-type Harvards before embarking on an advanced jet course in T-33s. Students might find that mastering the idiosyncrasies of jet flying would be easier if they began their initial flying training and subsequent intermediate training on jets, the type yet to be decided.

Another item of interest emanated from Arthur Smith (PC, Calgary South). He expressed concern at the government's entering into any subsequent programs such as the costly CF-105 Arrow twin-turbojet interceptor without seeking some cost-sharing agreements with other friendly powers.

To date 38 "pre-production" Arrows have been ordered from Avro Aircraft Ltd. at Malton. Two 105s have been flown. It has been stated that each Arrow destined to see service in the RCAF will cost about $4,000,000. It is hardly necessary to point out that embarking on a CF-105 program without acquiring cost-sharing agreements from other nations would, indeed, be costly to Canadians.

Unfortunately, the United States does not seem to be too excited about the CF-105, although they are keeping a close watch on its development. The Montreal Gazette, in fact, printed an editorial on July 11 suggesting the Arrow could meet U.S. needs.

The Gazette said: "The interceptors the U.S. are developing and building fly as fast and as high as the CF-105, but have only half the range and half the extra equipment. This is fine for Europe, or for short-range defence of American cities, but NORAD (North American Air Defence Command) planning expressly includes the use of U.S. interceptors over Canada, too.

". . . They (CF-105s) would also be good strategy, both in the military-production sense and in the purely military. CF-105s would be ideal for the defence of the new state of Alaska, for instance."

Perhaps, though, the Gazette has overlooked the fact that the RCAF plays a very prominent role in the defence of Canada. Canadian fighter squadrons are not dependent on American support. They certainly might be, though, in time of aggression. But let us not forget one important fact: shortest distance between Russia and the US is a great circle route over the North Pole. Therefore, any Russian aircraft bent on lambasting U.S. targets would first have to get past U.S. interceptors based in Europe.

United States Air Force interceptors in Europe would likely claim a high toll of the enemy. The Russian aircraft which do succeed in getting past the American defences would still run smack into RCAF CF-105s and US continental defences in Canada's northland. Relatively few enemy bombers would likely survive that battle. Those that did would be engaged further south by other fighters and perhaps by some types of ground-to-air missiles.

Should their rambling indeed be fact, the USAF would have little need for CF-105s. Besides which, the U.S. is further advanced in aviation than Canada. Already our southern friends are tinkering with designs of aircraft that, if put into production, would fly rings around CF-105s. And we must not forget that although Canada lacks missiles, the US has produced inter-continental ballistic missiles, as well as medium and short-range missiles.

North America will not be taken off-guard in a future war. There is hardly a place in the sky that is not monitored by a radar unit. Not only is the whole of North America covered by radar, but the oceans and Europe as well. It is possible for an aircraft to take off from, say Chicago, and fly a pre-determined course all the time being "seen" on ground, sea or airborne radar screens.

Office Worker Returns After Starting Search

BRADFORD (CP)—A 23-year-old office worker returned to Toronto Thursday after starting a police search by claiming she had been doped.

Mrs. Joan Lindsay, who is separated from her husband, said she jumped from a car near Holland Marsh Thursday morning because "I felt like I'm dead." She asked for help at a nearby house and said she had been doped, but when police found her wandering in the marsh hours later clad only in shorts and a sweater she denied that she had been drugged.

She was near hysteria when picked up, police said. Later she jumped from a police car and swam a drainage canal to the far side of the swamp.

DETAIN OTHERS

While they were searching for her, police detained Catherine Casey, 23; David Burgie, 26, and William Culver, 28, all of Toronto. They were later released.

Miss Casey was held and then charged with robbing a South Mountain bank, 25 miles south of Ottawa, after admitting the manager Jan. 20.

The Casey woman said the three had picked up Mrs. Lindsay at a beach and were driving at night when she asked them to get out of the car.

They complied and he can tell tall tales.

Now in custody here, the operator switched his story completely Thursday.

Originally he said his name was Ray Ferland, that he was 22 and that he was an Australian. He said he had signed aboard a freighter in South America, jumped ship in Seattle and was planning to take a 12-foot rowboat to Portland, Ore., but later he told authorities he was heading for South America.

Now he says that his name is Kenneth Selby, he's 25 and he's a Canadian from London, Ont.

He denied the bit about the South American freighter and was said instead he started his backbending voyage in Vancouver.

Boxwood Tree Said Damaged By Owner

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. M. Lancelotta went to court asking $7,500 damages for injuries, to his boxwood sempervirens suffruticosa.

It was not just rare one, Lancelotta said, more than 100 years old, 11 feet tall and 15 feet in diameter.

He asked that Thomas J. Rhode and Company and Belter Roads Corporation be required to pay that much in damages for what he alleged they did while building a road across his property on May 21, 1957.

His boxwood sempervirens suffruticosa? It's still living, but Lancelotta says the Ardent English boxwood tree will never be the same.

Managing Editor Takes up Cudgels For Negro Airmen

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) Managing editor Ed Finn of the Western Star said Thursday some Stephenville, Nfld., businessmen are selling out their principles because white United States servicemen at the Ernest Harmon Air Base have threatened to boycott them if they deal with Negroes.

In his daily editorial, Mr. Finn said some of Stephenville's club and tavern operators "have knuckled down to the not-too-too gentle persuasion." The column followed complaints of discrimination from unidentified Negro airmen at the big USAF base about 50 miles southeast of here.

The Negro airmen said white girls employed at the base were fired for associating with Negroes, courteous and efficient service was denied them in some base recreational and dining facilities and civilian barbers and night club owners have been threatened with boycotts by white airmen if Negroes are admitted.

Col. Leon Bell of the USAF said last week in a memorandum to all military personnel that "swift and positive action would be taken against anyone practising discrimination at Harmon.

Switches Story When Cornered

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—There are two things certain about a bearded oarsman who was halted on an accidental odyssey at Westport, Wash., last Tuesday.

He can row and he can tell tall tales.

Originally he said his name was Ray Ferland, that he was 22 and that he was an Australian.

He said he had signed aboard a freighter in South America, jumped ship in Seattle and was planning to take a 12-foot rowboat to Portland, Ore., but later he told authorities he was heading for South America.

Now he says that his name is Kenneth Selby, he's 25 and he's a Canadian from London, Ont.

He denied the bit about the South American freighter and was said instead he started his backbending voyage in Vancouver.

Keen Interest In Cuban Bid For Eight Ships

OTTAWA (CP) — Government authorities are watching with interest in a $2,800,000 Cuban bid for the eight-ship West Indies fleet of Canadian National Steamships now tied up at Halifax.

Informants said Thursday the cabinet will decide within a week whether to accept the bid, considered to be the highest among a dozen bids for the ships inactive since the International Seafarers' Union (CLC) went on strike 13 months ago.

Transport Minister Hees told the Commons Wednesday he expects the ship sale to be concluded shortly.

If the Cuban offer is accepted, the ships would be absorbed into the Cuban fleet and likely will run between Halifax and a number of Caribbean points.

Garden Notes

Preparing Your Pansies for Fall

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

If your pansies have become spindly and non-blooming some wheat dwarfed it is time to cut them back. Cut off the long stems and the flowers. Work in around each plant, two tablespoons of slow-acting 6-24-24 well. Or you can use a good liquid fertilizer. Soak the soil well and in about three weeks you will have several new stems with many buds on each. Feed every two weeks with dry fertilizer or once a week with liquid fertilizer until heavy frost.

Pick all blooms off once or twice a week and you will have a good display until hard frost. At that time, when the ground is lightly frozen cover with a light mulch such as evergreen boughs. Many of the plants will winter over and you will find a few blooms up to Christmas unless the weather is unusually severe.

Nurserymen raise pansies and violas from seed and this is the time to plant them for next spring's bloom. If you would like to increase your stocks by cuttings take fresh green stems six inches long and strip off the two bottom leaves. Dip the lower half inch in water and then in rooting. Shake off excess and plant about in flats, pots, or a trench. Potting soil should be one part sand, vermiculite, or a mixture of two parts sharp sand, two parts loam, one part granulated peat and one part leaf mold.

PROVIDE SHADE

Plant in sand-shade and provide additional shade for one week, until the cuttings begin to form roots. Keep the soil damp at all times. A solution at this stage may kill the cuttings. Winter these over with a light mulch.

Pansies take two years to complete their life cycle. If you want to grow your own plants you must start the seeds now. A fine sandy compost such as the mix given above will be right for the seeds.

Water the soil well and allow to settle for two hours before planting. Fine the soil back of the surface in inch squares. With a match make a hole one-third inch deep with lukewarm water. Drop in a seed and firm down soil over top dry and water gently until seed sprouts. Keep soil damp but not soggy wet.

When the plants are one and a half inches high they may be moved to the garden. Feed weekly with liquid fertilizer.

When the ground is frozen lightly mulch with six inches of straw held in place with a few planks.

By March first you can take off the planks and loosen the mulch carefully. The second week of March take off half of the mulch.

The plants are ready to be transplanted to the border the first week of April.

Diamond Owner Bound, Gagged; Loses $100,000

Stones Just Taken From Bank Vault to Store

TORONTO (CP) — Diamond merchant Elias Freedman reported to police today he was robbed of $100,000 in diamonds after being bound and gagged by two men in his office on downtown Dundas Square.

Police said the robbery occurred just after Mr. Freedman opened his office after bringing the diamonds from a store in the Royal Bank of Canada at Dundas Square and Victoria Street. He had only recently returned from Belgium where he had purchased the diamonds for the store.

Mr. Freedman told police that one of the men was armed and no one was aware that the robbery had taken place until he ran into another office.

The robbers tore the telephone from the wall in Mr. Freedman's office.

Police said the men followed Mr. Freedman from the bank where he picked up the jewels and into the office this morning.

Mr. Freedman said one man waved a gun in Mr. Freedman's face and motioned him to be silent while the second robber cut the telephone wires.

BOUND WITH TIE

They tied all of the merchant's tie and used it to tie his hands behind his back. They bound him to his office chair with rope, gagged him, and blindfolded him with adhesive tape.

No word was spoken during the four-minute operation.

A secretary in the next office, Sonia Tkachuk, said: "There is only a slight partition between us and I had my door open, but I still didn't know a thing about it until the police came."

Mr. Freedman, who owns and operates the Freedman Diamond Company, told police it took 20 minutes to free himself.

The man closed the door of his office and calmly walked for the elevator.

Police said they were each about 5 feet 8 inches tall and both wore sports clothes. Neither wore a mask.

21,000 High School Students Await Results

TORONTO (CP) — Grade 13 students who have been anxiously awaiting results of their June examinations will be getting them sometime this week.

The Ontario department of education today mailed out results of the exams written by a record 21,000 high school students to private and secondary school principals.

Until the results have been received by students, the department will not release figures on how many passed or failed.

CHECK, DOUBLE-CHECK

A staff of 735 teachers and 200 clerks have finished marking, checking and double-checking answers on the record 118,000 papers written. About 20 per cent of the papers written last year were failures.

Results may be appealed. In some cases, teachers' recommendations have been taken into consideration and favorable decisions made to borderline cases before the final mark was entered beside a student's name.

This week all students who wrote the exams was the highest ever and officials attribute the rise to the large number of babies born in Ontario at the end of the Second World War. The number of persons who wrote exams was 7,000 higher than last year.

No supplementary exams may be written if a student fails one or two papers and wants to enter a university. He must protect his case to university officials and let them decide whether he can be accepted.

MOST REQUIRE NINE

Most Ontario universities require nine credits in papers, specifically required by the course a university student wishes to enter, before he is admitted.

However, one Grade 13 supplemental may be carried through the first year of some university courses on the understanding that a student will write the exam again the following June.

Those who have failed a number of exams must repeat the exams next year. They can spend the interval in day or night school. Or they may take a job.

Burglars Take Jewelry Valued At $165,300

NEW YORK (AP)—Taking advantage of a salesman's unwatchful eye, burglars took jewelry valued at $165,300 Sunday from two display windows in Tiffany and Company, famed jewelry store on Fifth Avenue.

Police said the gems were snatched about 20 minutes after the policeman assigned to the Tiffany area was transferred to Idlewild Airport to help form a heavy guard for the arrival of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Missing were two platinum and diamond necklaces, a platinum and diamond ring and a platinum and sapphire watch. Police said it remained in the centre of each window large enough for a person to reach through.

NOMAD ESKIMOS TO BE ORGANIZED BY GOVERNMENT

Lack of Caribou Causes Starvation

OTTAWA (CP) — The government, moved by reports of starvation and death in Canada's North, has initiated action to organize into settlements groups of nomad Eskimos whose way of life has been broken by the disappearance of caribou.

Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton told the Commons on government plans Saturday after Mervyn Hardie (L — Mackenzie River) recounted the tragedy of 14 Eskimos in the Northwest Territories who died of starvation and exposure last winter.

They had been forced near the end to eat their dogs and even their own caribou-hide clothing to stay alive and to survive.

The tragedy, said Mr. Hardie, was a sad reflection on the Progressive Conservatives' promise of a "great vision" of human and material resource development.

DEVELOPING, OVER YEARS

Two years ago he had warned that the lack of caribou on which the wandering Eskimos depended for food were fast disappearing. Yet little had been done.

"Move these Eskimos to an area where they can live," he said. "Do something; do something about that vision."

Princess Happiest When Away From Stuffy Formality of Tour

By DAL HARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Princess Margaret stepped down from the special royal train for the last time Sunday after a cross-country tour that took her from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Ottawa and back east to Halifax. Tonight she will leave by air to return to Britain.

Her tour was sometimes pleasant, sometimes gruelling, but most of the people and places she saw obviously excited her; others, despite her every composure, obviously bored her.

The princess' face she balked at what local officials arranged and demanded something more informal. She seemed happiest when she was able to break away from the stuffy formality to see and talk to ordinary people at work or play.

She broke the routine several times this weekend in the Maritimes — once during an ordinary citizens broke it for her.

In Digby, N.S., she left her motorcade on the waterfront and walked the length of a pier to talk with grizzled scallop fishermen and see their boats.

She told Mayor Gordon Turnbull she would like to go aboard one of the boats but decided the steep ramp leading down to it wasn't made for high - heeled shoes.

That was the only way to get to the boats, the mayor told her in a worried tone. The princess' face fell and said there were three ways:

"I could sit down and slide down the ramp. I could slide down the handrail. Or I could walk down the stairway."

She talked with the grand old man of the fleet, Capt. Rollie Wormell, 82. He shyly reached in his pocket, pulled out a handkerchief, polished two rare blue-colored scallop shells and gave them to her. "They're royal blue," he said.

The princess balked at Camp Gagelown, N. B., when army brass asked her to inspect still another guard of honor, a chore she performed dutifully dozens of times across Canada.

Princess Margaret Reported Broken With G. C. Townsend

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret has finally broken with Group Capt. Peter Townsend over a forthcoming book written by one of his friends, the Sunday Pictorial Newspaper The People reported Sunday.

The newspaper says in a front-page story that "the princess has let it be known that any further appearances from him would be unwelcome."

It says the "cause of the final breach between them is a book that is to be published shortly telling the whole story of their love affair."

The People added: "It has been written by a journalist named Norman Barrymaine, a close friend of Peter Townsend, and Princess Margaret naturally takes strong exception to the disclosures that are promised.

The princess, now 27, announced marriage to the divorced pilot, a commoner, in October, 1955.

She said in a statement then that she had done this because she was conscious of the teaching of the Church of England that Christian marriage was indissoluble, and of her duty to the Commonwealth.

The book, called The Story of Peter Townsend, is to be published by Peter Davies Limited.

The publishers have said that it has been written "with a foreknowledge and even knowledge, but Barrymaine knew the whole story because, as well as being a close friend of Townsend, he has been in fact guide and counsellor to him during these last most difficult years."

Members of Princess Margaret's touring household and her press spokesman said in Halifax they had no comment on the report.

Macmillan Tells Cypriots U.K. to Go Ahead With Plan

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan flew back to Britain today after talking the Greek and Turkish governments that British intends to go ahead with her seven-year plan for Cyprus.

The prime minister expressed the hope that his four days of private talks in Athens and Ankara would lead to the restoration of peace in the violence-riddled island soon.

"I am sure this is the hope of all men of goodwill," he told reporters on his departure from Ankara this morning.

He described Macmillan found some grounds for hoping Greece and Turkey will acquiesce in the plan despite reports of minor alterations.

The plan, proposed in June and criticized both in Athens and Ankara, invites Greek and Turkish participation in the task of running the colony over a seven-year transitional period.

Informed quarters said Britain shortly will make a statement on her intentions for Cyprus and then begin to put the plan into operation.

Macmillan gave the Greek and Turkish premiers details of the plan and listened to their reactions. He did not ask for specific agreement from either government.

Instead, he tried to convince them that nothing but a "cooling off" period of seven years offers any prospect of an eventual solution.

The prime minister ended his talks here a day sooner than expected.

Macmillan, together with the governor of Cyprus, Sir Hugh Foot, spent 3½ hours Sunday with Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and Foreign Minister Fatin Zorlu.

The British leader, who arrived here Saturday, had earlier held talks with Greek leaders, has been seeking Greek and Turkish agreement on a way to re-establish order in Cyprus, where violence between Greeks and Turks has cost more than 150 lives during the last two months.

A Turkish government spokesman Sunday suggested a "theoretical partition of Cyprus rather than a physical line dividing the rival Greek and Turkish communities.

"The territory division could remain theoretical, but the concept of partition would be recognized as a tripartite Anglo-Greek-Turkish administration of the island," he said.

In any final settlement, the spokesman added, Turkey would welcome the continued presence of British troops in Cyprus.

Turkey's main objection to Britain's plan is that it does not "envisage the ultimate solution for Cyprus."

BEER SUPPLIES DWINDLING FAST IN PROVINCE

No Immediate End Seen in Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario beer drinkers today faced increasingly lowering the end of the week when officials predicted supplies would dry up.

No immediate end was in sight to the strike by United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) which started last Thursday. R. W. Hilmer, president of the strikebound Brewers' Warehousing Company, predicted 3,500 of the brewing industry's 5,000 employees would be off the job today.

Only a handful of the company's 250 outlets were expected to be open. Hilmer said he anticipated individual breweries were fast running out of supplies as the company moved to restrict until transportation and distribution difficulties cleared up.

The last report of many drinkers during the hot weekend, the hotels here had said supplies would start to dwindle today and would end before the end of the week.

Clinton Melville, managing director of the Ontario Hotel Association, said supplies had gone down at a greater rate than usual because of the weekend crowds. Brewers, who couldn't get supplies elsewhere, crowded hotel beer parlors.

In a statement issued by the company, Hilmer said the strike did not result from the union demands for a 35-hour week and average weekly wage increases of between $9 and $14. The issues were overshadowed by union demands that: Only union members should not be asked to handle products of striking companies; that lower provinces continue without "abuses" being rectified; part-time and casual employees be selected from unemployed persons who previously had days' employment with the company.

Lake Superior 31 Feet Deeper Than Believed

DETROIT (AP) — Lake Superior, the world's largest body of fresh water, is 31 feet deeper than previously believed.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers disclosed Saturday that a new depth of 1,333 feet has been established by a survey by oceanographic party using underwater sound equipment and electronic positioning equipment.

Location of the new depth, described as in the lake's deepest bottom, was fixed in American waters off Grand Marais, Mich. The hole is about three-quarters of a mile across.

The previous deepest known depth was in Canadian waters near Caribou Island.

Khrushchev Tells West Weight Of Communist Camp Unbeatable

KUIBYSHEV, Russia (CP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told the West Sunday that the combined might of the Communist camp is unbeatable.

The Soviet leader, in a speech dedicating a huge hydro-electric station, accused Britain and the United States of "gunboat diplomacy" against Lebanon and Jordan and of "aggressive actions against the new Iraqi republic.

"We will do everything in our power to prevent these actions from developing into a war," Khrushchev told his audience on the Volga River.

"But if they do not come to their senses and if they unleash a new aggressive war we and all the other peace-loving countries of the world will do everything in our power to destroy the imperialist aggressors and establish peace throughout the world forever."

It was then that Khrushchev added that no one can defeat communism's combined might.

He charged that the United States and Britain acutted a summit conference by rejecting Soviet proposals and by refusing to even cover to poor mens and more troops into Lebanon and Jordan.

Gromyko Readies For Tough Fight On Middle East

Hussein Says Nasser Red Agent in Arab World

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and 75 helpers prepared today for a drive to get the United Nations General Assembly's emergency session to demand withdrawal of U.S. Troops from Lebanon and British troops' from Jordan.

Gromyko was expected to speak early in the general debate, which starts Wednesday. He said on his arrival from Moscow Sunday that the Soviet government considers the question of the withdrawals "very serious" and his delegation "will do their best . . . to achieve positive results."

Asian members were reported seeking some means of isolating the Western powers to pull their troops out quickly in the assembly could concentrate on other Middle Eastern problems.

BALANCE OF POWER

Diplomatic sources said Burma, Ceylon, India and Indonesia are seeking to bring the 23-nation Asian-African group to a common policy on the withdrawal question. The group holds the balance of power in the 81-power assembly, where a two-thirds vote is needed for any major decision.

The United States and Britain have promised to withdraw their forces when the UN organizes the two countries, whose governments have said the United Nations should act swiftly to overthrow them.

Underlining the difficult task facing the assembly, however, was a broadcast by King Hussein of Jordan accusing U.A.R. President Nasser of serving as international communism's "chief agent in the Arab world."

SAY ARMS SMUGGLED

At the same time, a Jordan government investigating committee charged that the U.A.R. and Lebanese rebels smuggled explosives into Jordan—some of it shoved UN peacekeeping forces planning to create a state of chaos. The committee said Ibrahim Ali Ibrahim, an Arab employee of the UN relief agency for Palestine refugees, had the use of UN planes.

Asian delegates at the UN pinned hopes in the Middle East plan proposed by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold Friday. It calls for (1) a pledge by Arab countries to respect the integrity, (2) Big-power agreement not to interfere in the Arab countries, (3) General Assembly approval for Middle East economic development and (4) UN protection for Jordan, Lebanon and the Israel-U.A.R. frontier.

Asians contended it would hamper expansion of the U.A.R. influence and thereby undermine the Baghdad Pact alliance on the southern Soviet border, the British hold on the southern side and even Arabian coast, and French rule over Algeria, not to mention Israel.

The United States is reported planning to propose to police forces to protect threatened countries, a peacekeeping committee and a propaganda broadcaste, an in-

Stelco Workers, Company Meet For Mediation

HAMILTON (CP) — Mediation discussions between the United Steel Workers of America (CLC) and Stelco Ltd. here and Canada open today hard on the heels of union charges of unfair propaganda tactics by the company.

The union wired Labor Minister Daley Sunday, demanding assurances newspaper advertisements in Hamilton during the company's side of the dispute would not be carried during the discussions.

The ads were published after the union voted last Wednesday to strike if necessary to support demands for wage increases refused by the conciliation board.

They appeared again today in the papers.

Union and company representatives meet in Toronto with Mr. Daley and Labor Relations Board's chief conciliation officer, Leo Love.

The 7,500-member union, in a telegram signed by local 1005 president John Lisson, said it had agreed to mediation on the assumption that no progress would be honored by both sides up to and during mediation sessions.

Lisson suggested "if Stelco had this kind of money (to spend against the union) it could be applied to wage offers designed to effect settlement of the dispute."

The company issued a statement saying wage increases would be harmful, not only to Stelco employees but to the entire national economy, and that it hoped the union would recognize the necessity of halting inflationary increases in costs and prices.

The conciliation board earlier rejected union demands for a 35-cent hourly package wage increase. Under a two-year contract which expires March 31, average wages were $2.56 an hour with a basic rate of $1.70½.

Lone Gunman Gets Big Haul

TORONTO (CP) — Police reported that a lone gunman today held up jewelers Birks-Ellis of the Royal Bank of Canada at Yonge and Bloor streets in suburban North York and escaped with $3,000.

The $3,000 figure was an unofficial estimate of the money taken. A police spokesman said the gunman might have escaped with as much as $15,000.

The lone gunman herded 12 persons—members of the bank's staff and customers—into a corner before stuffing the money into a shopping bag.

Fish Planted Escaped Several Years Ago

SMETHWICK, England (Reuters)—Members of the local angling club stocked a disused pool with 7,000 fish and settled down for some good sport.

They did not get a single bite.

That was five years ago. Patiently, the 180 club members fished through the years —still without a nibble.

Their patience exhausted, sent this week for skin divers to determine what had happened to the shoals of fish in the 15-foot deep pool.

The explanation: The fish had found an outlet to the pool and escaped—apparently several years ago.

OSD Fill Used To Build Sled And Ski Hill

September 30 is the anticipated completion date for the $1,250,000 extension to the Ontario School for the Deaf, Stanley Hersenaur, superintendent on the job for the R. J. McFarland Construction Co., Ltd., stated.

"We are right on schedule," he added.

The initial estimate of the cost of the project was about $1,250,000 but now the estimate has been increased by $750,000.

Enclosing an area between eight and nine acres immediately to the west of the older building, the project includes the building of junior and senior classrooms and dormitories, a staff residence, a central heating plant, a laundry paved avenues and landscaping.

First glance at the 16 standard classrooms would probably give an observer the impression that they are ready for occupancy. However, although the major work has nearly been completed the finishing touches have yet to be added, such as tiling the floors, installing sinks, connecting electrical fixtures already installed.

The main classroom-dormitory building measures 285 feet by 98 feet and is a one-storey design. It will accommodate approximately 180 children between the ages of three and 10 years.

What was done with the $4,000 worth of earth and rock fill? They were used to build a ski and sled hill at the rear of the rambling building.

Landscapers started work today on the lawn area at the front of the buildings.

Light standards have been installed but the power has not been turned on. Temporary electrical power is supplying the contractors' workshops.

The avenues are paved for the most part, with one or two new lanes yet to be paved.

Three major contractors — McFarland, Donovan and Comstock — are concerned with the project. Approximately 75 workmen are currently employed on the job while earlier upwards of 150 workmen were engaged.

Brilliant Weather Ushers in Opening Day Belleville Fair

Brilliant sunshine tempered with cool breezes ushered in the four-day exhibition of the Belleville Fair today.

While the annual 'Children's Day" is not programmed until Thursday many were on hand this morning when the gates were opened unofficially at a few minutes past nine.

The official opening of the exhibition takes place this evening in front of the Grandstand when the Hon. William Goodfellow, minister of agriculture in the Ontario government, will formally declare the fair open. He will be introduced by Mr. Ernest Sandercock, M.L.A. Hastings West.

The exhibition today gave every indication of substantiating the statement of the president and directors that it would be "the best in the history of the century-old exhibition".

The colorful midway was declared open at 11 a.m. and the first track show took place at ten o'clock when palomino and Shetland ponies on halter were paraded for judging.

The Conklin Midway, carnival corridor of fun is by far the best attraction of its kind seen here in many years. New rides new games with the tested shows bring of high quality and holding special attractions are outstanding features.

With the welfare of the parents as well as the children in mind, Conklin Bros. have segregated a number of kiddie rides called "Kiddie-land. This is a show by itself when parents can take their children and have all their fun in one place.

OUTSTANDING SHOW

The idol of thousands of city and district youngsters the famous dog star "Rin-Tin-Tin" and his co-stars of Fort Apache in the well-known television series presented an outstanding show this afternoon. It will be presented again tonight at 6:30 and 8:30.

To a one-to-six-months class of the baby show was held at two o'clock this afternoon with the 13-to-18-months class shown at 3 p.m. Results will be published tomorrow.

Tomorrow the stage attraction will be the famous "Snookie", Canada's vocal star of the well-known television musical show "The Hit Parade". "Snookie's" first show gets underway at 2:15 and he will appear again at 8:15 p.m. on the stage in front of the grandstand.

Harness racing lovers will thrill to their favorite sport on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with the first heat getting under way at 2 p.m. daily. The cream of harness racing horses which the fair board has been able to secure will be some thrilling racing during the final three days of the fair.

The annual track and field events under the supervision of the fair secretary Bob Phillips and Bruce Bishop will be run off in front of the grandstand tomorrow afternoon providing there are enough entries. Interest by student athletes in this event has been far from satisfactory and unless enough entries are on hand tomorrow the events will be cancelled.

COLORFUL MIDWAY

Many new showa feature the "tented city" of the Conklin Midway. For the rock-'n'-rollers there is the "Harlem Rock-n-Roll and Trinidad Calypso Troupe" said the last word in modern rhythm. Then there is Kelly's Kastle a fun-for-all show and another of a modern trend, "Hits All and Shows", with "Yvonne and Yvette" said to be the only living Siamese twins are here while the "Devil's Coach" a weird and mysterious ride is guaranteed to make the stiffest spine quiver.

Weird, mysterious fantastic people from all parts of the globe are seen in "Freaks, Oddities and Strange People", while Lemays Miniature Circus should find a ready response in both old and young.

The midway rides are by far the most colorful and entertaining ever seen at a Belleville exhibition. There is the "Flying Scooter" and the "Scrambler", the "Tilt-a-Whirl" and the "Twister". There is a giant "Flying Roller Coaster" and the "Round-up" a popular favorite on past fairs.

There are miniature fighter planes with guns mounted fore and after and small helicopters that rise and whirl with breakneck speed. There is a "Thunder Tunnel" ride that is full of thrills not to mention the ridiculous ferris-wheels, merry-go-rounds, miniature train, plane and motor-boat rides.

You can have your weight guessed or try your shooting skill with a rifle. There are games galore push-penny, numbers, wheels and for the base-ball-minded youngsters and oldsters there is an automatic pitching machine like that used in the big leagues.

Don't worry about going hungry. There are plenty of food booths where you can get a snack, a hamburg or a hotdog with chips or without. Meals, counter-style, are being served in one of the buildings.

Four Break-ins In Quinte Area Being Probed

Provincial police at Belleville are investigating four break-ins and robberies in the Belleville district on Saturday night.

At Orville May's service station just east of the Trenton Air Station on No. 2 Highway, the premises was forced and a car stolen from the garage.

At Melody's drive-in restaurant on the Foxboro Road north of the city, entry was made by thieves who made their getaway with cash and cigarets, while cash and cigarets were also missing from Wiley's garage north of Corbyville, on No. 37 highway.

Burglars who broke into an A.E. Lalonde service station on Harry Rogers of Frankford, netted enough equipment to set up light housekeeping, police said. Missing is a mantel radio, record player and a number of pots and pans and other utensils.

Driver Takes Swipe at Bee, Loses Control of Car, Hits Pole Woman Passenger Injured

TRENTON — Mrs. Lily Cohen of Montreal suffered injuries to her forehead and left eye when the car in which she was riding went out of control and struck a hydro pole on Dundas St., West, Sunday morning.

Damage to the car was estimated at $400 and replacement of the pole will cost $85.

The driver of the car, Joe Cohen of Montreal, told police a bee had come into the car while he was proceeding west on Dundas West, near house number 226, and in trying to kill it or get it out of the vehicle he lost control of the car which mounted the curb, and rammed into a hydro pole, breaking it off.

His wife received forehead against the windshield on which she was cut. She was rushed to Trenton Memorial Hospital where she received several stitches to close the gash over her eye.

The entire front end of the car, the windshield and the left front door and the right front door were all damaged in the mishap.

The accident was investigated by Constables C. B. Schwager and Gary Davis.

CALAMITY CORNER

Two motorists from Montreal this week met with an accident on the corner of Dundas West and Dufferin Street, which has been nicknamed "Calamity Corner."

A car driven by B McDonald of Montreal stopped for a red light and the car directly behind him, also being driven by a Montreaer, Dr. L. Cusnick, was unable to stop in time and rammed into the rear end of the McDonald car.

Damage to both cars was estimated at $150 with the Cusnick car the most serious and estimated at $125 to the front end.

The mishap was investigated by Staff Sergeant Walter Thomas and Constable George French.

HEAD-ON

In other accident; during the weekend two cars met head-on at the intersection of Division Street and Front Street.

The cars were driven by Bill F. Cooney, 185 Quinte Street, and Daniel Coulthar, 30 Alfred Street.

According to police reports both vehicles pulled away at the same time from the direction of Division and met in the middle of the intersection. Damage to the front end of Mr. Cooney car was estimated at $100, while no damage was reported to the second car.

Constable Gary Davis investigated the mishap.

Only one other accident was reported during the weekend and damage to the cars was reported as slight. One car was backing out of a parking space at a service station and, only slowly slowly, bumped into another.

Dig Trench Through Frazer Memorial Park

TRENTON — It will be necessary to dig a trench through or around Frazer Memorial Park when the work begins on the sewage disposal plant, which is slated to start some time this fall.

Councillor Charles Hilton brought the matter up at the last council meeting when he read a letter from Gore and Storrie asking the town to answer questions regarding digging through the park where it will be necessary to join the two main lines of sewer on the west side of the river and then to pump the sewage to the Trent River to a pumping station on the east side.

The letter from the consulting engineers asked for a reply as soon as possible to enable them to go ahead with their planning.

Councillor Hilton explained, with a diagram, that it would be possible to run the line along the side of the park next to the Cold Storage plant and in this way not disturb the lawns or flower beds. The second could run along the bend of the park where the boats dock and join somewhere in this area to go across the river.

The councillor felt that to dig up the grass and flower beds of the park would bring considerable protest and thus the scheme for the line to the edges of the park.

However, one member of the Parks Board commenting on the issue, said damage could be caused to the large trees growing along the edge of the park if a trench were dug there and that perhaps it would be best if the line were put in under the grass area of the park. If the work were done later in the fall it would give those earth time to settle over the winter months and the sod could be replaced in the spring.

It is expected the matter will be discussed tomorrow night at the regular meeting of the Parks Board.

Bowling Notes

Out of eleven pairs of mixed rinks that journeyed to Kingston from the local club on Saturday to take part in the Bailie Gait Memorial trophy tournament, three of them came home with prizes. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Graham finished sixth, three-game high, while Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller finished in eighth place on three-game high. Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Smith were third for one-game high. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox of Sterling were seventh high for three games.

The greens were like lightning, the weather was ideal and the bowling was exceptionally keen for the beautiful prizes that were offered. Laurie Mitchell and Miss Betty Pogue of Peterborough were the winners of the trophy, the RCA radio clock and the three-piece set of ladies luggage. There were 72 rinks entered in the tourney.

The trophy was in memory of Mrs. Mollie Galt, a valued member of the Kingston club and was sponsored by the Galt family, all of whom are members of the club. The trophy was presented by Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Creighton, daughters of the late Mrs. Galt. A minute of silence was observed before play started and the address of welcome was given by Art Armstrong, president of the club, and Walter Coale conducted the draw, ably assisted by William Duncan Jr.

Those rinks from Belleville taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Smith, Bill Holway and his sister, Mrs. Ken Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wiese, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Watkin, J. W. "Davey" Davison and Mrs. Charles Mott, Claude Jr. Tice and Mrs. Grace Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald B. Hyde.

Congratulations are in order to Bob Carter and Bill Hazzard for their winning of a tournament held recently in Deloro. Both received nice prizes for their efforts.

There will be another monster jitney next Monday night.

CAR ON FIRE

TRENTON — Fire engine, and men of the Trenton fire department spent a quiet week-end with no calls coming in. The last call was on August 3 at 8.10 when Lieut. Gord Coughlin answered a call to the corner of King and McLellan Sts., where a car owned by Jim Thompson of Peterborough caught fire. The car had apparently backfired and set fire to the wiring. It was quickly put out and with the damaged wires taped it was possible to drive it to the nearest garage for further repairs.

Railway crossing which also includes part of King St. The new system will cost the town about $16,000 and had been brought up at the last council meeting, but no decision was made at the time. Two new lights had been put on Front Street where it joins Division and the councillors wanted a look at these before reaching a decision.

FRESH FROM THE GARDEN

"More Canadians are eating salads than ever before," said Health Minister Mackinnon Phillips last week in Toronto. "I note this trend to healthful salad with satisfaction and am glad to encourage the people of Ontario to consume even more of these nutritious dishes. Right now there are many varieties of home-grown fresh fruits and vegetables which are plentiful and low priced. During the hot summer days there is nothing like a crisp, cool, tasty salad to stimulate a jaded appetite. The addition of meat, fish or eggs makes a salad hearty fare for those who lead vigorous lives. Raw fruits and vegetables are of certain vitamins that are lost to some extent by cooking."

Of course Dr. Phillips is only putting into words something that home gardeners have always known and that is, practically all vegetables have finer flavor when the time from the garden to the table is reduced to the shortest possible margin. To be at the peak of state of affairs to be remembered the vegetable gardens do not just happen -- as all would-be gardeners soon find out. They must be planned, preferably long before the spade or plow begins turning over the reluctant earth, particularly reluctant if it happens to be clay. Preparations must be made for planting, spraying, weeding, cultivating fertilizer into the soil. And then the work must be done.

There is plenty of it. It is no easy chore to get the seeds in on schedule, what with the weather to deal with -- it sometimes seems that it always rains on weekends. When most of the planting is done, the weeds come on apace. And with the weeds, bugs, one also bugs, also the weeds come on apace. And with the weeds and bugs come on apace together.

So it is. Any old hand will admit that his hobby means actual toil. The gardener's back aches. His knees sometimes get wobbly. His hands cake with dirt and the skin roughens under the continual work. He sweats. Insects bite him. Tiny flies sting him. The sun burns him. He is often bone-tired. Sometimes he wonders why he could not like some other pursuit that would fill his so-called leisure hours with less painful pleasure.

That is, he may ask himself that question in May or even April if he is an early starter. He probably won't in June and July if his peas do well and it never occurs to him at all, provided he has done his work manfully. From now on comes plenty to make those salads the health minister so sensibly advises. A dozen crops are ready, or nearly ready, and everything melts in the mouth. Ever put away a half dozen ears of sweet corn fresh from the garden? No need to say more.

WHAT PRICE CONTOURED TOURS?

Princess Margaret is now at the end of her tour of Canada viewing those things which Canadians believe to be the wonders of their land.

Engaged in the Cabot Trail, Lake Valley and the Canadian Rockies, witnessed a miniature Calgary Stampede, attended the Stratford Festival and viewed Niagara Falls.

All of these experiences are ones which most Canadians would enjoy.

She has been on a conducted tour such as most of us probably can't be.

And yet, who amongst the millions who would like to see a strange land in this fashion would be willing to settle for a life-time in which all sightseeing was arranged for us by others?

Royalty brings its penalties as well as its privileges.

We would hazard a guess that few of those who bemoan the fact that they will never be able to afford a conducted tour would trade places with a princess who will never experience the thrill of discovering for herself some of the strange and beautiful places of the world, but must always endure having these places shown to her on a pre-arranged schedule.

OPEN YOUR HEART

There's a tap at the door, and you jump from your seat
And you hurry to learn who is out in the street.
Who is waiting out there in the chill evening air,
At your threshold to enter your home, and you say
As you open your door:
"You are welcome once more.
Come in and make merry;
come in and be gay."

There's a tap at your heart, but you seem not to hear.
You are deaf to the call of the troubled one near;
The tapping grows louder,
But you become prouder
And colder and sterner, refusing to start
In the pathetic of despair—You've locked, barred and bolted the door of your heart.

Hospitality, yes, in your home,
It's your boast,
But not in your heart, where the world needs it most.
When some unbidden guest
Meekly taps of your breast
It is then that you escapes your lips then.
Oh, open the door
Of your heart to the core,
And answer the call of your poor fellow man.

Cottagers Win Appeal

Port William Times-Journal

Owners of summer cottages in Southern Ontario have been seeking to escape taxes levied on their properties at rates set by the municipalities in which they spend the summer. Their argument swung around the point that they were forced to support schools which their children did not attend, since they were only for the summer holidays.

As a way out one group in Innisfil Township decided to incorporate into a village, this cutting themselves away from the township. Then they ran into trouble. The Ontario Municipal Board refused their application.

However, the cottagers appealed the Board's decision and the Ontario Appeals Court has set aside the Board's ruling.

With this as a precedent, we may see a number of new villages incorporated throughout the province.

Admire New, Respect Old

Montreal Gazette

Bernard Berenson, the most famous of art critics, is over 90 years of age. From a lifetime of learning he has come to say: "What a pity that critics seem incapable of enjoying a new addiction without jeering at what went before."

It is just as well mellow wisdom. And it applies far more widely than to art criticism.

Life is just one long Victorian art, and Victorian handicrafts, Victorian furniture and Victorian glass are now being reproduced — an imitation that is the sincerest form of flattery.

Why, until about a year ago, people used to look at the illustrations in old magazines, newspapers and magazines of the 1920's and 1930's and the short skirts, how they are back as the height of fashion.

Bernard Berenson having lived and learned until his 86th year, is right. Admire the new vision, but do not jeer at what went before. With the passing of enough time, all which went before may become the admirable new vision.

Perhaps the oneness of life is the truest vision of all.

TODAY'S TALK

GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RELAX

I have been on a drive of about ago. He came to work on a book he was writing. He brought along a secretary and a couple of friends to help him out, but no sooner had he dictated a few words than he found that he selected it for a vacation award — the getting up the worst of the bargain! What that man needed was relaxation.

He is not always very good judge as in our own welfare. Relaxation has always been a problem with us. We need clean tongues, a good digestion, a calm and settled mind, and perhaps a few other things so as to face the morning light with sparkle in the eye and purpose in the soul!

Study the wonderful distribution of the nerves in your body. No piece of machinery has ever equaled the human body. You should offer respect and admiration to this creation. Remember that it all needs care and relaxation. You will be rewarded a thousand times over. Peace and calm are the gratitude of all the organs of your wonderful body!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At a highway restaurant, very smart and attractive, at which I am in the habit of lunching on my way to and from my summer cottage, I noticed that the head-waitress had been in trig while uniform, who comes and shows you to a table and generally acts as boss of the rest of the waitresses, was always a different girl each time I called.

"I see you're having trouble," I mentioned to the proprietor, "with your head waitresses. They don't seem to last long."

He laughed.

"You're not very observant," he said. "I haven't had a new girl on the staff since the start of the summer."

I was prepared to give him an argument.

"I use a system to keep the girls all happy," he said. "Each of my waitresses has her turn at being head-waitress for a week. She gets more pay for that week. She gets a chance to show her ability. The scheme makes for the most whole-hearted co-operation among the waitresses, because they know their turn is coming to be boss.

When summer ends, the proprietor prefers his staff to be old reliables, none of whom expects to be boss, and doesn't require any pampering.

Inevitable Brings Calm

Hamilton Spectator

"There was absolute calm among the passengers," — A newspaper publisher made the above comment when a plane on which he was flying had engine trouble over the Atlantic the other day.

We have grown accustomed in this air age to words like these describing the calm of passengers in airliners which find themselves in trouble, but there is precious slight into human psychology.

Calmness in danger is nothing new in the world. It is a sign of great control or of a strong nervous system. But that a plane full of people all of varying types, should react in the same way is interesting.

Obviously human beings in numbers will accept inescapable risks when they are accompanied by absolute equality.

When a plane is in trouble, one cannot get out and walk or swim. There is nothing to get excited about-trust in the skill of the crew and the imponderables of luck.

It is hard to think of a situation in life in which the chances are levelled more impressively than they are in such circumstances; the chivalrous code of the Kinmen's Club will leave no room for Akron, Ohio, where they will witness the World's Championship Soap Box Derby. The service club members will accompany Bob Wilson, Chatham Street, this city, the winner in the Soap Box Derby who will enter the derby in Akron. Keep Secrets About Sharks

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Biological scientists have been working to develop shark repellents for soldiers and sailors who are thrown into the ocean by wrecks at sea. As a preparation for a symposium meeting on the subject, the scientists applied to the Government for the privilege of testing on sharks on humans by sharks.

The request was denied "in secret". A sa consequence it was withheld from the scientists who were to attend the meeting.

Dr. Hiden T. Cox, executive director of the Research Institute of Biological Scientists, appealed to the House Government Operations Committee headed by Congressman Moss of California. Dr. Cox and Dr. Leonard Hoffman of Michigan — asked the navy to explain. The navy said the report was "classified". This is the biologist replied a ballfield' "I don't know." The navy said the report was "classified". This is the biologist replied a ballfield' "I don't know."

The navy's defence looked utterly silly when the subcommittee obtained the report and made it public. It was the result of 1,000 attacks on human beings described 55 occurred between 1907 and 1942 — before the United States entered World War II. Of the remaining 14, at least 3 were covered in newspaper accounts. Held "secret" in the report was an account of the Pearl Harbor Situation in the Waters About New York", incorporated from the Brooklyn Museum Quarterly in 1916!

Unfortunate Expression

Minneapolis Star

Apparently the recession is nearing the stage of "bottoming out," according to the economists, who thought up the term and seem very proud of it.

Bottoming out seems to have something to do with hitting bottom and reaching a level stable that a slumping economy must hit something called "bottom" before it becomes stable. But bottoming out also suggests preparing out to hit bottom and staying there, or perhaps falling through a false bottom to something else. Even as an intelligent hitting the bottom of the barrel, it is not encouraging. If the experts are just thinking of a graph and a red line that will level off before bending up again, the whole thing is simply a matter of mathematics.

At any rate, we hope that bottoming out will soon be behind us for stay, and that it will mean bottoms up for business and a more cheery economic future.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

SURGICAL REMOVAL SUGGESTED FOR MOST BIRTH MARKS

"Dear Dr. Molner: My little boy, 10 months old, has a birth mark on his forehead, right between the eyes. It is not the red kind but looks more like a scratch. I have met quite a few people who told me their babies had similar marks and they disappeared later. Is this possible? Do they have a tendency to fade or do they become worse as the child grows?" — M. L. L.

Birth marks are disorders, or irregularities, of the skin. Generally speaking they are of no more significance to the health than a freckle — although moles (pigmented nevi or colored skin blemishes) may have to be watched in one particular circumstance: If they are so located that they are subject to constant irritation—under the belt or strap, on the sole of the foot, or on the face where shaving irritates them, once a day.

For the ordinary birthmarks, there may be some nevi (and there are quite a few forms) or they may be made up of very many blood vessels, or capillaries. They may be brown, red, purple, blue, and even various shades of red. The "port wine" color is common.

The cause, in any case, is not known, in spite of the number of old wives' tales attributing the birth mark to something that happened to the mother. Those notions just aren't true.

Neither are these marks "inherited" marks. That is, one such a mark, even if it occurs, which is rarely, can't be anything other than a small bruise or discoloration which heals up and disappears as fast as any minor bruise or scrape vanishes.

Now I'd like to be smart enough to give you some powerful rules about birth marks, but I've seen enough of them to come to the conclusion that you just can't generalize. Some fade, some don't. If the position of the type of a birth mark is such that it is bound to be seriously disfiguring, most physicians feel that it should be removed early in life. (After all, the child is concerned over the ruther tiny mark in your son's case, and I understand that, but remind you some birth marks are huge, as big as a hairy scalp and cover the whole back or hips of a child, or half the face. Some of these can be truly

CROWD WANTED MORE FIDDLING

Attendance records were broken at the old-time music festival at Shelburne, Ont., when 4,000 enthusiasts crowded into the arena to witness the marathon fiddling contest. From eastern Canada and five states, 73 fiddlers presented jigs and reels in a continuous session of eight hours, and, at the end, the crowd, which kept dancing and singing, signified they wanted next year's festival to be a three-day affair. Oldest and youngest competitors in the contest were Thomas Sanders, 80, of Guelph, and Paul Winslow of Granton, Ont.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a speech at Kuibyshev once again accused the United States and Britain of plotting a war against Iraq's new republican government. He was speaking at ceremonies dedicating what the Russians call the world's greatest hydro-electric station.

Khrushchev also wrote Swedish Premier Tage Erlander and Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis asking for their support in the assembly session and also for their help in seating Red China in the UN.

Jury Commends Teen-Agers' Attempt to Save Girl's Life

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—Laboratory workers today checked for rabies the remains of a 400-pound black bear that killed a seven - year - old girl here last week after wresting the child away from her mother.

However, national park wardens said they doubted rabies would be found. They said the bear appeared in good condition—it was just as healthy as the many bears frequenting the tourist camp grounds where the youngster was mauled.

The bear, about four years old, was no stranger to the Sunwapta Falls cabin grounds 30 miles south of here. Like other bears, it had often foraged the camp, looking for tourists' food handouts. Camp workers called the bear Victor.

When Victor emerged from the bush in his last visit Friday, Barbara Coates, 7, of Calgary and her five-year-old sister Allison were behind their parents' rented cabin picking strawberries. Both let out screams. Allison ran inside the cabin but Barbara stumbled and fell.

The bear pounced on Barbara. Her mother, Mrs. Jack Coates, 30, tried to snatch her daughter clear. The bear sank its teeth into the child's back and dragged both her and Mrs. Coates about 50 yards into the woods before the latter was forced to release her grip.

A coroner's inquest decided Barbara died of a broken back and massive abdominal injuries. The six-man jury asked that wide publicity be given to the accident, the first fatal accident with bears in Jasper National Park's history.

PRAISES BRAVERY

The jury also strongly commended the bravery of three teen-age camp employees—twins Sharon and Carol Ann Macdonald, 15, of Edmonton, and Olga Delong, 17, of Sunwapta.

Carol testified Saturday that when she saw Mrs. Coates clinging to Barbara's leg, trying to pull the girl away from the bear, she ran to help.

"I cam over, yelled at the bear and threw stones at it, trying to scare it away," she said. "I ran after the bear with a stick. He kept stopping, trying to get a better grasp on the girl. She kept yelling for her mother."

Sharon and Olga joined Carol in chasing the animal into the bush. William Hayhurst, camp owner, hearing the commotion, followed the bear about 200 yards and shot it.

Second Mother To Canadians Now on Visit

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Euphemia (Effie) Menzies of Edinburgh, Scotland is second mother to 500 Canadians.

During the war she opened her home to Canadian soldiers and airmen who had nowhere to spend their furlough. Now she is the guest in Kitchener of Peter Perchaluk, one of her wartime "boys".

When war broke out, Mrs. Menzies had no notion of running a boarding house. She had three children still at school, a husband, mother and sister-in-law house to look after.

But when Canadians reached Britain, she was asked to entertain some by the Victoria League. She agreed to take two men from the Eyresiry Corps.

"That started it," she said. "From then on, we got squad after squad of Canadian men."

Extra beds were set up and rooms switched around so that up to 12 servicemen could be there at a time. Food was no problem because the Canadians were all allowed ration coupons.

"The boys and their families in Canada were very good to us," Mrs. Menzies said. "They brought beautiful parcels of fruit and tins of meat and butter."

But adopting Canadians brought heartaches too. "At Dieppe we lost four in one morning," she said.

Mrs. Menzies' husband, known as "Pop" to the Canadians, died last year. Mrs. Menzies hopes to stay in Canada a year, "if my money lasts."

PERRY—CASSIBO

White mums and pink snapdragons mingled with fern adorned the altar in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday, August 2nd, for a lovely double-ring wedding, when the Reverend Peter F. Murphy united in marriage, Pearl Alfreda Cassibo, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cassibo of Belleville to James Charles Perry, Trenton, second son of Mrs. Edward (Ethel) Perry, and the late Mr. Perry.

Sister Mary Charmaine presided at the console of the organ and rendered the traditional wedding music which included "Thou Art All Fair"; "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her floor-length bridal gown of white French Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice having a matching bolero. Her finger-tip veil of organza tulle was caught to a pillbox style headdress encrusted with seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book crested with red Sweetheart roses, and white satin streamers knotted with rosebuds.

Mrs. Fred Lalonde, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was gowned in nile-green net over taffeta with matching bolero and hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, mingled with pink and white mums.

Little eight-year-old Miss Cathy Dawe, of Peterborough, niece of the bride, was flower girl, dainty and sweet in pink taffeta with matching Hoy, shirred hat, white gloves and carrying a bouquet of blue and white mums.

Mr. Frank Dawe of Peterborough, brother-in-law of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Arthur Casibo, of Peterborough, brother of the bride, and Fred Lalonde, Belleville, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, which was decorated with pink and white streamers and pink wedding bells for the occasion.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white mums and pink snapdragons on white damask.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, gowned in embroidered grey with pink carnation corsage. She was assisted in the receiving line by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy blue polka dot with white carnation corsage.

For the wedding trip to Thornton, New York, and other eastern points, the bride chose a blue sheath style gown with matching bolero, white and blue accessories, and corsage of red roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Perry will reside at 121 Bridge Street East.

The bride graduated from Toronto, Peterborough, Shannonville, Tweed, Belleville and Trenton.

The bride's gift to her bridegroom, a leather wallet; to her matron of honor, a necklace, and to the flower girl, a white prayer book. The bridegroom's gift to his groomsman and ushers, cuff links.

FOSTER — LALONDE

A pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized in Actinolite United Church, recently, when Theresa Madonna Lalonde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Yates, and Cecil Norman Foster, son of Mr. Mary Foster of Lake St. Peter, and the late Mr. Edward Foster, were united in marriage. The Rev. Douglas Louie officiated.

The organist was Mrs. Simon Bronson, who also rendered a vocal duet with her husband.

The church was decorated with spring flowers for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractively attired in a floor-length gown of ivory lace and net over taffeta. A tiara of pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil in place and she carried a white Bible from which fell satin ribbon knotted with rosebuds.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Verna Lalonde, sister of the bride, wore a street-length gown of blue nylon chiffon with matching accessories, and carried a nosegay of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Gene Errol Foster. The ushers were Leo Lalonde, brother of the bride, and Charles Foster nephew of the bridegroom.

A dinner was held for the immediate friends and relatives at Price's Restaurant. The bride's mother received in a pale yellow dress with pink floral design, pink accessories, and a pink corsage, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a black dress of rayon crepe with matching accessories and a white corsage. A reception followed in Actinolite Community Hall where about 150 people gathered to enjoy dancing, followed by refreshments.

The happy couple left on a motor trip to visit relatives in Oshawa, and on their return will reside at Lake St. Peter.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Pukancik are pictured signing the register following their recent marriage at the Rectory of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville. PUKANCIK — GRAHAM

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Friday, July 11, at 7.30 p.m. at the rectory of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, by the Rev. Peter Murphy, when Wilma Martha Graham, of Belleville, youngest daughter of Mrs. David Wilbur Graham, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Graham became the bride of Milton J. Pukancik, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pukancik.

The bride was attractively attired in ice-blue silk organza fashioned in street-length style with matching bolero duster. She wore a pleated net headdress in matching shade having a crown of blue, feathered carnations, with blue accessories, and carried a semi-cascade of white Pinocchio poms centred by blue carnations, with pink and white feathered carnations, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet similar to that of the bride, with pink carnations and white Pinocchio poms.

Little four-year-old niece of the bride, Miss Debbie Duffy, as flower girl was demure and sweet in her pink nylon frock with matching accessories, and carrying a tiny nosegay of blue and white Pinocchio poms.

The groom was attended by Mr. William Bayerott, of Belleville.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Belleville, where a buffet luncheon was served.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask, and centred by a two-layer wedding cake topped with a dainty basket of summer flowers and clouded about the base with white tulle and the bride's bouquets.

Receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore blue crepe in street-length, with white accessories, and corsage of light-pink tea roses. Assisting her was the bridegroom's sister, Miss L. Pukancik, wearing a street-length gown of green and white polka dot crepe, white accessories and corsage of yellow and white carnations.

For travelling by motor, to New York City and Vermont, the bride chose a two-piece ensemble, with white picture hat, white accessories and carriage of red roses. While in Vermont they visited the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Winslove, while the last week of the honeymoon was spent at a cottage at Masinaw Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Pukancik are residing at 118 Chatham Street, Belleville.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at the home of Mrs. Bruce Lynch, Belleville, with Mrs Larry Cozzizzi, Mrs Frances Thompson and Miss Abbey Squier as cohostesses, when she was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts. A party was also held in the bride's honour by the staff of the Brewer's Warehousing Company, of which she is an employee.

Guests were present from Toronto; Oakville; Deseronto and Trenton.

FAIRHEAD — WARREN

A lovely, double-ring wedding was solemnized recently at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, Belleville, by the Reverend Sackville Palmer, pastor of the church, when Mary Selma Ruth Warren, of Mallorytown, Ontario, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Warren, became the bride of George Edgar Fairhead, only son of Mrs. William S. Fairhead, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Fairhead.

Tall standards of white roses, ferns and lighted candelabra adorned the chancel rail for the 7.30 p.m. ceremony.

The guest pews were designated by white satin bows centred by red roses.

Mrs. E. Pickard rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Lenore Dixon, who sang before the ceremony, "Together With Him" and during the signing of the register, "The Wedding Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Bruce Warren, the bride was radiant in her story-book bridal gown of white nylon tricot and net over satin, fashioned with shirred bodice having a Sweetheart neckline outlined with white, embroidered flowers and long sheath-like sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. She wore a tiara with seed pearls and sequins and a shoulder-length veil of silk tulle illusion and carried a white Bible crested with red, Sweetheart roses, and trailing white satin streamers knotted with red rosebuds.

Miss Lois Wright, of Belleville, was maid of honor, gowned in romance blue tricot tulle over taffeta, designed with ruched bodice, round neckline, "V"-shaped at the back, with cascading ruffles at the hemline. The bouffant skirt was in ballerina length. She wore matching headdress and mittens and carried a nosegay of pink roses, and pink tinted 'mums.

Miss Catherine Millard, as bridesmaid, was attired identically to that of the maid of honor, with matching headdress and carried a nosegay of pink roses and pink-tinted 'mums.

Mr. Hudson Rae of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Raymond Masse, also of Belleville, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Warren, Bridge St., where the bride's table was daintily appointed with white damask, and centred by a three-tier, all-white wedding cake, flanked by white and topped by orange blossoms in an ornamental container. Pink candles and the bridal bouquets encircled the base, while tall, white candles in silver holders, added a delightful nuptial note.

The guests were received by the bride's grandmother, J. M. Sugrue, of Waterbury, Conn., who was gowned in lilac blue lace with taffeta cummerbund, pink accessories, with pink Sweetheart roses corsage. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a gown of grey and mauve in flowered design, with mauve accessories, and corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip, by motor, to Niagara Falls, Lake Huron and Algonquin Park, the bride chose an ice blue, fitted dress with white duster, white accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. Mr. and Mrs. Fairhead are residing in Belleville.

GOOD MANNERS

CORRECT FOR HER TO WEAR WEDDING DRESS AND VEIL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter, 20, is to be married on Saturday, August 30th, in the chapel of a large and very famous church at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Her grandfather is critically ill in the hospital, and so we had to forgo the large wedding she had hoped for. Only the members of the immediate families will attend — there will be twelve in the wedding group — and after the ceremony we will go for the wedding dinner in a private room in a restaurant. The bride-to-be is most anxious to wear a white wedding gown and bridal veil, but she feels this might appear silly when she is walking into the restaurant. She has also bought a simply-designed pink silk organza shirt-waist dress, but she isn't sure if this would be correct either. Will you please advise us?

— Mother

Your daughter's dream of being dressed "like a real bride" should come true, even though, because of circumstances, the plans for a large church wedding have had to be changed to a very small, simple chapel wedding, with only the families present. It is entirely correct for her to wear a white wedding dress and veil, and I do hope she will. Naturally the dress should be of simple design, tasteful, and the veil might be one of the short, smart veils (tulle, I suggest) so charmingly becoming to a young bride.

Since the small wedding dinner is to be in a private room of the restaurant, and since the wedding group will probably be entering the restaurant-entrance at such an early dinner-hour, the bride need not have any self-conscious-ness whatever about wearing her wedding costume.

In case of an eventuality, and the bride wishes not to change the dress date, she may still correctly wear her simple white wedding dress and bridal veil at such a small, simple wedding . . . and perhaps (though not necessarily) have the wedding dinner. But I do think she should have the wondrous memory of wearing a white wedding dress and bridal veil on this memorable occasion. All blessings and every good wish to her.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Father — My daughter-in-law is back-seat driving.

Son — I have to see things differently now.

Father — My son is 26 years old and has worked in my business since getting out of high school, except for two years in the army. We have never had any difficulties or misunderstandings, and I always felt confident that he would succeed me in the business and take it over when I was ready to retire, which will be soon enough as I am now nearly 60.

Lately, however, there has been a great deal of tension, and it is the fact that a little more than a year ago he married a girl who is quite aggressive and has her own ideas about everything.

She has, I believe, become a back-seat driver in our business. She knows absolutely nothing about it, but I have the impression that she is telling my son what to do about everything that comes up. Where he always asked me what to do, he now insists on making decisions himself — but I am afraid they are her decisions, not his.

My own wife helped me a great deal in the business both in the early days and when our boy was in the army, but she has never tried to interfere or questioned my judgment. I know nothing that will destroy a business faster than a back-seat driver who is without experience or knowledge but insists on meddling.

Son — My father has the whole situation about as wrong as it could be. My wife is not interested in running the business or running me. I do sometimes tell her my troubles and ask her what she thinks, but she never pushes me or suggests anything to cause trouble.

My father doesn't seem to be able to understand that just my being a married man with responsibility makes a big difference in my attitude, and that I do not need to be prodded by my wife. Everything was fine when I was willing to be a little boy, but when I came back from the army I had seen how things were done elsewhere; and when I married I began to think it was time I had a little voice in the work I was doing.

Dad is always talking about what a fine future I will have some day, but he doesn't seem to realize that I have to make my future now, just as he had to do when he was my age. He thinks it an impertinence for me to suggest new ideas or to disagree with some of his old ways.

My wife worked as a private secretary to a businessman and is quite content to enjoy her home and a little leisure, but she has a very good mind and I like to discuss business problems with her. I do not see why my father should resent that.

The Council: A mountainous problem is being built here out of what most fathers would regard as a very fortunate situation.

The father's biggest mistake, perhaps, is in not welcoming his daughter-in-law's voice in the family councils.

If he suspects her of being a back-seat driver, he should ask her to sit up in front on occasion, and give her a chance to form better opinions.

He may be surprised some day to learn that she is not against him and that her business experience may be valuable.

To decidedly wrong for the father to reason that his son should remain utterly quiescent because, some day, he will inherit the business. Unless he works into his responsibilities gradually, he will not be fit to take over the business when he inherits.

A few years of waiting may seem a short and reasonable time to a father who has lived most of his life, but it can seem an eternity of frustration to a young man who is eager to learn and grow and who is being put off somewhat scornfully and unwisely.

The trouble here seems to be that the father is unwilling either to acknowledge his declining age or his son's maturing age.

On the medium grater (¼ inch hole) shred about ½ of a medium cabbage, cutting the cabbage in half to facilitate handling. To it add ½ teaspoon dried dill weed or 1 teaspoon finely chopped dill blossom, 1 small carrot, grated, on fine grater, ½ teaspoon salt and moisten with about 1-3 cup mayonnaise. Serve on a bed of lettuce cupped lettuce leaves.

Now I find myself asking you to use inner lettuce leaves and inner celery stalks all too often. Those outer leaves and stalks abound with chlorophyl and must be used up in your salads. Here we chop them hairfine and include in

TOSSED SALAD:

One cup finely shredded outer leaves of lettuce plus ½ half head of lettuce broken into bite-size pieces, 2 peeled tomatoes, cut in wedges, ¼ cup finely diced peeled cucumber, ¼ cup French dressing, 1 cup finely diced outer stalks of celery, 1 small onion or better still ½ cup finely chopped chives, ½ cup sliced radishes (optional), salt and pepper. The day's collection was $34 for the general fund.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Russell Hubble and Mrs. Don Terry spoke briefly concerning "The Hubble Hill History Book."

The Ways and Means' committee will plan another social evening at Foxboro in November with proceeds for the Book Fund. It is planned to print 100 copies of some future date.

The 1959 reunion will be held at Frankford Memorial Hall on the fourth Sunday in July.

MEDDLING SWANS

NORWICH, England (CP)—Because swans are disturbing other waterfowl, Norfolk county council plans to seek permission to control their number.

Want Expanded Program of Forest Fire Research

DORSET (CP)—Forest protection specialists from across Canada recommended Friday that the federal government spearhead an accelerated "attack on the enemy of our forest resources."

The national forest fire research conference unanimously approved, the declaration which said that Canada's forests face unnecessary and serious depletion because forest fire control methods have not kept pace with value of forest resources. It recommended a vigorous and expanded program of forest fire research.

The action came at the close of a three-day meeting of 140 representatives of government agencies and the forest industry from across Canada, held near here in the Ontario forest ranger school 100 miles north of Toronto. Some delegates came from the United States.

The conference was sponsored by the woodlands section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

FOUR MAIN POINTS

J. B. Matthews of Toronto, chief forester of the Ahlstrom Power and Paper Company, summed up the four main points of the conference as: Improved fire prevention programs; better access through use of modern equipment such as aircraft and more roads; better public education and improved training of fire fighter - concentrated research into forest fire problems.

He reviewed improvements in fire fighting technique over the last 30 years as use of tanker aeroplanes to deliver water quickly, better transportation equipment, improved radio communications and better understanding of how fires start and how they behave.

Fraser MacDougall, chief of Ontario service of The Canadian Press, said the best way to stop man-made fires is by prompt, complete and objective forest-fire reporting in newspapers and on radio broadcasts. Government agencies and the forest industry could help by seeing that the facts on fires were available promptly to newspaper reporters and to broadcasters.

POLAR SUBMARINES MAY TRANSPORT CANADIAN MINERS

Military men see a new potential in atom-age warfare in the trip of the atom-powered submarine Nautilus, above, across the Arctic. The sub made the 1,830-mile voyage under the ice in four days and encountered no difficulty. The Arctic route could be used by submarine cargo vessels as well as military transports and in the future the minerals of Canada's north may be transported under the Arctic ice to the markets of the world.

In a ceremony at the White House, President Eisenhower pins Legion of Merit on Cmdr. W. R. Anderson, who commanded the U.S. atomic submarine Nautilus on a polar sea trip under the Arctic ice cap. Cmdr. Anderson was removed from the vessel by helicopter to be brought to Washington for the ceremony.

Warns Catholics Not to Attend Nudist Congress

LONDON (Reuters) — The Roman Catholic bishop of Southwark, Most Rev. Cyril Cowderoy, has forbidden members of his flock to attend the forthcoming international nudist congress.

The congress of about 1,000 nudists from many countries will begin next Saturday on the Duke of Bedford's Woburn Abbey estate in Bedfordshire.

The bishop has told his flock that "nudism conflicts with our belief that modesty is a virtue."

A spokesman for the bishop was quoted by the Sunday Empire News as saying: "The human body itself is not an immoral thing and we are not condemning people such as some natives who live in the nude. "But nudism as a cult is wrong."

A-BOMBS FOR CHINA?

LONDON (AP)—The Sunday Times reported in a dispatch from Tokyo Sunday that Russia has supplied Communist China with a stockpile of atomic bombs. The newspaper said its information came from Japanese and American intelligence authorities. The bombs, along with promises to co-operate in modernizing Red China's army, were offered in an agreement reached at a recent defence conference in Peiping, the newspaper said.

Driving School Instructors to Be Licensed

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario transport department official disclosed Friday that the provincial government will license driving school instructors.

The spokesman said there have been complaints that instructors were using some sharp practices and were in some cases incompetent. Although the department feels municipalities should license driving schools, it considers instructors should come within its scope.

In addition to stiff driving tests, evidence of good character will be necessary before licences are granted. The testing system is under preparation and will go into effect shortly.

Indians Plan Court Battle

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — A group of St. Regis Indians plans a court battle to win exemption from payment of New York state income tax.

Arthur Hart, counsel for the St. Regis chiefs, said he will base his argument on treaty law and on general state law applying to Indians on reservations.

The state has served subpoenas on more than 100 St. Regis Indians on the ground they failed to file income tax returns due last April 15.

The Indians live on the St. Regis reservation, which spans the U.S.-Canadian border. They work on the St. Lawrence Seaway project, in the Alcoa plant here and in other industries.

The state served subpoenas on Canadian residents when they crossed to the United States to work.

Western Diplomats Bungled Summit Negotiations Says Lester Pearson at Couchiching

Architect Says Building Built To Specifications

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal architect Ernest Cormier, who supervised construction of the federal government's printing bureau, says he is "being accused of things 'done by others' in the construction of the building at Hull, Que.

He said in an interview here Saturday the air conditioning system in the bureau was built under his supervision "in complete with a basis of design given him by the government."

He was commenting on statements made before the Commons public accounts committee Friday by Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, deputy world minister.

PAYMENT STOPPED

Gen. Young testified he had stopped payment of $60,000 to the architect because of faults discovered in the building's air conditioning system.

Gen. Young said the original air conditioning system, which cost about $700,000, has to be overhauled at an estimated cost of $700,000.

He said the "chief fault" lay in the fact that construction was started before final plans and specifications were made and that the cause of this rested with Mr. Cormier. The architect has already been paid $540,000 as consultant for the bureau.

The architect said he believed Gen. Young was satisfying a good faith but did not possess all the facts. Planning for the bureau began in 1945 and Gen. Young was not appointed deputy until 1953, said Mr. Cormier. Construction started in 1949.

HAD NO AUTHORITY

Mr. Cormier said the air conditioning system performed adequately and that a recommendation he had made for improvement it had not been acted upon. He insisted he had not authority to make changes to any part of the building without official approval.

Mr. Cormier said the conditions for the operation of the air conditioning system had been specified by Hank E. Powers, the printing expert on whose testimony rested the design for the building was based. The criterion was ideal conditions for the paper not for the comfort of the employees.

About a year ago, officials decided to change the temperature and humidity specifications for the office area. This change could be made for perhaps as little as $20,000, not $700,000, Mr. Cormier said.

STILL NOT COMPLETE

Gen. Young said the building should have been completed under "ordinary circumstances" in 1952, three years after the start of construction. It still was not finished although it has been in use for almost three years. Total cost now was $18,000,000 against an original estimate of $6,000,000.

Mr. Cormier said "it's a building that will never be finished because methods of printing are changing all the time."

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—Lester B. Pearson, Nobel Peace Prize winner and national head of the Liberal party, has accused Western diplomats of bungling recent summit conference negotiations.

He spoke Saturday at the opening of the 27th Couchiching Conference, sponsored by the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs and the Ontario Government Corporation.

In a Sunday forum, Fritz Erler, foreign affairs spokesman for the West German Social Democratic party, clashed with Robert Bowie, director of the International Affairs Centre at Harvard University and former policy director for the United States state department.

OPPORTUNITY LOST

Mr. Pearson, delivering the keynote address of the conference which has "crisis '58" as its theme, said Russian Premier Khrushchev "is the original inspiration to the West for a five-power conference on the Middle East problems, presented the West with an opportunity which has been frittered away and lost by a failure of diplomacy.

"Surely with the great powers could have accepted this invitation without delay. A meeting at the highest possible level at regular official level could then have been arranged to organize this new procedure and a small summit meeting could have taken place before the end of last year in the world of Geneva."

Mr. Pearson, through a lengthy exchange of tricky communications and public statements, the world has seen the prospects of a confused and sensational propaganda conference at the United Nations in New York.

WASHINGTON PLEASED?

"In place of that, Mr. Khrushchev, Peking and Hanoi and perhaps to the relief of Washington, has covered a meeting of the Communist General Assembly."

In answer to a question by Prof. Robert McKinnon of the London School of Economics dealing with the reception of Red China, Mr. Pearson said:

"As long as we were at war with China it seemed to me justifiable not to give recognition. But since the armistice, the situation has changed. Now there is talk on all sides and in all parts of the world of recognition of Red China.

In the Bowie-Erler discussion, the West German politician advocated a policy of Western Europe, with forces in central Europe, as area he described as "heavily filled with atomic explosives."

CAN LEAD TO REVOLT

He said Communist oppression in East Germany was lead to revolt, with great danger to world peace.

Mr. Bowie disagreed, saying the danger would be greater if Western forces pulled back. Then, if such revolts occurred, Russia would order the satellite to crush the satellite empire in a move that could precipitate a third world war.

Mr. Erler retorted that it would be a country under occupation but Communist leaders than to be sorry after they had been hanged by the Russians.

RCMP Officers Sight Suspect Along Highway

PENTICTON, B. C. (CP)—RCMP officials had a fleeting glimpse during the weekend of the man who has eluded police for months in the southern Okanagan Valley for seven days.

The search for Donald Stevens, charged with wounding an RCMP corporal at a roadblock set up following the slaying of a woman fruit picker, was narrowed Sunday to the heavily-wooded Green Mountain area near here. Stevens was last seen in the road by three policemen.

Before the officers could turn their cruiser and get back to where the suspect was seen, he had disappeared into scrub timber that flanks both sides of the road. The officers was carrying a rifle over his shoulder, police said.

SHOT IN NECK

Cpl. Ralph Brown was shot in the neck while questioning a man and woman in a car near Kaleden Sudde, 26. She was killed Aug. 2 in her shack at the nearby Kaleden-Penticton irrigation area covering.

Stevens is well - known in the district as John Morrison. He has bragged that he is able to "live off the land."

Following the sighting, a farm house 25 miles to the south went into Bacon, eggs and flour were stolen.

Police said footprints led into the bush whenever a farm house was visited and that a trail was when the farm was out of sight.

CAMOUFLAGE CRUISERS

The seldom - traveled road which is criss - crossed timber which police say cannot be penetrated by foot for any great distance. It was originally a stage coach route. Police patrol cars have been using the road, camouflaged with tree boughs and bushes.

Police hope the difficult terrain, will force Stevens out to the road. Dogs are useless for tracking in the area because of the dryness and dust on the roads.

Five are Killed In Train Wreck Near New York

STERLINGTON, N. Y. (AP)—Two Erie Railroad passenger trains collided head - on today, killing five persons and injuring more than 100 others. The accident occurred when one train missed orders to wait for the other to get out of a siding.

Wrecking crews were using torches to cut the twisted wreckage where a man and a woman were reported dead.

Railroad officials said the dead included three crew members of the train that left Jersey City, a commuter train from Monroe, N. Y., to Hoboken, N.J.

The accident at this old freight station in Rockland County about 35 miles northwest of New York City happened this way, the railroad said:

A freight train at this station blocked the westbound track for train No. 36, a commutation passenger and rail-train bound for Fort Jervis, N. Y. from Hoboken. Train No. 36 was routed to the eastbound track and orders sent to hold train No. 1951 at Suffern, four miles west of here.

The orders didn't get there in time. Engineer Charles Gedney, 62, of Monroe, N. Y., was killed when his train plowed head-on into No. 53.

Among the victims were passengers, Robert Youchman of Warwick, N.Y., and Pauline Crowley of Monroe, N.Y.

Also killed were Sam Nardo, 60, engineer of No. 53, and Jack Michell, a brakeman; and Martin J. Walsh, a fireman.

The two diesel locomotives telescoped into a crazy tangle of steel but neither locomotive nor the cars were derailed.

HAMILTON (CP)—A barn and machinery were destroyed in this area during the weekend in fires which officials caused a total of $75,000 damage.

Three cows died and more than a dozen were driven to safety on the farm of Lloyd and Jex Tew. The barn, tractor, hay, a warehouse and equipment of Hamilton Pressed Brick Company were destroyed.

U.N. Scientists Reject Soviet Demand for Immediate End to Nuclear Weapons Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) United Nations scientists have rejected by a big majority a Soviet demand that they call for an immediate end to nuclear weapons tests.

They did so despite unanimous agreement that even a slow rise in world radioactivity from all sources constitutes a danger to the future of mankind.

The meeting took the view the question of effective controls over radiation of all kinds involves so much technical complexity as to be outside the scope of their UN study.

The result of the study, more than two years in preparation, has been disclosed Sunday in a 228-page report of the 15-nation UN scientific committee on the effects of atomic radiation.

At least 30 governments and six international agencies contributed 180 reports to the committee, set up by the General Assembly in December, 1955.

The committee expressed hope the 1958 assembly session would enable it to continue its work.

Various whose scientific experts made the study were Britain, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, United Arab Republic, France, India, Japan, Mexico, Sweden, the Soviet Union, and the United States.

The 15 scientists unanimously agreed on the general conclusion that even the smallest amounts of radiation are liable to cause harmful genetic and perhaps physical effects.

A key part of the report dealing with general conclusions won approval by a vote of 9 to 5 with one abstention. A breakdown was not given, but it was learned Canada and the United States voted with the majority.

This portion of the report said: "Radioactive contamination of the environment resulting from explosions of nuclear weapons constitutes a growing increment to worldwide radiation levels. This involves new and largely unknown hazards to present and future populations, these hazards being very nature, are beyond the control of the exposed persons.

"The committee concludes that all practices designed to maintain the radiation of human populations will act to the benefit of human health.

"Such steps include the avoidance of unnecessary exposures resulting from medical, industrial and other procedures for peaceful uses on the one hand, and the cessation of contamination of the environment by explosions of nuclear weapons on the other.

"The committee is aware that considerations involving effective control of all these sources of radiation involve national and international decisions which lie outside the scope of its work."

The Soviet Union submitted its own draft for this portion of the report. It would have had the committee go on record as saying:

"The physical and biological data presented in the report make it plain that efforts should be made to eliminate the uncontrolled source of radiation, i.e., to end experimental nuclear and thermonuclear explosions, and to enable the committee to draw the conclusions that there should be an immediate cessation of testing explosions of nuclear weapons."

The draft was rejected 10 to 3, with only the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and the United Arab Republic in favor. Belgium and India abstained.

IGY Approves Soviet Plan To Continue Research in '59

MOSCOW (AP)—The committee of the International Geophysical Year (IGY) Saturday formally approved a Soviet plan to extend the great scientific research program for another year —through 1959.

The plan must be ratified by the International Council of Scientific Unions, the parent body of IGY, but this is expected to be a formality.

It also will be necessary to get the participating governments to agree to foot the bill. Soviet Bank Chairman Alexei N. Kosygin put the 18-month program, which will end next December.

The extended program would be known as "International Geophysical Cooperation 1959." The decision was accompanied by recommendations for many of the IGY studies of the earth, sun and oceans to be put on a permanent basis at least a long-term basis.

THREE FIELDS

Resolutions called for a study of the possibility of permanent or long-term agencies to conduct research in the fields of space satellites, sun and ionosphere.

Also approved was the starting of a world magnetic study in a few years to chart the earth's magnetic changes.

The international council study has established special committees to put research in the Antarctic and oceanography on a long-term basis.

These decisions were the big agreed accomplishment of the gathering of about 400 world scientists who have been attending here since June 30 to discuss the results of IGY.

Referring to Soviet sharing of IGY findings, Dr. Homer E. Newell of Washington said many of the agreements on exchanging IGY data were par general. They do not guarantee an automatic and adequate flow of information, he said.

LAMENTS NO AGREEMENT

Dr. John Simpson, cosmic ray expert of the University of Chicago, said it was unfortunate no agreement had been reached on exchange of the information needed about satellite orbits and precision radio tracking.

A resolution by the committee said specific inquiries to a nation launching satellites should be promptly acknowledged. Another said specific inquiries to a nation centres be set up to arrange for regular exchange of information about orbits so that the data could be used by others.

West Germany's Economic Boom Seen Ending

BONN (Reuters) — West Germany's economic boom appears to be nearing its end.

Unsold coal stocks have swollen and crude steel production, a barometer from this industrial nation, continues its downward trend.

There are several indications the unemployed figure will rise shortly.

West German federal railways announced that it plans to lay off 5,000 men and because of the continued slump in freight traffic.

OUTLOOK POOR

Financial experts are worried over the slump in the coal and steel industries. The West German federal bank has expressed concern over the economic outlook for the next few months.

Chancellor Dr. Konrad Adenauer is over and prospects of further industrial expansion definitely are not good. It said industry's mushroom growth in the last 10 years since currency reform clearly has outstripped demand.

There is still a slight average increase in industrial production but only a few industries are contributing to it. The chemical industry, which is Germany's second biggest employment and the building industry.

The biggest single problem is the coal industry with its huge stocks of unsold fuel. Mines are closing down in the Ruhr industry city now with short week beginning to affect the pay of 400,000 miners.

Meantime, it was announced that the unemployment figure in July totalled 1,921,000 toss compared with 2,005,000 in the same month last year. Exports have picked up slightly but daily production still is headed downward.

Auto Workers In Three Plants Delay Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers executive board Saturday withheld immediate authorization of strike action at the three auto makers' plants.

The board voted to defer action after the union's General Motors, Ford and Chrysler council committees requests for formal authorization of a strike. It is necessary, the board said, that the demands. The councils represent some 400,000 workers.

Union president Walter Reuther told a press conference the decision to withhold the vote was to give the union minimum demands which include improved pensions, lengthening the layoff pay plan and travel or separation pay for workers displaced by plant relocations.

In deferring action on strike authorization, Reuther said: "We prefer to sit down at the bargaining table and conduct our good faith practical bargaining . . . We have always been opposed to a general strike."

Woodstock Man Wins Old-Time Fiddler's Contest

SHELBURNE, Ont. (CP)—Ed Gyurki, 20, of Woodstock won the championship in the Saturday night old-time fiddler's contest here.

Runnerup was Al Cherry, 25, of Wingham, Ont. Earl Mitton, Fredericton, placed third.

The novelty fiddling contest was won for the sixth successive year by Mrs. Estelle Guerin of Louisville, Ky. Mitton placed second.

More than 90 entries from five provinces and four states in the U.S. competed. Some 4,000 spectators watched the finals. It is the eighth year the event has thronged to from surrounding township to this farming community. Finalists contestants rip through waltz, jig and hoedown numbers.

Experts Use Stomach Pumps, Tranquilizers in Quest for Bigger and Cheaper Cattle

WINNIPEG (CP) — Scientists here are using stomach pumps and tranquilizers in search of big- and cheaper cattle to feed Canada's growing population.

At the University of Manitoba they are attempting to build up a fund of basic information about the biochemical workings of livestock — just how their inner processes work. Dr. Elwood Stringam, head of the University's animal science department, said basic research is hampering the work of growing better meat.

With more detailed information, researchers could do away with much hit-and-miss experimentation in their job of learning to produce meat-producing animals cheaply.

ROLE IN STOMACH

One course of basic data is the small stomach of cattle. Dr. Stringam took at a beef animal by cutting a small hole in its stomach wall and covering it with a removable plug. By removing the plug researchers can look right into the stomach studied.

Most research on livestock in Canada is designed to answer particular problems to get practical results in a hurry, Dr. Stringam said in an interview. "Quite often we get nowhere without really knowing why."

The use of tranquilizer drugs on cattle also produces such unexplained results. The experiments, which have been carried out to find out what cattle even controlled doses of tranquilizer need feed to put on the most weight than animals not receiving the drugs.

"We haven't found out why this happens," Dr. Stringam said. "Maybe it's because they aren't worried."

NEED IS PLAIN

The need for more and better meat animals is plain. By the time 1 this year Canada's population was 17,048,000, an increase of 450,000 over January 1, 1957. Last year Canadians ate an average of 163.5 pounds of meat.

One of the chief problems under attack is the search for new and cheaper feeds for livestock as well as for ways of increasing the animal's efficiency in changing food into meat.

After pioneer work at the University of Manitoba the federal government in 1955 approved use of a synthetic hormone to fatten cattle for sale. Animals fed the hormone put on weight with amounts required about 10 per cent less food and gained 15 per cent more than those on ordinary rations.

TEST ANTIBIOTICS

Tests also are under way here to see if antibiotics such as aureomycin, which have helped prevent disease in pigs and poultry, can help them fatten. Early results indicate weight more efficiently.

Improved management are being studied as well. Experiments are under way in crossbreeding Canadian cattle with such strains as Brahman, Zebu and Santa Gertrudis. Similar work has been done with sheep and swine.

Dr. Stringam said research farmers have been taking a scientific approach to the problems of livestock production for the past 10 years.

Besides adopting performance-testing systems, keeping accurate records on the economic efficiency of livestock growth, more and more farmers are switching the use of such devices as self-feeding systems, pasture rotation and lower-priced feeds to reduce costs and increase efficiency. They are also cultivating better land, growing better — balanced winter rations for their animals, and taking better care of their breeding stock.

Couple Swap Small Son for Pick-up Truck

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A young Pennsylvania couple were in jail here Sunday for swapping their five-month-old son for a pickup truck.

Police said they will probably charge Richard Readdy, 26, and his wife Helene Margaret, 20, with child abandonment.

Mrs. Readdy told a jail matron she is one month pregnant.

Officers said the couple admitted trading their infant boy for the truck owned by Lester Lee Burger, 42, of El Dorado Springs, Mo., for the week-end trip.

Burger also was in jail. Officers said he too may be charged.

Detective W. J. Cotton said Burger, his wife and seven-year-old daughter picked up the Readdys near Joplin, Mo., while en route to Tulsa.

"We stopped at a cafe to eat and in a kidding way I said I'd like to have that baby," police quoted Burger as saying. Readdy said, 'I'll take it,' and Mrs Wife agreed."

Police learned of the swap through Mrs. Gladys Prather, Burger's sister-in-law. Mrs. Prather said Burger claimed that he could not have any more children.

Anglicans Close Parley Sunday

LONDON (CP)—The Lambeth Conference ended Sunday, five days after the 310 Anglican bishops from around the world began discussing the Church's position on everything from birth control to atomic warfare.

The conference opened the bishops have met behind closed doors to thrash out problems surrounding church union, family life, racial prejudices, international tensions and broke marriages. They promised will not be known until an official statement is issued Aug. 28.

The conference ended with Westminster Abbey, where Bishop H. K. Sherill of the United States Episcopal Church and three fellow bishops that the greatest needs of the Church included more passionate preaching and more personal contact with the congregation.

NOT VITAL ISSUES

"I do not minimize the importance of many of the meetings, discussions, even controversies, but many of them are irrelevant to the real needs of the hour. However, he said, the Lambeth Conference has its dimension with a deep sense of pastoral concern."

Bishop Sherrill delivered this final sermon to the bishops at a special service attended by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, and representatives of communion along with Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, primate of Canada, and several other archbishops. The Canadian primate also read the Bible during the service.

Auto Production This Year Will Be Lowest in Decade

DETROIT (AP)—The year 1958 will go into the auto industry record books as one of the poorest of the post-war period.

It has been one of the few years in which the industry voluntarily has kept its output of passenger cars below production to avoid being overwhelmed by its own output.

Ward's Reports said production this year will not exceed 4,400,000 passenger cars.

If the estimate is correct this year's production will be the lowest since 1948 for a full year in a decade.

There have been numerous assertions, from economists in the industry, that the car makers established their own recession back in 1957.

Styling that did not meet with car buyer approval. It has also been said that high prices and, higher maintenance costs encouraged a growing preference for foreign - built, lower priced vehicles.

It is generally had anything to do with the drop in vehicle sales in the industry's production and should evaporate with introduction of new 1959 models.

CHEVROLET

Despite Suggestion House Members Will Not Lose Desks

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker's proposals for making parliamentary clocks more on time have found few takers. Politicians apparently prefer things as they are.

Thinking out loud the other day, the prime minister suggested the Canadian Commons could speed its business and improve its standard of debate if it modelled itself more closely on the British pattern.

The Mother of Parliaments at Westminster does a tremendous amount of work, he said, adding that, maybe Canadian MPs might accomplish as much if they were deprived of their desks.

At present, there are desks for all of the 265 members of the Canadian Commons. The 630 British MPs huddle together on green benches in a smaller chamber than at Ottawa.

Mr. Diefenbaker's theory is that bereft of desks on which to place numerous notes," Canadian legislators would learn to think on their feet instead of relying on texts.

An official source said the prime minister has been testing the idea to see what reactions would be.

Opposition Leader Pearson, first to comment, said with tongue in cheek that "a good many of us in this party lost our seats recently but I hope we are not going to lose our desks now."

In more serious vein, Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) told fellow MPs to watch out. The British, system might be all right under a country with a highly centralized, unitary system of government, but it would be unsuitable for Canada.

"About the only thing a British MP has to do is move his little locker to hang his hat in," said Mr. Fisher.

As well as desks, Canadian MPs have offices, some individual, some shared.

Noting the smaller dimensions of the British parliamentary building and 45 wide compared with a Canadian chamber 72 feet by 80, Fisher asked Westminster gives the impression of a "much more human institution with a fire and a bull ring and closer to the swirl of the times."

He said things might come to such a pass that opposition MPs would have to get together privately it might even lead to fisticuffs with someone like Finance Minister Fleming. Mr. Fisher had several times taken a dig at Mr. Fleming's budget and Monday's manner is little given to levity.

From the initial reaction it looks as though desks are going to stay in the Canadian Commons for a while yet.

INSURED WIFE, CHARGED WILTH MURDER

Police have charged Gaston Nicholas, 30-year-old steeplejack of Hull, Que., with murder in the death of his wife, Jacqueline, 21. She died in the Ottawa river on July 18 when she toppled from a canoe while her husband swam alongside. A short time before he had taken out $12,000 insurance on her life.

Big Debate Over Red China Shaping Up

LONDON (AP)—A big debate, centred on United States objections to recognizing Red China, is shaping up in Britain.

The first rumblings were heard here Sunday, especially from left-of-centre factions dismayed by the collapse of negotiations with Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a summit conference.

The same quarters that pressured Prime Minister Macmillan to push ahead for summit talks, despite Washington's doubts, are leading the new campaign to get Red China a seat in the United Nations.

CIRCULATE U.S. REASONS

The U.S. state department, facing new criticism for its non-recognition policy, disclosed Saturday night it is circulating to embassies abroad a memorandum of several thousand words summarizing anew the reasons for its stand. Among the reasons are Red China's intervention against United Nations forces in Korea and holding Americans as prisoners.

Britain, under a Socialist government, accorded diplomatic recognition to Red China.

Sir Winston Churchill and successive Conservative governments insisted on granting Peiping a seat in the UN as long as the Korean situation was not completely resolved.

Aneurin Bevan, foreign affairs spokesman for the Labor party, wrote in The News of the World that "It looks as though the summit talks are definitely off—at least for the time being."

SAYS SITUATION ABSURD

He said Khrushchev, in refraining from the summit took advantage of the "absurdity of allowing Chiang Kai-shek (of Nationalist China) to be represented on the Security Council of the United Nations instead of the real government of China."

Bevan said the Chinese Communists have been kept waiting for U.S. recognition ever since their revolution of 1949, while the revolutionary government of Iraq had to wait only a few weeks.

"The explanation is, of course, oil," wrote Bevan. "If we had been getting our oil from China and not from the Middle East, the recognition of Peiping would have been as prompt as that of Baghdad."

OPEN AHEAD OF TIME

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost is to open the first leg of the Frederick G. Gardiner Expressway in southwest Toronto today, two weeks ahead of schedule. The 2¼-mile section of the freeway, built for $13,000,000 runs from the Canadian National Exhibition grounds west to the Queen Elizabeth Way. The six-lane freeway is to be completed in 1965.

MORE PARKLANDS FOR CITY DWELLERS

An idea that is becoming more popular is the deeding of property for parkland to communities to guarantee oasis of trees and grass as cities and towns spread over surrounding farm and bush land. Latest, and largest property to be given to Metropolitan Toronto acts is the 375-acre tract in Pickering township formerly owned by the late Arthur Percy. He willed the land to Ontario County on condition that it be preserved in its natural state for future generations. Like the other properties controlled by the Metropolitan Conservation Authority, it will be maintained as woodland for an indefinite period. When the territory was officially opened to the public, Theresia Hackenberger, 18, and Carolyn Dukes, 20, gave the ceremony a Robin Hood touch with their bows and arrows and feathered caps.

Police Sirens Never Used In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — One common city noise that's never heard in Winnipeg is the wail of a police siren.

Police Chief Robert Taft says sirens cause more accidents than they are worth.

"Sirens are fine for open highways but not for built-up sections of a city," he said "I'm dead against them."

"They give the driver a false sense of security. Without a siren one must travel with due regard to traffic and the lives of others."

USED IN 1930s

Winnipeg police used sirens during the 1930s. They were discarded because of the number of accidents.

Manitoba highway safety director R. B. Baillie agrees with the ban on police sirens in the city.

He recalled an accident two years ago when an ambulance with siren wailing swept through a red light and hit another car.

"The patient in the ambulance wasn't an emergency case and suffered more from the accident than from his original injury."

So in Winnipeg police cruisers may roar after suspects and scream around corners—but they won't sound a siren.

NOMAD ESKIMOS

Mr. Hamilton, speaking during discussion of his department's estimates, said Mr. Hardie's "homeward" story moved our hearts." There could be no assurance that starvation among these northern natives would not recur, but the government was taking action.

Some Eskimo family groups, particularly those in the Garry Lake area west of Hudson Bay where starvations were reported, were being moved into settlements where the government could look after them.

Northern patrols by the RCMP would be co-ordinated with those by northern affairs officers to provide better Eskimo supervision. An aircraft would be designated to sweep over the area as a kind of troubleshooter.

Food caches would be supervised. But where possible, Eskimos would still be encouraged to hunt, to maintain their traditional independence.

Murdo Martin (CCF—Timmins) later described Mr. Hamilton as the man who "sold" Prime Minister Diefenbaker the vision of northland development which had paid such dividends in the March 31 election campaign.

The northern affairs debate was initiated toward the end of a day which saw Commons attendance dwindle at some points to 36 members in the 265-seat chamber. The one roll-call vote called 91 members.

Today the House begins marathon sittings with the government driving to terminate the session by Aug. 22. Meeting three times daily, the House will step up its weekly sittings to 41 hours from 25.

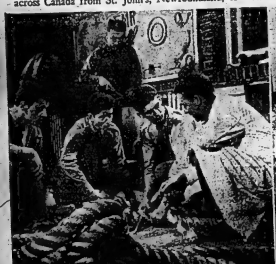
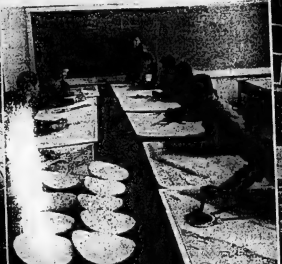
Stiff Course for a Stern Job



Young Canadians for whom the lure of the sea holds its timeless fascination may qualify for a life in the merchant navy at one of the country's six marine schools situated across Canada from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Vancouver, B.C. Above, Cadet Lemay takes his "turn at the wheel" under the watchful eye of classroom instructor M. J. Moyle at Quebec's Merchant Marine Institute at Rimouski on the south shore of the St. Lawrence.



The Rimouski school boasts a well equipped engine room with the latest in boilers, turbines and motors—all the machinery to allow students to stand their "watch" as if they were aboard an actual ship.

Captain Jean-Paul Santerre instructs cadets in signalling. The school also offers seasonal short courses for sailors who, having completed a certain amount of time at sea, wish to prepare for Department of Transport examinations.

Like sailors from time immemorial, today's seaman must know his ropes. A special ward is provided where students can practise such seamanship skills as splicing ropes, care of blocks and tackles and battening hatches.

The stiff 2-year course runs the gamut from classes in navigation and chartwork to radar plotting, astronomy, meteorology, ship construction and naval architecture.

On the parade grounds of the Rimouski school cadet officers fall in for uniform inspection. During the summer months students are given practical seamanship experience under sea-going conditions in the school's training vessel the "St. Barnabe" — a converted Fairmile, acquired from the Canadian Navy in 1949.

Boys, Girls Singles Mark Junior Tennis

OTTAWA (CP) — At least 110 matches were to be played today as the 11th annual open Canadian junior tennis championships move into first gear.

Play is to be mainly in the boys' and girls' singles. If courts and players are available, matches will be played in other classes.

About 200 Canadians and 50 Americans have entered the week-long championships — consisting of six singles and nine doubles—played annually at the picturesque Rideau Lawn Tennis Club in suburban Overbrook.

Some first and second round matches were played Sunday in the junior women's and men's singles and juvenile classes as the four- day closed championships, exclusively for Canadians, ended with interprovincial match finals.

PAT RYAN UPSET

Play was highlighted by the upset of third-ranked Canadian woman Pat Ryan of Ottawa by Della Freedhoff of Toronto, who won 6-2, 3-6, 8-6.

Ontario girls and Quebec boys captured the interprovincial titles, with Ontario defeating girls from the western provinces 3-2 and Quebec boys sweeping three straight singles matches from Ontario.

The Toronto pair of Judy Travis and Marg Benson scored the big victory for Ontario, defeating Nancy O'Brien and Maria Stubbs, both of Winnipeg, 6-1, 6-3 in doubles.

Andre Toupin of Montreal, closed junior men's singles champion, Yvon Leblanc of Marieville, Que., and Keith Carpenter of Montreal scored the singles triumphs for Quebec.

Bruce Castator Wins Another Golf Title

KINGSTON (CP)—Bruce Castator of Toronto Weston shot a record-breaking two-under-par on a wind-swept Cataraqui Golf and Country Club course Saturday to win the Eastern Ontario amateur championship and the Whig-Standard Trophy.

The 32-year-old Weston golfer shot a 69-69—138 to win the tournament for the third time, breaking his own tournament record of 144, set in 1955, by six strokes.

For the first time in the 18-year history of the event par was broken and Castator did it twice in the 36-hole medal play.

Evidence that softball is making fine headway in Eastern Ontario is indicated in the recent OASA release of playdown games and dates. This part of the Ontario mock-of-the-woods is represented in Zone Four in senior-intermediate-junior and intermediate industrial and senior.

Oshawa carries the Eastern Ontario banner in senior "A" while Kingston, Oshawa and Peterborough carry the question in senior "B" circles.

The Belleville District League sends all five of its entries down as many playdown trails in quest of titular glory. Point Anne represents the loop in intermediate "A", tangling with Kingston on August 16, in the first bracket, with Peterborough and Oshawa toeing off on August 21 in the other series.

The Cobourg Merchants at present in the throes of league finals competition with the Or. Peterborough will carry the loop flag in the intermediate "B" field and will be strong favorites to win the zone title. The Merchants hook up with Port Perry August 16 in the first round, with Picton and Napanee standing in another series the same date.

The Belleville Bobcats are monarchs of all they survey in the intermediate "AA" class. The only team in the district in this category, the Cats are automatic eastern Ontario champions. They will have to await other zone winners before seeing playdown action.

The Frankford Merchants who finished out of the running in the district league playoffs are the loop's intermediate "C" representatives and will meet Sydenham on August 16 in the first game of their series. Cardiff and Norwood tangle on the same date...with Brooklin and Claremont drawing bye.

Trenton Legion's fast-stepping juniors, despite the fact they will be able to use Bobby Hall, loom as a distinct threat for the junior "A" honors. However, they face a tough nut to crack in the first round when they tangle with Oshawa's year's champs from Oshawa. They open their eastern Ontario championship series at Oshawa on September 6.

Madoc's classy juveniles have one barrier to hurdle to cop the eastern Ontario juvenile "C" championship. They meet the Northern Lights in the first game of the series in Madoc on August 16.

In juvenile "A" Oshawa and Peterborough will tangle in the first round with the winners taking the eastern Ontario squad for the series. Picton, the lone district entry in the juvenile "B" series automatically wins the zone title.

Frankford and Stirling will go to the mat in the opening round of the juvenile "C" series starting in Stirling on August 16. Hastings and Stirlerville have drawn byes in this category. Hastings will meet the winners of the Frankford-Madoc series. Stirlerville will play the ultimate winners for the zone crown.

This immediate district has no representatives in the midget class. Oshawa meets Frenchman's Bay with Douro and Peterborough tangling in a four-way fight for the zone championship.

Lou Culhane's starry bantam champions will be forced to wait until August 27 before they see playdown action. Oshawa and Frenchman's Bay will meet in the first round with the Belleville youngsters drawing a bye and meeting the winners at either Frenchman's Bay or Oshawa in the opening game of the zone finals.

Lou Grills' peewees carry the city torch in their classification, meeting Point Anne in the first round while on another front Oshawa meets Frenchman's Bay. The Or. Point youngsters meet Lou Grills' squad here on August 20 in the opening game.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

Managed by one of their own players, Helen Reeves, the Belleville Committettes, softball team, is busily setting a good job all summer, but getting very little support.

The team, coached by Vic Morris, is a good seasonal record and now face the tough playdown trail. They meet the Oshawa club in the final game of the P.S.H. playdowns tonight at the CNRA Park starting at 6.30.

The girls, orphans as far as financial support goes, have been sponsoring themselves. They have been playing a good brand of ball and would greatly appreciate a little support at the box office.

Marlene's Brilliant Golf Swamps Calgary Challenger

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP)—Good golf won't beat Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit when she is at her best.

The 24-year-old Toronto golf wizard proved it at her best Saturday as she scorched the Saskatoon golf and Country Club course with sub-par play to win the Canadian women's open golf title for the first time.

Mary Gay of Calgary, who had lost in the open final four times previously, became a five-time loser Saturday, falling 4 and 6 in the 36-hole final despite playing a fine round in near-par figures.

STEADY AND ACCURATE

Marlene played steadily and accurately through the morning 18 holes and her approximate medal score was two under par on the par-36 course. Mary was just one hole down, however, coming in with a par 76 earned with some excellent putting and spectacular approaches.

In the afternoon, Marlene's wedge was working to perfection and she dropped the ball within easy putting distance time after time. Her putter was hot, too. She was six under par for the 13 holes played in the afternoon. It was one of the best rounds of Marlene's golfing career.

"I've never played that well in my life," she said. "I played about that well when I won the British amateur in 1953, but I haven't played that well since."

HER BEST, TOO

Miss Gay, formerly of Kitchener, has never played so well in an open final, either.

"I guess I played a lot better Saturday than I have in any other final. But it wouldn't have mattered how well I played, Marlene would have played better."

Mary was runnerup to Marlene in 1954 and 1955 and last year lost in the final to Betty Slaubaugh of Edmonton after beating Mrs. Streit in an early round. Marlene knocked Miss Slaubaugh out in the quarter-finals this year.

GALLERY FOR MARY

In Saturday's final, played in 85-degree heat, both Mary and Marlene put on a display of rare golf for the gallery of more than 2,000 — nearly all except Marlene's husband, Doug, who arrived from Toronto in time for the last five holes—pulling for Miss Gay on a sentimental basis.

The victory made Marlene one of three persons who have won the title five times. Miss M. Thompson of Saint John, N.B., did it in the years before 1910 and Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto won it five times, the last in 1925.

Marlene first won the crown in Toronto in 1951. She also won in 1954, 1955 and 1956.

Haney's Men Go Bat-Wacky With 5 Triples 10 Doubles 2 Homers Off Phil Hurlers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It will be a long time before the season's largest crowd at Philadelphia's Connie Mack Stadium will forget the Sunday fireworks display staged by the Milwaukee Braves.

Those 33 Milwaukee hits in the Braves 8-7 and 16-3 doubleheader sweep over the Phillies must still be ringing in the ears of the 32,117 spectators, as well as the six Philadelphia pitchers who tried in vain to halt the National League leaders.

Oddly enough, there were only two Milwaukee home runs, both by catcher Del Crandall. But Fred Haney's crew produced five triples and 10 doubles.

In Chicago's Wrigley Field, the Cubs split a doubleheader with St. Louis Cardinals in a comedy of errors. St. Louis scored eight unearned runs on as many Chicago errors to win the second game 8-3.

A Los Angeles crowd of 20,531 watched seven home runs and 30 hits split the Dodgers' Coliseum screen, five by San Francisco batters, as the Giants whipped the Dodgers 12-6. The attendance made the two-game series total to 132,107.

PIRATES SWEEP FOUR

Pittsburgh's fast moving Pirates completed a four-game sweep off Cincinnati, winning 5-3 and 4-3 behind Bob Friend's 2-0 and 4-3.

Saturday games: San Francisco 6 Los Angeles 1, Milwaukee 4 Philadelphia 3, St. Louis 1 Chicago 0, Cincinnati 2 Pittsburgh 5.

Relief pitcher Humberto Robinson got Milwaukee's first 7-game victory by hurling two - hit ball through the last 6 2-3 innings after relieving starter Gene Conley in the third frame. Torre, who batted in four runs, drove in Aaron with the winning run in the eighth. Aaron had opened with a hit off loser Jack Meyer.

In the second game the Braves pounded loser Robin Roberts and three relievers for 19 hits. Rookie Carleton Willey, now his seventh against three defeats.

Richie Ashburn's 19-game hitting streak was snapped in the nightcap and the Philadelphia outfielder still leads Stan Musial in the batting title race, .340 to .340.

Jim Davenport smashed two home runs, a double and two singles to help the Giants to their 10th victory in 13 meetings with the Dodgers.

JONES WINS FIRST

Danny O'Connell, Daryl Spencer and pinch hitter Bob Speake also homered for the Giants as Gordon Jones gained his first victory, in relief. Duke Snider and Gil Hodges homered for the Dodgers. Clem Labine was the loser.

Ernie Banks homered to each game for the Cubs, raising his pace setting major league total to 34. Teammate Bobby Thomson knocked in five runs in the first game, won by rookie Marcelino Solis in relief. Banks' jackson went the distance for the Cards in the second game for his ninth victory.

Cincinnati's double - loss dropped the Redlegs into a last place tie with Los Angeles. Roman Mejias accounted for Pittsburgh's winning run on Stuart's long fly in the first game.

Third baseman Don Hoak suffered a rib injury in a collision with Cincinnati baserunner Ray McMillan in the eighth of the nightcap and was carried from the field.

Cementmen Clobber Cobourg 17-4 For Third Win of League Finals

By GEORGE H. CARVER

POINT ANNE — The Cement-Builders waded through a weird assortment of walks, wild pitches, passed balls and hits to win Saturday night to clobber the Cobourg Merchants 17-4 in a district softball league final game at Point Anne.

It was the third win in a row for Phil Lott's crew, the Cementmen scheduled for Cobourg Tuesday night starting at eight o'clock, if necessary.

What started off to be a repetition of brilliant Dave-Gerard mound duel of the night previous erupted into a comedy of errors, walks, wild pitches and hits in the third, fourth and fifth innings when the Pointers scored 14 runs off four hits. They took a two-run lead in the second and added the other one in the eighth.

Two Cobourg pitchers floundered around on the mound issuing a dozen walks, they tossed in a flock of wild pitches and passed balls and good measure while infielmates were committing four errors afield.

The Merchants settled down sufficiently to score a run in the fifth and three more in the sixth. They threatened in the ninth with two on and one out but faded in the clutches and that was the extent of their offensive efforts.

Pat Marsden went through with a neat seven-hitter one a three-run homer in the fifth. He was never in trouble outside of that although he struck out but two and walked the same number.

George Stong, starting Cobourg hurler survived the first frame then gave up a two-run homer to Charlie Kingston in the second. After five walks, a struck batsman, Jack Bryant's single, a couple of wild heaves and four runs he took himself out of the game with one out in the fifth.

Roly Campbell who relieved him was no better. He was greeted by Doug Holt's triple, Davy Jones double, Elliott's second single while waiting and hitting one good for five runs.

Three walks, two errors a hit batter, passed balls and wild pitches gave the Pointers five runs in the next inning without benefit of a hit. Campbell survived the rest of the route giving up singles to Holt and Marcele in the eighth good for the Pointers last tally.

Cobourg counted in the sixth when Boncardo walked, O'Brien doubled and Turpin cleared the sacks with a centre-field homer. McSporran's double and three infield outs accounted for the other marker in the fifth. Incidentally McSporran had three of the Merchants seven hits.

Doug Hull's triple and single top Cobourg batting honors offensive. Jack Elliott Sr. had two singles.

British Ladies Trim Americans For Golf Cup

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Britain's Curtis Cup veterans held the women's golf trophy for another two years Sunday after battling to a standoff a determined band of American challengers in the 10th international classic.

Former British champion Frances Stephen Smith clinched a 4½ to 4½ tie for her team by repeating her 1956 victory over Polly Riley Saturday at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Mrs. Smith edged the U.S. Curtis Cup squad veteran 2 up in the 36-hole match which wound up the two-day competition. Leading 1 up after 25 holes, she got down in par four on the 36th to nail the match victory for the joint British squad.

Another key performance which enabled Britain to retain possession of the cup under rules governing ties in the biennial competition was turned in by Angela Bonallack, 21 - year - old wife of the British Walker Cupper.

Mrs. Bonallack lost the first of the first three holes and six of the first eight while winning only one hole to tie Mrs. Riley with a 36-hole tie with Barbara McIntyre, 23.

Al Balding 3-Time Winner Pro Golf Match Play Title

TORONTO (CP) — Al Balding fought off a recurring chest ailment and a gallant opponent Saturday to win the Canadian professional match play golf championship and $1,000 — for the third time.

And he did it with the largest margin in the history of the tournament, coming out ahead 8 and 6 over Kitchener's Lloyd Tucker in the final. The lop-sided triumph broke the record of Lee Robson, who defeated Dave Slital of Toronto 7 and 6 in 1931.

The 32-year-old Markham, Ont. golfer picked up the trophy in 1952 and 1954 and was runner-up to Stan Leonard in 1956 and Bill Martindale in 1957.

Balding was playing Joe Noble of Toronto Thornhill in the morning semi - final when he was gripped by chest pains and a sudden attack of nausea on the seventh green, forcing him to ask for a rest.

OFFERED TO WAIT

Noble, who could have claimed the match by default, offered to wait until Balding felt he could continue.

An hour later, a shaking Balding went back onto the course and beat Ryan 2 and 1.

Tucker, the instructor who sent Gerry Kesselring, Moe Norman, Ken Bowman and other top golfers into the professional ranks, had a more close.

On the 10th, Balding sliced into a creek, yet gained a one-over four and a split of the hole. On the 11th he was short in three, Tucker was on. They halved in par fives.

It was all over on the next hole. Tucker's ball lay unplayable at the base of a weed-strewn hill behind the 12th green. He examined the lie then climbed to the green, his hand outstretched.

Tucker's 20-foot putt position gave him the $650 second prize. Noble, who took third money on Saturday, defeated Bill Kozak 1 up. Kesselring downed Gord Brydson of Toronto Hunting on Credit and Norm Smith, Toronto York Downs, was 4 and 2 winner over Fran Whalley of Burlington.

'Hawaii Kai' Wins Gold Cup; Champion Sinks

SEATTLE (AP) — Little Jack Regas rode Hawaii Kai to victory Sunday in a Gold Cup speedboat race marred by a spectacular accident that killed defending champion Miss Thriftaway.

Regas was timed in 103.481 miles an hour, a record for the race.

The finish of the 90-mile Gold Cup race on Lake Washington came almost as an anti-climax to the near tragedy in which champion driver Bill Muncey and five spectators were injured, none seriously.

Miss Thriftaway, rudderless and helpless, tore into the 40-foot coast guard picket boat like a torpedo and sank.

Regas picked up almost all the available points, garnering 1,300 for three heat victories, a bonus of 400 for the fastest heat, and another 400 for the best overall time for a total of 2,000.

Corsi Reef, a Tacoma, Wash. boat driven by Harry Reeves, finished second with 1,000 points. Jim Lorentzen's Rainshine entered in the pits with mechanical trouble during the second heat. The London, Ont. boat, driven by Bob Haywood, conked out in the first heat.

Canadian Yacht Takes Trophy

YOUNGSTOWN, N.Y. (CP)—The Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto produced its fourth consecutive victory in the Canada class races Saturday when Corte, skippered by veteran Walter Wingeyer, won the last of a five-race series and the O'Keefe Trophy.

Corte had led the 35-boat fleet with 107 points before Saturday's final and broke away on the last two legs of the 75-mile course to take a boat's length victory over final runner-up Galleria, owned by Bernie Wahl of the Rochester, N.Y., Yacht Club.

Galleria finished with 121 points — 7½ points behind the winner.

Corte now will be sent to the Gold Cup international dragon championships to be held in Europe next summer.

Other crew members are Ken Gradfield and George Hamilton Jr.

Kings Defeat Royals Twice; Toronto Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals, who have been tearing apart the International League the last 10 days, The Shaughnessy Marvels flew into an alone wall Sunday.

Sugar Kings scored only three runs all through the doubleheader good for a sweep of a double-header against the league - leading Royals.

Mike Cuellar scattered eight hits in the opener and beat the Royals 3-1. Orlando Pena hurled a six-hit 1-0 shutout in the nightcap.

Rochester Red Wings won two from Richmond Virginians 4 - 2 and 1-0. Buffalo Bisons won the nightcap from Columbus Jets after losing the opener 1-0. Miami Marlins beat Toronto Maple Leafs 8-3 and had the second game called after four innings because of the Sunday curfew. The score was tied at 2-2.

In Saturday's games the Bisons overpowered the Jets 15 - 7, the Royals beat the Sugar Kings 5-1, the Virginians defeated the Red Wings 7-2 and the Marlins shut out Leafs 10-0.

BRAWL BREAKS OUT

The Miami - Toronto engagement Saturday erupted into a brawl involving both teams. Things got out in the third inning when Pat Scantlebury's pitched ball whistled past the head of Woody Smith, Miami third baseman.

It came as the first pitch after first baseman Frank Herrera got his 18th home, upping Minaut's lead to 3-0. Smith swung at the second pitch, letting his bat fly as he headed for first.

Scantlebury grabbed the bat and started for the plate swinging it. Then came the signal for Chuck Essegian and the rest of the Miami and Toronto players to run from the dugouts.

Essegian, Miami right fielder, got into Scantlebury's path and had the bat broken across his thigh.

PLAYERS EJECTED

When the 17-minute battle was stopped, Smith, Essegian, Scantlebury and Miami manager Cal Hannah were ejected from the game. Toronto pitcher Ernie Bowles was given the heave but his banishment apparently stemmed from something he said to third base umpire Angie Guglielmo.

Montreal outhit Havana in both games but ran into some tight clutch pitching to salvage Cuellar and righthander Pena. Cuellar scattered eight hits in the opener and Pena 10 in the nightcap but nine losers. Pena shut out the Royals on the 6th.

The Red Wings' Bob Gibson had a no-hitter for 8 1-3 innings and beat first Jack Dittmer, Richmond before Rance Pless singled following an error. Gibson fanned 10 for the Virginians' only threat. In the nightcap Bob Kuzava of Rochester and Ken Wiesler of Richmond hooked up in a pair of pea-hitters. Kuzava gave the 10th inning on a single and double.

STRONG HOME STAND

The Bisons won their 11th victory in the current 14-game home stand in the second game. Lake Easter drove in two of the four Buffalo runs with his 30th home run and single. Knuckleballer George O'Donnell had a three-hit shutout for the Jets in the nightcap.

The Marlins combed three Toronto hurlers for 13 hits, including five triples, a triple and a home run by Frank Herrera and Chuck Essegian.

First baseman Rocky Nelson hit his 35th home run for Leafs to break a club record that had stood for 26 years. The 1932 mark old Nelson broke the previous homer mark of 34 set in 1922 by Absalom (Red) Wingo.

Weight Reducers Cheating Public Say Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional investigators said Sunday the U.S. public is being cheated out of $100,000,000 a year for so-called weight reducers.

The congressmen hit at the Federal Trade Commission for what they called a 15-year paralysis in cracking down on false advertising claims in this field.

The old-fashioned maxim "to weigh less, eat less" is still the basic route to a slender figure in the view of medical experts, they said.

FIND SOME WORTHLESS

The congressmen referred specifically in their report to several claimed weight reducers mentioned during the hearings. They were:

1. Regimen, produced by Drug Research Corporation, which was said to advertise no-diet reducing through a wonder drug but which actually prescribed to the buyer, "to weigh less, eat less," when he opened the package.

2. R.D.K., made by Pharmaceuticals Inc., which the FTC held as a claimed appetite-killing tablet but which the report said really has no effect beyond a slimming diet recommendation enclosed in the package.

3. Ayds, a product of the Carlay Division, Campbell Soup Corporation, described as a caramel as fattening as ordinary caramels and original-ly made for diabetics, but later advertised for reducing.

4. Slim Mint Chewing Gum made by the Thompson Medical Company, said to be worthless for slendering.

Yvonne de Carlo's Children Are No Budding Delinquents

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — No budding delinquents are the children of Yvonne de Carlo, who believes in old-style discipline.

Hers is a refreshing attitude in this town where the over-privileged, under-loved children of the famous grow up to make the scandal columns—and their parents wonder why.

"I've seen it happen again and again in Hollywood," the Vancouver - born Yvonne observed. "The kids are given everything they want, as long as they stay out of the way. They're brought up by strangers, because the parents are too busy to devote any time to their own children."

A longtime bachelor girl, Yvonne now finds herself with a sizable family—two sons, one two years and the other eight months old, and a stepdaughter, 10, by husband Bob Morgan. And when she's not working, she devotes as much time as she can to them.

WORK MAKES HOME HAPPY

"It's difficult if you choose to work," she said. "That means you have to help in rearing your children. I had 10 nurses before I found one that I thought had the right attitude toward them.

"When I'm not in a picture, I try to make up for my absence by taking them places with me and spending time with them. But I don't believe in catering to their every whim. I was brought up in Canada, and I've observed how discipline there and in Europe can help in bringing up children.

"Here, we're inclined to give in too easily. I know how it is. My two-year-old is at an age when he yells for candy, I feel like giving some to him to shut him up. But then I realize that if I do, he'll yell even louder for a bigger piece of candy."

The greatness of Hollywood life already have shown on her step-daughter, she said. Recently, the girl was comparing how many servants they had with those of her friends.

"We have no servants," Yvonne snapped. "We have people to help us in the house, but no one was put on this earth to serve us."

Yvonne was preparing to leave for Rome, where she will play the title role in Mary Magdalene for an Italian company. Unlike some stars who haul their children all over the world she is leaving hers home.

"It's going to be hard for me to be gone from them for three months," she said. "But I think it's best for them. I'd rather know that they were safe here."

OLDEST WOMAN DIES

KINGSTON, England (AP)—Mrs. Sophia Wellstead, 107, believed to be the oldest woman in England, died Thursday in this Dorset village. Two months ago she told reporters: "I've been on a diet of cold meat, mashed potatoes, pickles and ice cream."

Likely TV Production Prices Rise

Wherever a good signal can be obtained, nearly every home in the country now boasts at least one television set. This "saturization" of the market-has meant a slow-up among the manufacturers in the production of sets. This fact — and the rise in labor and material cost — is certain to effect the cost of manufacture per unit, which no doubt will be passed along to the buying public.

As a further result of this big volume of sales in the past, there is now a large number of TV sets that are about due to traded in, and dealers may find it difficult to dispose of so many used sets. Trade-in allowances will likely be lowered considerably.

Right now Booth Radio and Television limited can sell used television sets for summer home and cottage use and can still offer you a good allowance on your old set for a new model. If you are even, considering trading your TV for a new set, it will pay you to act now. Call in at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street, Belleville.

Eric Sevareid Snarls At Most Television Critics

By CHARLES MERCER

AT THE BELLE — Lana Turner and Barry Sullivan are starring in the romantic cinema hit "Another Time, Another Place", which is starting at the Belle Theatre today. Paramount's VistaVision release also stars Glynis Johns and a newcomer Sean Connery.

NEW YORK (AP)—The hunting season has opened early this year. Joining us happy huntsmen is a good friend and noted journalist, Eric Sevareid of CBS, who blasted both barrels at television.

Shooting is a healthful, invigorating sport and it's fine to see Sevareid in the field. More people in television should feel free to try shooting the antlers off critics if they feel like it. Nearly everybody is too timid, however except Sevareid.

"Television," he wrote in the Reporter, "could do with a sharp drop in the quantity of criticism and a sharp rise in its quality. How many writers who haven't read a play since Booth Tarkington's seventeen are posting as critics of TV drama? How many lady journalists who never covered the city council are telling TV news departments how they should cover national conventions?"

DOESN'T NAME TARGETS

If Sevareid named his 'argels' I might agree with him. But I could not agree with his proposed solution to the problem alleged. He proposes:

Let the newspaper's drama editor review TV Dramas, the church editor religious shows, the science editor science shows, and so on.

One trouble is that he never defines the nature of criticism and the role of a critic in television. His medium that is not exactly like anything preceding it. A critic in any field develops slowly by study, exposure and osmosis.

An able drama critic does not make an able TV drama critic, unless he studies and watches television, because TV techniques are quite different from those of the legitimate theatre.

If, however, Sevareid is right, broadcast he must share his time with a dozen experts in the dozen news fields in which he actually is most expert himself.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, August 12

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — It is of the utmost importance that you do not hurt orally or close tie who is a bit slow. Understand that not everyone is as quick thinking as you are. Also avoid anyone with whom you are having a fast - growing misunderstanding.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Unless you exercise the greatest care, you could accomplish nothing today simply because you cannot decide whether or not to stick to regular job or do errands, seek other business. Plan your time properly and all is fine.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Don't waver between too much generosity one moment and penuriousness the next. Impress other persons with your fine acumen where money is concerned and you become successful and happy. And spend little having fun in the evening.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Here is a day when you think you are overburdened with work, duties, household chores and no matter what you do you cannot seem to look like your usual charming self. Visit your doctor or do whatever is necessary to have better health.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A sense of real frustration assails you now, and you think others do not respect you as they should, have little love for you. This can all be changed easily by lowering your pride and displaying devotion, affection for others.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — A covetous friend looks longingly at your prospects, affluence. Hence, be wary of such and plan your day with others who can bring happiness and gain indeed. See that you are precise and considerate, however.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A government or civic affair has you in quite a quandary today. Be clever and ethical, giving unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's", thereby making the best possible impression on authorities.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — It is best to put aside that private worry that is also giving you unhealthy thoughts of vengeance. Seek rather more constructive and happier interests that will enrich your life. Hence you make better friends, strides.

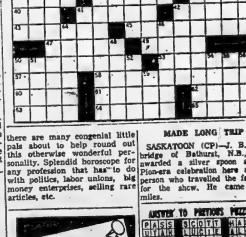
Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Here is one close proximity with positive - thinking, wise comrade who will point out how to perfect your ideas for expansion through others. In this way, you do not get "hooked" or make any unwise moves, or investments, errors.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Here is a day when an associate desires you to perform certain duties that are at variance with own plans. Seek advice from one in authority, and be sure your work is exact. Avoid any palpable error.

Aquarius (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A perfect day now to work happily at some truly worthwhile venture, whether artistic or mercantile. Try not to wear a gloomy or dour expression. Impress others with your real friendship, understand their troubles.

If your child is born today — The highly evolved little child born today is the type who likes to isolate himself or herself because of shyness. This can be combatted by making sure that there are many congenial little pals about to help round out this otherwise wonderful personality. Splendid horoscope for any profession that has to do with politics, labor unions, big money enterprises, selling rare articles, etc.

Horse Players Are Divided Over New Rule



NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—David Plato, 15-year-old newspaper carrier, has a new bicycle and a $10 bill to prove that honesty pays off.

The youngster found $1,000 lying on the street Friday and immediately notified city police.

A short time later car dealer Wilbert Minor reported he had lost his $1,000 bank deposit.

When he was told that the boy had turned in the money, he promptly rewarded him with the bicycle and $10.

SURVIVES RECORD PRESSURE OF 20 G's

Lt. Carter C. Collins, of the U.S. Navy's Air Development Centre at Johnsville, Pa., is helped from a centrifuge after he set a new acceleration record, becoming the first person to exceed 20 G's for more than a fraction of a second. He rode the centrifuge in the laboratory in a simulated high altitude drag re-entry for orbital velocities. The acceleration period was 54 seconds and the peak was 20.7 G's. Collins said, at that peak, he weighed more than 3,400 pounds. The old record was 17 G's. One G is a person's normal weight, or the normal atmospheric pressure.

PRINCESS

"Oh, not another guard of honor," she is reported to have said. "Isn't there something more exciting?"

The brass went into action and Margaret saw a mock battle with simulated atomic explosions and tank units firing blank cartridges.

At Church Point, N.S., she talked with 16-year-old Clarice Theriault and Emile Melanson, 19. They were chosen to represent Evangeline and Gabriel, the lovers in Longfellow's poem, to reign over the annual Acadian Festival.

MINGLES WITH CROWD

At whistle stops in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley during the weekend she left her train to mingle with the crowd on station platforms. She remarked more than once that "time is too short."

But at Halifax she marched briskly in the hot sun through the ranks of one more guard of honor and seemed anxious to get it over.

Several hundred crowded around her train as it left Digby midnight Saturday. They chanted "We want the princess. We want the princess."

She finally appeared on the observation car platform and stood waving good-bye until the train passed from sight.

U.S. Withdraws Batt. Of Marines From Lebanon

Action May Influence UN Debate on Mid East

BEIRUT (AP) — The United States is withdrawing one battalion of Marines from Lebanon at once.

Troops of the 2nd Battalion of the 2nd Division began moving their heavy equipment to the beach shortly after the announcement today. They will begin embarking early Wednesday.

Saeb Salam, rebel leader in Beirut, said he welcomed "this symbolic step" but emphasized it fell short of rebel demands for complete withdrawal.

The 2nd Battalion was the first the U.S. unit to land July 15 at the request of President Camille Chamoun, who feared a pro-Nasser uprising similar to the one that overthrew the government of Iraq July 14.

WITHDRAWAL START

Admiral James L. Holloway, commander of the 15,000 U.S. Marines and troops in Lebanon, announced the withdrawal. He indicated this was the beginning of the withdrawal of U.S. forces.

The withdrawal order was intended to influence the debate on the Middle East beginning Wednesday in an emergency session of the UN General Assembly. The Soviet Union, the United Arab Republic and other Asian and African nations are demanding the immediate withdrawal of the U.S. forces from Lebanon and the 2,000 troops Britain has sent to Jordan to protect the government of King Hussein.

BEGIN WEDNESDAY

Holloway's statement said the 2nd Battalion of the 2nd Marines — the 1,700-man force that first arrived in Beirut July 15—will begin withdrawing from Beirut beaches Wednesday.

Heralding a promise by President Eisenhower that the U.S. forces would remain only as long as desired and needed, the statement said:

"Admiral Holloway, after discussions with President Chamoun and the chief of the Lebanese armed forces, Gen. Fuad Chehab, agreed with Lebanese authorities that there has been a material improvement in the internal and external security situation of Lebanon."

FEARED LEBANON NEXT

The marines went to Lebanon by units of the U.S. 6th Fleet after rebels overthrew King Faisal in neighboring Iraq and proclaimed a republic. The U.S. government feared that the Lebanese regime — embroiled for nearly three months with an, indective rebellion by forces seeking to oust Chamoun—would be the next to fall.

Chehab is scheduled to take office Sept. 24. It was assumed that a good portion of the American forces would remain until then.

American troops in Lebanon landing have taken no part in the fighting between the government forces and the rebels.

DEATH SENTENCES

In Jordan, meanwhile, a military court convicted 12 Jordanians and a Syrian to death for smuggling in arms from Syria and he used in a plot to overthrow King Hussein. Ten others got death sentences which were commuted to life imprisonment, and two defendants received five-year prison sentences.

In Cairo, the newspaper Al Ahram reported Crown Prince Faisal, premier of Saudi Arabia, will visit President Nasser of the United Arab Republic after the UN assembly session in the Middle East. Observers in the U.A.R. capital predicted that the visit would result in close ties between the Saudi government and the U.A.R.

5 NEW PIECES OF LEGISLATION GIVEN ASSENT

Change Penal System First Time in 59 Yrs.

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation was swept speedily through the Commons Monday night as members put on a session - ending drive, considering eight pieces of government legislation and passing five.

A spirit of unusual unanimity appeared to mark the chamber in the first day of a marathon 41-hour week, stepped up from the normal 33 hours as the government aims at terminating the session by Aug. 23. But even with the spurt of activity, few members believed the target would be met.

Prison reform, increased gold subsidies, plans to beautify the capital and to extend Lakehead harbor facilities were considered.

15-MINUTE SPURT

With barely a murmur from opposition members, legislation was passed in a 15-minute period to expand the membership of the board of the Woods control board; to set up a corporation of five members to plan Lakehead harbor expansion; to prevent striking of half-breed Indian land rolls; to amend the Criminal Code to make it conform with a proposed change in the Saskatchewan district court system.

With attendance in the 265-seat House sometimes dwindling to 50 members, legislation quickly consented to a government proposal to launch a series of simultaneous French - and - English translations in the chamber. The system will be made ready for the next session of parliament.

Justice Minister Fulton piloted penal legislation, supported by Liberal and CCF spokesmen, will be the first major change in Canada's prison parole system in 59 years. In line with a Fauteux committee report on penal reform, it would arm Ottawa with power to act on all federal paroles, now the responsibility of Solicitor-General Pickersgill.

Mr. Fulton said the proposed system forms an important part of the government approach. The fundamental goal should be to restore prisoners to society as useful members of the community.

Mr. Pickersgill, general will meet here Sept. 16 to consider Fauteux report recommendations, including one that the federal government take responsibility for inmates serving terms six months or more. Sentences of under two years now are the responsibility of jails.

To prepare for changes in the penal system, the government has taken action — with Commons agreement — to retain the services of Penitentiaries Commissioner R. B. Gibson and Deputy Minister Arthur Moyse beyond retirement age of 65. Mr. Gibson now is 64.

Cost Doubles

TORONTO (CP) — Estimated cost of building the F. C. Gardner Expressway across the city's waterfront has doubled since it were first drawn up in 1954.

Metropolitan Toronto roads commissioner George Gardiner told Monday total cost of the 11-mile highway now is expected to reach $65,000,000. Original estimates placed it at $40,000,000.

The first two years of the expressway at the western end were opened last week.

Trial Adjourned After Defence Rests Its Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—The defence rested its case Monday and Supreme Court Mr. Justice Wilson Grey, Monday morning when the trial of Steven Boyd Saller, 23, was adjourned until Aug. 25.

Mr. J. G. Sheldon, counsel for Mr. Wilson Gray, Pacific Coast Services Limited Evergreen Lumber Sales, said that in view of the evidence given by three other witnesses, he was not prepared to carry to call other evidence on behalf of his client.

This means that Wilson Gray, described by the Crown as a "ringleader" in the alleged $100,000 conspiracy will not testify in his own defence.

The three other individuals accused, former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers, Charles D. Schultz and John Gray, have completed testimony.

The battery of defence lawyers will begin their addresses to the jury when the case resumes in two weeks.

Sommers besides Sommers and other three individuals are the B.C. Schultz Company Limited, the Pacific and Evergreen firms and B.C. Forest Products Limited, Vancouver, which was elected in 1952 and resigned his ministerial office after their normal retirement age of 65. Mr. Gibson now is 64.

The prosecution charges that he got a split of bribe moneys from the Schultz Company for use of his influence in obtaining government timber licenses.

Hon. Wm. Goodfellow Opens Exhibition, Calls It One of Finest in East Ontario

"This is a great show, as good as any fair in Ontario" was the tribute paid to the Belleville Exhibition by the Hon. William Goodfellow, Ontario minister of agriculture last night.

The minister, surrounded by fair city and political dignitaries, formally opened the four-day exhibition before a large grandstand crowd prior to the evening stage performance.

The minister pointed out that the Belleville exhibition was the tenth largest fair in the province and "one of the better ones".

"It is educational, and helpful in developing agriculture in the district. In fact, the Belleville Fair has made a great contribution down through the years to agriculture as a whole," he said.

"We of the department" the minister said, "are much pleased to make contributions to assure the continued success of such fairs as this."

He paid tribute to the board of directors for an outstanding job. "Your fair of today, through these efforts to the realization of a dream of those directors of a hundred years ago. Fairs are an institution. Yet but few people actually realize the time and ef-

LABOR COUNCIL ENTERS BREWERY STRIKE ISSUE

LCBO Commissioner Asked to Resign

TORONTO (CP) — The powerful Ontario Federation of Labor swung behind the striking United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) Monday with a demand that the control board commissioner William Collings resign.

The 500,000 - member organization criticized Mr. Collings for allowing hotels last week to buy beer directly from stores operated by individual breweries.

Mr. Collings said at the time it was the board's responsibility to supply beer to the public regardless of the source. Hotels and bars normally received beer from outlets of the brewery Warehousing Company but a strike by company employees forced them to look elsewhere.

SAYS PROMOTION AGENCY

D. F. Hamilton, OFL secretary, charged Mr. Collings' action had relegated the liquor board to "a sales promotion agency for Mr. E. P. Taylor (a brewery owner) and the brewery interests in Ontario."

"If this is Mr. Collings' conception of his job, then we suggest that it is time he resign."

The federation said the union did not expect government machinery to be used to aid them. But it did not believe it should be used to aid brewers.

NO SIGN OF BREAK

Meanwhile, both sides dug in for a long siege. There was no sign of settlement in the dispute that virtually has brought the province's $1,000,000-a-day brewing industry to a standstill.

Production Halts At Stelco Plant In Hamilton

8,000 Employees Quit Work After Night Shift

HAMILTON (CP) — Workers at Canada's largest steel plant went on strike today with hope of an early settlement still remaining.

The overnight shift of the Steel Company of Canada's 8,000 Hamilton employees finished work at 7 a.m. and the day shift didn't take over.

Production from the plant's giant blast furnaces and coke ovens slowed to a standstill during the night as Stelco officials prepared for the strike deadline.

Official pickets wearing armbands mingled with about 1,000 curious workers milling around the plant's three main gates. All were members of the striking Local 1005, United Steel Workers of America (CLC).

PICKETS ORDERLY

Office workers arrived at 8 a.m. as the pickets let them through. Maintenance workers were in the plant by union agreement, keeping furnaces at minimal heat to avoid damage.

The picket line appeared orderly and the union's negotiating committee—on the scene since 8 a.m.—left the plant to resume talks in Toronto.

Trucks passed unmolested during the night and early morning as Stelco customers rushed to collect their orders.

Off-shift workers began to assemble at sunrise and cheered loudly when the 1,500 overnight workers filed out of the plant. One of the first out held a long pole through a car window, a box spaced on its end carrying the message "local 1005 on strike." Another worker had a sign with an "on strike" placard attached to his back.

The union asked strikers to avoid picket-line violence, issuing a statement which said: "It is imperative that there be no incidents."

MEETINGS RESUME

An 11th-hour bid to avert the strike failed Monday when a meeting in Toronto was adjourned until 10 a.m. today.

The meeting was between representatives of the company and the union's negotiating committee and Ontario's chief conciliation officer, Louis Fine. They met for six hours without reaching agreement to prevent the shutdown of the steelproducing plants.

None of the parties would comment whether any progress had been made in the long meeting. Union officials said they hoped a settlement could be reached today.

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company Monday reported net profits of $13,345,911 for the first six months of 1958, down from the $19,933,227 net income for the first six months of 1957.

Spends 15 Hours in Mosquito Swamp, Boy Found Unharmed

TROOPTOWN, Ont. (CP) — A three-year-old boy was found by a search party early today after spending 15½ hours alone in a mosquito-ridden cedar swamp near this village, 18 miles northeast of Brockville.

Searchers said Cecil Miller was tired, hungry and wet but appeared safe and well when found.

The youngster was spotted seated on a hummock in the midst of cedar trees, crying for "mummie." Picked up by searchers, he was carried two miles to his home and restored to his parents, Howard and Margaret Miller.

The search was one of the most intensive ever carried out by Ontario Provincial Police in this district with more than 300 persons participated at different times.

The boy disappeared about 3 p.m. Monday near his home. He was found nearly two miles away.

Searchers said he appeared to have slept most of the night. His wet shoes and damp trouser legs indicated he had been wandering through the dew-wet grass.

Cupboard Was Not Bare; The Cook Was

LONDON (Reuters) — Lady Tania Brunstiefield entered the kitchen to find her 70-year-old cook standing naked by the stove.

Her 31-year - old ladyship, wife of Baron Brunstiefield, handled the situation with aplomb.

"I took no notice at all," Her ladyship said.

"I merely repeated that she had only come as a temporary cook and would still have to go.

"My husband wasn't there at the time and the cook had done it for my benefit only."

Lady Brunstiefield added: "She was not, of course, an English cook."

US Gives Reason For Refusal Of Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States contended Monday that its refusal to grant diplomatic recognition to Red China helps block "Chinese Communist attempts to dominate the entire dominion throughout Asia."

The state department explained its stand in a strongly-worded memorandum sent to American diplomatic posts overseas.

The memorandum, signed by Secretary of State Dulles, vigorously restated American opposition to giving the Peiping regime a seat in the United Nations.

The state department said:

"If the situation in the Far East can be changed in its basic elements as to call for a radically different approach, one of the threat Chinese Communist policies pose to the United States and its national security interests, the United States would of course reconsider its present policy."

LISTS RESULTS

The statement said that, if the United States recognized Red China now, these things would happen:

Nationalist China would be seriously crippled if not altogether destroyed. That would blast the hopes of Chinese determined to free their country from communism.

The millions of Chinese living abroad would inevitably switch their loyalty to Peiping, paving the way for aggressive fifth columns in the countries where they live.

The United Nations' power to preserve peace would be impaired if not destroyed. This is because Red China is "still unpurged of its aggression and unrepentant" in the Korea, Pusan, Pier, Hoi China would sit on the Security Council with veto power, seriously impairing that body's ability to maintain peace.

Frank Stevenson, 54, of Drummond Island has been charged with murder and is being held in county jail at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Chippewa County Sheriff Roy Cecil said a third man, Otis MacKinnon, is being held as a material witness.

Drummond Island, just east of Drummond Island, is on the Canadian side of Lake Huron.

V.A. McMurray Will Contest PC Nomination

The slate of potential candidates for Friday's Progressive Conservative nominating convention at Madoc, had still another name added today with the announcement of Mr. Verdial (Verse) McMurray, well known Gilmour store keeper, that he would contest the nomination.

At least five men have now announced their intention of contesting the nomination and will see a party candidate named at the convention on Sept. 11 by action made necessary by the retirement of Roscoe Hobson.

Cattle and Horses Exhibits Outstanding Fair Feature

"Biggest horse show in the history of the fair" was the way fair boss committee officials described this year's display of fine horse flesh at the exhibition.

At mid-afternoon yesterday entries had far exceeded the previous year, especially in the light horse classes, while entries were still coming in.

The parade of ponies in the saddle pony classe held Saturday afternoon was by far the biggest ever seen at the fair.

A fine exhibit of cattle is also on display at the fair with Ayrshire classes to be judged today. Showing cattle in the Ayrshire show will be Elmer Wood of Crookston; Thomas Creighton of Bath; M. A. Parks and Son of Wallbridge, and the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville.

Jerseys are being shown by Lorne Jarrell of Canniton, Wayne Kerr, Campbellford and Gordon Sherwood of Hereford are being shown by Old Homestead Farms, owned by Dr. Holden, of Newburgh.

There is also a fine showing of Holsteins, and the Ayrshire White Dal scheduled for Wed-nesday.

Showing horses at the fair are the following:

Georges Atkinson, Bloomfield; Dr. Barnes, Hillsburg; Dr. Bartlett, Brampton; Miles Benedict, Belleville; Delford Bess, Tweed; John Bush, Belleville; Jowel Black, Tweed; R. A. Campbell, Bloomfield; Ivy Cochrane, Enniskillen; Wm. Craig, Belleville; Elmer Gerow, Picton; E. G. Kennedy, Belleville; Wm. Kenny, Odessa; Laverne Way, Milford.

Local Women's Institutes Display Special Table Arrangements

The district Women's Institutes are out-shining themselves each year at the Belleville Fair, with this year's in top place. Each Institute displayed its idea of an attractive setting for some special occasion, such as Easter; a bridal shower; 50th anniversary; St. Patrick's Day; a graduation supper; birthday party, and others. All were outstanding in detail, decorations, design and originality.

Reginald Smith of Mountain View, which demonstrated an engagement shower, with dainty centrepiece of little bride and bridegroom and nearby two entwined cakes, one in pink and the other in white, with little servieties in pink; Rosin was also having a shower with its coverless umbrella in pink, and decorated with pink and white rosettes. A lovely cake modelled by a doll in ruffled over-dress of pink over a voluminous white skirt looped with green and interspersed with roses. A pink cloth added a lovely note.

ST. VALENTINE

Bloomfield showed what a St. Valentine set-up could be built with its sweetpea floral centre on a white lace doily encircled with cutout red hearts; Foxboro followed the autumn trend with its cornucopia filled with grapes, pears, apples and other fruits centred on a woven checkered square of logs and cream, while little wheelbarrows filled with yellow and green after-dinner mints, and candles in individual squash holders, while spices of barley on a cream damask cloth.

Parkdale W. I. favored the Easter theme with an Easter basket, on white marshallows wheels, filled with decorated eggs, and little white bunnies, was drawn by a large white rabbit. The place cards had little bunnies on each, and a pretty colorful servietties completed this arrangement. Carrot menu card depicted a colorful cutout turkey gobbler, with a menu inscribed on each wattle.

Quinte W.I. demonstrated the 50th wedding anniversary dinner, with its white and silver decorations by a cluster of yellow and white flowers, its gold-rimmed white candles in star-shaped crystal holders, and gold simulated lace mats, and gold-rimmed champagne glasses, was most attractive.

Bethel-Elzas demonstrated the graduation supper, with its graduates all in black gowns and mortar boards, and their tasty little diplomas. Tiny black, book-like menu cards completed the picture.

Redeserville W.I. showed the midway marquee itself as the "Birthday Express." This marquee was in the form of a locomotive pole in red and white, with streamers to the four-corners, and beneath the pole was a train of four coaches, each a little cake, the whole on a wheeled detectable looking diesel engine. Little clowns and exciting animals made up the gleeful setup, a delight to any eight-year-old.

Carmel W.I. showed a Easter design with Mrs. Molly Cottontail in her maroon dress with yellow apron and neck bow, presiding over a number of pretty little place cards, candles in green gumdrop holders; Easter eggs filled with orange-colored hat place cards, with green spoons and forks, typical of spring, completed an effective arrangement.

BRIDAL SHOWER

Plainfield W.I. displayed a bridal shower with its pink-edged umbrella, each point holding a ballon of pretty pastel shade; while a pink decorated white cake on a crystal pedestal, and criss cross fluted bands of crepe paper, lacey doilies and the prettily wrapped gift packages, was intriguing.

Sky of Quinte W.I. emphasized St. Patrick's Day, with its fairy-like Blarney stone in green and gold with its waving little green flags, flanked by tall green candles and green and ruffled green bases; a little white cracker with shamrock and white fringed ends, with green servietties was all that one could desire.

Junior Thurlow W.I. brought up the procession, with its fall accent of maple leaves and braided cornucopia; place cards, and food supply on an autumn cloth.

A splendid display bringing commendation to the Women's Institutes for their colorful originality.

Head-to-Head Siamese Twins Astound Medics

Yvonne and Yvette are inseparable sisters.

They are authentic Siamese twins featured on the midway at the fair.

Their manager, Alfred Nanson, says the girls, who are nine years old, have astounded doctors in many areas of North America. The girls are joined at the hip. Each has a separate brain and circulatory system, but, sharing a common liver, digestion makes each very impossible.

Artfully, the girls are quite normal. They possess the same faculties as individuals, although their union prevents them from going their separate ways.

The twins are well developed both mentally and physically. They are quite able to clothe and feed themselves, as well as to perform the many conveniences that is peculiar to nine-year-olds.

Born in Los Angeles of Negro parents, Yvonne and Yvette say that, although they look as are as friendly as one can imagine, but take an extra delight in annoying those will play hide and seek with them.

And drawing is one of their favorite pastimes. That is, when they are not playing hide and seek. Nanson says the girls are continually drawing pictures which they present to people whom they have just seen.

Unfortunately," Mr. Nanson said today, "few people believe they are authentic Siamese twins. It is sometimes hard to get the public to believe the truth. Now, all registered nurses and doctors to come to the fair, will be given free admission if they will refund any money they see is true."

Fence-Hopper Found Stunt Was Costly

Attendance at Belleville Fair proved costly for a hopper who last night was apprehended by fair police by - passing the ticket office by hopping the fence.

Unfortunately when he hopped the fence he landed atop a fair - goer's car and dented the roof.

With the arrival of police the non - paying fair guest agreed to pay damages to the car and he even stayed for the fair proper grace after the fair treasurer relieved him of the price of admission.

Fair Notes

There were no serious cases, but St. John Ambulance nurses on duty at the Belleville Fair yesterday had a couple of minor cases. St. John Ambulance has their usual tent set up on the grounds and has nurses in attendance at all times ready to give emergency treatment for accident cases.

Members of the Quinte Sea Cadet Corps are doing their customary good job in directing traffic to parking stations at the Fair. Cadets are spotted inside all gates ready to direct fair goers where to park their cars.

Through the courtesy of the Northern Electric Company and one of its draughtsmen, fair goers at the Belleville Exhibition need not get themselves lost on the ground this year. At points of vantage behind the grounds large maps, showing roadways, buildings and other fair features are displayed. Fair goers are finding the maps very helpful.

City firemen have a third fire-hall set up this week. For the duration of the fair firemen have a fire truck and several men stationed at the grounds. The set-up was a quiet day with firemen saying they "didn't turn a wheel".

Set Damages Of Accidents At Over $2,000

TRENTON — Estimated damages went over the $2,000 mark in three accidents on the highway between Trenton and Brighton and on Wooler Road over the weekend it was reported yesterday.

On Saturday at about 5 p.m. George B. MacDonald of Carrying Place entered slight injuries to his shoulder and $850 damages to his car when the vehicle he was driving went out of control and smashed into a culvert. The accident occurred just east of the subway on Wooler Road and outside of the Trenton town limits. It is believed Mr. MacDonald misjudged a curve in the road and went around it a little too fast.

Two mishaps were reported on Sunday but while damage to vehicles was reported no injuries were apparently no injuries.

At 3 a.m. Sunday a three-car pile up with damage to all vehicles estimated at $230 was reported on the intersection of the main highway running through the town of Brighton and Ontario Street. It was reported that a car being driven by Ronald Sheepwash of Pickering had stopped before entering the highway and the car behind them, being operated by Donald Douglas of Cobourg failed to stop in time and rammed into the rear of Mr. Sheepwash's car. A third car, driven by James Logeman of Oshawa, was next in the line-up and hit the rear of the Douglas car. Damages to the Douglas car, resting in the middle, was said to be $170 with $10 to the Sheepwash car and $50 to the Logeman vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $1,200 when a car operated by Charles E. Dunn of Port Dalhousie turned over on the highway about one mile west of Brighton, the driver told police he was in the line of traffic and had applied his brakes to slow down for the car in front of him when his own car skidded into the ditch and over. It was the raining heavily at the time of the accident.

Members of the Brighton Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated all mishaps.

Thief Gets $35, Cheques From Motors

TRENTON — Thirty five dollars in cash and several cheques were stolen from the accounting office of Wessa Motors, Ltd. on Front Street when an unknown thief broke into the building and stole the petty cash box.

Entrance was gained by breaking a hole in one of the window panels of the rear door and the person pulling his hand through the hole and releasing the catch. After gaining entry the thief went to the accounting office and pried the padlock off the desk drawer and made off with the petty cash box. Nothing else was taken or damaged.

The break-in was discovered by employees reporting for duty about 11:30 last night and the manager and Chief Wessa was immediately called. The office was kept locked this morning until Inspector R. Hamilton of the Trenton Police Department arrived to investigate and to take fingerprints.

Youth Badly Scalded by Boiling Coffee

TRENTON — Gary Birt, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Birt, R.R. 4, Trenton, was seriously scalded about the lower part of his body Sunday when a pot of boiling coffee fell from the stove and spilled over him.

The youngster was taken to the Trenton Memorial Hospital where he was treated by Dr. W. S. Bailey. The most serious burns were reported to be on his right leg where a large blister had formed and was apparently drained under surgery yesterday.

The lad's mother reports that he had gone down to his father's store about 7 a.m. to open the coffee shop, on Carrying Place road and had made the pot of coffee.

He had later served a customer and was turning around back on the stove when it fell against him. The youth told his mother he must have slipped on wrong and it had over-balanced.

Mrs. Birt said the lad suffered considerably before being taken to hospital and that since there he was given medicine to take away the pain. She added he was sleeping peacefully when they went to see him on Sunday evening.

She said Gary has more than his share of bad luck" pointing that it was only two years ago he had climbed up in a tree and fell, breaking both arms and hands then when he came in contact with a power line. He had knocked him from the tree and he fell several feet to the ground. She said that the scars on his hands had been worse than the fall and the bad time had grafted on them.

It is not expected the lad will be able to spend more than a few days in the hospital this time, she said.

Mrs. O. W. Larry returned on Saturday after spending a month's vacation in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. She was accompanied by her son and daughter. Mrs. Larry spent a week in Calgary where she saw part of the Calgary Stampede and continued on to Victoria B.C., where she was joined by friends visiting her parents and relations. She also spent three days in Saskatoon visiting relations and friends. Mrs. Larry is the wife of O. W. Larry, clerk-treasurer of the town of Trenton.

HURT IN MISHAP

Peter Cornwall, 53, of Kingston, was admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital at 4.15 a.m. Sunday suffering slight injuries in an accident on a highway mishap in the town of Colborne. He is employed by Canada Steamship Lines. Provincial Police from Brighton investigated the mishap.

NEW SIDEWALK

A new sidewalk has been built around the Dominion Store on Dundas west. Last fall the Albert Defoase Construction Company who have the contract for the work, tore up the old sidewalk and "built" a new one. The curb will eliminate this. The police were constantly getting reports that a piece of cement curbing which was loose and worked its way up into the street causing a hazard for through traffic on the Trenton highway. The new curbing also eliminates this.

PRACTICE FLIGHT

The Cacao flying boat used by the RCAF at Trenton for practice exercises many anxious questions in Trenton on Sunday when it was observed making low-level flights across the waters of the bay of Quinte as well as some small inlets. As check with the RCAF South Station revealed it was only a practice flight with one other flying boat also taking part as well as two of the RCAF ambulances. According to reports the large type of day boat seamen had been waiting for to make the practice flights.

WHEEL COMES OFF

A wheel driven on his way to the downtown area early this morning and coming along Front street West had the front right wheel of his car break off, causing the car to run out of control and drag across the road to the left-hand lane of traffic. Fortunately there was no other vehicle coming in the opposite direction or a serious accident could have resulted. The wheel did not leave the car but the hub and socket joint which is part of the steering broke apart, thus causing the wheel to bend inward at the top and the front frame of the car to drag on the pavement. Constable R. E. Miller investigated.

Legion Sponsors Peewee Teams

TRENTON — In keeping with the Canadian Legion national policy of assisting and encouraging juvenile sports wherever possible, Branch No. 110 is sponsoring two teams in the Lake Shore Pee-Wee Baseball League this year.

The Trenton teams are the Pirates and the Cardinals and they compete against teams from Cobourg, Colborne, Wellington and Batawa

The players are all 12 years or under and their ability is amazing in view of their tender years.

The Pirates are at present in first place in the league and the Cardinals, after a slow start, are now doing well.

The most proficient players of these two teams will comprise a team to represent the Trenton Branch in the Ontario Provincial Legion Pee-Wee Baseball playoffs at Thorold, Ontario, on August 22 and 23.

After the tournament the boys will visit Niagara Falls, the Welland Canal and other places of interest in the district.

Branch Sports officer W. H. "Bill" Milne is making all necessary arrangements and will personally supervise the entire trip.

Cuban Firm Buys 8 Ships For $2,800,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Sale of eight Canadian National Steamships vessels to a Cuban shipping firm for $2,800,000 was announced today in the Commons by Transport Minister Hees.

Purchaser is Banco Cubano Del Commercio Exterior, Cuba's state bank.

The ships will be operated in the Canada-Cuba trade by Empresa Nacional Cubana of the ports of Halifax and Montreal.

Mr. Hees said the cabinet has approved the sale.

He said the Cuban offer was by far the best of seven received for the fleet of Canadian National (West India) Steamships Limited.

The minister said all the offers received in the eight-ship fleet were offered transfer and employment, and in the transport department marine services. A few had declined to retire but had since accepted other employment and the others now were employed in the Canadian National Railways.

Princess Margaret Now Home After Long Canadian Visit

LONDON (CP) — Princess Margaret arrived home today from her tour of Canada and stepped out of her plane into a sudden rainstorm.

The Queen Mother rushed up the landing steps to the plane's doorway and kissed her daughter, who had been away for a month.

Undaunted by the rain, the princess descended the steps, sheltering under an umbrella, and shook hands with officials waiting to greet her, including Canada Eligh Commissioner George Drew.

Then, as she walked slowly along the red carpet to a car, the rain stopped as abruptly as it had started minutes before her arrival. The princess and the Queen Mother put away their umbrellas as the crowd wailing at the airport cheered.

HALIFAX (CP) — Princess Margaret flew home today from a six-week tour of Canada.

Since her first stop in Canada at Goose Bay, Labrador just a month ago, she had crossed the country twice from coast to coast. The first crossing she made in a day. The second took almost four weeks.

She visited seven of Canada's 10 provinces. She saw things as varied as a stampede in Calgary and a visit to the naval fleet in Nova Scotia. She reviewed naval squadrons in British Columbia and more than a dozen guards of honor from Victoria to Halifax.

"I have seen it for myself," she said in a farewell broadcast, "from the Pacific Coast, bursting with the strength of present success and future endeavors, to the Atlantic Provinces, old and wise and bright with splendid new prospects."

SHE LIKES BORSES

Those who accompanied her said the stampede was one of the most exciting part of the whole trip for her. Horses everywhere drew her attention. The Rockies impressed her and so did the Laurentian Seaway and Niagara Falls.

She came at the invitation of British Columbia, celebrating its 100th anniversary and spent the first two weeks there.

The princess visited a national park and a Saskatchewan farm, talked with patients in veterans' hospitals and children's hospitals, shook hands with thousands of dignitaries and waved to hundreds of thousands of ordinary citizens.

She attended arts festivals in Vancouver, Stratford, Montreal and Halifax.

"There has been only my first visit to you," she said in the farewell speech. "I am left with a strong feeling that I should like to come back to Canada. I hope it may be soon and that it be before long."

INSPIRED BY KINDNESS

She described the kindness of the Canadian people as "truly inspiring and heartwarming and a constant accompaniment on my journey."

Summing up her impressions, she said: "I feel more than ever fortunate . . . to have seen for myself across this vast land so many of the varied aspects of Canada, and so much of the sources, both spiritual and material, of Canadian vigor . . .

"I have glimpsed the immense and varied countryside, the majestic grandeur of the mountains, the broad prairies and the rich lands beyond farther east."

Part of her speech was delivered in French, including a reference to Canada as a country drawing a large part of its spiritual resources from two great cultures.

Of her last evening in Canada she said: "I shall never like Cinderella fell as the first terrible note of midnight struck . . . I have had a really lovely time during these last 4½ weeks, and I offer you all my heartfelt thanks."

Nautilus Gets British Welcome

PORTLAND, Eng. (Reuters)—The U.S. atomic submarine Nautilus arrived in harbor here today to a cheering welcome on the completion of its historic journey under the Arctic ice cap.

The Nautilus's arrival completed an 8,130-mile trip which pioneered the new route over the roof of the world.

PRODUCTION

Trucks rolled through the plant here Monday night at the rate of one a minute as buyers sought to stockpile supplies before the threatened strike.

Shutting down of the plant's four blast furnaces began early Thursday. Plant officials said it would take a day or so to get non-production furnaces back into operation once agreement is reached with the union.

SAY DEMANDS JUST

The union wanted a settlement in line with what it received two years ago—a package deal with a 25-cent-an-hour increase. The union said its demands were justified on the grounds of increased production by workers and higher corporate prices and profits, and that increased consumer spending power was derived by a Kitchener man broke necessary to keep the economy healthy.

The company countered that its employees were already the best paid in Canadian industry and that increases would be inflationary.

It offered to negotiate only some improvements in a group insurance plan and asked the union to extend its contract two years. Employees under the company-union, which expired March 31, received an average of $2.56 an hour with a basic rate of $2.29½.

Canada's other major steel producers, Algom Steel Corporation Limited in Sault Ste. Marie and Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation in Sydney, N.S., usually follow Sirico in their labor contract negotiations.

Algoma union officials said Monday their negotiations had been unsuccessful. William Mahoney, national director of the steelworkers union, said he understood the Soo local was applying for conciliation.

The Algoma local has asked for a 25-cent an hour wage increase.

NAUTILUS SAILS TO GLORY

Christopher Columbus may no longer be regarded in history books as the most venturesome of the trade-route seekers who have preceded the modern nautical generation. Seeking a new route to India by going in the opposite direction to establish shipping lanes is mere stuff compared to the feat of Sir Vivian Fuchs, Sir Edmund Hillary and Dr. Vivian Exton Fuchs, Anderson, and his 118-man crew.

Even in this sophisticated age when man-made satellites, record-shattering planes, balloons and missiles have been commonplace, it is fantastic to imagine a vessel traversing the North Pole area, under the ice and by atomic power. It really is incredible.

No matter what the rewards are in the way of citations and medals, to the Skipper and his crew, they will be small compensation for this hazardous 2,114-mile trip. Travelling across the top of the world under ice which averaged 15 feet thick and reached thicknesses up to 50 feet, on a course which had never been plotted, is hardly a sailor's idea of an easy jaunt. The Commander and his men accomplished this feat. Not only have they pioneered a new sea lane, they have opened the door to greater military and merchant use of this unique course.

Use of the Arctic Ocean as a connecting link between the Atlantic and the Pacific has long been a dream of seafarers. A year ago a Canadian ice patrol boat leading three U.S. Coast Guard cutters and operating under the most favorable summer conditions, was able to navigate the tedious and hazardous surface route through the islands and sounds of the northern coast. But the Nautilus' achievement makes it certain that submarines will dominate northern naval activity.

As a predecessor to merchant submarines, the feat of the Nautilus is of world importance. As a military and psychological weapon, it has not only helped record some of the prestige lost by the success of Russia's first Sputnik, but guarantees Western pre-eminence in the increasingly important Arctic area. The Commander, his crew and Admiral Rickover, the man who designed the Nautilus, have earned eternal fame.

A SCHOOL EXPERIMENT

In Golden, Colorado, the public schools will launch an experimental revamping of traditional groupings for classes and class periods. The plan will apply to 400 students, all sophomores and 80 per cent of the juniors in the high school.

Instead of the usual six-period day, five class meetings a week, the boys and girls will attend weekly lectures in given subjects in groups of 100 to 200. Then these groups will be broken down into groups of 25 to 80 for a second lecture-discussion period and a two-hour laboratory or discussion group. The fourth meeting will be devoted to review and evaluating in groups of 50 to 75.

This applies to one high school only, but in the same county all 1,700 pupils in all high schools will be taught by "teams" of teachers under a new plan of instructors. These "teams" will be used in each subject in place of individual instructors.

The ideas behind the changes are these:

1. Teachers will not be called on to repeat the same subject material five or six times. 2. Surveys of class-size study have revealed that pupils learn as well in large classes as small (obviously a new twist). 3. Grouping of students by ability will be easier. 4. Pupils will have longer blocks of time in which to work at a given subject.

It is a bold plan and will be watched with interest by educators and most will want to see the benefits (if any) from the plan clearly demonstrated before they consider it. In any case it shows originality in thought and it is to be expected the Golden experiment will be observed by department heads not only in the States but in Canada as well.

THE FAMILY PICNIC

There are duties every married man is called on to perform;
There are duties that his wife insists upon.
In the winter he must often quit his den so nice and warm
For a card game at the neighbors; that is one.
Once a year unto a ball room she will drag him for a dance,
And she drags him to a concert now and then.
But the picnic for relations almost drives him in a trance,
And the time for that is with us once again.

He can stand the winter card games with the neighbors, and a ball;
He will go to it it's only once in years;
Though he suffers at a concert while will not complain at all;
It's duty that he owes to wife dear.

But the picnic for relations' on some green and grassy plot
Where the flies are buzzing merrily around,
With the fancy bowls of salad and the tea that isn't hot,
Taxes every bit of patience, to the ground.

Though he loves his wife's relations, and he hopes they love him too,
He doesn't hanker to go picknickin' with them;
And there isn't any pleasure that he's able now to view
In a picnic supper served at 6 p.m.

It's a torture born of women who imagine men are fond
Of eating cakes and pickles in the air.
And he's sure it won't be Heaven, should he reach the great beyond,
If he finds a family picnic waiting there.

HISTORIC BELLEVILLE

(Articles will have continued by members of the Hastings County Historical Society).

COME TO THE FAIR ! ! !

This year's edition of the Belleville Fair is larger and better than ever.

One of the new attractions is an exhibit sponsored by the Hastings County Historical Society. This display, made possible by the kindness of the Fair Board, is located in the Art Gallery. So far the fair is has attracted much favorable comment.

Belleville residents enjoy picking out their street and even their home, in some cases, on a large Bird's Eye View of the City (1874). Belleville has changed considerably since that time, and where Victoria Park now stands a new school in 1894.

County residents can do much the same thing with an 1879 map of municipalities such as Stirling, Madoc, and Shannonville.

There are also many pictures of early rural industries, churches, schools, etc. School books and examination papers are shown dating back to 1900.

Three Belleville newspapers are on display — The Intelligencer (1851); the Hastings Chronicle (1846); and the Ontario (1894); as well as an early publication, The Intell office on Front Street.

There are also two books with Belleville authors, Sheriff and Mrs. Moodie, on display. One was published in the stone house at the corner of Sinclair and Bridge Streets.

Reminiscents of everyday life in past years are a butter bowl and ladle, a large pewter, a Kenney throw, a pillow sham, a wool chain, an arrowhead, a high-wheel bicycle, and a locally manufactured cast iron nutcracker in the shape of a dog.

A mysterious carved Indian head is yet another attraction at the Hastings County Historical Society's exhibit under the Grand stand.

See you at the Fair!

Are Women Chattels?

St. Catharines Standard

The Canadian Federation of University Women in a brief presented to Justice Minister Fleming this week declared married women are to be not partners but chattels" under the proposed Estate Tax Act now before the Commons.

In urging a better estate tax deal for widows, the federation pointed out that the new legislation provided that the determination of joint property is to be determined according to the contribution of each individual than by the extent of contributions to it.

The federation rightly argues that this fact makes no recognition of the wife's contribution. They have stressed in the past and again urge that for taxation purposes the estate of a deceased spouse be considered as earned by the family partner and not subject to taxation.

The brief pointed out to the government that the Dominion Act fails to extend partnership recognition to the working wife in the partnership of marriage when it comes to the settlement of an increase in revenues or in security of tenure.

Marriage, it has been taught throughout the ages, is a 50-50 partnership, with the wife helping her husband in creating any wealth they may enjoy by carrying for the home, the children and seeing to it that husband has a place in the home a place for relaxation and inspiration. It is through her comfort, also labor-ious work of the wives which leaves the husband free to work at his occupation which accrues to their joint estate.

It is not only for which the wives ask, for as they point out "charity begins at home".

Therefore that they are not biased in their opinion the Federation points out that the present act's provision that allows a basic $10,000 exemption for a widower but stipulates that for the exemption to apply to a widower, he must be infirm and have a dependent child.

It seems that now is the time for a new look at the estate tax act, a look which will uphold the partnership of marriage and does not class women as chattels.

Joins Swiss To Lick 'Em

Wiarton Town Times

The Hamilton Watch company is going to begin making watches in Switzerland. The conclusion is apparently, "if you can't lick 'em join 'em."

Hamilton-Ben Sheridan of Lancaster Pa., has obtained permission from the Swiss federation, to set up a production plant in that country. The company will make in the Swiss share of the American market climb from 70 percent to five years ago to 80 percent today, despite a 50 percent increase in the U.S. tariff, which came in 1954 at the request of Hamilton and other principal American manufacturers.

The company, long distinguished in America for watch making, believes it can produce its watches in Switzerland under the American tariff and still meet the competition here, thus capturing their share of distinction in meeting Swiss competition previously. Hamilton also in the past imported for itself Swiss watches, and the new arrangement will enable it to continue on a more favorable basis.

At the heart of the production cost problem which brought Hamilton-Ben Sheridan to set-up a Swiss plant is this fact, which seems to have plagued all American fine craftsmanship industries facing foreign competition: Labor costs in this island are about one-third those in the American watchmaking industry.

A Radical Problem

The Richmond Times-Dispatch, Virginia

Our British friends, some of whom have been extremely free about denouncing the South for its racial problem, now appear to have an opportunity to demonstrate their sincerity.

A bill has been introduced in the House of Commons making it illegal to bar anyone from British restaurants, hotels or dance halls on grounds of color.

Heretofore, instances, colored persons have been barred of late in Great Britain, but all three and this Tas led to embarrassing criticism. The integrationists legislation reiterated to is the result.

The vigor of the attacks on the United States, and particularly on the South, in some of the British newspapers, because of the race situation, has been astonishing—in view of the well-known treatment by the British of what Kipling called the lesser breeds" of various British colonies throughout the world.

Number Ten Downing St.

BBC London Letter

Comment and discussion on the renovations which are to be carried out at Number 10 Downing Street, official residence of Britain's Prime Ministers for over two hundred years, has been reported in many of the BBC's services for listeners overseas. In a BBC program for South Africa, "Across the Line", Noreen Pierce spoke about the "involved history of Downing Street." "Involved," she said, "with a house standing in a large garden, given away by Will to a favourite, Sir Smith and leveller. Elizabeth I, in her turn, gave it to the Bishop of Westminster Palace. James I renewed this lease, but it was finally lost to a king who happened to be the aunt of Oliver Cromwell. And it was on Cromwell's head it came into the hands of George Downing who held the surprising post of Commissioner of the Mint under Cromwell's army in Scotland and made the movement offering him the Crown." Downing built up the street as a speculation and it was only about a hundred years ago that vast office blocks were built around it.

Number 19 came to be the home of the Prime Minister, Lord Liverpool, as it were, said Miss Purdon. The modest Georgian house stood a large house at the rear which was given by George II to Sir Robert Walpole. When he also accepted it as an attachment, for all time to come, to the post of Prime Minister. He had the house stripped, put in new staircases and some handsome new rooms which remain today, and linked the house at the rear with Number 10.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHEN YOU HAVE GIVEN YOUR BEST

I dare say that every sincere person-THE To do his best, regardless of what others may say. If we can live out our days with the knowledge and with the feeling that at least we have given of ourselves, and in good measure, we have not failed in the most important way. We have not come now with satisfaction and happy expectation.

When you have done your best, and given much of that best to others, you get satisfaction that no amount of gold can give. You look forward to tomorrow for sale the priceless inner faith and the beautiful hope that means everything when most of what we have had as assets, slip noiselessly from our grasp.

When you have given your best, you feel your own inadequacies, you have no "runners up" They are there, however, and you don't like them. They are measured. When you have given your best you inspire others to try and give their best. That is efficiency. The Soul.

When you have given your best you are able to help others. Among the greatest none is greater than what he does. You are not among the all of this earth that there are ones w h o stick by their guns, regardless of what today's news may be. Their faith is constantly being strengthened by friends, and a few well selected enemies!

Example is what stands u s wherever it is promoted. How do you feel when you have created a new expression of words and a man to match them up? When you have done your best, don't boast or try to imitate another.

When you have done your best you can well merit the opportunity to be one with others. Your best is inspiring your especially those deeply hidden in your heart.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There are two main differences in our way of life between the present and, say, fifty years ago that are far more important than the more technological differences such as motor cars, high-ways, push buttons and super-markets. Those things are mere symptoms.

The first great difference is that fifty years ago, everybody in the whole town lived in went to church. Up and down the street, at t e n thirty every Sunday morning, but every came, all dressed up in what were sincerely called their "Sunday clothes," hymn books in hand, and proceeded to their choice of the eight or nine brands of church which occupied most of the best real estate corners of city or town. I do recall a single person house, even in the next two or three churches, but did not go to church. Nowadays, the church goers in the block are notable.

The other profound difference is that fifty years ago, the husband and grandfather bought every thing they bought for people whether it was a pair of pan, hammer, chair, carpet, bed, gas fixture, or Everything was for keeping. It was something built into t h e house, domestic equipment.

Today, I suppose, we buy almost everything with a full awareness of its transience. We figure on turning it in, or throwing it away, within a few months or years. C a r s, refrigerator, furniture, c l o t h e s, utensils, appliances, even dishes, everything is bought for the time being. The sense of "keeping" as a single person, "keeps," is a thing of the past.

UN Chieftain Is Wise Man

Ottawa Journal

One form of miscellaneous study, not entirely free of waste and profit from is the interviews of Mr. Dag Hammarskjold, head of our modern artful dodger, and has to be. But he is as well a statesman-philosopher of a very high order. Of his delicate and inhibited post he has made more than any of us had a right to expect.

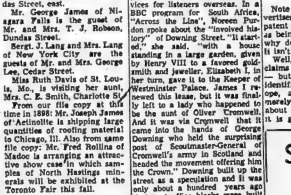
Mr. Hammarskjold's statements on whatever may be the issue or issues of the hour usually are more valuable than their innocent seeming language immediately suggests. They have in mind today as well the bite of mature wisdom and strength the way as early as Shakespeare's dews from Heaven.

Last week, for example, a German newspaperman asked a question directed to the attainment of "concrete proposals" to rebuild prosperanda and subversive broadcasts. Mr. Hammarskjold replied that he liked the intent but was "groping for some kind of formula which might establish an international basis for some kind of international discipline in this field."

This sane position was not asking questions of anyone who said there should be some definition of what a propaganda or subversive broadcast is.

Mr. Hammarskjold: "If we were to start to try to find a definition we would never get a result. Let us start from the other angle, with cases and what does not harm, and there may be criteria for that."

The wisdom of this is so profound as to appear simple. Yet how much of the world's ills are worsened rather than eased by man's constitutional perhaps especially Western Man's) that all can be labiled, labelled and packaged in this universe of ours, that lines divide good from bad, black from white, grey from grey.



Strength for The Day

DR. EARL D. DOUGLASS

FRIDAY — DAY OF SUFFERING AND ATONEMENT

Arrested, tried, scourged, crucified. This was the tragic sequence of a day, dawn to dusk, of one of a legalized murder. Yet, in spite of the incredible awfulness of the deed, we call it Good Friday — not Black Friday, or Murder Friday, but Good Friday. There is as hard for Jesus as any day of suffering had ever been for any dweller on the planet. The only perfect Man that had ever lived was put to death — and He lived. Could God not have stopped it? And if He could, why did He not do so?

Yes, God could have stopped it. He had His done so a wicked deed and a sanctifying death.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT NOT TO FEAR THUNDER

There was a quick little shower today, and several claps of thunder seemed to be directly over the house. We had some guests, including a youngster about five years old. He was glad to see — fascinated rather than frightened by the noise.

His mother and older brother told the urchin, "That's the Thunder God, making the thunder talk. The thunder is saying to the Thunder God, 'Please stop sending some rain so you'll feel good and grow'."

The idea delighted the little fellow. I don't know how much of it he really understood, but he absorbed the idea that thunder wasn't frightening anyone else. So he wasn't afraid either.

It's fine for a youngster if those about him aren't afraid. He learns not to be afraid. But if the older people are afraid, then there's only reason left to hide your fear, so children won't copy it.

This brings me to a poem, written by a reader who sent it with a plea. I have brought up herself to fear thunder, but doesn't want to let her daughter acquire the same baseless fear. I think it is an utterly delightful poem, and I hope I can pass it on, with the author's permission, hoping you will like it as much as I do.

STORM FOR TWO

By Laura Rose Wheeler

Ah daughter, small daughter,
Do be not afraid.
The thunder is wonder
Our wise God has made.

Now close your wide eyes
Before my own tell
That courage may falter
In sudden as well.)

Ah daughter, small daughter,
The lightning may glare;
But remember the splendor
Of heaven is there.

(And look not beyond me;
It's only the light
That makes my life tremble
If cannot be right.)

Ah daughter, come closer,
Fold tight to my hand;
There are some things that no one
Can quite understand.

(Small daughter, small mother,
Ah be not afraid,
The thunder is nothing
Our wise God has made.)

Note to J. C.: I read the advertisement you sent on that patent medicine that is guaranteed to do wonderful. You ask why doctors would indorse it if it's good.

Well, I notice that the ad claims that doctors don't use it but the ads show who are identified by name are in Europe, and in any event they merely make some remarks about it, but don't outright say it is good. The Americans and Europeans mentioned in the advertisement don't actually say anything beyond that they will experiment with it.

In short, even in the ad itself, you have to read anything concrete except the people who advertise and sell the stuff. You have to learn to read some of these patent medicine ads considerably indged to notice how they seem to say things that aren't actually said. Draw your own conclusions!

Rin Tin Tin, TV Wonder Dog Stages Show With Rusty, Rip

Rin Tin Tin, four footed television star jumped out of living-room screens "live" yesterday and into the hearts of thousands at the Belleville Fair.

The canine hero of many a battle with the Apaches and his co-star Lieut. Rip Masters, and Corporal Rusty, staged three shows in front of the grandstand.

His other buddies of Fort Apache, Sergeant O'Hara and Corporal Bloom of the 101st United States Cavalry were left at the post to watch the stores and keep order.

With Private Rin Tin Tin was his master and trainer, Frank Barnes who has reared and trained four generations of the famous German Shepherd screen and television star.

Lieut. Masters, actor James Brown off the screen, a tall, handsome military matinee idol type, proved to be a comedian of more than passing ability, he related in humorous vein of the workaday life of the dog star and his regimental buddies of the United States Cavalry.

Both Lieut. Masters and Corporal Rusty Lee Aakyes off the screen were garbed in their well-known blue and gold uniforms of the federal troops.

Rin Tin Tin was put through some of his routine stunts by his trainer and climaxed the show with a scene from a typical television episode.

The wonder dog is an actor, not a trick canine. He demonstrated how he crawled through a thick underbrush on his stomach, going both forwards and backwards. He knocked an enemy flat, tie "hello" to the applauding crowd.

He feigned death and allowed himself to be kicked hard by the imaginary enemy, looking up once as if to say "that's enough of that".

JUMPED HURDLES

He jumped over a series of hurdles, and when he decided he had had enough "faked" hurt leg, limping towards his master.

He was at his acting best in the final act of the show when a blood-crazed Apache Indian crowd with a knife suddenly attacked Corporal Rusty.

The two threshed on the ground, until Rusty, aided by the audience shouted to Rin Tin Tin for assistance.

The dog knew record to Rusty's assistance, he leaped on the Indian, grounding his rage and brought him to the ground. The pair struggled in combat until Rin Tin Tin finally succeeded in disarming the Indian enabling the "troops" to capture him.

Lieut. Masters proved to be a singer of ability, he sang a number of the songs made famous on the Rin Tin Tin television and screen series. These included "Forward", "Wagon Train", so great is Corporal Rusty, and well-known "White Buffalo".

Following the performances, the television stars were surrounded by enthusiastic young fans and a lot of elders, anxious for autographs.

Arts, Crafts Has Fine Display

"The old order changeth" said Tennyson, and so it was yesterday on display at Arts and Crafts in the Horticulture building at the Belleville Fair. It was most refreshing to see new "blood" among the oils and watercolors, and the ceramics as well as the woven articles. This was one of the best exhibitions of amateur art seen in some time at the fair.

The Belleville Camera Club is to be commended for the fine black and white photography, which included snow scenes; "Clouds at the Outlet," "Belleville Bay Bridge," "Mill Pond," "Snake Eyes," a dice study, and the "Water Lily" of Mrs. Wood and while one could almost smell the sweet perfume, and the "White Kitty," sitting beneath an archway or limbs.

Metal craft included aluminum trays; copper hammering; candle sticks; copper bookends, and a scroll of ivy leaves in copper on black.

The leather craft was attractive showing purses; handbags; key purses, and the odd one of wallets was done with colored flower.

OUTSTANDING WEAVING

In the weaving the wool was all in white, with border of red and green was outstanding, as were the two place mats and rose colored towels embroidered with black butterflies.

Hooked rug weaving was quite pretty and displayed a red apron with white mouse motif; a rose like runner accented with black butterflies. The ceramics included vases, fancy dishes, earrings, ash trays, sugar and cream sets, and bowl bowl.

In the arts, oils, one was taken by the freshness of the exhibits, among which were some delightful scenes of the old Moira River and the "Belleville Bay Bridge"; a study of an elderly man with wine-colored jacket; a "Portuguese Woman; still life, and some splendidly done flowers.

Another oil showed Belleville below the railway bridge, a very fine work of art, while there were also portrait studies of a girl and a boy, and one in pastel pinks, cross stitch showing ballet dancers, and pencil sketches of a dog's head, and to be modern an abstract was shown in oils in black and white.

Other articles included a drift wood centrepiece holding plants; a little loll in a gourd, colorful plastic grapes and hat — a container for facial tissue; knitting bags, and hammered brass pictures of lilies.

Marie Dionne Secretly Weds Montrealer in Quiet Ceremony

MONTREAL (CP) — Marie Dionne, who once longed for the solitude life of a nun, Monday became the third of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets to marry.

The 24-year-old quint surprised everybody, including her sisters, by getting married in a quick, secret ceremony to Florent Houle, 33, a provincial government employee in Montreal.

Two altar boys were the only witnesses. The name of the Roman Catholic priest who officiated at the nuptial mass was not revealed and Rev. Jean Baptiste Vinet, Irish priest of the stately Notre Dame Church in the chapel of which the marriage took place, would give no details.

After the wedding, the bride and groom left for a honeymoon to an undisclosed location.

Her sister Cecile, now Mrs. Philippe Langlois, and George Roose, brother - in - law of Mr. Houle, said they were surprised by the suddenness of the news.

"The ceremony was supposed to have been last Friday," Mr. Roose said. "I and my wife were invited, but somehow the news got around that there would be a wedding and Florent postponed it.

"He didn't want it to be a circus. The most thing we knew he telephoned us and said they had been married."

Cecile said she and her husband had been in Quebec City for the weekend and had heard there was a wedding afoot. They telephoned Marie on Monday to ask about it and found it already had been performed.

"We know very little about it," she said. Marie and Mr. Houle met last March, she added.

Mr. Roose said the two never had much of a fuss about their friendship.

No relatives on either side were informed that the marriage was to take place Monday.

Father Vinet, when pressed for details, said: "They were married. Anything further must come from them. They have their own private lives to lead."

There was a report that Marie and her husband were subs cut from the same bolt of cloth, a custom established by her sister Annette, who last October became the first of the quints to wed.

Annette married Germain Allard, now 24, a Montreal loan company executive, in Montreal. The ceremony was supposed to be quiet and intimate, but erupted into a dizzying whirl of noise and flashes when gate-crashing photographers scrambled through the aisles at will.

A month later Cecile married Mr. Langlois, now 27, a CBC television technician, in a dignified, formal wedding at Corbeil, Ont.

Diane Bradshaw, Foxboro, is seen with a sheaf of prize winning oats. Oats in the sheaf are being forgotten less and less at county fairs with many farmers saying they haven't the time to prepare the grain.

Social Worker Wants Koreans In Dominion

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Anne Davison of Brantford wants the Canadian immigration authorities to admit Koreans to Canada.

As a social worker with the Church World Service in the Seoul area she found it "difficult to explain to intelligent, healthy and Christian Koreans who have no homes and no hope that Christian Canada has shut her doors tight."

Miss Davison is about to start a second five-year term of service among 10,000 widows and children in South Korea. While on furlough in Canada she spoke to many church groups.

Among other things she told them there are 75 foundling homes in Korea—but no milk for these babies. Only the children left Korea many of the orphanages they started could not continue.

Thousands of widows in Korea will never remarry—it is not the custom—and the Church World Service is teaching them sewing, scroll work, carpentry, needle knitting by machine, and artificial flower making as their own self-supporting.

Miss Davison, a native of Kingston Falls, Ont., studied Chinese at Yale University, and studied social work at the University of Toronto.

Dinner Table Fancies in 1892

by Mary Moore

This week I am having the bita, would you like to read delightful fun of visiting Edna and Howard on Lake Muskoka. Their gracious living customs printed in 1892 and loaned to me by Mrs. Lumsden. Under a section entitled "Dinner-Table Fancies" I found these little gems, which include some prize-less information on finger bowls "To be thoroughly good form at dinner is the very inflorescence of civilized life . . . dinner table etiquette is arbitrary . . . to take soup floating the spoon from ra-ther than toward yourself; to touch the napkin as little as possible; to accept or decline what is offered instantly and politely; these and other trifles demonstrate the well-bred di-ner-out . . . the finest white damask is still the preference and the centrepiece of plush or velvet embroidered is little used now. (What for goodness' sake is plush or velvet under-liner?) Flower fancies are even more varied than those of yore (low like dandelions!) The dinner's plates come in deep tones in Dresden china and the display on which the finger-bowl rests should be harmoniously re-moved with the bowl on reach-ing the guest." (I bet many a guest got a lapful of rose-pet-aled water when this quick trick got out of hand!)

So now you know what to do with your plush and under-lace and finger-bowl doylays.

So that you can examine your soup-pushing (thank) ha-per is plenty).

cut and let it get cool. Cut off the whole breast and chop very fine. Mix with one hard-boiled egg, salt and pepper. Add pounded yolks of two hardboiled eggs, and rub through a colander. Cool; skim, and strain the soup into a soup-pot. Season, add the chicken and egg mixture, sim-mer ten minutes, and pour into the tureen. Then add a small cup of boiling milk.

Now, if you can afford to buy a lbs. fat ground round steak would you like to try

SPICED BEEF

("Enough for a family of 12—in 1892") Four pounds of round of beef chopped fine; take from it all fat; add to it three dozen small crackers rolled fine, four eggs, one cup of milk, one table-spoon ground mace, two table-spoons of black pepper, one tablespoon melted butter; mix well and put in any tin pan that you will just fill, packing it well; baste with butter and water, and bake two hours in a slow oven. (Go easy if you do try this — I think 1 teaspoon pep-per is plenty).

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: CHECK UP ON YOUR MANNERS

It's a wonderfully rewarding plan to check up on yourself every once in a while and exam-ine yourself honestly on what you say and how you say it. Every-day little things that can have, usually do have, such a big im-portance, for example, how you say your greetings. How you say "How do you do" to acknowledge an introduction. How you say (or, unhappily, don't say) "p l e a s e," "thank you," "please," "I beg your pardon." How you answer the telephone.

If you're not pleased with proud of, the words you say and or the manner in which you s a y them, it's actually very easy to root out the bad habits of un-graciousness and social awkward-ness. And you can have a fi l e d and polished up the graceful manners that make for charm.

GIRLS, DO HAVE THE COURTESY TO SAY "THANK YOU"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My girl friend says that when a man (a stranger) steps aside to let her enter a bus or train or elevator first, she simply takes this courtesy for granted, insists it isn't necessary to say "Thank you." I think, and my mother agrees with me, that a "Thank you" is necessary. Who is right? — S. K.

You and your mother are right, so right. Every courtesy, small or large, extended by any-one, friend or stranger, we should say "Thank you," those gracious words that show we're mannerly.

P.S.": So many men these days firmly declare that they don't have the trouble to tie the courte-ous thing they know they should do . . . because so often the girl or woman makes no acknowledg-ment whatever of their courteous gesture. It's girls like you r f i friend . . . who "simply takes this courtesy for granted" . . . who have helped to bring about t h i s unfortunate state of affairs.

WIDOW SHOULD USE CORRECT FORM OF NAME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been a widow for twelve years, and in October I am to marry a well-known lawyer here, a widower. Of course I want every plan and detail in the best possible taste. Thank you for an-swering several questions for me in your column. Now I have an-other, this one about the correct form of my name on our formal announcements (which we will, of course, send in our names), and also the newspaper announce-ments I will send to the two newspapers here.

As a widow I have always used Mrs. Robert Clark (for example), and I thought I should use t h i s form of name on these announce-ments. But several relatives and friends have told me that "of course" I should use "Mrs. Marg-aret Clark." Which is the correct form? — Widow

Mrs. Robert Clark is the correct form of name for you to use in these announcements. Please don't stoop to the impropriety and in-dignity of using the incorrect "Mrs. Margaret Clark." Formal announcements demand t h a t every detail must be formally abided by.

WHEN THERE ARE TWO BONOR ATTENDANTS, WALKING SEPARATELY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In my late-September wedding, I will have six bridesmaids, a matron of honor and a maid of honor. I would like to have t h e bridesmaids walk in pairs. But want to have the matron of honor and the maid of honor walk sep-arately. Which one walks directly in front of my father and me?

— Bride-to-be

The honor attendant more close-ly related to you, the actual wi-ness, should be given the place of greater honor; that is, she should walk directly before you and your father. For example, if the mat-ron of honor is your sister, and the maid of honor your cousin or a close friend, the matron of hon-or would be given the position of greater honor, directly before you and your father.

Wool Knit Stroller

By VERA WINSTON

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Alice T. — He wants me to bar my parents.

John T. — They have no right to meddle.

Alice T. — My husband and I defied our parents to get married three years ago, but a great deal of strain and unhappiness h a s come into our lives. For one thing, my parents soon relented and attempted to help us, but John's parents are still bitterly opposed to our marriage and re-fuse to visit us.

More strain has resulted f r o m the fact that we have not had a child. John assures me that it makes no difference to him, but he shows signs of resenting me and slighting me in the presence of other women.

Two months ago, at the urging of my parents who agreed to pay the bill, I started going to a psychiatrist. My husband found out about it the other day a n d hit the ceiling. He threatens to leave me fat if I do not stop visit-ing this man and he wants me to bar my parents from our home.

I love John very much, but I am wondering whether o u r marriage will still be worth any-thing if I agree not only to stop going to my doctor, but to bar my parents.

John T. — I feel that Alice's parents are at the bottom of our troubles. They did not forgive our marriage for the purpose of ac-cepting me. On the contrary — they just want to keep in touch with Alice in order to break us up, and they seem to be succeeding. What right do they have to coax my wife into going to see this man, just because they are wor-ing and able to pay his fees?

If some outsider is to start pass-ing judgment on me and running my family, at least I should have something to say about choosing him. I knew nothing about t h i s until it slipped out by chance in conversation a week ago, and I resent it very much.

It is true that I have been nasty to my wife because she has not had a child, but I do think it would make much more sense if she went to a medical doctor about this problem, instead of spending her time with a psychi-atrist.

I must insist on her parents leaving us alone, because I can't trust them to stop meddling in our lives.

The Council: Alice's parents are way out of bounds in bringing the psychiatrist into this family pro-blem without John's consent. He has every right to be angry.

Alice was all wrong to accept such a situation. If she wants to make her marriage work, s h e should recognize that matters of vital concern to her must be discussed with them behind-his back.

John is all wrong to assume that his wife's childlessness is neces-sarily the result of her physical condition. It is just as likely that he is the person incapable of hav-ing children and he should f i n d ago have gone to a physician with her.

Common sense appears to be greatly lacking in this family si-tuation. If John and Alice sincere-ly want to make a go of their marriage, they would do well to-gether to discuss their pro-blems with a clergyman or physic-ian and agree together on what-ever follow-up program is neces-sary and desirable.

More Aid, Trade To Bolster System Urged at Parley

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—More aid and trade to bolster the free world economic system was urged by Budget Minister Donald M. Fleming as Dillon, U.S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, left for the east Coulchiling conference.

He suggested more assistance to underdeveloped countries and an expansion of international trade as practical steps needed to meet the Soviet economic offensive.

His speech was read by Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for economic affairs in the U.S. state department. The conference is sponsored by the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

In the speech, Mr. Dillon said a "massive international effort was needed to provide financial stability and an atmosphere of security for international investment abroad.

He said the lot of the average man in Asia, the Middle East and Africa is often that of poverty and near starvation.

"It is clear that we Canadian, American and European cannot survive forever as islands of comfort in a sea of want, misery and frustration. We depend on the other people in the world and they depend on us."

Mr. Dillon was unable to attend the conference himself because of work in connection with the United Nations General Assembly session on the Middle East crisis.

DIFFERENCES IN PAST

The speech made frequent reference to differences which in the past have arisen up between Canada and the U.S. over economic policy. He acknowledged that the U.S. surplus food disposals "have not always been handled with enthusiasm in Canada."

But the U.S. now has changed its surplus programs so as to minimize or eliminate interference in commercial markets, he said.

Mr. Dillon praised Canada's efforts so far to help meet the needs of under-developed countries as being "both perceptive, generous and effective."

LABOR COUNCIL

At least 3,500 of the industry's brewing and distributing employees were idle and the two breweries still producing — Labatt's and Molson's — were making plans to lay off staff.

Sale of beer by the case ended in Southern Ontario as the outlets closed their doors. Any further production will be "for export."

With supplies cut off, public houses are expected to be drained by the end of the week. Exceptions exist in Northern Ontario where a few scattered licensed retail stores are still open.

Negotiations broke down last week over demands for company guarantees against additional job contracting of work, scheduling and reduction of the work week, limitation of out-of-town stores in the bargaining unit and a dispute over sick leave with pay.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

There have been a lot of stories and rumors coming out of Pembroke regarding Wally (the Man with the Golden Arm) Lesner, and the new edition of the Lumber Kings.

With Ralph (Rocky) Buchanan his coach, as his right hand man, Lesner was reported to have world-shaking plans in the making for the rejuvenation of the Kings. One story has it he was getting rid of all the veterans, (imagine a Lumber Kings' squad without a Gloseberski), and would tie nothing but youngsters with 24 years the top age limit.

He said that no less than nine of the old Kings were on the block, adding there will be "no commuters, no bonuses, tougher discipline and a better club."

And just to prove that he was not talking through his fedora, Lesner offered the Kingston club right wing-ers Jim Farelli and Wally Maxwell, defenseman Jack Douglas and goalie Andy Fayette in a package deal. No sum was mentioned but at the last meeting of the league Lesner stated Fayette came under the category of "players we cost more than $1,000."

Everything apparently was hunky-dory with Lesner, his man Friday and prospects for the new edition of the Kings; then like a bolt out of the blue came the announcement that Buchanan had resigned as coach of the Kings.

Bucky, it will be recalled, lost the use of an eye during one of last season's Cornwall-Pembroke games, but stayed with the club to finish of the season. Apparently, Lesner thought Bucky was the Pembroke Jinx boy. Bucky travelled with the club when he returned from eye treatment, and it was believed around the circuit he was a kind of assistant to playing coach Gerry Plamondon.

However, as the season wore into the playoffs, Buchanan became soundly critical of Plamondon on methods of coaching, and made no bones about voicing it both off and on the air.

The Lumber Kings were two games down to the Metro Farlands in the group finals, with the former Bucky not-abiding as their bench boss, when Lesner announced Buchanan. Whatever happened Gerry Plamondon suddenly resigned—and Buchanan was appointed coach. His methods, however, proved no better than those of his predecessor for the Kings went on to sweep the series four games to one with a tie tossed in for good measure.

Now what happens. After nearly a summer spent attending meetings and interviewing players, Buchanan suddenly resigns. Lesner says, however, he is trying to have a team this year with or without Buchanan.

Ron Craig of the Pembroke Observer reported Bucky's resignation as follows:

"It is with profound regret that I hand in my resignation as general manager and coach of the Pembroke Lumber Kings; but, being a married man with two sons and the other support at present, the future here in Pembroke holds nothing for me.

"The contract for the purpose of using the Memorial Centre has been agreed upon verbally for several weeks but nothing has been signed with the start of the season nearing, I am unable to make any decision. Players without a rink are like sailors without a ship.

"Four months ago I submitted a plan to town council asking them to purchase $2,000 worth of advertising from our club. I have been unable to get a negative or affirmative answer from them yet our team put $12,000 into the Memorial Centre last winter.

"With all these ifs and buts, Mister Lesner cannot give me any concrete answer as to my hockey future in Pembroke. I cannot and will not wait until September to be told that senior hockey no longer exists. As of now I can place myself without any difficulty but if I wait until September it will probably be too late.

"I wish to thank the hockey fans of Pembroke and District for everything they have done for me. A man can never forget the great kindness and generosity which was shown me. I am very sorry that I find it necessary to leave, and, as I stated before, it is with deepest regret that I made this move."

SOFTBALL

And don't forget the Bobcats - Sport Centre intermediate "AA" tussle at the CNEA Park tonight, the first of a playoff series. Game starts 6.30.

WRESTLING

What looks like the bout of the season looms up at Memorial Arena Friday night when Dick Hutton puts his world championship on the line with the popular Yukon Eric. Hutton has been wowing that diamond belt for some time now and the Yuks thinks it would look right smart around a husbandsk's midriff. It should be a rough-tough battle with no holds barred. The semi-finals sees two popular matmen come together in Dara Singh and Lord Athol Layton. Both are clever, agile wrestlers and should provide fantastic entertainment. Frenchy Vignal and Krusher Korman open the show.

Now that the big guns of his Chicago White Sox pitching staff have begun to fire, Al Lopez may not extend his amazing record of never finishing worse than second in 10 years as a manager.

The White Sox last two months ago—have squeezed into a second-place tie with Boston in the American League. Dick Donovan won six in a row and Billy Pierce won eight of 11 in that climb from the cellar.

Pierce pulled the White Sox even with Boston Monday night, winning 5-1 at Cleveland while the Red Sox lost 6-2 at Washington. It left the White Sox 12 games behind New York, however, despite Baltimore's 3-0 and 9-3 sweep over the Yankees in a day-night doubleheader.

Detroit United Kansas City 3-2 in the other American League game.

STRIKES OUT SEVEN

Pierce (12-8) gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out seven. He had a two-hit shutout until the eleventh when ex-Sox Jerry Lumpe hit a two-run homer off Bob Lemman and Jose Gimbert, batting for Lemman in the opener. Art Ditmar (8-3) was the loser.

WOODLING 5-FOR-5

The Orioles scored five runs in the nightcap, three unearned, off loser Johnny Kucks (7-5). Gus Triandos' two-run homer put Baltimore ahead 3-0 in the first inning. Gene Woodling went 5-for-5 and drove in three runs, one with a homer, Johnson (4-7) blanked the Yanks after Mickey Mantle's two-run, fifth-inning homer.

It was the Mick's 32nd, keeping pace with Boston's Jack Jensen and Washington's Roy Sievers for the American League lead. Jensen and Sievers matched two-run shots in the fourth inning, but Sievers added a winning RBI single in the fifth off loser Bill Monbouquette. Jim Lemon hit his 24th homer, for the Senators. Reliever Vito Valentinetti won his first start of the season with the relief help of Dick Hyde.

The Tigers did their scoring on a walk and four singles with two out in the fourth. Jim Bunning (10-10) scored the only run he needed on a 20-hit performance. He got a negative decision when Bob Shaw (4-2) relieved

Cary Middlecoff Winner of Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Old pro Cary Middlecoff beat off a challenge by young Bill Casper Jr., Saturday to win the $60,000 Milwaukee Open golf tournament by two strokes with a tournament record 72-under-par 280 on a sizzling three-under 67.

Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif., who was once a baseball prospect, second with 282 on a 68; Casper, big Canadian pro from Apple Valley, Calif., wound up third with a 67.

Middlecoff's triumph, worth $6,300, boosted his official earnings in 11 years as a pro to more than $250,000 and shattered his last big victory was the U.S. Open in 1956.

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—The largest daily double of the summer at Fort Erie track was recorded Monday, when Alpine Grace and Our Diver won the first two races to reward their backers with $377.20.

There were 85 lucky ticketholders in the crowd of 7,020. Apart from the lid daily double, the feature of the afternoon's racing was the riding of apprentice jockey Don Hale.

After a long suspension, he returned to action July 31. In the 10 days of racing since his return, Hale has had 17 winners, including three today.

He won the fourth race on Sarf's Best; the fifth on Count Maple and the featured City of Welland Purse on the favorite, Culpeper.

This Club Won't Worry About Travel

WAKEFIELD, England (CP)—A new soccer team in this Yorkshire town has started training for the coming season after drawing up the strangest club rules in the sport.

All matches will be played at home; every player will be "A, N, Other" and none will ever be put on the transfer list. If the ball is kicked over the wall near the ground none of the players will be allowed to retrieve it.

The latest team to enter the Wakefield and District Football League is Wakefield training centre. All players serving sentences from three years to life in Wakefield Jail.

It is believed to be the first time a team of prisoners in an enclosed jail have been allowed to compete in an outside league.

HE FUSSLED THE YANKS

Ted Bowsfield, a Boston Red Sox rookie from Penticton, British Columbia, whips the ball plateward as he holds the Yankees hitless through six innings during second half of Sunday's doubleheader. Until Norm Siebern lashed a single in the seventh inning only five Yankees had reached base, four on walks and one on an error. Red Sox won the second game 9-3, after the Yanks won the opened 7-6. DURELLE TO FIGHT

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—British Empire light-heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., and Freddie Mack of Brooklyn will meet here Aug. 28 in a 10-round, non-title fight. The bout could serve to keep Durelle in trim in case he gets a chance at Archie Moore's world title. Negotiations are still going on to have Moore defend his title against Durelle in Montreal or Vancouver.

Sinden Signs With Dunlops Says Blair

WHITBY (CP)—Harry Sinden, captain of the world champion Whitby Dunlops, has signed his 1958-59 contract with the Dunlops, manager Wren Blair said Monday night.

Sinden, who had been approached by Kingston, said he was somewhat amused by a report made by Kingston manager Wally Brabin that he had settled his differences with the Whitby club and signed again.

"I had no concrete differences with Whitby," said Sinden. "Kingston merely offered me more money and I went down there and looked around. In the end I decided my loyalties to the Whitby club outweighed the extra pay offered by Kingston."

Manager Blair said Sinden will continue to captain the team in the coming season.

Both Fighters Tossed Out

TORONTO (CP)—Referee Bob Lawrence disqualified both fighters for rough-house tactics in a scheduled amateur five-rounder Monday night at Toronto's Palace Pier, although the customers voted it a fight.

Billy Lehman of Toronto and Hamilton's Jimmy Bay were tossed out in the third round.

Other results included:

160 pounder: Lloyd Falls, Toronto, outpointed Jimmy McDonald, Brantford, three rounds.

140 pounder: Simon Chasberg, Toronto, outpointed Ed Alder, Brantford, three rounds.

TORONTO (CP) — Pat Malone, a six-year-old gelding, registered his third straight victory for his three Owen Sound owners at Old Woodbine Park Monday night.

It was the 12th win of the season for the stable owned by Harry Lumley, Tommy Burling-ton and Jim Keating.

Driver Wilbert Hoskins brought Malone down strongly in the stretch to edge Hillcrest Adams and pay off $8.60. King Nibble was third.

Victoria Graiten B and Mary L. Chief combined in the first two races for a daily double of $107.70.

The stewards announced that driver Hugh McLean had been fined $10 "for sitting down in front of the field in the second quarter" of the third race last Saturday.

Driving Mischief G., McLean used 39 seconds to complete the second quarter after taking the lead in the first quarter in 31 seconds, presiding Steward Clarence McPhee said.

MONTREAL (CP) — Poplar Veep, an eight-year-old bay gelding owned by H. Leslie Stiles of Woodstock, N.B., Monday night won the featured $1,400 B pace at Richelieu Park.

The winner, driven by Bob Ryan, paid $6.30, $3.50 and $2.90.

Katina Paxinou, Oscar Award Winner, Back in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I waited and waited, wondering if they ever call me back to Hollywood again. Why wouldn't they? Did I not win an Academy Award? Here? I did. And still they did not call."

This was the frank, energetic talk of Katina Paxinou, who has been called back to Hollywood after a 10-year absence. The winner of the supporting award for her dramatic Pilar in For Whom the Bell Tolls, she has long been cited as a victim of the so-called "Oscar jinx."

"Perhaps I did have the Oscar jinx," said the handsome Greek actress. "All I know is they could find no pictures for me. Except when they wanted someone to play an old hag. So here I am back again, playing another old hag."

CAST AS GYPSY

Once again she is playing a gypsy rebel leader, this time in The Miracle. She is happy with the meaty but she bit is puzzled at how Hollywood has typed her.

"Look at these — are they pictures of an old hag?" she asked. She displayed photos from her stage roles in London, New York and her native Athens. They were indeed quite glamorous.

"I was only 37 when I played Pilar," she remarked, "and I was considered by many to be a beauty. But try to get the studios to see me that way."

Miss Paxinou left here a decade ago after Mourning Becomes Electra, which she admitted was a disaster. She said she was Eugene O'Neill's personal choice to play the mother role in the tragedy, but the whole project went awry in the filming.

What does she think of Hollywood now?

FILM CAPITAL "DEAD"

"It's dead, dead, dead," she said. "It is very sad to come back here and see it this way. I have gone to Romanoff's and La-rue and I see no one I recognize. They are all at home, I guess. Even the studios are not the same. You used to see the bustle and activity. Now they are dead.

"What happened? What caused this tremendous change? They tell me it was because of television. How can that be?

"I have watched TV and it is terrible. The old movies — yes, they are interesting. But every minute they are stopped while you hear a commercial for headache powder or pills. How can you stand it!"

Writer at 22 Will Present Second Television Thriller

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — While many television writers are looking to other fields because of the decline of live drama, Larry Cohen has looked forward to a long career of writing for television.

You can't beat youth.

A month ago Cohen was 21. Today he's 22.

Tomorrow Kraft Mystery Theatre (NBC-TV, 9 p.m.) will present his second TV drama, his thriller entitled Night Cry. His first script for Kraft, a film production, an adaptation of an Evan Hunter novel, is being developed into a TV series for the coming season.

Cohen is the first successful writer I've met who doesn't know how to use a typewriter. He's bought one, however, and is working at it.

MADE THE ROUNDS

Long since, Cohen went the rounds of television offices trying in vain to get an office boy's job. The last office he visited one day last September, Talent Associates, the highly successful producer of heaven knows how many TV dramatic shows.

Nobody but the receptionists' told him. At that moment, Al Levy was president of Talent Associates, happened to step off the elevator, happened to hear his request for a job, happened to like his appearance, happened to like him, and gave him a job as "go-fer."

"I told him the truth," says Cohen modestly. I said, 'but I like to write.'"

Levy gave him a story idea and told him to try a script. It was his lucky day. When he reached home he found that NBC had telephoned and finally accepted his application for a job as a page boy. So he went to work for NBC at $42 a week while trying a script for Talent Associates.

SCRIPT NO GOOD

When he finished the script, he took it to Levy, who told him it was all wrong. But he had talent, said Levy, and so Talent Associates would try to teach him some TV techniques.

Today Levy says, "Larry's TV scripts, when first submitted, show that he still has a lot to learn technically. But he has something much more important than technical know-how—which he'll pick up in time anyway. He's very inventive and creative. He has a talent for thinking up wonderful situations and ideas. He really is a writer."

Today Cohen, who has quit his job as a page boy at NBC, feels a little lost. "I'm still living on a $42-a-week scale," he says. "Who knows when I might be back earning the same salary? This is a funny business."

SPORT IN BRIEF

WILL EXAMINE BALDING

TORONTO (CP)—Al Balding, who won the Millar Trophy match play tournament Saturday despite an attack of nausea, has decided to enter hospital here Sept. 2 for medical checkup after the Canadian open golf championship in Edmonton. The 27-year-old pro from the Markham Golf Club has had trouble sleeping and eating, and has lost weight.

UNITED BACK IN MUNICH

MUNICH (Reuters) — Manchester United returned to Munich Monday for the first time since eight members of the famed soccer team were killed in an air crash while leaving the city last February. They were met at the station by representatives of Munich's two first division teams which are to field a combined team against United Wednesday.

MP TO DRIVE SULKY

TORONTO (CP) — Hon. Earl Rowe moves from a parliamentary bench to a racing sulky at Old Woodbine track Wednesday night to drive the pacer Parnelly Jacqueline Riddell in the $5,180 Futurity Trot. Harness racing is one of the favorite hobbies of the 66-year-old Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Dufferin-Simcoe.

BEARS GET IMPORT

SARNIA (CP)—Import fullback Jim Smith has been traded to Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union by the Calgary Stampeders, it was announced Monday. Smith, 23, played for the Compton Junior College team in California last year. He stands six-feet tall and weighs 220 pounds.

BADGE OF DELINQUENTS

TOKYO (AP) — Wearing of Hawaiian style, flowered sport shirts is under fire in Japan. Police in the port city of Kobe said Monday they are questioning all youths wearing sport shirts and sunglasses, because these are the trademarks of juvenile delinquents and hoodlums.

LIONS MUST BE QUIET

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — A woman's pet lioness which "roared all night and attracted lions to the area" was one of the reasons why the Nairobi city council decided Monday to draw up by-laws controlling noise nuisances.

AT THE BELLE — Lana Turner and Sean Connery, handsome Scots newcomers to Canadian audiences, in one of the tender love scenes in "Another Time, Another Place", new Paramount release playing tonight for the last times at the Belle Theatre. Romantic drama in VistaVision, also stars Barry Sullivan, Glynis Johns.

Sport Snapshots

WINNIPEG (CP)—Jack (Wino) Stupp (Winnipeg Tribune) says the referees' assessment that the NHL Toronto Maple Leafs expect to have Max Bentley back in the lineup next season caught "most of the hockey mob with their eyes out."

Jack says: "If the Leafs are serious about the deal, it indicates they're running out of material. Fielding last the past few seasons, Toronto can't have much left in their farm system.

"Not only are they trying" to get Bentley but they made a deal for Johnny Bower, a 39-year-old goaltender by way of Cleveland."

Bower readily admits he has only a couple of seasons left, says Wells.

"But he told this department that Leaf boss Conn Smythe had indicated he would alternate games with Ed Chadwick, Leaf's regular non-salaried star keeper. Their ik okey by Bower, for he figured that at that pace he could play four more seasons."

FIGHTING BASEBALL

Baseball pitchers added spice to the tight Class C Northern League race Sunday when Winnipeg Goldeyes and Fargo - Moorhead Twins . . .

In a recent four-game series here won by Goldeyes 3-1, three incidents resulted in a protested game, a near dugout brawl and a heated comment from Goldeye field boss Al Unser.

The fans loved it and more than 6,000 took in the series.

Twins manager Ken Silvestri, former New York Yankee catcher, protested a win by Goldeyes on an umpire's ruling which allowed Goldeye catcher Jim Schaffer to call time out after Twins' Kampschror, a Twins batter, knocked off his mask while taking a called swing.

Silvestri said interference should have been charged against Schaffer and Kampschror awarded first base.

PLATE BLOCK

In the ninth inning of the same game, Kampschror batted off home plate while waiting for a throw from the outfield. Goldeye first baseman Glen Sullivan was forced to go around the bulky Twins' catcher before scoring the winning run.

Unser said after the game that Twins' catchers will block the plate against Goldeyes "at their own risk".

The following night, Twins' second-string catcher John Christiansen grabbed a throw and waited to put the tag on Robbie Robinson, charging home from second.

In the following crash, Christiansen went one way, the ball another and Robinson raced to

RED MEMBERSHIP DOWN

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Communist party lost a quarter of its membership after the Hungarian revolt and is down to a post-war low of 25,000, an anti-Communist organization claimed today. But in a booklet "The British Road to Stalinism," the International Research and Information Services said that Communist infiltration in unions remains a danger.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Take advantage of opportunity to be kind and loving to most important people in your life, but avoid flattery or excessive pride. How-ever, put specialized work in order first, display it to right people, then enjoy yourself.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) An unexpected emotional scene at your house could bring real discord to harmony in its wake if you do not attempt to force your ideas upon others or you get stiff resistance.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Use the utmost care while out driving, strolling or walking about premises today. Also, avoid speaking cautiously with anyone and retain the friendship of all. An unwise word could be quite disastrous today.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Investing more money than is wise, or piling up bigger bills than your income you can comfortably pay, leaving yourself without liquidity, leaving yourself would bring or working capital would be very risky right now. Look into assets instead and try to increase them.

Cancer (July 22 to Aug. 21) Feeling perhaps justifiably angry, you would be tempted to strike out at anyone, particularly one vital to you. Instead, determine to work harmoniously, if not very happily, thereby gaining greater strength of character.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Private worry that has you befuddled could make you lash out at others who have nothing to do with it, especially a wonderful friend. Reiegate your anxiety to the background and be happy in doing for other persons.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 23) A highly upset comrade with inflated ego today gives you much trouble one moment and splendid ideas the next. Be as understanding and courteous as possible, and you come out much the victor.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Because you do not feel well is no reason why you should be unkind to a higher up. Brace yourself and perform your duties most conscientiously, follow all rules scrupulously. Don't argue with anyone.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Trying to skip out instead of facing your problematical affairs today would be disastrous, for it could lose you a vital supporter, and lose prestige. Tackle them bravely instead, and you win out.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Pay attention to suggestions given by a seasoned, wise friend instead of an authority today who is so sure that he or she could give the wrong advice. A good day for pulling strings that will assist friends, too.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Steer clear of an argument between a partner and a higher up, for it could involve you seriously and it does not concern you directly. Keep busily occupied and put important affairs behind you.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) A day when you could easily let your nerves get the best of you and do good deal of small damage to furniture, art objects, even hurt highly gifted, if you do not channel special aptitudes properly, there will be much confusion in the chart. There is a strong urge for quick accomplishment here.

No Substitute Found for Union Jack

GUELPH (CP) — John Morrison of Sarnia, grand master of the Royal Black Knights, an institution of the Loyal Orange Order, said Saturday no suitable substitute has been found for the Union Jack.

We have every respect for the opinions of others but out of thousands of designs submitted for a new Canadian flag, none are good enough.

Mr. Morrison spoke at a gathering of 10,000 members of the Royal Black Knights who marked the anniversary of the relief of Derry in 1689 when Londonderry citizens resisted James II.

Celebrations are held annually in different towns in Ontario on the Saturday nearest Aug. 12. About 150 lodges paraded with 53 bands.

Competition winners were: flute bands — Tobermory; pipe band—North East Hope; chrystal chapter—No. 3 Toronto; preceptory—Solomon, Toronto; purse banner—Palgrave; largest preceptory on parade—Temple 229, Toronto; best marching preceptory—Maple Leaf 837, Toronto; most uniformly dressed preceptory—Orillia, 695; largest membership — Richard Brown, Toronto (83 years).

be transplanted to live in your own body. Some people prefer purely mechanical new hearts, placed in their chests, operated on pocket batteries.

Tooth decay is only a memory. For a vacation, you debate a rocket ride to the new hotel resort on the rim of a crater on the moon, or staying awhile at either the Hotel Satellite or Hotel Orbiter, the plush, rival space-platforms circling the earth.

The beautiful sex of the stars and galaxies from there is simply breath-taking, worth the trip itself, everyone says.

This thought prompts you to look at your newspaper, delivered electronically to your home, to check the latest position of the space-ship expedition to Alpha Centauri, the nearest star to our own sun. Travelling at nearly the speed of light, it's been gone four years now, and is getting close to the star. Will the expedition find new planets, peopled with creatures like us, there or thereabout?

Housework is no challenge, you agree. An electronic brain really runs the house. You set the controls or program the night before. Then it automatically wakes each family member with music at his desired hour; adjusts lights, temperature and air - conditioning, through day and night, even automatically signals the automatic controls to cook dinner.

Incidentally, those synthetic steaks are getting to taste like the real thing.

The whole world has abundant electric power to run industries and even farms. It comes from controlled H-fusion, and from direct tapping of the power of the sun. Your work week is 10 to 40 hours, depending on your own choice. Some like to keep busy.

ARMADA BATTLES TO SUPPLY DEW LINE

The Military Sea Transportation Service armada, Frobisher Bay, Baffin Island, Canadian Arctic, loaded with thousands of tons of fuel and dry cargo to re-supply the stations of the Distant Early Warning line, sails into clear water after fighting its way through ice-strewn polar seas. Because of the short Arctic summer, the task force fights time, tides and ice in the grinding battle with the elements that marks the annual sea lift of supplies for the continent's first line of defence in the far north.

3-Hour Battle Fought Against Lebanese Rebels

BEIRUT (CP) — Pro-government irregulars fought a three-hour battle with rebels Sunday in Alta village, near the Syrian frontier, it was reported today.

Sources connected with the Syrian Social National Party said armed members of the party killed or wounded many rebels and lost one dead and two wounded on their own side.

Alta village is in the district where the body of Ahmed Hammoud, a leader of the party, was found mutilated, apparently murdered, during the weekend. Two other party members were also killed. It could not be determined if the fighting in Alta was a vendetta by the party against the rebels.

Another clash also between the party and the rebels, was reported Sunday night in a Beirut suburb with one rebel killed and three wounded.

The SSNP, despite its name, is Lebanese. It has sided with President Camille Chamoun against the rebels and is strongly opposed to President Shehab of the United Arab Republic.

Meanwhile, the Lebanese cabinet was unable to agree on the composition of the country's delegation to the United Nations General Assembly debate on the Middle East.

Political sources said ministers had decided to let President Camille Chamoun and president-elect Gen. Fuad Shehab select the delegation members.

The main difficulty in choosing the delegation was the rebels' vehement opposition to the inclusion of Foreign Minister Charles Malik. A compromise delegation with opposition members would encourage the rebels to accept Malik.

Hunt for Woman Supposed to Have Been Murdered

VANCOUVER (CP) — The lawyer for convicted murderer L. Ewing Scott of Los Angeles was in Vancouver Saturday in a hunt for the silent client he supposed to have slain.

Morris Lavine of Los Angeles said he had "received a number of calls and letters suggesting that Mrs. Scott has been seen in Canada."

Scott, 61, is appealing his conviction and his life sentence for the murder of his wife. Her body has never been found although she disappeared three years ago.

The Scott case gained prominence in May, 1955, when the wealthy Mrs. Scott disappeared from her Bel Air estate and was not seen again.

Scott was under indictment for forgery in connection with withdrawals from his missing wife's bank account and safety deposit box when he jumped $25,000 bail and fled to Canada in April, 1956.

He was arrested a year later at the Canadian end of the Windsor-Detroit tunnel an was returned to Los Angeles.

Peiping Mayor A Little Off In Estimate

PEIPING (Reuters) — Communist China could mobilize an army of 100,000,000 men in a world war, the mayor of Peiping, Mr. Peng Chen, was quoted Sunday as saying.

Informed sources said that Peng also a member of the Communist party's politburo, stated after a recent two - month conference of the party's central military committee:

"In the event of war we can put 50,000,000 men under arms at once. Within a brief period our military strength would be 100,000,000."

Military experts outside China have estimated the current strength of China's armed forces at about 2,500,000. Demobilization of about 800,000 conscripts and withdrawal of an estimated 300,000 - strong Korean garrison, announced last spring, may have reduced the forces to below this level.

Eisenhower Sets Plan For Mid East Peace

Urges Creation UN Police Force In Meet Address

Stresses International Economic Program

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—President Eisenhower today set forth a six-point plan for building Middle East peace — including swift creation of an emergency UN police force and an international economic development program.

Opening the General Assembly's special emergency debate, the president pledged that United States troops would be "totally withdrawn" from Lebanon "whenever this is requested by the duly constituted government of Lebanon or whenever, through action by the United Nations or otherwise, Lebanon is no longer exposed to the original danger."

SIX-POINT PROGRAM

The president's proposed six points:

1. A standby United Nations police force.

2. An Arab-run Middle East economic development loan fund and a technical assistance program financed jointly by the Arab states, the United States and other countries, presumably including Russia.

3. A constant UN check to curb inflammatory propaganda broadcasts to and from the Middle East nations.

4. A UN study of possible controls on arms shipments to Middle East countries, including the question of an East-West munitions race in the area.

5. Unspecified new UN moves to guarantee Lebanon's security and independence after American troops are withdrawn.

6. An expression of UN determination to assure political survival as a nation, presumably by replacing British troops now there with UN personnel.

INDIRECT AGGRESSION

Calling special attention to the tense situation in that tiny kingdom, Eisenhower warned that "indirect aggression" unchecked in Jordan may lead to conflicts endangering the peace. He did not fix the blame for this, but said consequences of a far-reaching nature could result.

Eisenhower proposed fast General Assembly action on the parts of his program dealing with the peace force, Lebanon, Jordan and

Flames can be seen as they first break out through the roof of the Titus Block on Dundas Street West, Trenton, as the fire went on to destroy the entire building as well as wiping out four businesses and leaving eight persons homeless. The heavy air and lack of serious fire to hit Trenton this year. wind brought the smoke curling down into the street to hinder the firemen a little as well as to drive the crowds of watchers back across the street. Unofficial estimate of the damage was set at $200,000 and was the fourth

Flames Destroy 4 Shops, Offices; 8 Left Homeless

Brought Under Control After Four-Hour Battle

TRENTON — Firemen fought for four hours last night to gain control of a stubborn fire in the Titus Block on Dundas Street, West, which left an unofficial estimate of $200,000 damage in its wake.

Four businesses were wiped out and eight persons were left homeless, including two children. The businesses were: Compeau's Meat Market, Maup Feyen's Bakery, Alma Dawson's Millinery and Children's Wear and R. B. Aylesworth, optometrist. Persons left homeless were Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Compeau and their two small children who lived in an apartment above their store; Mrs. Harrison, manageress of the millinery store, who also lived above the store; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Christos, who had just moved into the apartment above the bakery shop the same day and were able to save most of their belongings, and Mrs. Ida Reid who is employed as a cook at the Quinte Hotel. Mrs. Reid said the blaze is not known.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke and rushed to the hospital during the blaze, but were all reported to have received satisfactorily following treatment with oxygen. All members of the Trenton department, they were Moe Mitts, who received in an oxygen tent all night, his brother, Bob, who was the least affected of the three and returned about an hour later to continue helping to fight the fire, and Len McCauley, the most serious case of all and who was taken to the hospital at about 3 a.m.

Weaver's ambulance rushed the men to the Memorial Hospital and returned to stay at the scene of the fire to be ready for any further emergency.

STUBBORN BLAZE

Firemen generally agreed it was the most stubborn fire they have fought in Trenton, with the flames at the start well concealed in the upper part of the building and when breaking out on the roof high in the air. Fed out at different spots despite the efforts of the firemen to control it.

The aerial ladder truck and a pumper were rushed in from Belleville at the request of the Trenton fire chief, who also put a call in to the RCAF Search Station at Trenton. The latter responded with one truck and necessary men.

Thousands of residents from Trenton and nearby areas came to see or watch the fire and the thick black smoke which, due to the heavy air and lack of wind, fell down across the main street and among the buildings in the heart of the burning business block.

The biting and eye - smarting smoke drove the crowds back from time to time as it swept across the streets, trucks and cars moved slowly over the many watchers.

The fire was first discovered by Bob Haker, one of the local firemen, who was attending a meeting of all firemen in the area. The call came at 8:00 p.m. He said he had just stepped out of the hall on his way across the market square to buy a soft drinks for the men at the meeting when he noticed the

Skunk Invasion At Sacramento Causing Trouble

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) The scent of battle fills the air today as Sacramento moves to wipe out an invasion of skunks.

Poundmaster George Martin estimates there may be 500 concentrated in southwest Sacramento.

The city hired Walter Sims, a professional trapper and expert on skunks. He has caught six.

"This is an all-out battle," said Martin. "I mean it's a hellious thing."

Lyle Ackerman agrees. He tried to dislodge a skunk from a hole by pulling its tail.

CNE Accused In Parking Deal Says Telegram

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says the Canadian National Exhibition has been accused of allowing City Parking Company, a private firm, of making a profit on its 1958 parking contract while the city-owned Toronto Parking Authority will be "lucky to break even."

The paper also said that the TPA was "miffed" over a city Great Lakes ruling to lease a 500-car lot for $600 a year to Fred Hamilton, Jr., son of a former city controller.

The Telegram quotes a spokesman of TPA, as saying that the lot leased to Mr. Hamilton was located on city-owned land behind Fort York Armouries and was worth "much more than $600 for the duration of the exhibition let alone the whole year."

The Telegram says the TPA objects to parking arrangements during the exhibition from Aug. 23 to Sept. 6. The arrangements which meet the TPA disapproval are: City Parking Company has leased a 81,500-car lot for the duration of the CNE for a flat $10,400; Mr. Hamilton has leased a 500-car lot for the whole year for $600; the TPA has leased a 600-car lot for 50 per cent of its gross take for the duration of the CNE only.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Thunderstorms through southern Ontario Tuesday night brought cool air which now covers all of the province. A high pressure area moving into the Great Lakes will give mainly weather over Ontario today with temperatures climbing to near 80 in southern Ontario and some five to 10 degrees lower in the north. PREDICT LENGTHY STRIKE AGAINST STEEL COMPANY

Govt.-Sponsored Mediation Fails

HAMILTON (CP) — A prolonged strike against the Steel Company of Canada—the country's largest producer — was feared today after the foundering of government-sponsored mediation.

The 7,500 Stelco employees walked out Tuesday backing demands by the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) for a package settlement amounting to 20 cents an hour.

Later at talks in Toronto with Labor Minister Daley the company abandoned a firm no-increase position to offer a five-cent-an-hour boost but the union rejected it. Said USWA Canadian director . William Mahoney: "I wouldn't dignify it by calling it an offer."

Average wage under a two-year contract which ended March 31 was $2.30 an hour.

FAR APART

Mr. Daley said the disputants were far apart after Tuesday's meeting but promised more talks when requested by either party.

The strike is costing the 16,000 workers $158,000 in lost wages each day and the company lesser sum in $40,000 a day. A prolonged strike could affect almost all sections of the public with 46 per cent of Canada's steel supply cut off. However, many manufacturers dependent on Stelco supplies

Second U.S. Atomic Sub Crosses Under North Pole

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States staked a new claim in undersea pioneering today after a second atomic submarine crossed under the North Pole.

The submarine Skate reached the pole at 9:47 p.m. EDT Monday—just six days after her older sister, the Nautilus, emerged from a 1,830-mile trip across the polar cap. The Nautilus arrived Tuesday in Portland, England.

The U.S. Navy released word of the Skate's achievement Tuesday night without fanfare in a two - paragraph statement. This contrasted sharply with the special White House ceremony arranged last year to announce the Nautilus' voyage.

The bare announcement said the Skate surfaced in an ice field some 40 miles from the North Pole to radio word of the trip. The navy said the Skate, the third U.S. atomic sub built, is continuing under-ice explorations.

The Skate's path to the pole was just the opposite from the Nautilus, which began its journey from the Pacific. The 265-foot-long Skate left New London, Conn., July 30 and entered from the Atlantic.

The United States is building 33 atomic subs. These include three already in service, several soon to go into service and others in the process of construction or on the authorization list.

Some of the vessels will be armed with Polaris 1,500 - mile range missiles that can be fired from undersea — which means that from the polar region they could strike deep in the heart of Russia.

TARIFF CHANGES STIFFLY OPPOSED BY OPPOSITION

Increase on British Wools Criticized

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons entangled itself in tariff changes Tuesday.

Liberals devoted special attention to proposed increases in the tariff on British wool cloth, saying this action was anything but happy one with the Commonwealth trade and economic conference coming up next month in Montreal.

Finance Minister Fleming said he does not expect the "slight increase" will in any way impede of the conference.

"We are unable to support this resolution," said Opposition Leader Pearson. He described it as an "unfortunate essay" by the government into international trade policy.

"VERY CHILLING" EFFECT

Liberal financial critic William Benidickson said the proposed increase—to 60 from 50 cents a pound on cloth for suits and to 45 cents on cloth for overcoats—will have a "very chilling" effect on the Commonwealth trade and economic conference.

Jack Wratten (PC—Brantford) protested that no increase was proposed in tariffs on Italian or Japanese textile imports. These are not goods from which there was harming the Brantford textile industry.

He suggested that the government bring in a further measure if the Brantford industry might result, committee chairman

Like It or Not, We're Becoming More and More Alike Each Day

The relentless march of technology keeps narrowing the differences between peoples. Could its ultimate development befall our republic? Is it worth worrying about formally? A long-time reporter of the Intermountain scene explores the prospect.

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

(Copyright, 1958, by thought.

I was somewhere in the Far East when this idea suddenly began taking shape. It has been haunting me ever since.

Are we all becoming alike?

Is every nation on earth losing its special customs, culture, individuality and becoming all straight toward (you'll pardon the expression) togetherness?

It looks that way.

It appears that, in the not-too-distant future, we may be dressing more alike, eating much the same foods, living in a few standard types of houses, watching the same international TV programs and dancing the same dances, responding to the same advertisements, developing pretty much the same tastes.

Fantastic?

Of course, but look over your shoulder—

Only yesterday, a low-slung European car was so rare on the road that you stopped to stare at it. Foreign movies were confined to small, party theatres in the big cities. Who would have dreamed that a Japanese actress would win an Oscar?

Prime Minister Cancels Trip To World's Fair

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has cancelled a scheduled 10-day trip this month to the Brussels World Fair, it was learned Tuesday night.

A spokesman in the prime minister's office said the trip has been cancelled because of inability to make definite plans while Parliament is in session.

Mr. Diefenbaker was to have left Ottawa by air for Brussels Aug. 22 or 22.

The spokesman said the government still hopes that Parliament will be able to prorogue by Aug. 22. However, there is some doubt that this will be possible in view of the amount of legislation still to be considered.

Did Margaret Hint She Would Like To Become Next Governor-General?

LONDON (CP) — The Daily Express says Princess Margaret's "intriguing" farewell speech to the Canadian people may be a hint that she would like to become the next governor-general of Canada.

Express reporter Douglas Clark says her reference to Canada as a "second home" and her remark that she hoped she would be able to return before long were no spontaneous, off-the-cuff comments.

"All this was said in a carefully prepared statement directly addressed to a whole people . . .

New Born Tapir Keeps Hiding Behind Mother

CHICAGO (AP) — A 45-pound tapir born at Brookfield zoo Tuesday, it appears is a mixed-up young animal. For the present its only name is "it."

It is related to the horse and rhinoceros, looks like a pig and is living in the zoo's elephant house.

The sex of the South American river animal has not been determined.

"It keeps hiding behind its mother" said director Robert Bean. "So, temporarily, its name is "it."

Resume Talks On Settling Brewery Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Negotiations between the United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) and the strikebound Brewers' Warehousing Company Limited resume tomorrow in an attempt to settle their contract dispute.

The union struck last Thursday after talks became deadlocked the day before on a series of non-monetary demands.

The strike has cut off virtually all beer supplies in Ontario. It has spread to breweries and their retail outlets. Beer supplies in hotels, taverns and tap rooms were expected to run dry by next week.

ABOUT $200 LAID OFF

Apart from the 1,200 distribution workers involved, some 1,000 union members employed in the breweries have been laid off.

At issue are union demands that only union employees of Brewers' Warehousing deliver beer; that employees in one-man stores join the union; demands that members should not be asked to handle products of companies on strike, and disagreements on the hiring of part-time and seasonal workers.

Also at issue is a union proposal for basic hourly rates of $9 to $14 a week.

Wage losses among the 5,400 workers in the beer industry run to $35,000 a day and the loss of beer sales is mounting to $1,000,000 a day. It has been estimated that Ontario's loss of tax revenues from beer sales is $1,000,000 a week.

BEER WON'T SPOIL

The breweries have stopped brewing but officials say there is no danger of the beer in storage will spoil. The brew is kept in refrigerated storage tanks at the breweries.

Both sides said Tuesday they are anxious to get an end to the dispute. The government said it does not plan to interfere.

Labor minister Daley said "Beer is something people enjoy and can do without."

All beer outlets, except for a few in Northern Ontario, have been forced to close.

Recruit Course Squads to Take Part in Program

For the first time in its three-year history, outstanding summer recruit courses from five centres throughout Eastern Ontario are concentrating this weekend at the RCEME school just east of Kingston on the part in a ceremonial parade, drumhead Church service and sports program. The 350 recruits will arrive at Barriefield on Friday at noon and in the afternoon will hold a dress rehearsal for the ceremonial parade. In the evening they will be taken on a conducted tour of old Fort Henry.

Saturday is the big day with the ceremonial parade starting at 8:45 a.m. During this parade each recruit course will be closely inspected by three regular army regimental sergeant-majors whose jobs it will be to select the outstanding recruit squad. Following the church service the boys will don sports attire and take part in a sports program, to include softball, volleyball and track and field events. Points will be awarded for each event and the all-round champion of the day's activities, the recruit course compiling the highest aggregate will receive a trophy to be presented by Brigadier Eric Snow, DSO, Commander Eastern Ontario Area.

The public has been invited to attend.

Poultry Show Biggest, Best Since Before War

The 1958 edition of the poultry show at the Belleville Fair is the biggest and best show since the "good old days" before the advent of the motor car caused people to take to the open road.

This was the statement yesterday of R. J. Messervey, well known local poultry expert and judge, as he classed the over 600 exhibits in the poultry building.

The poultry is of splendid quality and is easily the best exhibit since away before the war," noted the judge. "Quality is sticking out all over the show."

In addition to poultry the show features numerous varieties of pigeons, as well as ducks and geese. A few turkeys are also on display.

Of interest to the regular classes there is a special class for the Belleville 4-H Poultry Club which is sponsored by the Belleville Rotary Club, and a special students' class for school children.

Judging will know even har an exhibit for which there was no class. A local child entered his two pet rabbits and as there was no pet class of this type, in order to avoid disappointment and possibly discourage a future exhibitor, fair directors made a class for him.

Former Iranian Politician Jolts Canadian Conference

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—A former Iranian politician jolted the Couchiching conference Tuesday night with some straight-from-the-shoulder comments on the Middle East.

Said Dr. Mostafah Fatemi, Iranian diplomat now on the staff of Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, N.J.:

"Nasser is not perfect but he is no more dictator than Mr. Diefenbaker is of Canada or Premier Nuri Said of Iraq; Queen Elizabeth of England; kings, queens and corrupt governments and there has been no connection with the people of the Middle East."

Although he startled the annual week-long conference sponsored by the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, there only opposition came from his wife. She said from the floor that his criticism of Egyptian dictator Nasser was too harsh.

ASKS AID FOR NASSER

Said Mrs. Fatemi: "We should not try to kick Nasser when he needs help him. He is doing very well for his people."

Dr. Fatemi, a former Iranian delegate to the United Nations, said British and American troops must be withdrawn from Jordan and Lebanon to pave the way for a peaceful approach to the Middle East crisis. "Not even Hitler can stop change in the Middle East."

The West should welcome Arab nationalism, and it must use it as a bastion against communism. Unless the West changed its policy in the area, every military pact or tax would rule from the borders of India to Morocco within five years.

He outlined his ideas for Western policy:

The Baghdad Pact should be abandoned, troops withdrawn, an embargo placed on export of arms to the Middle East and frontiers guaranteed by the UN.

OIL IS SECONDARY

The people of the Middle East should be told: "We are more interested in you than in your oil. We are going to work with you."

Earlier, a U.S. research scientist told the conference it may be possible to make men resistant to atomic radiation.

Dr. Ellis A. Johnson, director of the operations research division of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., said:

"Indications from the work of such laboratories as the one of Alexander Hollaender at Oak Ridge, Tenn., is the possibility that man could be helped in that he could withstand 10 times as much radiation as normal.

LONDON (Reuters) — A Moscow radio commentator said Tuesday that most women in Moscow like the sack line because of its "unhampered waist, the tapering effect at the bottom of the skirt and the loose folds that keep you guessing about the figure."

Products Shown All Made Under Union Label

An example of locally produced products made under union label is offered in Belleville area in the Canadian Congress of Labor tent at the extreme west end of the fairgrounds.

The tent is jam-packed with locally made goods, ranging from a cheese cutter made by the Belleville area Canadian Congress of Labor to a wheel of cheese made by Canadian Cheesemakers.

Other displays at the tent are Bakelite, showing various kinds of plastic products that are made from the raw products produced at the local plastic plant; Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company of Corbyville; International Hardware (Corbin Lock), the local Plumbers' Association listing its members (Crane, Canadian, Eljer, Sterlite, United Cement Workers with Acme, the Belleville Optical, the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers, and Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Local president Don Burshaw noted that the tent was attracting big crowds at the fair—and this is the first year which labor has had a tent at the Belleville Fair.

Good Sample Of Vegetables Seen at Fair

Judging from the fine samples of vegetables shown, Belleville and district will live well during the cold days of winter. Many fine fruits, few were shown, due to the early season, but generally there is a fair crop of apples, pears and plums ready in the offing.

Among the vegetables there were hampers of sweet Spanish onions; red Denvers; vegetable marrows; samples of several varieties, including the Hubbard; salsify, celery; early cabbage, red and white; sweet peppers; beets; cucumbers; which included a basket of gherkins; table cukes; corn; cauliflowers; Sebago potatoes in hampers and six baskets; baskets and table turnips; individual squashes; gherkins; examples for stock; Guelph, good sized pumpkins and pickling silver skin onions.

The fruit product was represented by two plates of apples, one of McIntosh reds, and one of early Melbas; a basket of Clapp's Favorite pears, and one of Bartlett's.

Needle Artistry In Many Forms Seen at Fair

Many beautiful examples of needle artistry are on view in the Horticultural Building at the Exhibition grounds where the Women's exhibits are displayed.

The Women's exhibit is divided into various categories such as men's and boys' clothing, women's clothing, children's wear, rugs, cushions, household linen, quilts, bedspreads, miscellaneous items, new exhibitors' work, and a Home Economics service extension courses display.

In the men's and boys' clothing department there are breeches, and flannelette pyjamas, boys' heavy wool cardigans, size 6 to 12, wool socks, sleeveless wool pullovers, nylon sports shirts and work shirts.

Among the women's clothing category are many items in dacron blouses, wool pleated skirts, knitted suites, knitted gloves, lace-edged dresses, nylon housecoat and pyjama ensemble, nylon petticoats, nylon slips, long-sleeve knitted cardigans, and aprons, both cobbler style kitchen aprons and fancy party aprons. One eye catching tea apron was made in the form of an Aunt Jemima face. A tan long sleeve knitted cardigan with ribbed bodice and a dozen of chain-link band down both armholes and around a peter pan collar, was particularly noteworthy for its intricate workmanship.

Hearth rugs made from wool clippings, and in hooked and braided, in many pretty floral patterns, are on display. One is of white daisies, set in dark brown border and a large floral pattern in pink, yellow, orange, blue, mauve and green in the centre against a tan background and with tan linen binding encircling the dark brown border, was particularly attractive.

Fancy cushions in wool, silk, or satin, showed a good deal of intricate workmanship and skill with a needle. One large wool cushion was covered with picture of the heads of a mare and her colt, while another was made of dark green velvet with a narrow red border and set with large, red, velvet leaves.

CHILDREN'S SECTION

The children's wear section features such items as cotton print dresses, fancy, frilly baby-doll type predominating), cotton or nylon party suits, nylon crocheted dresses in sizes from 4 to 8, children's sweaters in various colors, and crocheted and knitted baby jackets and bonnets to match. Among the colorful crocheted dresses was one made of green nylon with a smock effect in pink, green and yellow, with two tiny rosebuds on the little round collar.

Excellent needlework was shown in the table display of household linen. Items on display included colorfully embroidered luncheon cloths, cut-work luncheon sets, crocheted chesterfield sets, crocheted tea cover sets, tablecloths (under 50 inches), crocheted trim tea towels, guest and fancy tea towels and fine bags.

The Home Economic Service Extension courses, sponsored by the Women's Institute, will be completed by Thursday. Seven days and City Manager Dennys asks that residents bear with the inconvenience.

Work Drawing Objection From Area Residents

The current program of face-lifting at city hall is drawing objection from residents in the area who claim their sleep is being interrupted by the noise of operations carried on during sleeping hours.

Police Mayor Gerald B. Hyde has been called on the telephone during the wee small hours of the morning and last night the complaints were so loud that workmen were asked by police to desist.

However, City Manager Drury Dennys notes that the night sand blasting is being carried out as a measure to avoid inconvenience for daytime shoppers in the area.

He said the sand from sand blasting settles over the area and would get into people's clothing and hair. Also the sand, as it settles on the sidewalk creates a hazard because of its slipperiness.

Sand blasting is expected to be completed in the next couple of days and City Manager Dennys asks that residents bear with the inconvenience.

Playground Exhibit One Of Interest

Again this year Belleville's Playgrounds had an interesting and colorful exhibit demonstrating that little fingers and idle spare time could accomplish.

The booth, which was in the Horticulture Building, was centred by a garden scene with tiny green trees, grasses, moss, and a pool, while the wall and sides were literally covered by cut-out birds; Japanese lanterns; teddy bears; flowers resembling dahlias; turtles, and paperbag puppets.

There were also pie-plate faces; sock dragons with fearful red, protruding tongues; dolls manipulated by the hand; serviette umbrellas; leather wallets; handicraft nature pictures; tom-tom drums; sack dresses made from paper and pretty bags and a host of other articles too numerous to mention.

Contrary to any misconception which may have arisen regarding admission charges to the Belleville Fair, general admission at the gates is still only 50 cents for adults, it was noted today by fair officials.

The Belleville exhibition prize prevails both during the day and in the evening.

Admission to the grandstand for adults is 75 cents in the afternoon and $1 in the evening and for children, 25 cents and 50 cents.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market remained off today in listless morning trading.

Base metals were the big losers as investors apparently availed word from the special United Nations meeting in New York. Base metals were down more than one point. Golds had a quarter point loser loss while industrials and western oils were lower a few decimal points.

The volume at 11 p.m. was 987,000 shares, slightly ahead of Tuesday's 814,000 at the same hour. The increase over Tuesday could be attributed to D'Aragon specially among the juniors.

FLAMES DESTROY

smoke pouring out of the rear of the millinery shop and immediately informed his colleagues inside. It was only a matter of minutes until, the entire fire fighting force had the trucks at the scene and were pouring water on the flames.

Fire Chief Clarence Orser also summoned the calls to the other fire departments, as well as informing the pumping station in Trenton of the need for water.

Six fire trucks, two from Belleville, one from the RCAF station and the three Trenton trucks fought the fire through nine lines of hose. The trucks were run from the Trent River.

During the height of the blaze the water to the aerial ladder truck was cut off and this was due to the Fire Chief being told by a member of the Public Utilities that there was only four feet of water left in the huge water tank on Mount Pelion. He immediately ordered the two lines laid to the river for more water and was later informed that the first information he had received was incorrect and that there were 23 feet of water in the tank. As a result, the aerial ladder had been shut down for about 10 minutes and the fire managed to make a little gain on the flames.

Fire Chief Orser praised the Belleville Fire Department under the Civil Defence Warden, who was also at the fire, for their quick response to his call, as well as that of the RCAF vehicle and men.

The fire was considered under control at 1 a.m.

ANCIENT CARS ON ROAD AGAIN

Members of the Ontario Horseless Carriage Club will make a 600 mile trip in four days, in 32 ancient cars dating back to 1912. The trip starts at Richmond Hill, will go through Muskoka and Haliburton areas. The car shown, with Betty Bellew at the wheel, is the only European entry in the procession. The vehicles have been kept in excellent shape by the owners but many of them needed cranking.

School Exhibits Hold Prominent Place at Fair

Among the school exhibits were those of Quinte Secondary, Belleville Collegiate Institute, and the elementary schools of Ameliasburg, S.S. 1, Hurley S. S. 9, and Bayview 20.

The display by Quinte Secondary comprised industrial arts, and tools including garden trowel, plant holders, vases, hammers, punches, candle holders and sundry gauges, made by students of grades 11 and 12. There were also other fine articles, including three, outstanding, two coffee tables, and one on the ornamental side, a coffee table in two blonde wood depicted a marsh scene with natural grasses and wild bullrushes over which were flitting a yellow tiger, swallowtail butterfly, a monarch, a mourning cloak, a brown silver fritterlary, and two moths, one a Cecropia, and the other a lovely, greenish-blue luna, also a trout fly, and skimming the surface a bug, black beetle. This was the work of Don Wallis, of grade 11. The finely wrought iron table with its plate-glass top was done by George Flynn, also of grade 11, while the small, ornamental table, of dark, polished wood with inlaid checkerboard top and Spanish style spool pedestal legs was made by one of Belleville's new Canadians, Jens Hansen, of grade 11.

A table lamp with shade was the work of Brian Valcamp; the magazine rack, by Don Wallis; the axe head by Garry Pearce, of grade 10; the other ash tray by Herb Seames, of grade 9, and the wood paper basket by E. Tretle, of grade 12.

B.C.I. DISPLAY

Belleville Collegiate was represented by a collection of butterflies, and bugs, nicely arranged in case by Bill Flowell, of grade 10. In the overall display by B.C.I. there were pen drawings; figure composition; linoleum block designs; drawings of still life; and in Egypt, a feminist leader is agitating for their right to vote. In East Germany, a woman Communist is the minister of justice. In Japan, women hold a seat in Parliament and have become business executives.

Ameliasburg showed crayon and paper flowers; posters depicting Canadian scenes; and wild flowers. Thurlow 9, Bayview 10 displayed paper work; scenes of Indians on the warpath, and well done maps; and various types of poultry and cattle.

The writing in general was well done, and especially arranged in consecutive order of merit, from first prize to fifth prize.

PREDICT LENGTHY STRIKE

have stockpiled in anticipation of the strike and other producers are expected to fill any gap.

Meanwhile, the possibility emerged that the Stelco men could be joined on strike by employees of the Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie. The union there applied Tuesday for conciliation of a wage dispute. It would set a board of conciliation before Algoma workers would be in a legal position to strike.

INFORMS MEMBERSHIP

Stelco's offer Tuesday was said to include a three-cent-an-hour wage increase plus two cents in fringe benefits. Union members were to get an outline of Tuesday's discussions at a meeting in Hamilton Forum today at 2 p.m.

It appeared the strike would be a quiet one, unlike the three-month dispute that shut down the steel industry in 1946. Then the Stelco plant was virtually under siege with 3,000 employees living and working in the plant and many skirmishes among company, union and police.

Unorganized office workers were permitted into the plant Tuesday but the company moved beds and a stock of food into the plant Tuesday night to be responsible for maintenance.

Stelco workers voted to strike after the union rejected a conciliation board majority report which recommended a 10 cent an hour wage increases because of the current recession. A minority report from union nominee Andrew Andras of Ottawa recommended a 25-cent package increase in a two-year contract.

TARIFF CHANGES

Charles E. Rea ruled him out of order.

Mr. Bendickson said the government was being "considerable ineptitude" in its timing of the increase, announced Tuesday after British Prime Minister Macmillan had spoken to Canadian Finance Minister Abbott. The liability of freer trade and lower tariff barriers between the United Kingdom and this country.

Mr. Fleming who proposed the change in his budget speech, said: "It was the position on both sides of the water is very well understood." He said it was a "very modest" increase.

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Bendickson said that if the increase is as small as Mr. Fleming made it out, it was of little value to the Canadian wool industry. It was enough to cause resentment in the U.K.

Mr. Pearson, like Mr. Wratten, deplored the fact the increase applies only to the British preferential duty. He said leaving that for other countries unchanged.

Safe Crackers, Car Thieves Busy in District

Safe crackers last night forced their way into the office of the Rawson Bus Lines and carried away the office safe containing approximately $100 in cash.

The safe stealing job at Rawson's was one of a series of break-ins and car thefts reported in the city during the night, some of which are believed by police to be inter-related.

In addition police at Madoc reported two service stations being broken into with petty cash stolen in each instance.

Inspector J. Clair Hayes of the Belleville police department, said a station wagon had been stolen from the Pinnacle St. used car lot owned by J. B. Boyce and Sons and that it was believed this vehicle had been used by the thief or thieves to carry away the Rawson safe.

The safe has not been found and police believe it was taken to some lonely alcroad where it was forced open and abandoned. The station wagon was found abandoned this morning just off Dundas St. on the Bay ridge road.

Also entered last night was Bowes Motors where parts from four different tool boxes are missing, while the thieves also took a battery charger from the garage. Missing along with the battery was a service mechanic's smock.

Thefts of the station wagon and car were not reported until this morning.

$16 IN CASH TAKEN

Other premises entered during the night were Ted's Lunch on North Front Street where about $16 in cash was taken and College Motors on College street where a carton of cigarettes was missing.

At Madoc the Shell service station was entered and $40 in petty cash was taken, while the Bellrose Motors Limited was also forced where again petty cash is missing.

Following a back window was pried open following which the thief entered the office and after forcing open the cash drawer helped himself to the money.

Police were non-committal about whether or not the party was known responsible for the Rawson safe job, but noted that recent convictions of jail sentences handed out apparently had not ended the break-ins. A week ago a local youth was given six months definite and six months indefinite following conviction on a charge of breaking and entering the swimming pool canteen.

the curbing of subversive propaganda. The regional economic development plan and arms control he left for handling through other UN machinery.

On the regional development plan, he said:

"Should the Arab states agree on the usefulness of such a soundly organized regional institution, and should they be prepared to support it with their own resources, the United States would also be prepared to support it."

U.S. MOVE DEFENDED

With Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on hand, Eisenhower strongly defended his decision to rush U.S. troops into Lebanon, and said against the background of Russia's bitter denunciation of that move:

"This world of individual nations is not going to be controlled by any one power or group of powers . . . please believe me when I say that the dream of world domination by one power, or a world of conformity, is an impossible dream."

Eisenhower served notice that it necessary the U.S. again would go to the aid of a threatened country, particularly a country in which it responds appeals for help within the spirit of the UN charter.

NO BIG SURPRISES

Eisenhower's 30-minute address to delegates from 59 nations varies included no sensational surprises. In proposing a study of police force, the president put it this way:

"The countries of this area would be freed from armed pressure and infiltration across their borders. When such interference threatens, they should be able to get from the United Nations prompt and effective action to help safeguard their independence . . .

"Therefore I believe this assembly should take action looking toward the creation of a standby United Nations peace force. The need for such a force is being is clearly demonstrated by recent events involving imminent danger to the integrity of two of our members"—Lebanon and Jordan.

"If we do not act promptly is endangering the peace.

"We must recognize that peace in this area is fragile, and we must also recognize that the end of peace in Jordan could have consequences of a far-reaching nature."

Eisenhower did not specify the kind of police force he had in mind. But informed officials said he favors a highly mobile force of about 3,000 men, equipped with small arms only. They would be the UN's first permanent police force, ready to speed to the help of any country appealing for such aid.

SYMBOLIC MANTLE

Their main value would be to cover a threatened land with a symbolic mantle of UN protection. The force would be stationed in the capital of a threatened country and not used to patrol frontiers as Russia proposed on Tuesday.

In a clear bid for Arab support of his plan, Eisenhower sprinkled his speech with high praise and backing for Arab nationalism. But at no place did he mention leadership of that movement by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Eisenhower met with six parts of his plan should be acted on together as integral aspects of a single, coordinated peace package.

FINANCIAL AID FUND

In dealing with economic stabilization of the Middle East, Eisenhower proposed that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold consult immediately with Arab states and find out whether agreement can be reached on creation of an Arab development institution on a regional basis.

He did not estimate how much money should be put into this program at the start.

The United Nations authorities said they believe the fund should get under way with more than 20,000,000 U.S. dollars. The money would be contributed not only by some of the outside nations but by some of the oil-rich Middle East countries.

The president also called for consultation with other nations, as well as private organizations, which might join in financial support. He suggested the World Bank would be helpful in planning of the project.

SOME ACTION WOULD BE WELCOMED

We are anxiously counting the years until someone starts cleaning up the Moira River and the Bay of Quinte. While they are at it they might clean the Belleville harbor, too.

This area of Ontario is situated in what tourist brochures call the Highlands of Hastings. It is a vacationer's dream, but it could be a vacationer's paradise. We have heard many visitors here say how beautiful the countryside is and in the next breath ask why local waterways are not cleaned up.

Imagine the impression of Belleville and Trenton visiting American and Canadian vacationers get when they must steer their craft through floating islands of scum and flotsam. We appreciate that the presence of some of the scum cannot be helped. It is of Mother Nature's doing. But we most certainly can do something to keep from making it worse.

The greatest boon to this area since Champlain passed by here will come when communities along the Trent River and Bay of Quinte must build the sewage treatment or disposal plants for sewage promotes the growth of weeds as well as polluting the water.

Belleville harbor, though, and the mouth of the Moira River are at their worst this year. Low water level, warm weather and little rain have combined to make these areas unsightly and odorous. The upper portion of the harbor has been the source of numerous complaints from boat owners for several weeks because of the weed growth. Some attempt has been made to clear out the floating weeds, but they grow again and in a few days again but the surface of the water. Some time, we hope, the proper authorities can get together and have some dredging done in that section. Not until that is done can there be any hope for freedom from this troublesome condition.

IT WILL GET HOTTER

Climatologists - - those involved in the study of the effects of nature upon the climate of the world - - report that that is becoming increasingly hot. This is no news to diplomats, soldiers and politicians, who cannot help but wonder when the "cold" war surpassed the boiling point, but the heat referred to in this case is recorded in temperatures, not tempers.

For the past 40 to 50 years, reports the National Geographic Society, temperatures of the world have been gradually rising. The most popularly held reason for warmer climates is the sun-spot cycle. At both the North and South Poles ponderous ice deposits have advanced and retreated a number of times during the history of the earth. At the present time they are diminishing.

Many scientists believe the highest temperature ever recorded under accepted standards - - 136.4 degrees Fahrenheit in Libya in 1922 - - may soon be surpassed, perhaps in the United States. Death Valley in California came close to the record in 1913 with a temperature of 134 degrees.

Death Valley has no monopoly on heat waves as evidenced by the fact that every state and almost every province in Canada have recorded temperatures exceeding 100 degrees at one time or another. Many temperatures have been recorded which surpassed the record, but they were taken under acceptable conditions. Official temperatures must be recorded by ventilated thermometers in shaded spots.

Contrary to common belief, the air in the sunlight is no warmer than in the shade, but a pefson feels warmer because his clothes and skin are heated by the sun. The glass and mercury of a thermometer also absorb the sun's rays, recording a higher temperature than that of the air surrounding it. Thus recordings taken in the sun for the official degrees reached in Iraq do not count for official records.

It may not be much consolation to those who find the seasonal heat wave unbearable, but enjoy them while you can - - it's going to be hotter.

IT'S MOTHER WHO'S BOSS

In looking for at least one major cause of the lack of discipline among youngsters in our own land we might be justified in remarking upon the extent to which the mothers rather than the fathers dominate in the average North American home. (Calgary Herald.)

THE FUN OF VICTORY

There's a heap of satisfaction
In a game like if you grin,
If you keep your nerve in action
And you wear a lifted chin.
There's a joy in doing something
That you've never done before, -
So don't be a deaf and dumb thing,
Chance is knocking at your door.

It's in overcoming trouble
That a fellow gets his fun;
It's starting the shattered
That is labeled "can't be done."

It's in striving night and day time
When the problem hopeless seems,
Man appreciates his playtime
When he's realized his dreams.

There's a heap of satisfaction
In a trouble if you grin,
Difficulties have attraction
If you keep a lifted chin.
And the tougher that your fight is
The greater is your fun,
And the finer your delight is
As you view the things you've done.

West Needn't Feel Guilty

Hamilton Spectator

In the discussion of the Middle East situation the word oil seems to arouse some sort of a guilt complex in the minds of western readers.

To overcome this guilty the situation, it may be said that western Europe depends upon the oil supplies of the lands which comprised the Ottoman empire, with in the Arabian peninsula. Foreign capital drilled for, accumulated and piped to waiting tankers by companies like Anglo-Persian Oil, or British Shell. They in turn pay for the oil they take out of the land, sending the cheques to the treasuries of the existing governments of the sands in which they are operating.

In the more progressive of those countries the lands which take advantage of the liberties given them when the Allies threw their chains at the end of the First World War the money has been used to build up the general welfare of the nation involved.

In others, where the government is less enlightened, the wealth has been used selfishly by despots.

If a Russian or other Communist state, produced the oil in any of those lands, has anyone the slightest doubt that the Reds would see that only a government set to work which held office and received the royalties? They would not hesitate to interfere in the internal affairs of the land owning the oil resources by indirect political action.

It is not the duty or the right of a western oil company to destroy the governments to which it pays royalties because it may not approve of their political conduct.

It would be just as unreasonable for, say, a CCF supporter to call upon Canadian oil companies operating in the Alberta oil fields to cease paying royalties to the Social Credit government of Mr. Manning.

Words Strictly For the Birds

Sudbury Star

It's not so much the words that count as the use to which they are put. That's at least the opinion of an orator and author has learned, in fact, in the majority of cases, the expression of mere platitudes, inglese or extremely dull unless properly put to use.

Words are the tools of homo sapiens, but as we all know, the tools of the trade of parrots, magpies and a few other species are also words of a kind. However, that infringement only served as an ornithological examination, for it is not supposed to the mere mouthing, of words over.

"Polly want a cracker" is a phrase that has become symbolic of the parrot. But, as endless imitation of crickets is hardly the most edifying theme, even for a parrot — or should we be more cautious in speaking on behalf of Polly?

But at last a bird has appeared on the scene who makes more than as much sense as the homing pigeon's silent mastery of direction. In fact it's a sort of "homing instinct" of its own. Perhaps you remember the little news item about the Kansas City bird named Jerry.

Jerry gets around, more or less like an uncaged bird. But he has his way into a garage, which left home not long ago, he finished a 25-mile flight at a place called Shawnee, not a parrot, but — remember, Jerry is a bird — to friends with a grain company employer.

Conversation, in its restricted way, between bird and man is certainly the number of friends Jerry has at home, and the number of acquaintance is a grain and feed man. "Call Mary Neal, Jackson 3-4312" called out Jerry. It didn't take long to locate that phone number, and the message Jerry was called for and transported home.

There's a bird who not only knows words, but how to use them. Some may say Jerry "is only the gab" but it can be acquired . . . take it from Jerry.

Cairo Radio Urges Murder

Hamilton Spectator

A factor in the Middle East crisis which receives all too little attention in remoter Western circles is Cairo Radio. Powerful enough to reach every corner of the Near East, it spends forth day and night the year round its message of hatred for the West and all those who adhere to its policies.

With a technique based on that of the late and unlamented Doctor Goebbels and in language reminiscent of the Fuehrer, it incites Arabs everywhere to violence against anyone in the interests of Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The educated Arab no doubt ignores Cairo Radio's rantings, but the illiterate and semi-literate, but at the university student, workers in Western enterprises, the police force, the army, the politically disenchanted half-baked intellectuals, and the like are Arab unity and the rowdies which are found in every population.

Assassination of Premier Nokrashi Pasha, coup d'etat was planned by Foreign Minister Dr. Fadhil Jamali, a cultured pro-Western politician. Only a month ago, Dr. Jamali told the United Nations Security Council that Cairo Radio had constantly urged political murder. That this has now taken place, and in the most cold-blooded manner possible at least, be a fearful tribute to Cairo Radio's effectiveness.

To the Western mind it is inconceivable that a radio station should, even in a war, incite to cycle the murder of politicians That Cairo Radio does so, acting as Nasser's hate machine, should be taken by the West as a measure of the terrible and inhuman limits to which this voice of Arab nationalism is prepared to go to create conditions of anarchy in the Middle East which will be favorable to the attainment of its ambitions.

History has shown in these matters that those who sow the wind of hate usually reap the whirlwind.

Paying Debt For Asian Flu

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Last year's Asian influenza epidemic started somewhere on the continent of Asia and swept around the world. Though it was relatively mild, as epidemics go, it caused some deaths, infected two out of every three people, and helped slow down the economy.

It would be unfair, however, to blame Asians for it. They were merely the victims of what a new and unpleasant mutant of the influenza virus. It could be even more unjust for the Occident to retaliate.

But retaliation there seems to be. What else is to be made of the news that "chemise" has invaded Japan?

According to Miss Shizuko Oguri, editor of Japan's leading woman's magazine, the chemise can now be seen on the streets of Tokyo. Worse than this isn't too surprising. The kimono, though many Japanese girls look cute in one, is a garment which, like the chemise, reduces feminine charm to a dismal uniformity.

It might even be argued that the chemise is an improvement on the kimono. At least it's funnier.

The Japanese, a traditionally polite race, are not likely to say publicly what they think of this Western creation. But the West having enough trouble in its relations with Eastern races, without this.

Underwater Volcano (UNESCO)

The presence of an active underwater volcano has been established in the Central Aegean Sea, according to Greek scientists. They reached this conclusion after members of a drifting polar research station had registered strong tremors in the pack ice 1,000 miles away on the submarine Lomonosov mountain ridge.

Trap Doors Were Useful

Windsor Star

Trap doors, once a feature of Ontario architecture, were well-named. This is now illustrated by the death of a woman in Inverness who fell through one.

Until fairly recent years there was at least one trap door in most every home (and there is say nothing of those in barns). To do all their duty, apart from the "summer kitchen."

These were frequently used, as the cellar could be depended upon where fruits, vegetables and meats would keep. And the door were left open, an unwary person could drop through and be killed or badly injured.

These trap doors had a purpose in the past week. Every cellophane bag of them was full of hulking great things bigger than normal stairs. It was much easier to carry up sacks of potatoes, to take by market, than by an ordinary stairway.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NOT CONVENIENT

How many times in life we wish to speak to someone we know over the telephone but find a secretary at the end of the line who wipes all arguments out by saying coldly that it is not convenient for the "Big Man" to see anyone. Unless, of course, there is a possibility of a golf game, or a day at fishing.

People throw many a bluff to impress upon others that a man is busy. They are really in fact uneasess doesn't need any false front. Some men are inconvenient to talk to anyone. I have noted that the biggest men are the easiest to reach any time, but a man who don't want their time deliberately is usually a small man in the objective, or just plain fun is involved. It is most always convenient. I know people who are always glad to meet any of their friends — especially old friends.

I was a salesman for my own furniture wares for several years and I met all the biggest men in the newspaper business. There were always kind to me, often giving me fine suggestions. One great publisher told me if I was in doubt about any feature to send it to him and he would give me his reaction. He was very helpful for many years. But once suggested that it was a not convenient for him to see me.

A few times in my career would not talk to me — not convenient. So I would study his opposition and would often sell him. A few were later very sorry that they were not convenient. I accepted one offer and bought the feature. I had suggested. The later offered me the double price if I would get him the feature I had sold to his competitor, but it was too late.

Many a man has lost because it was not convenient to see some one who might have turned the tide in his favor. A possible President of the U. S. lost the office because he refused to see an influential man who could by a swung an entire state to him. He lost because it was not convenient to see him.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

CHOLESTEROL IS IMPORTANT IN METABOLISM

The long, loud and confusing hullabaloo over cholesterol is calming down some. Some, I said. Although I've mentioned the subject a number of times already, puzzled inquiries still come in, and they deal mostly with technical aspects. Here are 3 —

1 — "My blood cholesterol is 220. What should I do?"

2 — "What about this new medication?" Then the letter includes labels or other information about new patent remedies supposed to include things intended to be helpful in lowering cholesterol levels

3 — "Shall I avoid all fat in my diet?"

Now before we discuss answers, let's review the cholesterol picture. Cholesterol is a normal part of the blood stream. A level that is too high appears to be one factor involved in clogging the arteries, and hence one factor in heart attacks. But it is only one. A lot more research is necessary concerning cholesterol. In all probability, we will know more for our habits, right now, by concentrating on other things about which we know more

Now for the three questions. One of the great authorities on this subject believes that a blood cholesterol level of about 200 is right for a mature adult; at 250 it is a bit high; at 300 it is high. The next step is to reduce it are probably worth while. But by means other factors (age, weight, family history and so on) are to be considered, too. Thus, a person who won't know your cholesterol level anyway, unless your doctor takes a blood test for it, you might better accept his judgment on whether you should try to do anything about it. And that's what I would do.

Pills of various sorts? There is no medicine known that will control cholesterol.

WHAT OF FAT?

I doubt if it would be possible to avoid all fat, and if you did, it would be abnormal in my opinion - unquestionably would increase acute health problems of other sorts.

Yesterday in the office, the cholesterol extremely high, that's time enough to get his instructions on avoiding some kinds of fat and, in all probability, substituting the "unsaturated oils" which for the most part are liquid vegetable oils or fish.

Even so, the body will still create cholesterol from other foods, and to the best of my knowledge, diet results only in a temporary decline in blood cholesterol. It presently creeps up again. Probably, there are forces at work which we do not yet know about. So why kid ourselves?

On the other hand, being overweight, and getting out of the habit of exercising, year after year, both are proved methods of encouraging heart trouble. So instead of worrying about fat from the cholesterol standpoint, I'd cut down on fat just from the overweight aspect. At the same time, I'd step up the habit of regular exercise. Because, oddly enough, some experiments have shown that adults who get adequate, regular exercise find that their blood cholesterol declines. So maybe the old, familiar rules of health are pretty good at that! We know there's no pill that will take the place of exercise. We may find that the same rule governs cholesterol.

C.-G.: I would doubt whether epilepsy has anything to do with redness of the cheeks. There are several rare conditions, however, with the headaches.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A friend of ours lets his daughter, only 3 year old, smoke 5 cigarettes a day for six months. Do you think it hurts the bladder, as they say cigarettes wet? — D. B."

I doubt whether this has harmed the bladder, although it might contribute to the baby getting a habit that is more completely opposed to giving a child any start in any form.

Bed wetting will be conquered! To learn how, write to me in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of my booklet "Enuresis — Ten Ways To Stop Bed Wetting," and enclosing a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c in coin to cover handling.

New Potatoes Are Good For Health

By D. Kermode Parr

In the Fredericton Gleaner this is used to be a time of the year there were new potatoes to be had . . . small, new potatoes. There are few things more delightful than a dish of new potatoes with butter, Lamb and green peas, with mint sauce, are admirable adjuncts, of course, but the simple dish of potatoes meal should be the new potatoes.

That seems to be a glory that is passing into history. In many a ket or supermarket, they don't sell them any more. This is, I suppose, the result of the increasing disadvantages of the small garden. The labor-saving needed taking up by careful hand labor. But growers now do all their potato digging by machinery, and the machine is apparently can't handle the small stuff. So the delicious little new potatoes do not appear within the markets. If you have no garden to grow your own, you don't get them.

True, they had what they called new potatoes on the vegetable counters last week. Every cellophane bag of them was full of hulking great things bigger than normal stairs. It was much easier to carry up sacks of potatoes, to take by market, than by an ordinary stairway.

Will Parasite Displace Man?

Oshawa Times-Gazette

Is Mother Nature conspiring to find a substitute for man? In a rhetorical question, not after what seems sneaky fact parasites have been found to toothpaste.

We'd better start at the beginning. Back in 1921 Dr. Arpad Stok, of the Historical Laboratory, Vienna, wrote an article for the British science magazine, Nature. It was called "Pathogenic Bacteria Present in Viviparous Toothcarps." Sound interesting? Don't be deceived. It's dynamite.

The viviparous toothcarp is a fish passing into history. Being young, Parthenogenesis is the developing of female eggs without fertilized eggs. Stok was reporting on the strange behavior of this fish. He found that the female fish should be teethcarp.) In a few hours the female was found immediately after birth and did not even get to see a male toothcarp. Even within the first few minutes gave birth to 22,14 and 28 babies of the female fish. Stok concluded that the births resulted from the fish becoming infected with a fish parasite. The tiny intruder provided the artificial fertilization.

Parthenogenesis is nothing new. But Stokk says we have something different — they birth resulting from a natural element on the part of the toothcarp.

There you have it. To be sure, it's a long way from a toothcarp to man. May take eons to climb that evolutionary ladder. But the menace is there. Who's the day come when all children will be like girls, who will be able to have additional children — all girls! We think the UN should get after this. Start a committee to see matters of minor importance such as the Middle East.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In most of our towns and cities, a speed limit of 30 miles an hour is laid down, though some communities have special areas where less or more speed is permitted. But thirty is a pretty universal average.

The next time you are worried over the communistic or socialistic trend of our time, try this little trick to reassure yourself.

Get in your car and drive at thirty miles an hour. Strictly thirty. Watch your speedometer.

In no time, you will have a tail of half a dozen cars behind you. Three or four, within a couple of blocks, will have passed you and the drivers giving you sideways looks of contempt.

If, on arriving at an intersection, you encounter a bus or 1 ton lorry, or some fellow citizens in a courteously give it the right of way to turn, or to pass you.

This will infuriate the six cars behind you, each with one highly self-important citizen in it: a pity they will lost angrily, and regret you as a fellow.

Never fear socialism in a community consisting largely of bland-by lawless individualists.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Famous Elsie, Twin Calves Live Life of Bovine Luxury

One of the most popular exhibits at the Belleville Fair with youngsters and adults alike is the Elsie Boudoir housing the famous bovine, Elsie the Borden Cow, and her twin calves, Lobella and Larabee.

Elsie and her nine - week-old calves are living in the latest bovine luxury complete with gingham curtains and windows, flower boxes at the windows, and an old - fashioned - cow sized telephone on the wall.

The famous four - year - old Jersey is ensconced in a canopied straw - filled four - poster bed, gaily trimmed with red and white checked gingham frills. Covered with a wine monogrammed blanket, and decked out in a Carman Miranda-type chapeau and circlet of daisies around her neck, Elsie stands placidly and occasionally greets her young fans with a soft "moo".

Her two calves such have their straw - filled playpens — a pink one for Lobella, the little girl calf, and a blue one for Larabee, the little boy calf. They wear matching blankets to keep the flies off them.

The bovine "youngsters" have their own calf - sized toys. Each has a rocking horse, complete with saddle. A large blackboard hangs in one corner of the room, covered with chalk pictures of Aunt Bess and other drawings peculiar to children. Plastic toy cows, replicas of the famous threesome, sit atop the dresser.

A large feed - bag "scales" to watch the calves have gone from the ceiling near Elsie's bed. Calf - sized baby bottles from which the calves are fed a "formula" consisting of Nutrilac partly skimmed milk, are scattered about near the playpens.

Elsie's well-furnished boudoir is equipped with a dressing table with a red and white checked gingham valance, on which sit bottle brush, comb, and a cow-sized alarm clock. A red wagon-wheel chandelier lights the boudoir, and hangs from the ceiling in frogg-ed Elsie's bed. A chair made out of old barrel staves, a floor lamp made of an antique butter churner complete the furnishings.

Pictures of Elsie's relatives — Great Aunt Bess, Elmer, Uncle Reginald, and Cousin Bart — adorn the walls.

Since any lady, whether human or bovine needs cosmetics to make herself beautiful, Elsie is not to be outdone by human cosmetics parts. She, too, has a well-stocked supply of "cosmetics," including horn grower, rose ring polish, prickly heat powder, Bovitamin liquipoise, and a can of Borden's Nutrilac partly skimmed milk.

In case she feels she would like to improve her mind or just read for relaxation while on tour, Elsie has brought along her own library. Books, such as "How to Live On $,000 Quarts a Year," by Eva Moreton, "Sulliver's Travels," "Calves or a Career," by L. G. LaVache, and "Practical Bull Psycology," by Anna Sigmat, line the shelf.

Elsie and her calfes travel only during the three summer months, when they are on exhibition at fairs throughout the province and at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. At the conclusion of their stay in Belleville they will travel to Welland for the exhibition there.

While not on tour Elsie and her calves live on the 1,000 acre Borden Cattle Farm in Ottawa.

They were brought to Belleville by Mac McKeown, an employee of the Borden Farm, under the sponsorship of the Belleville Y's Men Club. Local Y's Mentics acted as milk maids, handling the cardboard horns to the crowds of children who visited the exhibit.

Judging of livestock and field crops, as well as identification of farm articles and a quizz on farm markets and management comprized yesterday's junior competition at the fair. Here Paul McKeown, Brighton; Jean Waterhouse, Ameliasburg, and Owen McCann pass judgment on plates of apples.

2 Hastings County Juniors Take Major Judging Awards

Two Hastings county juniors, Douglas Rollins of Plainfield, and Isabell Sager of Madoc, took top honors in the Junior Farmer-Field Crops and Livestock judging competition held Tuesday as a feature of the junior section of Belleville Fair.

Doug. won the Northern Electric Company award of $15 as the outstanding boy in the competition, and also won the Chamber of Commerce silver tray for having the highest score in giving reasons for placement in livestock and crops.

Winner of the Northern Electric award of $15 for girls was Isabell Sager. Isabell's point total was second among the girls but as the top girl, Lynn Thompson, was a previous winner, she was not eligible for the prize.

During the competition the juniors judged two classes of dairy cattle, and one each of swine, and sheep. They also judged classes of oats, red clover, potatoes and apples.

They were also called upon to identify 15 various articles used on farms and in the country and were asked to generally describe farm markets and management. The overall contest had separate classes for the juniors and the seniors."

Top score in the junior division was rung up by Lyle Vancelief of Ameliasburg. Other contestants were Jim Buck, Brighton; Ron Hamilton, Trenton; Wayne Flindall, Trenton; Floyd Spencer, Belleville; Raymond Waterhouse, Ameliasburg; Carolyn Thompson and Gordon Hamilton, Trenton; Harold Werkhoven, Belleville; Jack White, Roslin; Bill Vermilyea, Belleville; Phil Goodfellow, Codrington; Bob Metcalfe, Madoc; Isabell Sager, Madoc; Bill Metcalfe, Colborne; Paul McMorran, Cramahe; Bernard Whalen, Marysville; Elizabeth Sager, Madoc; Allan Hamilton, Trenton; Jean Waterhouse, Ameliasburg, and Robert Hamilton, Trenton.

Doug. Rollins topped the senior division with other contestants in this section being Ross Bateman, Doug Burnside and Bill Rockwell.

As catcher for the Latta baseball nine, Doug was unable to be present to accept his awards during the official presentation in front of the grandstand but both awards were accepted by his mother on his behalf.

Following the competition the juniors were guests of the fair board for the night's grandstand show and topped off their day's activities with a dance in the junior building at the fair.

Taxidermist Has Fine Display

A special case exhibited by Mrs. Fred Wallis, noted naturalist and taxidermist, in the Horticultural Building contained an interesting display of a Canadian beaver at work on a tree, demonstrating that a workman is known by his chips"; also a Canadian mink, of which approximately 90 skins are required to fashion a lady's long coat; and the stealthy bull chers, the weasel family were also shown in their royal coat of white with black-tipped tails, used for the state robes of royalty. In summer he slinks about in brown, invading farmer Brown's chicken pen, slaying the unwary chicks and draining the blood much like a Vampire bat.

Mrs. Wallis states that the mink was shot by a farmer in Corby, while as it was leaving his hen house after killing in the neighborhood of 20 hens. The beaver she obtained from a trapper north of Kaladar. All specimens were mounted by Mrs. Wallis.

BATTLE CONTINUED

Slow communications left Canada and the United States fighting into 1815 after the Treaty of Ghent of 1814 ended the war of 1812.

Gorgeous Gladioli Hold Spotlight At Exhibition Flower Show

Tall green junipers in white urns and tall, white standards of evergreens tinted gladioli greeted the flower lovers as they entered the Horticulture building at Belleville's biggest and better fair. Beyond, as far as the eye could see, flowers of every hue, kind and family were arranged in pleasing positions. There were potted plants, baskets of gorgeous gladioli, ferns and snapdragons; begonias of various kinds, the beefsteak with its pretty little red blooms; the right and left begonias; Angel wings sparkling with frosted spots, and the mottled leaf begonia.

Zinnias of scarlet, white and gold vied with baskets of pink, white and mauve snapdragons, and multi - colored gladioli mingled with sweet-smelling sembrocia, and African and French marigolds.

One whole stand was given over to the lovely pastel shades of all arranged in varying shades of coral, pink, royal purple, mauve and almost mingled with the sprays of juniper, the whole accented by a pot of tall sansevieria.

CENTREPIECES

A table displayed arrangements of centrepieces, including pink, white and blue cornflowers mingled with baby's breath; pink phlox with baby's breath, and sweetpeas in tones of pink, white and deep pink, also with baby's breath. Other centres showed the versatile gladiolus with alluring shades of pale mauve baby pink in a low bowl. The gladioli in one flower which is lovely to the very last bloom. As the flowers begin at the base of the stalk to wither, the stem may be cut, gradually and gradually, until only the tip bloom is left, which, in a rose bowl makes a lovely centrepiece.

Sprays were shown of pink and white gladiolus accented with asperagus fern, while other baskets contained purple delphiniums, pink and rose, mingled with long spikes of yellow.

That always favorite, the zinnia, ranged largely among the cut flowers; a long-lasting and prized for its decorative effect, having a range of rich tones, varying from pure white to deep, dark reds, oranges, pinks and lavenders, and royal purples. Petunias, too, both single flow- ered and double-ruffled added their pinks, purples, whites and creaming to the over-all effect.

SWEET VERBENA

The sweet-smelling verbena, the old time garden favorite with her aroma to the rainbow galaxy, as did the vases of sweetpeas. An other flower, so often slighted, but ever loved by the wild canaries and budgies' favorable was the sunflower, whose peculiarity goes down through generations in the tale of Jack and the Beanstalk, when he sets the same face that she turned when he rose."

Another flower one of grandmother's well loved flowers were also on view in colors of gold and brown; pink and gold; scarlet and white. These make delightful bouquets in the home where winter's snows lies thick and deep.

Phlox, also another old time favorite was also lovely and the little fairies of the garden, pansies, whose piquant faces bring so much cheer to the early spring and summer gardens. Some spicy carnations and asturtiums brought to memory the tasty accent their leaves make in a salad, and the green seeds delicious pickles.

The stately tiger lilies held their sprawling arms abroad — orange and black glow, while near by one single, cream colored rose spread her sweetness abroad.

WINDOW BOXES

Other interesting items were the hanging pots and the window boxes, which make a home so homelike. These were filled with various plants, foliages, begonias and trailing vines; while red four o'clocks, grass plants and foliages made attractive veranda pots.

Along the north side was a profusion of potted plants including the snowball hydrangea; Canterbury bells; single specimens of outstanding gladioli; shamrocks; long, tiny-leaved entwined ivy; Japanese oats; African violets; potted double-pink pelphias; orange aultana; geraniums; centre pink and white in color; snapdragons with its bell-like flowers of mauve and striped pinks; Alania with it strange little bunches of flowers, some pink, some yellow, some mauve all in one flat-shaped bunch; the velvet gloxinia; baby's breath and ferns; pink fringed begonias; asparagus ferns; rubber plants; white foliages; another red wing begonias; and a shelf of pink, white, mauve and purple African violets.

A very fine display bringing commendation to the directors, Robert Barber, Mrs. J. R. Scott, Mrs. A. Weese; J. McArthur, and William Cook.

Many Knitting Sweaters for The Koreans

OTTAWA (CP) — Knitting brigades that are busy across Canada may be composed of strangers or neighbors. What links them is grey wool—wool to make long-sleeved, high-necked sweaters for orphans in Korea.

The Unitarian Service Committee says the "pullover parade" has resulted in nearly 10,000 sweaters in less than a year. But the USC has promised 25,000, and there is still a lot of wool left at USC headquarters in Ottawa.

This wool is available to any knitter with time on her hands. Officials of the volunteer relief agency explained that instructions are mailed with the wool.

One housewife here has emerged as a leader in production of the sweaters. Mrs. H. McManus of Ottawa, with help from her mother, has made 50 sweaters since last October.

Wedding Tour To Take in Quebec Sites

QUEBEC (CP)—A honeymoon tour of Quebec's historic sites has followed the secret Monday wedding of Maria Dionne, 23, second of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets to marry.

Maria, now Mrs. Florian Houle, and her husband visited Quebec City Tuesday on their week-long honeymoon trip. Besides visiting historic sites, they planned to call at the convent of the Roman Catholic order of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament here, where Maria stayed for eight months while she planned to adopt the religious life.

They are to return to Montreal this weekend.

ONE SISTER KNEW

Marie, who once took vows to become a nun, and Mr. Houle, who once aspired to the priesthood, were married in Notre Dame Church in the heart of Montreal in a ceremony so secret that only one of her sisters knew beforehand it was to take place. She is 24, he is 26.

"We are perfectly happy," said Mr. Houle, a provincial government inspector, in a telephone interview from nearby Cap-de-la-Madeleine. The couple visited the town, where Mr. Houle had a mass said for her deceased quint sister Emilie, on their honeymoon trip.

Mr. Houle disagreed with suggestions that their marriage was secret—that he feels rounds deprecatory. They wanted the ceremony to be intimate, he said.

TO AVOID PUBLICITY

"Our closest relatives knew we were engaged and that the wedding was to be Aug. 13," Mr. Houle added. They decided to advance the date because word had leaked out and they wanted to avoid publicity.

Marie's parents, who live in Callander, Ont., did not know of the wedding beforehand. Mr. Allard said they were sent a letter telling of the wedding, but heard the news before they received the letter.

"It has come as a surprise in a way, but Marie may be much happier now," said her father, Oliva Dionne, in an interview.

"You know, it was no fun for Marie being in that (Montreal) apartment-jail by herself. . . . We are looking forward to meeting him and hope they will come to visit us soon."

Marie had been living in Montreal with Yvonne, a nurse and the only quint still unmarried, until about a year ago. More recently she had been reported living alone.

Wife Preserves

Summer is a good time to doctor foot calluses, as going barefoot around the house is an excellent remedy. So is brush scrubbing. Also try a gentle application of powder stone while feet are wet.

MONTREAL ACTRESS IS HIT ON BROADWAY

Montreal-born Colleen Dewhurst is winning critical acclaim for her portrayal of the sultry gaolet's daughter in the off-Broadway production of "Child of Ten Commandments". The talented actress is the daughter of Fred Dewhurst, Canadian football and hockey star of the 1920's.

Country Must Tolerate All Literary Works

MONTREAL (CP) — A country, to be intellectually healthy, must tolerate all literary works, whether they be Christian, anti-Christian or Communist, Mrs. Jeanne Chaton of Paris, president of the International Federation of University Women, said today.

She told the 14th triennial congress of the Canadian Federation of University Women:

"Christian inspiration, existentialist inspiration, Communist inspiration seem to be the three trends of today's works."

DOWN TO GRASS ROOTS

The existentialist school was often rough, unkempt, repulsive and scandalous, but it got down to "grass roots" in its study of man free from God but worried by anguish and insecure in his freedom.

"Don't judge after reading only one school," she warned. "The freer a country is, the more numerous are her expressions of thought."

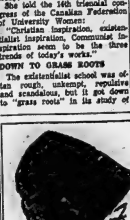
Irene Hilton of London, Eng., president of the British Federation of University Women, asked her impatience Tuesday with women who play traitor to the cause of their equality with men.

TYPING AND SILLY

"A certain class of women, many of them young and silly, are brought up in such a way that they feel women should not have professions and should not work in the business world." They were the traitors.

"We have to see all discrimination wiped out both ways—so that men will be barred from professions like nursing and dietetics if they want to enter them."

Equality for women was not a reality in the medical and academic worlds. A woman had to "twice as good" as a man to get to the top in these professions.



May Use Women For Downtown Traffic Control

TORONTO (CP) — The police commission said Tuesday women may be used for downtown traffic control.

Magistrate T. S. Rich, commission chairman, said policewoman may take over a number of regular duties now performed by policemen to relieve them for other assignments.

There are 19 policewomen on the staff of the Metropolitan Toronto police department, serving the city and 13 suburbs. Most work in communications or the morality office.

Fluid Fashion

By VERA WINSTON

Dark brown is doing nicely as the alternative to black for the indispensable little crepe dress. Tobacco brown crepe is beautifully handled in this frock fashioned on fluid lines. Banding forms a buttoned top closing runs down the subtly handled front bodice and around the waist to button in back. Seaming on each side of the banding accentuates the fluidity. This is a silhouette that interested buyers keenly and which has been well ordered by smart specialty shops.

The Home Ec. gals in our De-which I am passing along. One of them, Pink Party Loaf, is to be made in advance as a solace to the expectant hostess. With this readymade in the refrigerator, a cold supper could be assembled with a minimum of effort and time.

PINK PARTY LOAF

Two (5 1-3 ounces) cans of lobster, 2 tablespoons unflavor-ed gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 1 1-3 cups mayonnaise, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 1-3 cup chopped green pepper, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon paprika, 1 unsliced loaf French bread about 18"x3" Drain lobster, break into small pieces. Sprinkle gelatine on cold water, then stir over low heat or boiling water until dissolved. Combine dissolved slightly-cooled gelatine with mayonnaise. Add lobster, prepared vegetables, lemon juice and seasonings. Chill until partially thickened Cut French loaf in half lengthwise and remove the soft centre from both halves, leaving 1-2 to 3-4 inch casing. Fill with partiallythickened lobster mixture, packing in lightly with a long knife. Wrap each filled half loaf in aluminum foil or waxed paper and let stand in refrigerator overnight. Just before serving

Sprinkle tomato slices with salt and pepper and spread with mayonnaise. Cover with crisp lettuce. Top with remaining 4 slices of toast, placed butter side down. Cut sandwiches in halves diagonally, and steady each half with a wooden pick topped with a pickle or stuffed olive. Place sandwiches in a pan heated oven to warm. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

HOSTESS SHOULD OPEN THOSE GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Last Sunday afternoon my husband and I went to a very "stylish" hopewarming, given by some friends of ours who always give wonderful, well-planned parties. Their new house is beautiful, everything was in perfect order for the guests to look-see, I think, and host wears, as always, charmingly cordial, the refreshments were delectable. There was only one cloud on the party — and my question concerns this.

My husband and I are very devoted to these two friends, have shared with them their thrilling accounts of the progress of their new house, and so we spent a good deal of thought (and, I may add, considerable money) to choose a housewarming present that we hoped would be appropriate for their new home. I wrapped it in a handsome dark-green paper (the hostess' favorite shade), my husband and I each wrote on the card to be enclosed (a devoted message to be sure) and forwarded same, and, when we arrived I handed the package to the hostess. She put it aside with a group of other packages.

I must confess this disappointed me terribly. I noticed that some of the guests brought presents, and others didn't, and I suppose the hostess didn't open the presents brought at just the "embarrass" those who didn't bring any. My husband and I (as well as other friends there who tried to be thoughtful and as generous as possible) certainly didn't approve of this off-hand way of doing. We would all like to know if you approve of this procedure, Mrs. Beeckman. — Reader

I most decidedly do not approve of this thoroughly ungracious and unfair procedure. Why should the feelings of the non-givers be treated with such tender consideration while the feelings of the thoughtful and generous givers are given no consideration?

It's not necessary to bring a present to a party unless you wish to, and if you don't wish to bring a present, you needn't at all mind that some of the guests do bring presents . . . and of course you shouldn't at all mind that the hostess must thoughtfully open the presents and graciously thanks the givers. All perfectly natural, considerate, fair

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Selma S. — I want to go out with older boys.

Mrs. L. S. — We're afraid she'll get into trouble.

Selma S. — I am 15, but very mature for my age. Sometimes I am taken for 18 or 20. That's my problem.

My parents don't want me to go out with any boys over 16. I find these boys very babyish and silly. Besides, I look silly with them, as though I'm their grandmother.

Wherever I go, older boys become interested in me. Recently I met one of 22. It was at a big party for a girl of 17 and there were several older fellows there. I made a date with this fellow without his knowing how old I was. Later, when I told him, he said it didn't matter since I was so mature for my years. It is my parents don't want to let me go out with him.

Mrs. L. S. — My husband and I are really worried about Selma. Why would a 22-year-old college graduate want to go out with a little high school girl of 15?

It is true that Selma can, at times, dress up to look like a 20-year-old glamor girl. But when she talks to boys she is very childish and silly. To demand to her and I know.

Of course, sometimes she can put on the dog and act a more sophisticated part for about five minutes. Then it peters out.

We realize that this is a hard period for Selma and at times we think we are being a bit too rigid with our no-boys-over-18 rule. But we're afraid Selma might get into trouble if we relax the rule.

The Council: We wish we knew a rigid rule that would answer once and for all the question of how to handle teenagers. But we are afraid there just isn't such a thing. Parents must play it by ear.

Too many rules, too much rigidity inspires many teenagers to complete rebellion. They may protest little to their parents yet they proceed to do just as they please. Others may rant, rave and threaten to disobey the rules — and yet abide by them. Such youngsters actually get a great feeling of security from knowing what the rules are and adhering to them.

The fact that Selma contests her parents' wishes in this matter is a fairly good sign. She probably unconsciously wants her parents' protection from the older men. She wants to assure herself that there is a good reason to resist the temptation they constantly present. She may admire their superior know-how, their cars and their money, but she undoubtedly has many fears about going out with them.

The L. S.'s are right in their suspicion that it is rather odd for a 22-year-old man to be willing to go out with a 15-year-old.

It is possible that this man is simply rather childish himself and has difficulty making friends with girls in his own age group. In any case, there is no special reason why Selma should go out with such a man.

The L. S.'s should explain to Selma that this phase of her life will pass quickly and she can have many good times even with the "babyish and silly" younger boys. Within two or three years the situation will be radically different and she will be free to go out with a more mature group.

Career Girl Runs Restaurant In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the secret desires of many successful New Yorkers is to run a restaurant.

No one knows just why this is. One reason probably is that more people eat out regularly here than in other cities. Manhattan doctors report few of their women patients suffer from skillet callouses.

Gloria Safier, a career gal who shared this dream of operating a restaurant, did more than merely dream. As a result, she now leads a fascinating double life. Her base on a ham-to-hash motif.

By day she is one of the city's half dozen top lady theatrical agents. At night she is the boss at Brown's, a swank new bistro on East 81st Street that has found quick favor with the celebrity trade.

It is one of the oddest business ventures in a town where practically anything goes. She has 62 partners, many of them prominent in the theatrical, advertising, movie and publishing fields.

"They all come here and bring their friends," said Gloria. "They're trying to eat themselves rich."

The restaurant was launched with $50,000. The stockholders put up from $100 to $10,000 each.

"I wouldn't let anybody invest more than that," said Miss Saf-fer, "because if it failed, I didn't want anybody to get hurt too much."

Among her partners are costume designer Irene Sharaff, actresses Arlene Francis, Faye Emerson, and Geraldine Fitzgerald, singer Lena Horne, comics Jerry Lewis and Henry Morgan.

Sharman Douglas, daughter of a former ambassador to Britain, is a stockholder. So is the Irish actor, Edward Mulhare, star of My Fair Lady.

Miss Safier, tall, green - eyed, and brown-haired, has been associated with the theatre since childhood.

"At five I was reading Variety instead of Mother Goose," she said.

The idea of starting a restaurant seemed a natural to her. She figured the people in Manhattan needed a common meeting place.

The restaurant has one unusual feature—telephones in both the men's and women's rest rooms.

She said the hardest part of the whole business was picking a name. Many restaurants in the area have French names. Finally, one of the stockholders said:

"Why not simply call it Brown's? Nobody can forget that."

PICTON

Clung to Boat For Over Hour In Lake Ontario

PICTON — Caught out in Lake Ontario by sudden winds which capsized his sail boat, Dr N. D. White of Kingston, clung to the bottom of the overturned craft for more than an hour before being rescued. He was being rapidly carried out into the Lake, when he was spotted by a traveller. Bruce Martin, who operates a resort at The Outlet beach went to the rescue. He borrowed a small boat with outboard owned by a cottager, Charles Kingsley. When he rached th doctor and the sailboat it was more than a mile out in the open lake off the beach. Though the doctor was chilled, he suffered no ill effects.

Later, other summer residents of the beach went out and towed the sail boat to shore. It had been calm when the doctor went sailing but sudden gales came up and the craft capsized.

Dr. and Mrs. White and family are occupying a cottage at Outlet beach which is 12 miles south-east of Picton Two years ago, Dr. White lost many personal possessions, when the cottage he was occupying there was destroyed by fire.

CHARGE IS LAID

PICTON — A charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident was preferred against Mr. Wey of R. 2 Demorestville yesterday, following a hit-and-run accident last Saturday. In the Prince Edward County hospital here, suffering from severe back injuries and an injured hip, along with bruises, is eleven-year-old Harry Hennessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hennessy, who live east of Picton. The boy was riding his bicycle near the golf course when he was struck by a car which did not stop. The boy was hurled into the ditch. His brother, Monty, 13, who was standing beside his bicycle off the road, witnessed the accident. Playing golf, Miss Marie Longraffe, a nurse at the local hospital, also saw the boy struck and she rendered first aid and accompanied the boy to the hospital.

SIX HELD FOR THEFT

PICTON — For some weeks, provincial police here have been receiving complaints of gasoline being stolen from cars and trucks. As a result, six young men have been apprehended. Five of them have pleaded guilty are awaiting sentence. At Cherry Valley, H. Leavitt saw a car with two young men in front of Harvey Ostrander's home. He saw tehm taking gas from a truck He did not disturb them but telephoned the police who, racing to the scene, caught the culprits red-handed. Two girls with them were not charged.

Racing fans were treated to a full position as they round the turn at the afternoon of action as three days of east end of the track seconds after the harness racing got under way at the start of the gun. Livestock building, Jun- Belleville Fair. Here all seven horses for building and horse barn at the in a 2.24 class are seen striving for grounds are seen in the background.

CLOSE POLLUTED BEACHES

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 3½ miles of beaches around Vancouver are to be "blacklisted" for up to five years, City health officer Dr. Stewart Murray ordered the action Monday after repeated tests showed the waters surrounding the city to be polluted seriously enough to affect public health. "The signs will stay up for three to five years, or at least until a new sewage disposal system has been built and proved satisfactory."

MAY VOTE ON UNION

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—A referendum asking Fort William voters if they favor amalgamation with Port Arthur is to be run in conjunction with the December civic elections providing Port Arthur will take similar action. City Council here decided on the vote at a meeting Monday in their inaugural addresses earlier this year the mayors of both cities said many benefits would come from such a move.

Hydro Workers Save Life of 9-Year-Old Boy

PICTON — A knowledge of first aid by two hydro workers, Ron Cable and Cletus Vesterveit, is credited with saving the life of Terry Wannamaker, 9, son of Mr. and, Mrs. Cecil Wannamaker, Picton. The boy was playing at a cottage on East Lake with his uncle, Mr. Vesterveit and was swimming with other boys. He dived from a boat into five feet of water and, striking his stomach, was knocked out. His absence was not noticed for a time. During the search, jail governor George Sweitzer stepped on the boy and then brought him to the surface. The efforts of Vesterveit and Cable in applying artificial respiration for more than half an hour are credited by Dr. W. Murphy with saving the boy's life.

PLAYFUL DOG

PICTON — A playful dog was responsible for painful facial injuries suffered by Bruce Davis, 2, of Toronto, while holidaying at the cottage of his uncle, James Hepburn, of Montreal, at the Outlet Beach. The dog grabbed the boy by the lip which was torn along with the lower part of the face. He was rushed to Prince Edward County hospital here for treatment. The dog was owned by Mrs. Morley Currie of Toronto, the boy's grandmother, who, with her daughter, Mrs. Colin Hepburn of Belleville, was visiting the Hepburn family.

SUPPLY RUNS LOW

PICTON — Sale of beer at the local brewers' warehouse continued yesterday but it is stated that the supply is running low. The staff of the local store are not members of the union. However, the Belleville local has sent a representative to Picton to see that no deliveries are made from breweries. Though there has been a heavy sale, the staff have been able to handle it easily and have attempted to have buyers ration themselves.

Inflation distorts the picture of what we are doing in comparison with past years. This is illustrated in this graph showing gross national product in dollars of the various years, and also in terms of "constant" dollars.

The dotted line—showing GNP in dollars of the years since 1939 — indicates that we now are doing five to six times as much as we did in 1939.

The solid line — showing GNP in "constant" dollars — reveals that we are actually doing only two to three times as much — still a big increase, however. (CP Newsmap.)

Many Canadians Believe National Books Akin to Santa's Bag of Presents

This article starts a series on Canadian taxation and financial policy. Wednesday: Taxation changes since 1914.

By FORBES RHUDI

Canadian Press Business Editor

In their attitude to national bookkeeping, many people have a Santa Claus complex.

Santa is the finance minister—the man who keeps the national books and, about once a year, opens them for all to see in the budget.

The budget tells how much money is coming in, how much is being paid out, reviews the state of the economy and tells what the minister and his colleagues intend to do about it.

To many people it is not that, sort of document at all. It is a big Christmas bag out of which the minister, if he is a nice Santa, will produce gifts in the form of tax cuts and other things the government will do for them.

WON'T SATISFY ALL

The minister himself often enters into the spirit of the expectations. With a Christmassy "ho-ho-ho" he opens his bag of treasures and makes everything look as attractive as possible. But rarely is he able to bring forth all that the people expect.

Whether he is Santa Harris or Santa Fleming he may be greeted with sullen stares and tantrums and only here and there a smile.

The finance minister is a Santa who can give gifts only if people pay for them.

In this he isn't really different from the Christmas-time Santa: he may seem to bring gifts from a never-never land but papa and mama have to pay.

High government expenditures appear to have become part of our way of life. This means that high taxes are also part of our way of life.

CAN'T LOWER MUCH

You may adjust them here or there; set certain discriminatory angles; make the odd concession; plug loopholes. It is unlikely, however, that you can lower present levels much.

Figures and public attitudes indicate that about the best you can hope for is that taxes will be kept on a fairly level plateau during the next five years or so.

Only a great lessening in international tensions or a great change in what people want their government to do would make big cuts possible.

And any great new expenditures beyond those envisaged in present programs could send taxes up.

Inflation might make tax cuts possible but would exact other penalties.

A frequently-heard comment at budget time is: "Well, that budget didn't do much."

People make such comments when a budget has little effect on next week's pay cheque or tomorrow's purchases.

Nevertheless, every budget does a lot. It not only gives an accounting of the country's economy; it influences the tone and direction of the economy.

A wise budget may do more for you than any few dollars of immediate savings—though such savings are also important. An unwise budget may set up conditions, or neglect conditions, and do you harm.

Government activities have become vast and complex and problems have grown accordingly.

Perhaps no two problems are more difficult than those of inflation and recession. Fight inflation too hard and you may encourage recession; fight recession too hard and you may encourage inflation.

INFLATION EXPECTS

Inflation results in rising prices and a decline in the value of money. Since 1939 it has nearly doubled our prices, so that it takes $1 now to buy what used to cost 50 cents. It also gives false values to what we are doing in comparison with what we did in the past.

In 1958, for instance, the gross national product in "market dollars" of that day was $5,636,000,000. Last year the gross national product in current "market dollars" was $31,443,000,000.

In the number of dollars we seem to be producing five to six times as much goods and services as we did in 1939.

But try valuing the two years in what are called "constant dollars"—constant in the sense that they are based on 1949 prices. Valued thus, 1939 production was $9,336,000,000 and 1957's was $22,558,000,000.

This comparison shows us doing two to three times as much as in 1939, instead of five to six times.

Recession, in today's phase, manifests itself in unemployment; unused capacity in our productive machinery; a decrease in business profits; and a fall in tax revenues. As yet, however, wages and salaries continue at high levels for those who are working.

At one time neither inflation nor recession would have been considered a direct problem of government. The economic pendulum was believed to be inevitable, with a swing in one direction necessarily followed by a swing in the other direction.

Today economists believe the swings can be greatly modified, even if not avoided. In this, government action is regarded as the great modifier.

Governments are expected to apply measures that on one hand will control inflation and on the other maintain high employment.

Government has thus taken on a great added responsibility toward the public.

This means the public—which elects the government—has also taken on a great responsibility toward itself. It means the ordinary citizen must be well informed on matters on which he expects his government to act.

Likely TV Production Prices Rise

Wherever a good signal can be obtained, nearly every home in the country now boasts at least one television set. This "saturation" of the market has meant a slow-up among the manufacturers in the production of sets. This fact — and the rise in labor and material cost — is certain to effect the cost of manufacture per unit, which no doubt will be passed along to the buying public.

As a further result of this big volume of sales in the past, there is now a large number of TV sets that are about due to trested in, and dealers may find it difficult to dispose of so many used sets. Trade-in allowances will likely be lowered considerably.

Right now Booth Radio and Television limited can sell used television sets for summer home and cottage use and can still offer you a good allowance on your old set for a new model. If you are even considering trading your TV for a new set, it will pay you to act now. Call in at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 179 Front Street, Belleville. A7,8,11,13,15.

Winner in Tuesday's carriage horse class at Belleville Fair was Jack Bush, shown here with his handsome pair of hackneys as they stepped along the track in front of the grandstand. The horse show is the biggest in the history of the fair.

'Snookie' Lanson, Jourdan Among Second-Day Features At Belleville's 1958 Fair

Brilliant August sunshine and clear skies brought midsummer weather as the Belleville Fair swung into the second of its four-day exhibition yesterday.

Tuesday crowds again thronged the colorful Cooklig midway and saw the second variation of the three-ply stage entertainment program.

Thousands moved through the buildings where agriculture, industry and other products of the thriving Quinte district are on proved display.

Again one of the finest exhibits of horses and livestock in the history of the 100 years - plus exhibition attracted rural and other patrons of the fair.

In keeping with its 1958 policy of variable entertainment the fair offered another bill of high class stage entertainment in front of the grandstand.

Afternoon patrons were treated to a mixed bill of fare ranging from the parading of spirited horses to track and field events, harness horse - racing and high class stage entertainment.

A sample of the finest horseflesh of the province that marks the equine exhibits, was seen in the showing of the handsome hackney ponies, won by the spirited pair owned and driven by Jack Bush of Belleville over high - class competition from the province.

The annual track and field events staged under the supervision of fair secretary Bob Phillips and Bruce Bishop were narrowed to two events, the mile and quarter mile, with the scheduled relay cancelled due to lack of entries. RCAF athletes from Station Trenton won all the major awards. Another story gives the details.

INTERLOCKING SCHEDULE

The various events were presented in an interlocking schedule, starting with one of the heats of the harness races.

The three outstanding vaudeville acts playing for the second and final day of their appearance, again thrilled grandstand crowds.

Master of ceremonies Chick Darrow of New York, again handled the show in masterful style, adding his own touch of comedy in his balloon-kidding skit.

The Australian family of Kelroys again thrilled afternoon and evening crowds with their sensational trampoline act, as did the juggling Hoffmans from Denmark.

The quintet of high-wire cycle-riding Canche, the Coronos, were again at their thrill-producing best in two exhibitions of their spine-tingling aerial act.

Here for a one-day stand and who were accorded a fine ovation by both afternoon and evening grandstand patrons, were "Snookie" Lanson of New York and the Louis Jordan Tympany Five, sensational jazz ensemble from somewhere down south.

Mr. Lanson, who was a household television name a year ago when he was one of the stars of a national network "Hit Parade," received a splendid ovation as his familiar voice came over the public address system.

Applause rippled from the grandstand as the still-popular melody "Old Black Magic" was offered by the soft-voiced "Snookie." He received further ovations following his offering of "It All Depends on You."

Apparently a typical New Yorker, "Snookie" was guilty of an uncommon spot of humor when he said "I understand the most people up here are French, so here is a song all of you will understand." He then sang "T'Vous Aime Beaucoup."

AUTOGRAPHS SOUGHT

That he is still a popular favorite with television audiences here was demonstrated in the large number that sought "Snookie's" autograph following his stage appearances.

Equally popular in another form of musical entertainment was the well-known radio and recording star Louis Jourdan and his Tympany Five featuring the attractive vocalist and dancer Dottie Smith.

The band which provided musical accompaniment for the vaudeville acts during the afternoon and evening show, came into its own at night, with an outstanding performance of this particular style of music.

Louis "Mr. Personality" as he is called, proved that he was all that from a musical standpoint. A saxophonist of marked ability, Louis headed a show that was long in performance and the best of its kind shown on a Belleville stage.

Miss Dottie Smith had a personality all her own and is a vocalist and stage artist of marked ability.

The band headed by Mr. Jourdan offered everything from rock 'n' roll to boogie-woogie and "sweet". His included in his number "Caldonia"; "Is Yo' Is"; "Ain't Nobody"; "She's But a Chicken"; "A Man Aint a Man Til a Dame Calls His Name"; "Open Door"; and "Cha-Cha Boogie".

An all-Western show moved into the fair today with afternoon and evening performances, which will be repeated tomorrow the final day of the fair.

The show is the Western Jubilee featuring those popular sage-brush stars Shorty and Spooky Warren and an outstanding company of Western and country-style singers and musicians. The show was a decided hit when it made its appearance at the afternoon performance today. It will give a full performance tonight starting at 8.15.

LOUD IN PRAISE

Lovers of harness racing of the city and district are loud in their praise of the outstanding cards which have been offered daily since the second day of the fair. Some of the finest pacers and trotters of the province and barns and are giving thrilling exhibitions daily.

The heats get away via mechanical starter and are capably handled by a competent set of officials The public is kept well-informed of what is going on by announcer Cameron Bunnett over the public adress system.

Various heats will wind up the three-day racing card tomorrow Exciting races were run off this afternoon and more are ready for the Thursday card. Detailed story of the racing will be found elsewhere.

Tomorrow's afternoon show will consist of harness racing, cattle and horses parades with the western show on the stage.

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental Band will usher in the evening performance which will be followed by the junior farmers square dance finals. Then comes the complete western stage show and last but not least that which a lot of people have awaited, the Belleville McFarlands Booster Club draw for the tickets to the world hockey championship in Prague, Czechoslovakia next February.

Tonight's grandstand performance will start with another outstanding horse show followed by a concert by the Picton Band. Then comes another horse presentation then the complete western stage show.

Khrushchev Hopes Session Will Bring Summit Meeting

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev has expressed hope that the UN General Assembly's debate on the Middle East will help clear the way for a summit conference.

He also gave his reasons for withdrawing Soviet support for a summit meeting within the framework of the UN Security Council.

Khrushchev's 1,600-word letter, handed over in Moscow Sunday and published here Monday, replied to one last Thursday from British Prime Minister Macmillan.

AT BRINK OF WAR

The Soviet leader said that the intervention of U.S. and British troops in the Middle East "had brought the world to the brink of a world war." For this reason, he said, he hopes the special assembly session "will cope with the task facing it" and thereby set the stage for a summit meeting.

Khrushchev said there is a "pressing need" for a heads-of-government conference as soon as possible.

It is believed here that Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, now at the UN, may sound out Western foreign ministers on prospects for an early summit preparatory meeting.

WASTE OF TIME

Khrushchev said in his letter that a summit meeting within the Security Council would be "an aimless waste of time."

He gave the following reasons for his change of mind:

1. The Western powers "contemplated the convening only of an ordinary session of the Security Council with all its negative aspects and shortcomings peculiar to it in its present composition."

(Nationalist China is a permanent council member. Khrushchev decided against the council summit meeting after visiting Communist China and demanding jointly with Mao Tse-tung that the Communist regime should replace the nationalists at the United Nations.)

NO ASSURANCES

2. Macmillan "merely hinted" in a letter July 31 that the heads of governments would hold private meetings apart from the Security Council formal session. President Eisenhower's messages made "quite clear" there would only be ordinary council sessions.

3. U.S. State Secretary Dulles also made it clear at a press conference July 31 that the United States would attend the council session only "to justify its aggressive acts" together with Britain in the Middle East.

Khrushchev said the American approach, supported by Britain, would without doubt "drag us into a maze of sterile discussions."

"In these circumstances, we came to the conclusion that in order to take speediest measures essential to stop aggression, it is necessary to call not the Security Council but a special session of the UN General Assembly."

Polite Burglar Steals $9,000 in Jewelry, Cash

TORONTO (CP) — A prowler, believed responsible for a series of thefts in an apartment building the last two nights, was surprised early today when a visiting United States student awoke to find a man standing by his bed.

Barton Blistein, 26, Chicago University student visiting the home of Joseph Solomon, textile executive, said the man told him "excuse me" before he fled the apartment.

Police said about $9,000 in jewellery and cash was taken from apartment suites, while the occupants were sleeping. Police said locks on the apartment doors are easy to slip or jimmy open.

LONDON CHURCH REOPENS

LONDON (Reuters)—The City Temple, only Protestant church in the City of London, will reopen Sunday. It was destroyed by German bombs 17 years ago.

No Canadian Chequers Says Prime Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday that, as far as he is concerned, there will be no Canadian Chequers.

Chequers is the British prime minister's official country residence.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he has no intention of turning the Harrington Lake federal district commission residence into a country home for Canadian prime ministers.

The two-storey frame house, located about 15 miles north of Ottawa in the Gatineau Hills, has been used by Mr. Diefenbaker occasionally during summer weekends.

SHOULD BE LEGISLATION

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) suggested in the Commons that if Mr. Diefenbaker is to turn this into his official country home, then he ought to do this through legislation.

He didn't begrudge the prime minister a country retreat. All the "great" men of history from Solomon to Roosevelt had had their country places. But he suggested Mr. Diefenbaker's tenure of Harrington Lake was "rather irregular."

The house was one of a number owned by the federal district commission, a government agency, but the Commons had not been informed under what financial arrangements Mr. Diefenbaker used this residence.

ONLY A FEW DAYS

Mr. Diefenbaker described Mr. Herridge's discourse as "love's labor lost." There was no question of the residence being "occupied" as an official country home by the prime minister. He and his officials had spent only a few days there this summer, perhaps only five or six days at the most.

Outside the Commons, Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy, chairman of the federal district commission, said the commission intended that the house be placed at the disposal of prime ministers. However, in the past, it had been rented to private individuals.

He said Mr. Diefenbaker used it occasionally this year but that the question of rent had not been settled.

Princess Margaret spent two days at the Harrington Lake residence when she visited Ottawa earlier this month.

NEED MORE OUTPOSTS

LONDON (AP)—Radio Moscow said the special international committee for Antarctic research Monday recommended setting up 12 more scientific stations in the Antarctic. These, it said, should be three marine, four coastal and five inland stations to augment installations established for the International Geophysical Year that ends in December.

HOUSEHOLDERS ARMED

BRISTOL, England (CP)—City officials have issued spray guns to Shirehampton district tenants to kill a plague of flies, believed to come from a nearby refuse dump.

BIRD IN HAND

CLENCHWARTON, Eng. (CP)—Truck driver Harold Doughty put his hand out of the cab to wave to a friend in this Norfolk village and caught a chaffinch in his sleeve. The bird was unharmed.

SEASIDE CLEANERS

BEXHILL, England (CF) — A seafront while-you-wait cleaning station has been opened in this Sussex town for people whose clothes become smeared with oil on the beach.

SAFETY CUT

LONDON (CP)—In an effort to stimulate safety measures, the five-per-cent purchase tax on motorcyclists' crash helmets and other safety helmets is being removed, the Commons was told.

FIFTEEN BEAUTIFUL COLORS

WHAT IS TRILAN CQ.?

It is the first and only triester carpet fibre on the market specially developed for carpet use. It possesses those properties which are needed to assure a product of real value — superior resiliency, color fastness, resistance to soiling, ease of cleaning and spot removal, long wear, beauty and versatility. It answers all the customer's expectations of a carpet.

IS TRILAN CQ. SOIL RESISTANT

Because of the mirror smooth, cylindrical shape of the fibre, it is naturally a soil-resistant, soil-shedding fibre. Regular vacuuming removes the lightly adhering dirt and keeps the carpet fresh and clean.

ARE THE COLORS FAST?

Because the fibres are not dyed but spun-in-color, the colors are exceptionally fast to light, washing and spot-removing agents.

HOW ABOUT SPOTTING?

Most spots — such as ink spots, fruit stains, beverage stains — sponge off readily with a little soap or detergent and warm water. Oily and greasy spots can be readily removed with a cloth moistened with cleaner fluid. The fibre is exceptionally resistant to staining.

WHAT ABOUT UPKEEP?

TRILAN CQ's resistance to stains and soil-shedding characteristics make upkeep very simple. Vacuuming and occasional sponging to remove unavoidable dirty marks and stains is all that is needed to ensure long, trouble-free service.

WHAT ABOUT WEARING QUALITIES?

Both laboratory tests and practical wear tests conducted over a two-year period have demonstrated that under all kinds of conditions this carpet fibre will give superior performance.

IS TRILAN CQ. MOTH AND MILDEW RESISTANT?

Because of its chemical nature, TRILAN CQ. completely resists all moth and mildew damage.

WHAT ABOUT ALLERGIES?

TRILAN CQ. does not cause allergic reactions.

WHAT ABOUT STATIC ELECTRICITY?

TRILAN CQ. does not generate abnormal static electricity.

IS IT MOISTURE RESISTANT?

Because of TRILAN CQ.'s inherent physical properties, it is unaffected by high humidity, making it less susceptible to crushing and soiling when damp, and easier to keep clean in humid weather.

HOW ABOUT APPEARANCE?

TRILAN CQ. is alive, soft yet rugged as the same time. The spun-in color is true and clear — right in the first place and stays right for the life of the carpet!

Toronto Council Blamed for Fight By Alderman

TORONTO (CP)—City council was blamed Monday for a fight over a bathroom shared by six adults and 13 children in a midtown house.

Mrs. Kay Stewart, 46, was bound over to keep the peace for six months for knocking out Lorraine Waters, 27, with a water pitcher.

Mrs. Stewart said the bathroom situation caused a difference of opinion between the two women.

Alderman May Birchard told Magistrate Donald Graham "if anyone should be punished for the assault it should be city council—including myself. If she had been Mrs. Stewart, Ald. Birchard said, she would have hit someone over the head with a pitcher herself.

SUB-MAN SKELETON FOUND IN MINE

Miners of the Bacinello coal mine near Grosseto, Italy, push to surface a carriage laden with a large stock of lignite coal in which is embedded a skeleton said to have belonged to a pre-human individual that lived some 13,000,000 years ago. The discovery, immediately inspected by Prof. Johannes Huerzeler of Basle, might revolutionize Darwin's theories on the origin of man. The block, shown above, has been shipped to Basle where Prof. Huerzeler is making exhaustive studies on it.

Two 'Birds' Tried to Fly Other 'Flue'

OTTAWA (CP) — The boys panicked in Pete's dry cleaning store Monday night.

One dashed out the front door—into the arms of the law. A second clambered onto the roof—into the arms of the law.

But the third, he was smart. He hid up the chimney. But the law was smarter. When firemen were unable to dislodge him, they dismantled the chimney from the top down and found No. 3 stuck in the flue.

Charged with shop-breaking were Ronald Murphy, 21, Robert Graham, 36, and Orville Blair, 24.

Macmillan Home After Talks on Cyprus Issue

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan came home today from what he called encouraging talks in Athens, Ankara and Nicosia on the future of strife-torn Cyprus.

Macmillan told a press conference in Nicosia before flying to London that the main job now is to end violence that has taken hundreds of lives on the Mediterranean island colony.

He said he could not tell what the next step would be but would discuss the problem with his cabinet.

Macmillan met in Nicosia with leaders of the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities that are seeking opposing futures for the Crown colony. The Greek spokesman since Archbishop Makarios was exiled in 1956 is Dr. Themistocervis, mayor of Nicosia. Dr. Fazil Kutchuk speaks for the Turkish minority.

Macmillan said his five days of talks had left him encouraged. Their purpose was not to try to reach definite agreements but to discuss the problem, he said.

Both in Athens and Ankara, he plugged the British plan for a seven-year period of local self-government for the two national groups on Cyprus with Greece and Turkey sharing in administration.

Greece has rejected the plan. Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rushtu Zorlu said his government had proposed certain amendments but he did not define them.

Says Rioting Result of Discrimination

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Union representatives of 800 Prince Rupert fishermen and fishery workers told Justice Minister Fulton Monday that rioting in the city early Aug. 3 was the result of discrimination against the local Indian population.

The Fishermen and Allied Workers Union sent a telegram to the Justice minister supporting demands by two local labor organizations for a royal commission inquiry into the riot.

The union said the commission should investigate the "background of racial discrimination" here, with particular reference to treatment of Indians by RCMP officers, prejudice against Indians in industry and a "double standard," for natives and non-natives, in business.

Failure to investigate the matter fully could result in future disturbances "on a more massive scale."

"We feel that your responsibility is to see that all Canadians are given fair equal treatment and that lack of application of this Canadian concept is the basic reason for the riot," the union said.

The riot started as a protest against arrest of two persons and developed until 1,000 persons were involved, many throwing stones and bottles at police.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1958

Will Observe Centenary Sunday

Special Services, Speakers To Mark 100th Anniversary Of Wellington United Church

WELLINGTON (Staff) — 60 years after "Smoke" Reynolds', Methodist Church Epworth mortar "Manor House" here, a group of people gathered on a neighbor lot.

In the shadow of the pioneer home that once housed the saddlery of Conqueror Simcoe, they laid the foundation stone of an edifice to last for the Wellington United Church.

That was in 1858. This weekend a membership of some 477 will observe the centenary of the church and commemorate a century of Christian worship and service.

The observances start Friday evening at eight o'clock with a concert in the church. This will portray the work of the church for the past 100 years, and will be both humorous and entertaining.

Sunday will be a full day for members, adherents and friends.

At the 11 a.m. service, the Rev. Dr. Harold Young, MA, BD, DD, of Toronto, will be the guest preacher. At 3.30 there will be a sacred concert played by the IOOF band of Picton.

The 7.30 p.m. service will be held in the beautiful village park adjacent to the church. The Rev. J. Fred Lane, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, will speak with the IOOF band providing the music. Mr. Lane will be assisted by former ministers of the church, Rev. George Teskey, a former Wellington boy.

On Saturday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. a reception for members will be held in the new ladies' parlor. All members and friends of the church are invited.

Some 300 people attended the laying of the corner stone 100 years ago. Prior to the ceremonies they enjoyed a dinner on the church grounds. The Rev. E. B. Harper, chairman of the district, laid the stone, assisted by the local minister, the Rev. Charles Fish, several circuit pastors and the Rev. J. Greener, circuit superintendent.

The church, a brick structure with galleries on three sides, and the organ in a gallery, was erected by Peregrine Brotherick. It was the first edifice of the denomination to be built in the district, although Methodist Wesleyan ministers conducted worship in the area from as early as 1832. The first organist was Mrs. J. D. Day who also directed the first choir.

FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH

Disaster struck the congregation in November, 1886 when the church and parsonage were destroyed by fire. Divine worship was conducted in the Masonic Hall while the pastor and family were lodged in a nearby hostelry.

The congregation lost no time in reconstruction, and 'a little over a year later the present structure was dedicated. Dedication services were conducted by the pastor the Rev. J. Bell, assisted by the Rev. A. Campbell of Belleville, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, district chairman and conference president, the Rev. Dr. A. McDiarmid.

REV. HAROLD YOUNG

Mr. Campbell presented the congregation with the mortgage ($3,198) owing on construction. He solicited subscriptions and the congregation responded with a total of $4,088. Other collections enabled the committee to pay off the contract price of $4,500 and leave a surplus of $588.

A new parsonage was built and dedicated the same year at a contract price of $1,200

From the time the Rev. James Greener took over the new pastorate in 1858 until the time of the present minister the Rev. Alfred Poulter, who assumed his duties in 1950, some forty-four ministers have served the congregation of the church.

The Women's Missionary Society was organized in 1891 under the presidency of Mrs. Henry Greer. The present president is Mrs. W. Hamell and membership of 45 which sent $452 to the Presbyterial treasurer in 1957.

The WMS evening auxiliary, then known as the Mission Circle, was organized in 1920 by Mrs. Rev. J. U. Robins. It has rendered outstanding service to the church and in 1957 under president Mrs. Clifford Cleeve, sent $405 to the presbyterial treasury.

Other active church organizations include the Alice Taylor Tuesday Mission Band; the Canadian Girls in Training; the Explorers, Tuxis Square, Trail Rangers, Boy Scouts and Cubs. The church has a nursery roll of 45.

The work of the church Sunday School has been progressive down through the years. Church records state John Wesley Clarke was appointed superintendent in 1875 and served until illness necessitated his resignation in 1911. He passed away the same year.

The late A. A. Morden served as superintendent until June, 1949, when he was succeeded by Mr. Boyce Wiltse who served from 1949 until 1953 when he moved from the village. Assistant superintendent Milton Snyder followed him and is rendering outstanding service besides teaching a class of teen-age boys.

Young people's work began with the Methodist Church Epworth League. More recently since union, the league has been known as the Young People's Union. Interest in adult groups resulted in the organization in 1956 of a Couples' Club. It has been a decided success and is now under the presidency of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pierson.

Many years of faithful service have been given by the church organists and choir directors during the past century. Organists of recent years include, Mrs. Gordon Mathews, Mrs. J. U. Robins, Winifred Pearce, Raymond Pilgrey, J. Tunstall, R. Bechtel, J. Gay, Theresa Fillingham and the present one, Mrs. Jack McNeill. Besides the senior choir, there is a junior organization of 22 voices.

The Woman's Association, known before union as the Ladies' Aid, is in a flourishing condition and has rendered outstanding service in its various spheres to the church. Besides its special activity in connection with the parsonage, it now includes Christian education for youth; Christian citizenship and participation in community service by every woman connected with the church. In 1957 the association had 48 members and under the presidency of Mrs. Harry Pierson raised $1,015.

At the present time there are about 330 United Church families associated with the church with a membership of 477. The congregation raised $8,572 including $2,273 for the building fund. In addition $4,287 was raised for the Ministry and Maintenance Fund — G.H.C.

Rich Diamond Mine Sold by Williamsons

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (CP)—The De Beers diamond interests of South Africa and the Williamson interests in Tanganyika take over control of the Williamson diamond mine here in 1957.

Under an agreement announced Thursday, De Beers will purchase all shares in the mine from Dr. Williamson and Sir John T. Williamson of Montreal and turn half of them over to the Tanganyika government.

In return the Tanganyika government will begin dealing only on the Williamson estate and surrender to De Beers roughly $3,500,000 over 20 years out of dividends from the mine.

Governor Sir Richard Turnbull said the price paid to the Williamson heirs will be $4,140,000 ($11,592,000) plus the unspecified amount of death duties that Williamson's estate has to be paid.

The mine, at Mwadui, produced $28,022,000 ($78,470,000) worth of gems and industrial diamonds last year.

Under the terms of Williamson's will, his brother, Percy Williamson, 48, of Kelowna, B.C., and two sisters, Matilda Williamson of St. Sauveur des Monts, Que., and Mrs. Mary Miller of London inherited the mine.

Dr. Williamson, reputed to be one of the world's richest as well as the shyest of bachelors, died Jan. 7.

British Parliament Adjourns Till Oct., Some Think Snap Election Will Be Called in Fall

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — With a fine show of reluctance, members have hurried away from the precincts of the Mother of Parliaments at Westminster for their summer recess.

The motion that "this House ... do adjourn till Thursday, Oct. 23, at 11 o'clock" was approved after a number of members on both sides of the House had expressed anxiety about Parliament breaking up at a time of trouble in the Middle East.

Labor member William Ross summed up the sentiments of those doubting the wisdom of a recess by asking: "I wonder how they will feel when they hear on the radio that Parliament is to dissolve for three months — the people in Kirkuk, Baghdad, Basrah and the Persian Gulf."

Such statesmanlike feelings were overwhelmed by the undignified haste with which the majority of members began to head for their constituencies.

As the recess began, Westminster was buzzing with rumors of a snap election, possibly this fall. And the departing members had a curious resemblance to a swarm of bees anxious to sample the honey pot of electoral opinion.

Some Labor party backbenchers suggest that Prime Minister Macmillan will call an election in hopes of cashing in on a current swing in public opinion toward his Conservative government. Such views find little support among leaders of the opposition party, who say privately that there seems little likelihood of an election before the end of the year. In their view a general election next spring is more likely.

The Conservatives still have some two years in office under their present mandate, the last general election having been held in May, 1955. And they have a comfortable working majority in the House.

In addition the Conservatives have been shaken by a series of by-election reverses earlier this year that saw them lose two seats in the Labor party and another to the Liberals. They are hardly likely to risk a snap election with less the new trend becomes more pronounced.

The most significant feature of the election gossip is the unease it is causing in opposition circles. At the beginning of the year, the Labor party, from front bench to back, was cock-a-hoop with the government's popularity in the country sinking lower and lower. But recent weeks have brought a remarkable change in the political atmosphere.

The change has been admitted publicly by Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell.

The Spectator, a weekly that has been sternly critical of the government despite right - wing tendencies, says "The likelihood is that, assuming nothing startling happens in the meantime, the Conservatives will be returned to power whenever the election takes place."

One of the chief reasons for the government's rise in popularity has been Macmillan's zest for Commonwealth and foreign affairs.

Another weekly, The Economist, says the prime minister's "eager journeys abroad, and the care with which he has handled foreign affairs in the House, particularly the Middle Eastern element, have created an impression that the government is led by a man who forms his own mind in relative tranquility of thought and is persuasive in presenting his conclusions to the House."

Work of Swedish Diplomat May Bring Mid East Solution

By LLOYD McDONALD
Staff Writer

Dag Hammarskjold's quiet interventions in United Nations disputes are often temporarily obscured by more public utterances as President Eisenhower's private envoy to the UN emergency General Assembly. But the continued work of the Secretary-General is regarded as of more significance in the long run.

By virtue of his international position as chief of the UN administrative staff, Hammarskjold is considered by all sides as being above political partisanship in pronouncements of the major heads of states in the UN usually resulting in verbal rebuffs.

Hammarskjold's position of respect on both sides of the Iron Curtain was attested to by Russia's renewed support of his secretary - generalship five - year term came up for renewal in the Security Council this year. His predecessor, Trygve Lie of Norway, had been ousted because the Soviet voted against him on the ground he favored the West.

ARDENT LINGUIST

Hammarskjold has handled some delicate assignments without leaving himself open to Western accusations of leaning over backwards in the Communist cause. Hence the advisers reaction in President Eisenhower's instructions to the secretary-general's blueprint for a long-term Middle East solution without any mentioning of a surprise.

While the Western view was that Hammarskjold had offered Nasser, in effect, an olive branch by taking over the role of Arab nationalism, Nasser's immediate suspicions were that the UN chief was overstepping his position by suggesting pledges from the Arab states of noninterference in the affairs of other Middle East states.

Legally, it should be noted, the secretary-general is not authorized to offer anything in advance although this is usually the way he operates. Article 100 of the charter in the General Assembly or the Security Council are interpreted as being restrictive in defining the limitations of his office in the wording: "In the performance of duties because of his continued personal dealings with heads of governments which may influence or goes far beyond his official position."

BENT BUT UNBROKEN

The UN charter states that the secretary-general "shall not seek or receive instructions from any government or any other authority external to the (UN) organization." In return, "each member of the United Nations undertakes to respect the exclusively international character of the secretary-general and his staff, and not to seek to influence them in the discharge of their responsibilities."

This rule, of course, has never been fully observed by Hammarskjold, but in the give-and-take of international relations it has often been helpful to views, if not to facts.

Hammarskjold's facility in dealing with Russia is illustrated by any undue strain, or creating a bad precedent, is one of the reasons why his statements carry more than their official face value.

Hence, when last week he brought the attention of the Security Council to the special Assembly session on the Middle East to consider the thought might be of benefit in the long run, these views were immediately accepted as a matter of wise judgment by nearly all.

The session, convened in the Arab world was his avoidance of any reference to the British and American troops in Jordan and Lebanon. But his avoidance of this controversial factor in the Middle East picture only seemed to lend strength to the effort of the council in taking them out of the rough-and-tumble political exchanges that are to mark the special assembly meeting.

When the dust of this struggle has been settled, the original proposals should still stand as the best basis for constructive action looking to the future.

Jet Airliner Breaks Record

LONDON (Reuters)—A de Havilland Comet IV jet airliner Tuesday night broke the New York-London speed record for civilian planes by one hour and 20 minutes.

The Comet covered the 3,496 miles in six hours 27 minutes at an average speed of about 540 miles an hour.

The previous record was set last January by an Israeli El Al Airlines turbo - prop Britannia with a time of seven hours 57 minutes.

The Comet IV is to be put into transatlantic service later this year by British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Four Toughest Bargainers Are Experienced Diplomats

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This week's emergency session of the United Nations general assembly brings together four of the world's toughest bargainers, the foreign ministers of the United States, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom and the United Arab Republic.

Respectively, they are John Foster Dulles, Andrei Andreivich Gromyko, John Selwyn Brooke Lloyd and Mahmoud Fawzi.

Dulles, Lloyd and Fawzi all are lawyers. Gromyko began his career as an engineer-economist. All four today are diplomats of long experience.

Here are capsule of their careers:

Mahmoud Fawzi

At 56, Fawzi is a calm, self-assured negotiator with a reputation for patience and agility. No stranger, to the United Nations debates, he is a Nasser holdover from the regime of King Farouk.

The product of a middle class Egyptian family, son of a teacher, he was educated in Europe and the United States. He speaks half a dozen languages fluently.

He was a banker when he began his diplomatic career and headed Egypt's delegation to the UN in 1949 and at later sessions.

Selwyn Lloyd

A veteran of UN debates, Lloyd is 54, is coldly efficient and logical in formulating his arguments. He has the habit of success. A former judge, he was minister of fuel and power before he succeeded Winston Churchill in 1951, minister of supply in 1954, and became defence minister under Sir Anthony Eden in December, 1955. As foreign minister under Prime Minister Macmillan, he returns to the United Nations with a solid reputation for agile bargaining.

Andrei Gromyko

Son of a peasant from White Russia, Gromyko has built a spectacular career in diplomacy which has won him the title of the Soviet velo—Russia's "no" man.

Gromyko first wanted to be a teacher, then an economist, but events changed his plans. By 1943, at the age of 34, he was ambassador to the United States.

A protege of stubborn old V. M. Molotov and a student of Vishinsky, he established a reputation as one of Moscow's toughest bargainers.

John Foster Dulles

Dulles' globe - girdling career began more than 50 years ago when, at the age of 19, he attended a peace conference at The Hague.

A member of a family of diplomats, Dulles has been in and out of diplomacy through most of the years since the First World War, when he was an adviser to President Wilson at Versailles.

Since 1953, he has travelled at least 500,000 miles in the service of the U.S.

Dulles, 70 last February, probably has been the world's most severely attacked diplomat for his role as chief architect of the Eisenhower administration's policy. President Eisenhower has expressed faith in his "experience and wisdom."

Argument Starts As Legionnaires Unload Beer

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Five city constables Tuesday night quelled a fierce argument between members of the Canadian Legion and pickets of the striking United Brewery Workers Union after 200 cases of beer were unloaded at the Legion hall.

The beer arrived in a truck at 6:15 and five Legion members immediately began unloading the cases.

As the last cases slid down a chute into the Legion cellar, a group of pickets from Local 371, United Brewery Workers, arrived. A loud argument ensued and fists were raised, but any possibility of violence vanished with the arrival of the five policemen.

Pickets told police that Dick Withers, owner of the truck which carried the beer from a brewery company warehouse in Campbellford, 30 miles east of here, should be charged with transporting beer without a licence. Police said it was up to the union to lay the charge. No charge had been laid by this morning.

LEGION CALLED SCAB

Meanwhile, pickets hauled out placards bearing the pleading outside the Legion hall. One placard called Legion members "scabs". Barry Philp, organizer for the Peterborough Examiner, said a Legion member was threatened to smash his camera while he was taking photographs of the beer being unloaded. He was told he was trespassing and ordered to leave Legion property.

Philp then went to the quarters of the Peterborough Press Club on the third floor of the Legion Hall, and took photographs of the unloading from there.

Later Legion members refused to let members admittance to their club quarters, which are rented from the Legion.

Summer Stock Theatre Burns At Vineland

VINELAND, Ont. (CP)—Thousands of Queen Elizabeth Way travellers watched Tuesday night as fire destroyed the Garden Center Theatre, one of the most successful summer stock theatres in Eastern Canada.

Loss was estimated by owner John Prudhomme at $75,000 for the theatre and $25,000 for the contents. It was partially covered by insurance.

Fire units from St. Catharines, eight miles east of here, Port Dalhousie, Fruitland, Clinton Township and Beamsville fought the blaze, spotted about 8 p.m., as employee Hank Caspis, 21, swimming with cast members in nearby Lake Ontario, said he saw smoke and flames rising from a scenery workshop at the rear of the theatre. He telephoned Beamsville fire department.

The theatre records, Monday night's receipts from a performance of Tennessee Williams' Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, and a few pieces of furniture were saved. A 100-year-old barn was rebuilt in 1951 to establish the theatre and extensive renovations this year extended seating capacity to 500.

Royal Moon Rocket Next Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Man's first moon rocket may be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., next weekend, but none of the men in charge would say so for publication Tuesday.

The defence department, seeking to avoid advance publicity of interest, is keeping its moonshoot schedule closely guarded secret. Officially, the department's advanced research projects agency, in charge of the five moon probes already authorized, has said that the best times for a launching in the next month would be either next Sunday, Monday or Tuesday.

The moon rocket would have to leave before there would be another period of 24 hours of darkness at the earth and the moon are aligned to provide the best chances for success.

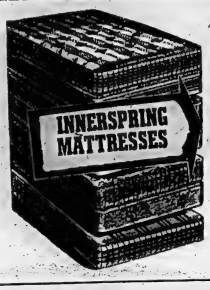
Princess Calls Canada Her 'Second Home'

Hope that she will soon return to Canada was voiced by Princess Margaret as she boarded her plane at Shannon airport, Halifax, for flight to London. In her final address, she called Canada her "second home."



"That woman next door call me a 'stupid old mule'. Wha shall I do?"

"Don't ask me, I'm not a vet.'

Navy Blimp Arrives at Home Base

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass. — The U.S. Navy blimp ZPG-2 arrived at its home base today after a scientific mission to the Arctic designed to test the usefulness of such lighter-than-air craft in research in polar areas.

During its voyage it visited a 45-square-mile floating ice island only 600 miles from the North Pole being used by U.S. government scientists as an observation post.

During the trip, the ZPG-2 dropped depth charges off the floating island to help the scientists determine ocean depths and other data. Such craft might make useful supply vessels in aiding Arctic research.

National Capital Area Will Be Put Under Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF member Erhart Regier said Monday Ottawa is not a capital city in which Canadians as a whole can take great pride.

He told the Commons he hopes this will be changed by proposed government legislation to establish a national capital commission to develop and improve the national capital area.

The Burnaby-Coquitlam member was speaking on a resolution, preceding introduction of a bill, to set up the commission and repeal the Federal District Commission Act. The commission would be placed in charge of a 20-year plan for beautifying Ottawa.

The measure, introduced by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, was supported by Opposition Leader Pearson, CCF House Leader Hazen Argue and members representing Ottawa Valley constituencies.

The resolution later was approved and a bill introduced and given first reading.

20-MEMBER COMMISSION

The bill proposes establishment of a 20-member commission to direct development of the national capital area. It would be headed by a paid chairman appointed by the government. There would also be a paid general manager. The commission would include one representative from each of the provinces, two from Ottawa, one from Hull, Que., and two others from Ottawa Valley municipalities.

Mr. Diefenbaker said enactment of the legislation would continue the concept of successive prime ministers and Parliaments since 1926 that Canada's capital "shall be one that will be a pride to all Canadians and will become an ever - increasing mecca for Canadians."

Mr. Regier hit hard at what he termed the lack of many facilities in Ottawa which are standard in other progressive Canadian cities.

He said many homes, mainly in the old lower town district a quarter-mile from the Parliament Buildings, are "slums" and "fire traps." Some homes should be condemned by electrical and health inspectors but the Ottawa "city council prefers to keep them in operation for the use of its welfare cases."

Slums no longer were necessary in Canadian cities, especially the national capital. Ottawa had no background of early industrial and waterfront development which could excuse current conditions.

New homes were being built in Ottawa without back alleys where garbage and ash cans could be collected. The lineup of garbage cans on the streets was an "eyesore."

Ottawa lacked modern thoroughfares, traffic lights were not synchronized, there were no modern parking lots or city parks and there was inadequate inspection of buildings by health and fire inspectors.

The school bell and buses will soon be busy again as school will soon be in full swing.

The WMS meeting at Mrs. Dafoe's was well attended. There were 17 members present, two children and one visitor. Mrs. Earl Dafoe-Foxboro, group leader, gave a fine talk, which all enjoyed. This was an evening meeting. It is hoped all will be out for the next meeting at Mrs. G. Moorman's.

Both Races Won In Straight Heats at Fair

The first day of racing for the Belleville Fair was held on Tuesday afternoon and the small crowd in the grandstand was highly pleased with the type of racing that was put on for the horses. During the past few years harness racing has made rapid strides throughout the province but apparently the youth of the present generation is not interested although at one time this city was the centre of racing enthusiasm.

Although the both races were decided in straight heats the racing was forceful and interesting. The patrons were given an extra thrill when a licensed woman driver was in the sulky of the second race. Rita Herrington who was practically brought up with a pair of lines in her hands was behind Les Attorney in the 2.24 class and although she finished second in both heats she gave a masterful performance and had her mount not been driven to a "break" in the second heat the result of the race might have been different.

Rex. Elgin, a silbe pacer from Campbellford, won both heats of the slow pace and was master of the situation throughout, although the horse raced on the outside practically both heats. In the 2.24 class Sharron Rexmown, teamed by Charlie Golligy of Kingston, was much the best. This mare has had a habit of stopping when the drive came but new training methods have improved her finishing kick and she was much the best all the afternoon.

The races are under the direction of James Barber as chairman with Dr. Burns, Cam Bunnett and Brock Burley as committee members. Mr. Bunnett did the starting and the Mitchell starting gate from Brighton was used. The track was not fast due to the tearing up of the surface on Civic Holiday by the motorcycles but the committee has it back in fair shape and should be good and fast for the last two days of racing. The results were:—

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Watched by 7,785 fans, Mrs. Carl Lawson's Unity Guitar Tuesday repeated a victory he scored at Fort Erie last week in the $3,000 claiming level.

It was his fourth win in eight starts this year.

Unity Guitar won the featured Order of Alhambra Purse, beating such better regarded horses as Seven Seven, which finished third. Doris Ator, another surprise, was second.

Jockey Gene Rodriguez, returning after a 10-day suspension, rode both ends of a $106.50 double. He won the first with Miss Chey and the second with Townline.

DOUBTFUL QHL ENTRY

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiations for Sherbrooke's entry in the Quebec Hockey League appparently have broken down over arrangements for the season there, a spokesman for the QHL said Tuesday. Sherbrooke, former league member, has been out of the circuit several seasons. Both Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League were prepared to furnish a supply of players for the new QHL entry.

Aussie Tennis Brass Suspends Mervyn Rose

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia Tuesday night suspended Davis Cup star Mervyn Rose indefinitely for failure to furnish information concerning his expenses on an overseas tour this year.

Rose, now in Germany was declared ineligible to play in further amateur tournaments "during LTAA's pleasure." A cable from the LTAA to the International Lawn Tennis Federation said the suspension will continue until Rose supplies information about his expenses.

At the same time the LTAA cleared Mal Anderson, Australian holder of the American singles championships, of a charge of receiving excessive expense payments in America.

The Big One Got Away With Three

OTTAWA (CP) — Fishing has been good in the Ottawa area this summer.

Mrs. Francis Lamorie of Arnprior, angling in the Ottawa River, caught a 10-inch black bass and hung it over the side of her boat. There was a splash and she pulled in a 30-inch northern pike.

But the prize story comes through the Ontario lands department which reports the experience of Gordon Forbes of Oxford Mills, who hung a catch of two pike and a pickerel on a chain over his boats side while fishing in the Rideau River.

There was a big splash and a roil on the surface of the water. The fish and all but 10 inches of the chain were gone.

CHATHAM PEE-WEES WIN

CHATHAM (CP) — Chatham Kinsmen pee wee all-stars successfully defended their Western Counties pee wee baseball title Tuesday by scoring a 13-3 victory over Sarnia Pee Wees. Chatham won the best-of-three series with two straight games.

Leafs Gain Another Game On Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With three running out Toronto Maple Leafs were drawing already head on first place in the International League and the Montreal Royals.

The Leafs wouldn't quit Tuesday night, outlasting Columbus in 10 innings as Rocky Nelson clipped in with his 37th and 38th home runs. The Royals, who must protect a slim 3½ - game edge for the next three weeks, lost a 10-inning, 4-3 decision to Richmond.

Rochester defeated Miami 3-0 and Buffalo Bisons defeated Havana 3-1 in a regularly scheduled game after the Cubans scored a 7-6 victory in the conclusion of a June 6 suspended game.

Toronto, which had three home runs by Stan Job and a solo shot by Nelson in Monday's victory, used this same combo Tuesday. Nelson and Job combined for five RBI as reliever Bob Tiegreen stretched his record to 12-6.

Jim Pendelton hit a three-run homer for Columbus to help tie in the ninth.

A throwing error by catcher Dick Gaitta with runners on second and third and none out gave the Vees their victory over Montreal. Jackie Collum lost, while Johnny James was the winner. Cletis Boyer hit his 19th homer for Richmond.

John Anderson's swansong for Miami was a loser as Gary Blaylock struck out 11 and walked only one for his ninth victory in 20 decisions. Anderson was recalled earlier in the day by Philadelphia Phillies, who sent Bob Miller to the Marlins.

Fred Hahn scattered five hits as the Bisons scored their runs off loser Rodolfo Arias in the first three innings. Ray Noble hit his 13th homer of the year, with a man on in the third for Buffalo.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Since Roy Harris, the pride of Cut 'N Shoot, signed to fight Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight title on August 18, Texas hillbilly community of some 200 souls has had more publicity than Khrushchev running for the president of the United States.

Next Monday night, the story goes, a barefoot parade of ham-fisted backwoodsmen, hickory-armed moonshiners, arm-in-arm, bare-legged girls, crawling children, babes-in-arms, hogs, hound-dogs and alligators will be headed in the direction of the nearest drive-in for the fight. All except the sheriff—he'll be locked up for his own protection.

Sprawling Montgomery county's 28,000 souls will be rootin' Roy to the tilts. If he loses, that drive-in is liable to be cut to bits because folks there won't believe in television. The Harris clan has been winning fights ever since Grandpa Cunsin' Harris, who fathered 16, came there from Oklahoma in 1913.

It says here that while Roy resents being depicted as a hillbilly, he makes no bones about the fearsome deeds of his family. They don't back off from no man — and they don't lie.

Cunsin' had three sons. Big Henry (that's Roy's dad), Jack and Bob, were all big brutes, the best rough-and-tumble fighters in the region. Big Henry was over 6-3 and 240 pounds, twice kayoed the heavyweight champ of the south. He mowed down all the opposition he could find.

On one of Bob's better afternoons he is supposed to have laid out a couple of dozen men with an axe-handle. "Don't know how many we got," Big Henry told a reporter. "I remember they took 16 to hospital. After is was over there was a hell of brown hair here, a tuft of black hair there, and teeth over there. Looking over the ground you'd think men fought over it for ten hours. The fight lasted ten minutes."

One night Bob was set upon by a gang of rivens who were going around beating up people. They circled him with a car jack and a knife. Bob then jumped on him on the ground and started knifing him. Bob opened his knife with his teeth and pretty near cut the fellow's head off. He got up and started running around like a chicken for about 15 feet and then fell dead. Bob, with 13 deep cuts in his body wasn't expected to live, but he pulled through.

Roy is the second oldest of three boys and all are fighters. Tobe had two of 28 fights as a light-heavy. Little Harry, 20, is still an amateur, but has scored a knockdown on Roy in a sparring session.

When Roy was twelve he became the ambitious Tobe's reluctant sparring partner. Soon a ring was built and a crowd drawn and all the ragged boys of the area came over staging bouts that lasted to midnight by the light of a gas-well flare. Roy got so good he became champ of the fights in the Harris clan, and, when he was 18, was fighting in a bootleg card at a roadhouse.

When Roy and Tobe entered the Golden Gloves they collaborated in a colorful publicity stunt for Cut 'N Shoot. They let their hair and whiskers grow and entered the ring out-of britches instead of trunks. Then they were barbered in the ring. Roy fought in the Gloves four years, winning the 156 and 175-pound titles. He just missed facing Patterson at the Chicago championships when he had a virus attack.

Harris has won 12 straight as a pro with nine knockouts. He gained No. 3 rating with his defeat of windmill Willie Pastrano at Houston a year ago. He got off the canvas to beat Bob Baker and also has decisioned Joe Rowan.

He is said to be a terrific physical specimen, a rock-hard 6-1, 190-pounder, who has been boxing since he was twelve. He is now the quiet man of the family who has never smoked nor drank and who avoids cuss-words.

He is said to be irritated by the backwoods build-up since he is a graduate of Sam Houston State College, a teacher in the local public school and a reserve lieutenant of artillery. He is the only churchgoer of the Harris menfolks. If he makes money at prize-fighting he will buy more land in Cut 'N Shoot.

Meanwhile Patterson has been training quietly and will be "up" for the fight. He is taking no chances. He will meet a man who has never been on TV, is said to be a cautious fighter with a bag of experience, a wary-eye and when angered will turn tiger. Monday night will tell the tale.

Pirates Under Full Sail; Mantle Takes Homer Lead

Bucs Plank-Walk Braves Stretch Win-Spurt to Six; Mick Hits Circuit Clout 33

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when Milwaukee's world champs looked to have that National League pennant race under control up pops Pittsburgh to upset the Braves' bosses.

The Pirates, usually stone cold dead at this stage, ran their winning spurt to six games, took over second place and trimmed Milwaukee's lead to five games Tuesday night by beating the Braves 10-6.

Rookie right - hander George Witt blanked the champs on two hits, although it wasn't as easy as it sounds. It was his first major league shutout and gave the Bucs a sweep of the two-game series at Pittsburgh.

St. Louis skidded San Francisco to third by beating the Giants 7-3. Cincinnati belted Philadelphia 12-4 and Chicago Cubs smacked Los Angles 9-3.

HOMER HELPS

Witt had to struggle for his sixth victory until Frank Thomas unloaded his 25th homer with a man on in the sixth off loser Bob Rush (6-6). Then Bucs then put it away with eight in the eighth.

Witt's big trouble was in the second inning when Gene Torre lifted a pop fly to left that fell for a double and the Braves' first hit when Bob Skinner lost it in the lights. Then Witt, who walked four, hit Johnny Logan with a pitch, loading the bases with one out. Rush then bunted, Witt scooped up the ball and flipped to catcher Danny Kravitz for a home-to-first doubleplay.

The Bucs have won 17 of their last 22 as they open a 19-game road trip at Philadelphia tonight.

WIN, EIGHT IN NINE

The Cards made it eight out of nine by overcoming a 3-1 Giants lead with a pair of unearned runs in the seventh. Sam Jones won 10th, fanning seven but walking eight while matching loser Mike McCormick's six-hit job.

Jim Bolger hit a two-run triple and Lee Walls socked a two-run homer as the Cubs scored five runs in the third at Los Angeles. Walls also hit a solo homer in the ninth, his 22rd of the season. Dick Drott won his fifth.

The Redlegs bagged it with a six-run sixth, capped by Bob Thurman's three-run double, at Philadelphia. Tom Acker gave up eight hits for his first victory. Wally Post hit a two-run pinch homer in the ninth for the Phils, while Frank Robinson hit his 31st homer for the Reds.

Girl, 12, Ousts Canada's Top Tennis Junior

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's junior tennis stars were showing the way in top classes as Canadian championships today moved into their hottest stages.

Six Canadians were among the eight junior women quarter-finalists, and nine among the junior men quarter-finalists.

The quarter-finals of all six singles competitions — junior men's and women's, girls' and boys', and juvenile girls' and boys'— were being played today.

The 10 - day championships— played annually at the Rideau Overbrook — could end Friday night if ideal weather continues.

ONE UPSET

The tournament's one major upset to date was Tuesday when Little Julie (Tiger) Heldman, 12-year-old New York City student of Hamtramck, Mich., junior high school ousted Sharon Caldwell of Toronto, Canada's top junior woman, 7-5, 1-6, 6-3 in a third-round junior women's match.

However, a brownhaired Victoria youngster was holding up the Canadian end.

Young Vicki Berner has reached the quarter-finals of the juvenile girls' singles, girls' singles and junior women's singles to lead the Canadian players.

She upset third-ranked American Linda Tabor of Syracuse, N.Y., 6-4, 6-4 Tuesday to reach the juvenile women's quarters, downed Marmee Wilson of Buffalo 6-2, 6-4 to enter the juvenile girls' quarter-finals; and then defeated Faye Urban of Windsor 6-4, 6-4 for a girls' quarter-final berth.

Gerald Dubie, 18, of Hanover, and Yvon Leblanc, 17, of Marieville, Que., the top-seeded foreign and Canadian junior men, led the way into the quarter-finals with fourth-round triumphs Tuesday.

Dubie easily whipped Warren Deane of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-1, 6-1. LeBlanc scored a 6-2, 6-3 victory over John Laser of Chicago.

Knudson Beats Moe Norman

TORONTO (CP) — George Knudson, 22 - year - old assistant pro at Toronto Oakdale, won the 54-hole annual Canadian tournament Tuesday with an extra-hole win over Moe Norman of Toronto Deltaviland.

Knudson, formerly of Winnipeg, fanned the first extra hole when Norman blew his chances with three putts and a one-over par. They had finished the 54 holes over the Don Valley municipal course tied for first place at 215, one - under - par. The extra hole was only necessary for the records, the three low scorers each receiving $1,500 to tour the United States professional golf circuit this winter.

MAY NOT GO

Bill Mavelinev, formerly of Vancouver and now a pro at Burlington, finished in the money with a total score of 218. But he said he may not be able to make the tour because of winter golf school commitments at his home club and may have to forfeit the prize money.

South Hastings Baseball League

Latta's baseball club earned its way into the South Hastings league finals by defeating Tweed last night by edging Foxboro 9-7 in the fifth and deciding game of their semi-final series.

They will meet the winners of the Carnahan-Read series for the championship. That set is also tied at two games each with fifth tilt scheduled for the Read diamond this evening.

Latta came from behind to win it last night, scoring four runs in the sixth inning.

Pitt started on the winners' mound but was way to Read in the second inning. They allowed 14 hits while fanning three and walking five. Stewart and Mann shared the Foxboro pitching chore, tagged for 13 hits, whiffing five and walking the same number.

Frank Ray led the victors at the plate with two doubles and a single. Wayne Gowe doubled once and singled twice with Chumbley getting a brace of one-baggers.

Mann starred for Foxboro with two doubles and two singles while Robinson hit a pair of singles. Reynolds and Mottas each had two.

Indians Deny Moving Teepee To Minneapolis

CLEVELAND (AP)—It's an old and frequently denied story—the Cleveland Indians are moving to Minneapolis.

Hartled Indians' officials were called on Tuesday for another denial. They obliged.

Hank Bragan, dismissed recently as Tribe field manager, broached the subject. Commented Bragan:

"I feel they're going to move. They've got to."

The he jabbed a tender spot—the Indians' dwindling attendance.

At Cleveland ball games you're lucky to get 10,000 people than 20,000 and a major league team needs a few 30,000s to crack the nut."

Bragan's comments brought no response from the Indians' brass beyond denying the move.

Sports Centre Hands Scare To Not-So-Terrible Tabbies

"Thunk" Young, a veteran of the Belleville and District softball league's few years back, returned to the loop with a bang last night as the Bobcats squeezed out a 9-8 victory over the Sports Centre at CNIBA Park.

The close win was a moral victory for Sports Centre, first place club in the City Commercial league, who are battling with Bobcats for the right to represent Belleville in the OASA Intermediate "AA" playdowns. Second game in the three-of-five set is slated for Thursday evening at 6.45.

Young who came on in relief to hurl for Sports Centre in the second frame was the hero of the game. Bobcats were walking away with the contest, leading 5-0 and had the bases loaded when Young took over bill duties from Stu Craig.

Bert Faulkner was the first man to face him and the Bobcat outfielder hit a dribbler off the end of his bat for a single, making it 7-1. The other runner came across the plate on an error for an 8-1 score before Young retired the next man.

And from then on Temple's Tabbies did not touch Young's plants for a base hit. While he was throwing hitless ball over the last 6 1/3 innings, Young's mates tallied seven times to retire up on the wrong end of the 9-8 score.

Starter Craig had little control and Bobcats used three walks, an error, two wild pitches, a passed ball and Floyd Crawford's three - run homer for a 4-0 lead in the initial frame. Sports Centre got one back to open the second when St. Denis walked and circled the paths on passed balls and wild pitches.

A leadoff walk got the Bobcats away again in the second and Don Barclay followed with a trinle. Don Locke's single scored him and Craig walked two more before Young was hailed from the bullpen. Craig was charged with all the runs off four hits, fanning one and walking six in 1 2/3 innings. Young whiffed five and vassed an equal number over the remainder.

Bob Green was the winning hurler, going 6 1/3 frames before giving way to "Step" Guidolin. They were tagged for eight hits, Green giving up seven runs while whiffing six and walking eight.

Sports Centre plated four in the fifth on two walks, Gary Little's triple with two scored and singles by St. Denis and Foster that made it 9-5.

Another walk and hits by "Shiner" Murray and Bob Brooks chased Green and cut the margin to 9-7 in the seventh. A free ticket and Foster's single made it 9-8 in the ninth but he underdogs fell one run short as Cornell hit into a Fielder's choice to end the contest.

Floyd Crawford homered, Don Barclay had two hits and Don Locke and Bert Faulkner singled to account for all Bobcats' safeties. Bill Foster with two singles and Gary Little with a triple and single paced Sports Centre with the wood. Doug Murray, "Shiner" Murray, Bob Brooks and St. Denis also had one-baggers.

Marksmen Enter Fourth Day Rifle Shoot

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont. (CP)—The week-long Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches today entered their fourth day. Excellent weather so far has generally meant high scores and a large number of tie-breaking shootoffs after several riflemen had perfect scores in main matches.

Shootoffs were needed Tuesday to decide top places in two main matches—the President's at 600 yards and the Connaught at 300.

The President's shoot-off was an all-British Columbia competition, with Sgt. Earl Jamieson, 52-year - old Victoria draftsman, beating two other members of the B.C. team at these ranges near Ottawa.

All three fired 73 points of possible 75 to force the shoot-off.

Heather (Annie Oakley) Mellor, 36, of St. James, Man., won a shoot-off against eight competitors. All had made, perfect 75-point scores in the Connaught match.

Army Sgt. Larry Fish of Oakville, Ont., shot 174 of a possible 175 points to win the J. Fenning-Lee Mayberson Trophy for the highest aggregate score in Connaught and Macdougall matches.

The Ross Rifle Trophy for infantry gold team won the Aylmer Guard competition for four-member military unit teams, shooting 386 points of a possible 400.

Kingston Rink Wins Ontario Bowling Title

TORONTO (CP)—Dick Edney skipped a Kingston rink to victory in the Ontario provincial lawn bowling championships Tuesday night to record the first triumph in the Eaton Gold Cup for a Kingston entry.

Edney led all the way in the 18-end final against Tom Patterson of Toronto Globe Mastor to run up a 26-10 victory.

It was the Kingston bowler's first rink championship after 16 years in the provincial tournament.

Jack Reed took his London rink to victory in the Robert Simpson trophy with a 23-17 win over Bill McDonald of Hamilton after being 16-5 down at the 18th end.

The Pilot Insurance Trophy went to Andy McDonald of Hamilton who ousted W. Wert of Ottawa 11-13 and Jim McArthur of Oarville took the Parker Pen Trophy with a 14-10 win over Tommy Mawson of Toronto Glebe Manor.

Edney came within striking distance of the championship with a narrow 15-14 edge over semi-finalist Nelli Salkeld of Caledonia.

Ox Pointers Defeat Cobourg To Sweep District Finals

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Point Anne gained possession of the Belleville and District softball league championship and the Bill Ott Trophy for the 1958 season in Cobourg last night by defeating the Merchants 7-4 to complete a sweep of the loop playoffs.

Cobourg enters the OASA Intermediate "B" playdowns while Point Anne will participate in the Intermediate "A" series, meeting Kingston in the opening game at the Point Saturday evening at 6.30.

The winners jumped into an early 5-0 lead last night, scoring three in the first and another pair in the second. Then Cobourg took over to cut the margin to 5-4 with single markers in the third and fourth and two in the fifth. They threatened in the score and go ahead several times but it was the champions who scored twice in the eighth to nail away the victory and title.

Al Gilmour hurled the victory win, his second of the series on the Cobourg diamond. He scattered seven hits over the distance and was helped out of trouble on a couple of occasions by sparkling double plays by his mates. The right-hander fanned batter and walked four.

Rolly Campbell was a surprise starter for the home crew and went the route for the loss. Jim "Sleepy" Hawe was not in the game. The Pointers racked Campbell's slants for 12 safeties as he fanned four and passed six.

An error at first base got Cobourg off to a bad start as the game opened. Pat Gilmour and Jackie Elliott, Jr., promptly hit singles and Johnny Batchelor doubled home two runs. Gary Goyer's single made it 3-0 as Point Anne's revamped batting order went to work. The realignment were minus shortstop Doug Hall, third baseman Jackie Wardhaugh and left fielder Dave Jones.

A free ticket, singles by Gilmour and Batchelor and Elliott Jr.'s fielder's choice made it 5-0 in the second.

Two walks and Dick Turpin's single got one back for Cobourg then in the fourth, pitcher Campbell slammed a home run through the outfield hole to make it 5-3. Hits by McSporran, Jim Hart and Campbell again narrowed the margin to 5-4. They came close to tying the score in the next two frames but a beautiful double play by Gilmour to Kingston killed the threat.

Point Anne got a pair of insurance markers in the eighth when two walks with two men out was followed by Jackie Elliott Jr.'s fluke triple. A walk with one out kept Cobourg's hopes alive in the ninth but the younger Elliott ended the game by spearing Jim Hart's line drive to right field and doubling the runner off first base.

Johnny Batchelor had a double and two singles to pace the batters while both he and Elliott Jr. drove in three runs. Elliott tripled and singled. Pat Gilmour and Garry Goyer each getting two singles. Chuck Kingston, Cam Buskard and Carkner split the other safeties. Campbell with a homer and Hill single led Cobourg while Dick Turpin doubled and singled. Leo O'Brien, Scotty McSporran and Jim Hart also singled.

Sports Greats Swap Speeches With Politicos at Ottawa

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Over roast chicken and ice cream with raspberry sauce, some pros at politics swapped yarns Tuesday with some old greats from the hockey world.

Newsy Lalonde, Lester Patrick and Syd (Cyclone) Taylor shared lunch in a Parliament Building office for 1904 victory that Minister Diefenbaker and a dozen or so other MPs.

Lalonde, like the two other former hockey greats now in his 70s, described it as "a great occasion — wonderful."

"You're the greatest speakers that we've had around here in a long time," the prime minister told them when they'd all made their speeches.

The three stopped off here on their way to Renfrew, Ont., where all played for Renfrew Millionaires hockey team, around 1910. They plan to attend centennial celebrations there today.

Lalonde was a cheer from the Progressive Conservative MPs with an offhand reference to re-cent sign-posting increases by the government.

"You know," he said to the prime minister, "you did wonderful things for us boys over 70. You're a big help." Newsy is 71.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he remembered Newsy — who during the 1920s was playing-manager of the Saskatoon Sheiks in the prime minister's home province of Saskatchewan — when "the days of modern hockey was bockey".

In more serious vein, he told the three oldtimers: "The legendary nature of your performances is still an inspiration to all the Canadian sport."

Taylor, now 74, the same one as Patrick, said he doesn't know how good he and the other two were in their day.

"We'll never know — but we loved to play. . . . The hours were all too short."

Art Carney Will Not Be With Gleason This Season

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Art Carney had a difficult decision to make this summer.

Jackie Gleason, asked him to come back with him on a regular basis when he launches his new CBS-TV show this fall.

After much mediation, Carney turned down Gleason's offer because he wished to freelance a variety of roles.

The first result of his decision is that he will appear on television next month as Elwood P. Dowd in the Show of the Month (CBS-TV) adaptation of Mary Chase's comedy, Harvey.

TAKES COURAGE

It takes a kind of courage for an actor to turn down weekly employment in television this coming season.

"I'm not appearing on a regular basis with Gleason in the coming season. It's the sort of decision I hope I believe that Gleason understands. If I signed on a regular basis, I'd be tied down, and I want to be free to do guest appearances.

"I'm going to miss working with Gleason. I like working with him and we worked well as a team. There's nothing small about Jackie Gleason in size, in quality or in generosity. I hope that this season he'll ask me to do a guest shot with him once in a while."

Carney is enthusiastic about his role in Harvey which he played for a couple of weeks in summer stock a year ago.

Tina Louise Says Workout A Day Keeps Bulges Away

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tina Louise, who has one of the finest figures to grace the movie scene in many moons, does it by lifting weights.

That's right. I'm not saying that you dolls can have figures like Tina's if you work out in the gym every day; you've got to give nature some credit.

But Tina argues that you also have to give nature some help. And that means working up a sweat.

But is it ladylike to sweat?

"Oh, I do it in the gym, where there are no men around," she replied. "You've got to sweat or it just doesn't feel right."

WEIGHTS AWAY

Her formula: A workout a day keeps the bulges away.

"I'm a new woman since I discovered exercise," Tina said, though I'm sure there was nothing awry about the old one (She's 26). "I try to get to the gym every day. If I can't, I do some exercises with bar bells in my dressing room.

"I don't believe in those machines that do the exercise for you. I think you have to do the work for yourself, both to get the most out of it and to feel good about it.

"I concentrate mostly on exercises from the waist down, since that is the laziest part of a woman's body. Leg pushups (pushing up suspended weights), deep knee bends, things like that."

NO MUSCLES

But doesn't she face the danger of developing unsightly muscles?

"No, silly," she chided, "women don't get muscles. We're not built that way."

Broadway patrons found nothing wanting in Tina's shape when she playde Appassionata von Climax in "Li'l Abner." Yet that was before she discovered exercise.

"I could have done a much better job in the show if I had worked out," she said. "Some nights I went onstage practically shaking from nervousness. I was a wreck. But now that I exercise, I lose all that tension. There is no better feeling than after you've had a good workout."

It's a workout that Tina has time for the bar bells these days. Her stage triumph attracted Hollywood, and she scored as the southern temptress in Cole's Little Acre. Now she's playing opposite Richard Widmark in The Trap.

Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP) — Claiming races for standard-bred horses were run at Old Woodbine Park for the first time Tuesday night but the innovation failed to excite the horsemen.

Racing secretary Court Smith booked a 6½-furlong trot as a claiming event in the sixth race but not a single claim was in the box at closing time, 15 minutes before the race.

Claiming prices varied on the individual trotters, ranging from $600 to $1,200, but these prices apparently were too high.

The race was taken by Volo Reina, owned by Jack Bannerman of Stratford and driven by Allan McManus, who won by a nose over the fast - closing J. Chips, owned by Meadowview Farms of Orono.

In the feature, a band C class pace, Danny Brook M., which set a Canadian record of 36.2 seconds for a half mile the last time out, went to the top again this time by a good 10 lengths but couldn't hang on. The nine-year-old horse owned by Mrs. Carrie Fox of Sault Ste. Marie and driven by veteran Bill Harvey went the half in 1:01.1.

Billy Easter, owned and driven by Ed Giles of Orangeville won the race, catching Danny Brook M. in the stretch and going on to a three-and-a-half-length win in 2:06.2.

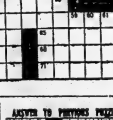
Gold Trophy Race Scheduled For Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE — Canada's top-ranking speed boat drivers will congregate at Huntsville's Fairy Lake on Sunday, August 24, where five will be selected to represent the Dominion in the Prince Philip Duke of York speed boat race for a $10,000 gold trophy donated by the late King George VI. The Duke of York race will be run over the Fairy Lake course on August 30 and 31st, the winner taking the coveted trophy back to his own country until it comes up for competition again.



Stern opposition can be expected by the Canadian marine speed merchants, since the Huntsville race is handled by Huntsville's Art Asbury, a young man who specialized in a world mark of 184.54 miles per-hour in Miss Supertest II at Picton, Ontario, last fall.

Competing with Asbury for a place on the Canadian Duke of York five-boat team will be Bill Braden of Hamilton in his 266 Class, Aerial IV; Chuck Irish of Hamilton with his sleek Cheetah, a 225 Class boat, Toronto's David Norton with Grasshopper, a 225 class craft, Mayor Jack Langmuir of Brockville with his Cosigliere, 225 Class boat and Norman McLaren of Arnprior

EDGAR REPRESENTS IKE

CALGARY (CP) — President Eisenhower will be represented by his brother Edgar at the unveiling of a memorial plaque commemorating the saming of Sir John Paul Eisenhower to Banff National Park Aug. 24.

Shippers Criticize Sale Of Eight CNS Vessels to Cuban Firm for $2,800,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale of eight deep-sea Canadian ships to Cuban interests has sparked a lively reaction among union and shipping representatives.

From Montreal and Ottawa, observations were provoked in the Commons announcement Tuesday that the eight Canadian National Steamships vessels, distributed in months, have been sold for $2,800,000 to Banco Cubano del Commercio Exterior, Cuba's foreign trade bank.

In Montreal, Hal Banks, Canadian head of the Seafarers' International Union (CLC), said he will fight the sale "to the end." The ships have been out of action since July 4, 1957, as a result of a SIU-called strike.

In the Commons, Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) asked Transport Minister Hees, who announced the sale, whether the minister is presiding over the "liquidation" of the Canadian merchant fleet. Mr. Hees replied the transaction has been "successful and well completed" by the steamship company.

Outside the House, a blunt comment came from W. J. Fisher, general manager of the Canadian Shipowners Association. Speaking from his Ottawa home, Mr. Fisher said Canadian shipping men are "quite amazed" that the ships have been sold to a "foreign government" to compete with Canadian enterprise.

The ships formerly were operated in the West Indies run. They now will go on the Canada-Cuba-West Indies service, using Halifax and Montreal as Canadian ports.

J. Campbell, president of the Halifax Longshoremen's Association (CLC), welcomed the prospect of resumption of business for the port but added a gloomy comment: "It's a sad day in Canadian history when we see ourselves without an adequate merchant service."

The announcement by Mr. Hees said the Canadian Government approved the sale. Terms of payment are 20 per cent now and the remainder in five equal annual instalments guaranteed by the Bank of America.

Mr. Chevrier, former Liberal transport minister, said the Canadian Maritime Commission has recommended 1 h a l Canada's ocean-going fleet should not drop below 750,000 deadweight tons. With the sale of the CNS ships, the fleet fell to less than one-third of this target.

Mr. Hees said all considerations were taken into account in trying to keep the CNS fleet intact and under Canadian registry, but "it was found impossible to do so."

All CNS officers were offered employment in the transport department, Mr. Hees said. Some accepted, some retired and some took other employment. Pension rights had been protected.

The SIU strike resulted after the union asked for a 55-per-cent wage increase for its 800 members. It lowered the demand to 20 per cent after the company offered 15 per cent, but the gap could not be bridged.

Bill Easing Death Duties Finally Approved by House

OTTAWA (CP)—A government bill easing the death duties on large estates was approved by the Commons Tuesday. It will take effect on problems.

William Benidickson (L—Kenora-Rainy River) said he is "very disappointed" with Finance Minister Fleming because tax reductions afforded by the new legislation will not become effective this fiscal year which ends next March 31.

Mr. Benidickson said Mr. Fleming certainly threw out his cheer considerably in speeches last December and June about tax savings. Now, it looked as though the "advertised" benefits would not be available for some time.

WON'T SHELVE BILL

Mr. Fleming replied he has never said reductions would take effect this year. But there was no question of "shelving" the bill, as Mr. Benidickson suggested.

The new Estate Tax Act provides for a flat $40,000 exemption on all estates and continues a provision that tax shall not be levied unless an estate totals more than $50,000.

Thus there would be no tax on a $50,000 estate and estates beyond that figure would receive the $40,000 exemption. Widows will be exempted from death duties on estates up to $60,000.

Exemptions of $10,000 are allowed for each dependent child of a widow or infirm widower, and $15,000 for each dependent child orphaned by the death.

The new legislation is expected to affect 4,000 estates a year. This involves about two per cent of the 300,000 deaths occurring in Canada annually.

Oscar J. Godin (L—Nickel Belt) said the exemption for surviving children do not take into account the age of the child, except that it must be under 21.

"In other words," he said, "the exemption is the same for a father who leaves three children ranging from say 16 years of age to 30 and for a father leaving three children whose ages range from two to five years."

Mr. Fleming urged Canadians to examine their wills with the new act in mind. Wills containing a provision that federal and provincial liability should be paid out of estate would probably require no change, but wills without such a stipulation would "require alteration" if tax were to be charged against all the successors rather than only against those succeeding to the residue of the estate.

AFTER METER THIEVES

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The city, after losing $1,000 to parking meter thieves this year, has decided to post a standing $100 reward for information leading to the conviction of persons breaking into meters. Eric E. Wing, traffic engineer, said Tuesday the thefts were professional. "They cut the head off one meter to fabricate a key and hit 90 meters the next night."

British Welcomes Eisenhower Plan For Middle East

Foreign Secretary Lloyd Gives Views at UN Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Britain today welcomed President Eisenhower's Middle East peace plan as a solid foundation for "reconciling our points of view" and achieving constructive results.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd urged the UN General Assembly emergency session to request the secretary-general to take "the necessary steps in consultation with the governments concerned to help maintain the independence and integrity of Jordan and Lebanon and to create conditions Anglo-American forces could be withdrawn.

Addressing the 81 - member world forum on the second day of its Middle East debate, he said he would also hope the assembly would seek to further longer-term objectives.

UN'S RESPONSIBILITY

"The assembly should reaffirm the responsibility resting upon the United Nations to deal with the problem of indirect aggression," Lloyd said.

While throwing Britain's full support behind Eisenhower's five point plan for bringing political and economic stability to the Middle East, Lloyd expressed sharp disappointment over the statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in the opening Soviet speech.

Lloyd began his speech by referring to a remark by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold that the UN can serve as an instrument of negotiations among governments.

"If I may say so," he said, "I thought that President Eisenhower's address yesterday was an admirable introduction to such an endeavor. His fine speech with its constructive and imaginative proposals must mean warmth welcomed."

"I must, however, frankly confess that I was disappointed by the tone and substance of the speech of the Soviet foreign minister."

SUPPORTS U.S. PLAN

Lloyd supported Eisenhower's proposals for economic development of the Middle East, the monitoring of radio propaganda, and the creation of a permanent United Nations police force.

"I believe that the existence of such a permanent force could well described as a 'standby United-Nations peace force' could make possible quick action in an

Seven Youths For Line-up

TORONTO (CP)—Seven youths were charged Wednesday night with possession of offensive weapons and will be placed in a line-up for possible identification by persons who have been robbed of cash-and Riverdale Park recently.

The youths were in custody in age from 16 to 27, attached Detective David Walkenden with two-by-fours through which they had their leader shouted "get him."

They turned on him after he rushed to the defence of a man sitting on the bench, whom the gang had robbed of a few singled out for an attack. The detective pulled his gun to defend himself.

British Bank Rate Reduced

LONDON (AP) — The British bank rate was reduced today to 4½ per cent from five.

The reduction, the first since June 19, will mean cheaper loans and freer circulation of money.

It is a further sign of confidence on the part of the Conservative government that the battle inflation under control.

The reduction was the fourth in five months. The new rate is the lowest since February, 1955, and compares with a rate of seven per cent imposed last September when industry pressure was at their peak.

The bank rate is set by the Bank of England and represents the interest the bank charges on money it makes available to other financial institutions. Reducing it makes money cheaper to borrow all around and is a spur to business.

Balloon Builder Hurt, Flight Is Postponed

ASHLAND, Wis. (AP) — The crash of a helium balloon Wednesday night injured the balloon builder and a U.S. Air Force researcher who was preparing for a solo flight to test man's reaction to isolation in space. The test was postponed.

Capt. Grover Schoep, 32, and Otto Winzen, 40, suffered extensive injuries when their open gondola plunged to the 150 feet to the earth after they cut loose from the balloon as it headed out over Lake Superior.

They apparently released the gondola rather than be blown over the water in darkness. They smashed into a pasture half a mile inland when the parachute on the basket did not open.

The balloon ascended from South St. Paul, Minn., 175 miles southwest of Ashland, Wednesday morning. The flight was made so that Winzen could qualify Schock for a stratosphere takeoff.

Schock was scheduled to start his 30-mile flight Thursday from an open pit mine near Crosby, Minn.

Friday's flight was scheduled as the third in the Man High project that under way since May 1957. The initial flight and the second were made without incident.

Stelco Workers Endorse Action of Negotiators

Reject Offer Made By Steel Company

HAMILTON (CP) — Five thousand striking workers have unanimously endorsed their negotiating committee's rejection of a five-cent-an-hour package offer by the Steel Company of Canada.

They turned down the offer Wednesday. Company chairman C. G. Hillen virtually closed the door on settlement on any terms other than the five-cent deal.

In a letter to the company's 7,500 production workers, Mr. Hillen said: "The company will not be misled into thinking that the company has any more to offer, unless you urge your union to be realistic and settle the strike on the basis offered by the company, I am afraid all of us will have to face up to a long strike."

MEET AGAIN TODAY

Negotiators for the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) union were to meet today to discuss non-economic issues in dispute. Also to be discussed was the transfer to the union of responsibility for the costs of a health insurance program for the company's production employees.

The union has been demanding to enter the plant unhampered by company guards and limited inside the plant to maintain equipment, the strike seemed to be deadlocked on the issues of economic strength, and patience.

Negotiations started Sunday.

William Mahoney, the union's Canadian director, said Wednesday that the cents-an-hour basic rate in Canadian and United States steel plants would average $1.43½ an hour. Now, he said, the base rate at Stelco is $1.76½, and in the U.S. is $2.11. Stelco says its average hourly wage rate is overstated and actually is $2.30.

The company's offer was broken down by Mr. Hillen as an hourly wage increase of three cents; an improvement in the insurance program that would cost the company 2½ cents an hour; and the balance made up of extending vacation benefits to two weeks after 25 years of service.

The union says employees would get 11 cents an hour wage increase because the improved insurance program would cost the company 8½ cents an hour. The union wants a package settlement of 33 cents an hour.

Senator Hawkins Of Nova Scotia Dies Suddenly

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Charles G. Hawkins of Milford Station, N.S., died suddenly here early today. He was first appointed to the Senate as a Liberal since 1945.

His death reduces the Liberal membership in the 102-seat upper chamber to 58. There are 11 Progressive Conservatives, two independents, one Social Credit and seven vacancies. The vacancies include two each in Ontario and Quebec, one each in Alberta, Newfoundland and New Brunswick.

A lumberman, Senator Hawkins held posts and directorates in a number of companies connected with the lumber business and with the manufacture of construction materials industries. He also was a governor of the University of Sydney, Nova Scotia and of the Nova Scotia Research Foundation.

Three More Explosions Rip Buildings in Okanagan Valley

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Three buildings were shattered by explosions in widely separated parts of British Columbia's Okanagan Valley today. No injuries were reported.

Heavily damaged were post office buildings at Oliver and a professional building at Vernon. The explosions took place at about the same time.

Osoyoos is about 35 miles south of Penticton on the United States border. Oliver is 10 miles north of Osoyoos. Vernon is 30 miles northern end of the valley, miles north of Penticton.

The explosions were the latest in a series that have occurred in the Okanagan and the Kootenays during the last half-year. They have been blamed on the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.

Police are expected to announced soon by which British Columbia and the federal government will share the cost of moving the Sons of Freedom back to Russia, their ancestral homeland. The fanatical sect numbers about 2,500.

The Freedomites have resisted integration into the Canadian community. They refused to send their children to Canadian schools contending that the schools teach militarism.

Chief Architect 'Annoyed' Former Liberal Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Chief architect E. A. Gardiner of the federal works department testified today that former works equip minister E. P. Murphy became "annoyed" when told in 1952 certain changes would have to be made in federal printing bureau plans submitted by Montreal architect Ernest Cormier.

Mr. Gardiner told the Commons public accounts committee that when he submitted proposed changes suggested by department chief engineer he was called into Mr. Murphy's office and instructed to "get on with the job" and call tenders within a week.

Mal. - Gen. Hugh A. Young, present deputy works minister, testified that approval of the Dominion fire commissioner of the plans had not been obtained until seven years after designing started.

He wasn't brought into the picture until 1952, he said, and by this time construction was so far advanced that changes costing $106,961 had to be made to conform with the commissioner's recommendations.

Another $166,580 worth of changes came later at the request of the Queen's Printer, Edmond Cloutier, who asked for outside lighting, air conditioning and other additions and modifications when construction was near a end.

"As the committee's investigation into allegations of excessive printing bureau costs continued, W. Ross Macdonald (L—Bonaventure-Twillingate charged that members were violating the rules of Parliament by making public confidential reports from civil servants to the then Liberal works minister, Mr. Justice Alphonse Fournier.

Mr. Pickersgill said that as a member of the previous Liberal administration he had nothing to hide. He wanted the investigation to be complete in every way but the committee was establishing a precedent by making these reports public.

Grant Campbell (PC — Stormont) suggested the more important the point was that certain aspersions were being cast on the professional integrity of those who had to be taken to clear officials.

"I will not sacrifice civil servants in doing it," interjected Leon Crestohl (L — Montreal Cartier).

Teachers Told West Must Use Education Against Cold War

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—West must use every resource as a weapon in the cold war, Canadian teachers were told today.

The message came from two speakers at the 37th annual convention of the Canadian Education Association, and Kurt R. Swinton, chairman of the conference committee of the Canada Conference on Education.

They emphasized the role of teachers in an ideological battle that required equipment to permanent military defence.

Dr. Peake said that never before was the Christian and democratic world been called upon with such urgency to demonstrate its superior principles.

"We are wrestling with an ideology whose principles believe in it with a religious fervor. The question is: are we prepared to live with whether or not we can combat this system with an honest attitude towards our own beliefs.

"We must discard complacency and apathy. We must create a real and fervor for a system—and the principles upon which it has been based—which has pro-

Railway Unions To Take Stand Against Report

Hold Montreal Meet Next Thurs., Fri.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, largest of the non-operating group engaged in a dispute with the railways, will take a stand against accepting the report of the conciliation board that dealt with the issue, it was learned today.

Informants said top officials of the 30,000-member union will urge strongly against acceptance of the board's recommendations at a general meeting of negotiators for the 15 unions scheduled for Montreal Thursday and Friday.

The CBRE's membership constitutes almost one-quarter of the 130,000 workers involved in the dispute over wages and fringe benefits.

The big union's attitude, it was learned, was decided on at a meeting of its joint protective board, the governing body between triennial conventions.

NO FINAL DECISION YET

It was understood, that the board will not make a decision whether it would act independently should the majority of the unions decide to accept the findings of the three-man federal report.

In the event the general decision was not in line with the CBRE attitude, the protective board would be summoned into immediate emergency session to consider future action.

For several years, all of the operating group of unions have bargained together in a long

Goldfine Will Fight Citation Made by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard Goldfine, millionaire friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, intends to fight a contempt of Congress citation issued for challenging House of Representatives investigators.

Lawyers for the Boston industrialist presented the House Wednesday night after the House voted 369 to 8 to cite Goldfine for refusal to answer 22 questions, mostly about his financial dealings with a Boston company he controls.

Goldfine, who recently spent eight days in a House investigating committee following disclosures that he had given valuable gifts to Adams, balked on grounds the questions were irrelevant.

Although Goldfine balked at several subcommittee questions, he previously denied that his friendship with Adams got him preferred tegement from the Securities Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission. Adams made similar denials.

If prosecuted and convicted for contempt, Goldfine could receive up to one year in prison and a $1,000 fine. There is no provision whether to prosecute is up to the justice department.

Anti-Radiation Pill Never Match For H-Bomb Scientist Warns

By FRANK CAREY

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — An American scientist warned today that no anti-radiation pill ever will be a match for the H-bomb.

Earlier this week Dr. David H. Rorvik of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory reported to the American Congress on Radiation Research on a cheap pill which he said could reduce the effects by a given amount of radiation by 50 per cent.

Dr. Walter Gioerg of Duke University cautioned today against giving people the "false hope" that they can be immunized against radiations such as would be loosed upon them in all-out hydrogen warfare.

He said a really good protection against nuclear war is peace.

Dr. Raymond Latarjet of Paris said the most important thing at the present is to pursue basic research on just how radiation does its damage.

Slight Chance Of Survivors; Bodies Spotted

Could Be Worst Tragedy In History of Civil Flight

SHANNON, Ireland (CP) — A KLM airliner with 99 persons bound for New York crashed off the coast of Ireland today. The Dutch airline said hope for survivors was slight.

Wreckage was sighted by RAF search planes 100 miles northwest of Shannon.

The British air ministry said the search planes had seen bodies in dinghies and the wheels of an aircraft in the water off the west coast of Ireland.

Reports reaching Shannon airport said signs of life had been seen in one of the dinghies. The reports could not be immediately confirmed.

The super constellation was enroute from Amsterdam to New York via Shannon with 91 passengers and a crew of eight.

If all 99 aboard died, this would be the worst disaster involving a single plane in the history of commercial aviation.

KLM's headquarters in The Hague issued this statement:

"It must now be assumed with certainty that the super constellation Hugo de Groot crashed over the Atlantic ocean 130 miles from the coast of Ireland in the early hours of this morning.

"Although all searching today can be said with certainty of the fate of the passengers it must be considered as unlikely that the hope of survivors is small."

NO CANADIANS LISTED

Of the 91 passengers, 11 were Dutch, including four children. Nationalities of the others were American, French, Germin, Israeli, Polish and British.

The Canadian destroyer Cruiser and the British frigate Brocklesby, sailing from Portland, England, and Gibraltar, were ordered to proceed at full speed to the scene.

A Trans World Airways pilot landed in London from Shannon this afternoon and reported meeting a "terrific squall" in the Atlantic off Ireland. Capt. Forrest Wolf said that if the KLM plane had struck the storm with engines at full it "really might have been in a bad way."

Wolf, in contact with the plane was lost several hours before the wreckage was seen at 4.30 a.m. EDT.

At The Hague, KLM announced anxiety over the missing plane. The airline said, however, the plane had enough fuel to remain aloft until 11:30 a.m. EDT.

The airline said passengers aboard the plane were "of various nationalities."

TCA TRIED CONTACT

Capt. Kenneth Main, pilot of a Trans-Canada Air Line constellation, said upon landing at London airport that he tried to make contact with the Dutch plane over the Atlantic.

"We were about half way across the Atlantic when we got a signal asking us to try for contact," he told reporters.

"We tried three or four times—but there was no response. I assume that the other plane is not in the vicinity or that the aircraft had radio failure."

KLM officials at Amsterdam said subsequ activity could have been cut out their airline's contact with land.

But captains of other planes flying in the Atlantic said they encountered no communications trouble over the last 12 hours.

Hubby Did Not Like Wife Shown In Bathing Suit

SOUTHSEA, England (Reuters) — An angry husband Wednesday dragged his wife off the stage of a bathing beauty contest.

The contest, to find "Miss Southsea," almost broke up in confusion as the husband, 26-year - old Moroccan Mohammed Mohammed, ordered his wife, Fatima, to return home.

Fatima, 21, dark - skinned and lovely, looked like a likely winner.

There were boos and angry shouts as husband and wife—an arrobatic team — argued publicly.

The crowd of 3,000 shouted "let her go," but Mohammed forced Fatima to leave the hall with them.

"I was jealous when I found Fatima had gone to the contest," Mohammed said later. "It made my blood boil to see her in a bathing costume with all those men looking at her."

Said Fatima: "We've been married years and Mohammed is still jealous. In a way, I am flattered."

No One Blamed By Coroner's Jury in Slaying

ESPANOLA (CP)—A coroner's jury Wednesday night attached no blame in the shotgun slaying Aug. 3 of Guy Despres, 23, of Elliot Lake. Despres was shot during an abortive break - in at Mowat Landing.

Fields Are Small But Harness Racing Formful

Despite the fact that the fields were small in the two races that were contested at the Belleville fair on Wednesday, the racing was formful, both races being divided among heat winners.

In the 2.22 Class at Peterborough and Orono horse divided the purse money each winning a heat and each placing second. In the first trip Moore Gratgan of Orono topped the field with Merry Wood Star being a close second but in the second heat the positions were reversed. All the horses were bunched at the wire and the patrons were given plenty of thrills in the mile in the mile trips.

The 2.28 Class was also divided when Oxford Lad 'n' a son of a famous pacer of years ago, won the first heat but had racing back in the second heat put him back to last place. Stewart Superior from Cannington, who was third in the first heat came roaring through the stretch in the second heat to grab the verdict in the fastest time of the afternoon.

Cameron Bunnett was the official in charge and every start was nearly perfect as the Mitchell Gait brought all the horses down in perfect line and all on their feet. No races will be concluded this afternoon. The results were:

Songs, Music Western Style Outstanding Stage Fare For Belleville Fair Crowds

A tuneful colorful melange of western music and songs, garnished with touches of rock 'n' roll, Country Sound and Shorty Warren Western Jubilee caught the popular fancy of a capacity grandstand crowd at the fair last night.

Garbed in colorful western apparel, the men in blue with white buckskin trimmings and white sombreros, the girls in red and white buckskin trim the ensemble made an attractive background for the stars and special features.

Star of the show Smokey and Shorty of the "Grand Ole Opry" of Nashville, Tennessee presented a melodic program of lively western tunes, cowboy songs and laments, sparkling instrumental music with vocal solos duets and ensembles, and a touch of comedy.

The "Arizona Sweethearts" Dottie May and Billy Willow, the latter a full-blooded Indian as attractive as they were talented, added a delightful touch of rock 'n' roll in their numbers "Rocky Road Blues" and "Teenage Queen."

Shorty and Smokey with the loan opened the show with well-known western numbers such as "San Antonio Rose" and "Wondering Where You Are Tonight."

Gordon Terry proved a master of the "fiddle", the guitar and excelled as a vocalist. His impersonations of "Lefty" Purcell and Elvis Presley with the parody "All Stopped Up" and "Hound Dog" brought rounds of applause. His "Old Grey Mule" with donkey imitations climax'd a fine act.

Billy Willow, "Sing a Yodelling Song" was evidence of her stage versatility. She proved a yodeller of exceptional ability. Whitey Carlisle had the "house" chuckling with his comedy impersonation of "The Old Philosopher", and later with his impersonations of such famous artists as Vaughan Munroe, Al Jolson, the "inkspots" and Johnnie Louis Armstrong. His "Birth of the Blues" in which he combined imitations of all four was one of the show's standout features.

Justin Tubbs "Texas Personality" proved just that and proved a vocalist and guitarist of outstanding ability. His western medleys earned well-deserved applause.

One of the comedy features of the show were the "Toothless Twins" two of the boys in comedy costume singing "Temptation" with "dramatic" effects. They pantomimed a sword-play ing and had the audience in stitches when the revolver pro duced a cork, and finally stopped.

Jimmy Skinner, a western singer and Ray Lunchford a master of the guitar offered several current and oldtime western melodies while Del Barker's "Auctioneer" number was well received as was the perfo.mance of the band's steel guitar artist Minder Martin.

The show which was presented in part during the afternoon grandstand attraction was shown again this afternoon and will be presented in full tonight starting at 8:15.

Prior to the show last night, the large audience was entertained by the smart red-coated Picton band under the direction of Bandmaster Lockyer. Rounds of applause followed a splendid pre-show concert.

Horse shows, cattle parades, harness racing, excerpts from the western stage show featured the afternoon grandstand per-

'Passing Out' Recruit Parade At Armouries

Ninety-one district high school students, who enrolled in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment earlier this summer graduated last night at the Belleville Armouries.

Brigadier L. Carr, 11th Militia Group commander, was the inspecting officer.

Brig. Carr complimented the troops on their steadiness on parade and smart appearance. He hoped the youthful soldiers would carry the training they received this summer into their adult life. He particularly stressed the opportunities the recruits had to develop themselves into finer citizens of the future. A man wearing his country's uniform learns of patriotism, loyalty and citizenship swiftly.

Also in attendance were Lieutenant Colonel Angus Duffy, commander of the Hasty Pees and Lieut. Col. Everett Fairman, retired commander of the regiment. Captain H. Vaughan, officer commanding the recruit course, was on deck along with his subordinate officers.

Officially the summer course ends next week but the "passing out" parade was held last night to fit into the busy schedule of Brig. Carr.

—Next Friday the recruits go to Kingston to prepare for a concentration of troops on Saturday, when they will parade en masse on the C.E. Snow, Eastern Ontario area commander. A sports day will follow Saturday's parade.

formance today, the final day of the fair.

Tonight starting 7:30 the Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental drum and trumpet band will entertain in front of the grandstand.

At eight o'clock the junior farmers square dance finals between dance teams from Sidney and Thurlow townships will be held. The complete stage show follows.

At ten o'clock the draw for the Belleville McFarlands Booster Club free trip to Czechoslovakia for the world hockey championships next February will be made on the stage. Tickets are on sale at a booth in the Club Commodore.

Swine, Sheep Exhibit Largest In Many Years

It's at the far end of the fair grounds but visitors to the Belleville Fair with an interest in livestock have been rewarded by the trip to the swine and sheep exhibit at the fair.

Fair committee officials state the exhibit this year is one of the largest in recent years.

Showing in the swine classes are Don Heath, Stirling, Wesley Finch Campbellford, Don Vardy of Stirling and Harold Detlor of Stirling and Jim Garbutt of Belleville.

In the sheep class showmen are Harold Skinner of Bowmanville, Boyd Ayre of Hampton, Russell Dow of Bowmanville, Foster Snowdon of Oshawa and Jim Garbutt of Belleville.

Tamworth and Yorkshire hogs predominate in the swine exhibit while Leicester, Hampshire, Oxford, Cheviot, Shropshire and Soyth Downs were prominent in the sheep class.

Job Estimates Only Presumed

Stanley Haresnape, superintendent of the job for the H. J. McFarland Construcion Co. at the extension to the Ontario School for the Deaf has taken exception to his estimate which was printed in Monday's newspaper.

Mr. Haresnape said yesterday that the story, which mentioned construction costs at the O. S. D. as being between $1,250,000 and $2,000,000 implied that he quoted those figures to a reporter. He did not. Mr. Haresnape said figures will not be available until some time after construction has ended.

When the federal Department of Public Works announced the extension program some time ago, the department estimated the work might cost about $1,250,000. The $2,000,000 figure the reporter used was mentioned during a conversation with a few officials at the site on Monday. However, the estimate was only a presumption.

Red Bureaucrats In Dog House

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Some Soviet bureaucrats were in the doghouse today for—among other things—building a $140,000 dog kennel at state expense.

Pravda said officials in Kazakhstan, central Russian Asia, had diverted funds earmarked for heavy industry development to use for building the big kennel.

The Communist party newspaper said the group had made a circus of the kennels, which cost millions of rubles on theatres and swimming pools—as well as a zoo.

The party condemned the officials for misappropriating the money to build a luxurious council mansion costing 25,000,000 rubles or more than $6,000,000 at the official rate of exchange.

Singled out for special attack were D. G. Onikk, chairman of the Karaganda economic council, and G. Meinikov, chairman of the Kazakhstan planning commission. Pravda said "severe punishment" was being imposed on the men.

Police Blotter

Part of the tools stolen Tuesday night from the garage of J. D. Boyce and Sons were discovered yesterday at the bottom of the Moira River just north of the Canniffon dam, police said today.

The tools were discovered by boys who were preparing to go swimming in the river. Police were notified but a more detailed search had not yet been carried out, a spokesman reported missing.

No trace has yet been found of the Rawson office safe which was lugged away Tuesday night. It is believed the safe may have been abandoned on some lonely sideroad or possibly in the river.

Purse snatchers were busy in the city last night with a 15-year-old East Hill girl reporting her purse being snatched by two youths about 15 years of age. Police are investigating a little for their troubles as the purse contained only a dime.

Curbing Arrives At Cottrell Pk., Crane Required

TRENTON — The Trenton Parks Board were informed that the curbing has arrived at Cottrell Park and that there only a crane to be installed. Miss Marion Baker, a member of the board, made the report at the regular meeting of the group held in the Municipal Building on Tuesday night.

Miss Baker said a crane will be needed to move the curbing into place when the town crews install it. The matter was left in the hands of the Town Engineer some time ago but the work had been stalled because the curbing had not arrived.

Considerable discussion was held on the hiring of a crane and it was felt it would be cheaper that supplied the lengths of curb did not supply the crane and include the work of the crane in the cost, that it would be best to hire a local crane for the job.

Chairman of the board, Ted Parker, was appointed to get in touch with the Town Engineer on the matter.

Miss Baker also reported she had received a call from the secretary-manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce that supplied a detailed report on the situation and size of the various parks within the town limits. She said she had completed this, consisting of 12 pages, and had forwarded it to him. Miss Baker said she did not know why the Trenton Chamber of Commerce manager to her. Chairman Ted Parker told her that whoever had done it "had performed a job for the right person to get a complete report."

IVY SPRAYED

On question the town gardener, Burt Boers, reported the sprayer has now been repaired and spraying for poison ivy in Allison Playgrounds will get underway this week. The board suggested he inform the woman in charge of the park when he does it to enable her to keep the children away from it.

Miss Baker also reported she had contacted the Public Utilities Commission because the lack of water was injuring the grass and flowers in the town parks. She said she had been told there was not the water available to let them have more.

Commenting on the situation Mr. Parker said he was of the opinion that it was impossible for the town gardener to get around and water all the parks in the space of time that was allotted for watering. Mr. Boers reported the pump at Fraser Park does not satisfy the need there as it is nearly worn out and will not pump enough water out of the bay. He said it had been overhauled recently but it still did not work properly. The board will investigate the possibility of getting new pumps not only for Fraser Park but one for the bay shore park as well.

SEND LETTER

It was agreed that the Parks Board send a letter of thanks to the Kiwanis Club for the recent "bee" they held there to clean up the picnic. It was reported that sand has been placed under the swings and water-totters, to eliminate any danger of children hurting themselves. Cans will be placed near the picnic benches and signs will be put up asking the general public using the park to help keep it clean.

Miss Baker told the meeting that the railing had been installed on the Mount Pelion steps and that benches are needed on the landings. She suggested a simple type of bench and had a snapshot of one she felt would be advisable. It was made of two pieces of round logs about 18 inches high with a plank stretched across them to form the bench.

Claude Smith was named to get in touch with the firm and find out if benches with the cement sides are available. The board felt that a heavier bench is needed in all the parks as this type may discourage vandals from removing them. Mr. Smith is also to check into the cost of suitable signs for Hanna Park.

Attending the meeting were: Chairman Ted Parker, members Bill Ireland, Claude Smith, Miss Marion Baker, Mrs. Bert Sirone and the town gardener, Bert Boers.

POLICE CALLED OUT

TRENTON — Local police under the leadership of Inspector R. Rutherford who is acting as police chief during the holidays of Chief Jack Taylor, had charge of the toughest traffic job for many years in directing fire traffic around the area of the fire which destroyed four businesses and a business block in Trenton, Tuesday night. The police were forced to change traffic lanes several times as firemen laid out nine lines of hose to different hydrants. Two of them ran to the river. They had difficulty at first in keeping the crowds back from the burning block until they erected a rope barrier. All the men on the force were called out to duty and Inspector Rutherford stood by the fire station all night in case emergency calls for more firemen or more equipment should be received.

Miss Baker said a crane will be needed to move the curbing into place when the town crews install it. The matter was left in the hands of the Town Engineer some time ago but the work had been stalled because the curbing had not arrived.

Considerable discussion was held on the hiring of a crane and it was felt it would be cheaper that supplied the lengths of curb did not supply the crane and include the work of the crane in the cost, that it would be best to hire a local crane for the job.

Chairman of the board, Ted Parker, was appointed to get in touch with the Town Engineer on the matter.

Miss Baker also reported she had received a call from the secretary-manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce that supplied a detailed report on the situation and size of the various parks within the town limits. Chairman Ted Parker told her that whoever had done it "had performed a job for the right person to get a complete report."

AID FIREMEN

Several local businessmen rendered much aid and comfort to the firemen during the fire which destroyed the Tilus Block in Dundas Street, Trenton. Libling, owner of the nearby Trenton Bar, served coffee and tea to the men whenever they wanted it. He donated over 100 cups of tea to the firefighters and stayed open until 3 a.m. Wednesday morning in addition to keep the coffee pot hot for the firefighters. Mr. Libling was considered the hardest hit business through Fire Chief Clarence Orser of Trenton and Fire Chief Vance of Belleville for his thoughtfulness.

Ralph Weaver donated the use of the ambulance and made four trips to the hospital with injured firemen with the last call coming for him at about 3 a.m. Leroy Weaver assisted him during the blaze. Mr. Weaver is the ambulance service scene to ensure the quickest possible ambulance service in case it was needed. Commenting on it Mr. Weaver said, "It was the least we could do to assist our firemen who risk their health in fighting a fire."

LOST COLLECTION

Mrs. John Compeau, who lost all her personal belongings during the fire which left her family homeless, also lost a collection of recordings she had started when she was eight years old. She braved the smoke and flames to rush back to her apartment to rescue one which had not come out of the home. She said she had to drag the pup out from underneath the bed when she got back into the apartment. She broke loose from a policeman who had tried to detain her from entering the burning building. Mrs. Compeau's were unable to save any of their clothing and fled the flames with only what they wore. The children were in their night attire.

CLEAR THEATRE

Constables Fred Nokes and Jack Graham used exceptional common sense when they evacuated the Odeon Theatre of its customers shortly after the fire had started in the building next door. They each took an aisle and informed the 150 patrons individually that the building next door was on fire and that although there was no immediate danger to them it was necessary, as a safety precaution, to leave the theatre. The policemen said afterwards there was no panic and everyone left the show orderly and quietly.

HELP WITH TRAFFIC

Inspector Bob Rutherford, acting chief of police for Trenton, provided the manpower, using five air force policemen from RCAF Station Trenton, and No. 6 Regular for control of traffic town and volunteering to help direct traffic during the blaze. He said these men were of great assistance and were much needed because of the difficulties in detouring traffic off the main streets and along some of the more narrow streets of town. Inspector Rutherford said, "They just drove in and asked, 'where do you want us to work' and gave them their instructions and they carried out and saw that traffic was allowed to go through the normal lanes."

CITY REJECTS COLLEGE

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's board of control Wednesday voted 3-1 against a bid to have the proposed York University college in the city. Controllers rejected a recommendation for a study to see if a better site for the college, provide a site or some cash. Suburban York township is looking for a site in order the new university planned because of overcrowding at the University of Toronto.

Curbing Arrives At Cottrell Pk., Crane Required

TRENTON — The Trenton Parks Board were informed that the curbing has arrived at Cottrell Park and that there only a crane to be installed. Miss Marion Baker, a member of the board, made the report at the regular meeting of the group held in the Municipal Building on Tuesday night.

Miss Baker said a crane will be needed to move the curbing into place when the town crews install it. The matter was left in the hands of the Town Engineer some time ago but the work had been stalled because the curbing had not arrived.

Considerable discussion was held on the hiring of a crane and it was felt it would be cheaper that supplied the lengths of curb did not supply the crane and include the work of the crane in the cost, that it would be best to hire a local crane for the job.

Chairman of the board, Ted Parker, was appointed to get in touch with the Town Engineer on the matter.

Miss Baker also reported she had received a call from the secretary-manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce that supplied a detailed report on the situation and size of the various parks within the town limits. She said she had completed this, consisting of 12 pages, and had forwarded it to him. Miss Baker said she did not know why the Trenton Chamber of Commerce manager to her. Chairman Ted Parker told her that whoever had done it "had performed a job for the right person to get a complete report."

IVY SPRAYED

On question the town gardener, Burt Boers, reported the sprayer has now been repaired and spraying for poison ivy in Allison Playgrounds will get underway this week. The board suggested he inform the woman in charge of the park when he does it to enable her to keep the children away from it.

Miss Baker also reported she had contacted the Public Utilities Commission because the lack of water was injuring the grass and flowers in the town parks. She said she had been told there was not the water available to let them have more.

Commenting on the situation Mr. Parker said he was of the opinion that it was impossible for the town gardener to get around and water all the parks in the space of time that was allotted for watering. Mr. Boers reported the pump at Fraser Park does not satisfy the need there as it is nearly worn out and will not pump enough water out of the bay. He said it had been overhauled recently but it still did not work properly. The board will investigate the possibility of getting new pumps not only for Fraser Park but one for the bay shore park as well.

SEND LETTER

It was agreed that the Parks Board send a letter of thanks to the Kiwanis Club for the recent "bee" they held there to clean up the picnic. It was reported that sand has been placed under the swings and water-totters, to eliminate any danger of children hurting themselves. Cans will be placed near the picnic benches and signs will be put up asking the general public using the park to help keep it clean.

Miss Baker told the meeting that the railing had been installed on the Mount Pelion steps and that benches are needed on the landings. She suggested a simple type of bench and had a snapshot of one she felt would be advisable. It was made of two pieces of round logs about 18 inches high with a plank stretched across them to form the bench.

Claude Smith was named to get in touch with the firm and find out if benches with the cement sides are available. The board felt that a heavier bench is needed in all the parks as this type may discourage vandals from removing them. Mr. Smith is also to check into the cost of suitable signs for Hanna Park.

Attending the meeting were: Chairman Ted Parker, members Bill Ireland, Claude Smith, Miss Marion Baker, Mrs. Bert Sirone and the town gardener, Bert Boers.

Three Firemen Overcome at Fire Progressing Well

TRENTON — The three firemen injured in the blaze that destroyed the Tilus Block on Dundas Street, West, on Tuesday night are all reported to be doing well, with two of them now out of the hospital.

Fireman Bob Minz, the first to be overcome by smoke, was the less serious of the three and returned during the fire to carry on. He said he had been inside the hat shop fighting the fire with a line of hose with a companion when the air in their masks began to get low. Mitts said he had sent his fellow fireman out to get some other fire fighters to relieve them and had handled the hose himself.

He said he was keeping a close eye to the gauge on the pack, which tells the amount of air left in the mask, but had misjudged it some. When he found out he was without air he turned the hose off, dropped on his stomach and began to crawl outside. He was forced to take his mask off and it was while crawling out of the building that he got his lungs full of smoke.

Engineer Moe Mitts, who was the second to be rushed to the hospital and was forced to put on an oxygen tank all night, was on top of an adjoining building, manning a gas line when a light wind blew the heavy smoke around him. Fighting for air he leaped for the ladder to get away from the smoke and half fell but half stumbled down the ladder. He collapsed at the foot of it in the water running down the street. He was treated on the scene and then rushed to the hospital.

It was reported that he was also given x-rays to make sure lured.

DEATHS

SMANO, Alfred Parsons — At the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday, August 14th, Alfred Parsons Cranley Smano, beloved son of Mrs. E. Belleville, in his 77th year.

May Level Titus Block, No Definite Plans Made

TRENTON — The Titus Block, destroyed in an estimated $300,000 fire here on Tuesday night, will probably be torn down and levelled, Gordon Little, who handles the property for Mrs. Titus, announced this morning.

In an interview, Mr. Little said definite plans have not been made for this property but the possibilities are it being cleared out right from Dundas Street through to the Market Square is what is in mind at the present time.

The area owned by Mrs. Titus takes in the buildings which were destroyed in the flames as the Buildings immediately behind it and facing on the Market Square. These buildings are old and in the low rental field. Mr. Little said they may also be taken down to leave the property clear for a street-to-street building.

Once cleared the property, which is in the main business section of town, will be considered most valuable.

Damage from the fire which destroyed four businesses was not as the building was widespread.

FRONT RUINED

In the bakery shop, the rear of the building suffered the most fire damage with the front of the shop completely ruined by smoke and water. The hat shop next door to the bakery was in the section of the building which had both ceiling and roof save in and fall to the lower floor.

Next to the hat shop was the office of the optometrist where smoke and water damaged all of the equipment and testing lenses. His records and file were soaked with water.

The meat market, which occupied the east side of the block, was damaged heavily by smoke and water, while the roof over the apartment above it was burned in many places.

Future plans have not been announced by any of the business people concerned in the fire.

In other damages Vic Auger's Men Shop, immediately to the east of the building, suffered considerable smoke damage as well as water which came through the roof in some places.

Mr. Auger is planning a fire sale and it is expected the damage to the inside of the shop as well as the roof of the building will be repaired.

The Odeon Theatre building to the west of the fire also suffered some damage but chiefly from water. The cleaning of the Lottie Jones Florist in the theatre building was still dripping water this morning after the gang of men and many ribbons and other decorations necessary in that type of business were ruined. The water had also got under the floor covering and it is expected it will be replaced.

Upstairs in the Odeon building the office which had been formerly occupied by Radio Station CJBQ and the Trenton office of The Ontario Intelligencer were damaged by water when one of the side windows was broken by a stream of water.

Smoke was reported to have spread into other buildings along the street but no serious damage from it was reported.

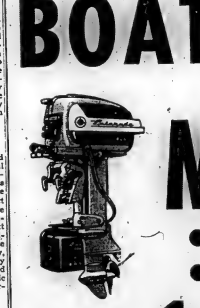
Six Candidates Will Seek PC Nomination at Madoc

With at least six men definitely in the field, the Progressive Conservative nomination meeting being held at Madoc Friday evening to name a candidate for the East Hastings by-election is expected to be one of the biggest nomination meetings ever to be held in the riding.

The reason for this is the number of candidates in the field and also the fact that all parts of the riding are represented by potential candidates.

Definitely in the field for the nomination are Hastings County Warden Lloyd Price of Actinolite; Ex-Warden William Davis of North Hastings; Ex-Warden Jack Kincaid of Madoc; V. A. MacMurrry of Gilmour; Reeve Charles Long of Tyendinaga and Deputy Reeve Harold Varty of Hungerford township.

Another man who may possibly allow his name to go to the convention is Ex-Warden Arthur McCrary of Tweed, while T. C. Graham has also been mentioned as a possibility.



200 DELEGATES

Slightly more than 200 riding official delegates are expected to attend the riding convention to be held at the Madoc Armouries and high interest due to the number of candidates in the field is expected to swell the number attending to an overflow crowd.

Riding Association president is Guy Bentley of Dungannon township with Harold Varty as secretary. Guest speaker for the convention is Dr. M. B. Dymond of Port Perry, Ontario Ministry of Transport. The election will be held on September 11th.

The by-election in East Hastings has been called by Premier Leslie Frost due to the resignation of Noble Johnson, riding representative at Toronto for the past 15 years, who has quit his post to become Hastings County sheriff.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

An appeal for items of interest associated with the history of the whole county has been made recently by the Hastings County Historical Society. This is timely move for the longer such items are left in private ownership and more of them are misplaced or accidentally destroyed and so are lost forever.

Although the Historical Society was organized less than a year ago, it has had energetic leadership and has accomplished a great deal in a short time. The membership totals thirty-six at present and is made up of representatives from the city, Trenton, Cannifton, Stirling and Actinolite. The first president was T. G. Wrightmeyer who was succeeded by Gerald Boyce last June. Others are Erie Denyes, Miss Helen Fralick and Thomas Ransom of Belleville; Miss Hazel Fairley, Trenton; E. M. Dafoe, Cannifton; John Haig, R. R. 4, Belleville; Harold C. Martin, Stirling, and L. H. Price of Actinolite.

Besides having four public meetings during the year, the Society arranged a window display in a downtown store and has been running a series of weekly articles in The Ontario Intelligencer under the heading "Historic Belleville."

A good start has been made in the collection of records obtained from the County Court House with some of the documents dating back to the 1790's.

Through the kindness of Indian Agent D. R. Cassie and his staff at Deseronto, records from the custom office at Deseronto and dating back to 1874 to 1920 were added to the Society's collection. In May this year the military and civilian papers of the late Col. W. N. Ponton were presented to the Society by Mrs. Ponton, Trenton. Included in the papers were letters dealing with the Fenian Raids and the South African War as well as several local celebrations around 1900.

Among the articles the Historical Society would like to obtain are -- letters, diaries, photographs, newspapers and clippings, programs of special events, pamphlets, registers, histories of families, township and county minutes, Indian relics, account books, post cards, old albums, maps and plans, utensils used in early days, furniture, old glass and dishes, medals and badges and posters.

New members are also sought by the Society and for a dollar fee this can be obtained from any one of the executive members listed above. This is definitely a worth while organization and deserves support from a wide circle of interested citizens.

POSTPONE THIS

Man's perpetual ambition to control the elements of nature has placed him on the losing side of many battles with mother nature. Occasionally he has achieved some measure of success, as in the case of artificially seeding clouds with silver iodide to produce rain.

Most of his attempts to control nature, however, have been feeble, almost amateurish, because of his amazing lack of knowledge of the subject.

Never until now despite much research, what causes a tornado, why electrical storms are prevalent in some areas and not in others, why some sections annually receive so much rain they are in a perennial battle against floods and others fight a constant battle with droughts -- or even to know the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico or the cold waters of the poles affect the climate of the world.

This latter question now becomes increasingly important because of a proposal made by Dr. Grigori A. Ayrykuk, professor of geographical sciences of the Russian Polar Research Institute, that all the ice at the North Pole and in the Arctic Ocean be melted to provide great quantities of fertile land for Russia, Canada, and other nations bordering on the Arctic.

As an extra dividend, he says, the Arctic Ocean would become a new major world shipping lane. The professor admits, however, that certain wholesale tampering with nature's icebox could boomerang with disastrous results. He proposed, therefore, an international study.

By all means that is for sure. Among some of the catastrophies which would result from melting the polar ice caps are the creation of dangerous glaciers, the possible flooding of coastal cities in the Maritimes, New York, London and all coastal cities in numerous lands.

Tampering with the laws of nature is dangerous business unless man can create a better balance than the usual one. As advanced as the homo sapien may be, he has not yet evolved to that point.

IF

If all the days were bright and fair
And all our skies were sunny,
If none knew sorrow or despair
And every one had money.
If no one here had work to do,
I wouldn't care to live, would you?

If every maiden were a beaut,
If all cheeks had a dimple,
If fortune fawned every suit
Then courting would be simple;
But still, if every dream came true
I don't believe I'd care to woo.

If big fish never got away
And gave up without fighting,
If we could always name the day
When bass were surely biting,
I don't believe I'd now be visiting
That I could quit and start out fishing.

Old Barns Part Of Heritage

Ottawa Journal

Old barns are a meaningful part of the history and tradition of this country. Weather-stained as a dull gray, with sags in their sour lines, leaning out of plumb, with gaping spaces between and open sky from broken shingles, old barns are as much a part of the countryside as covered bridges.

Old barns are friendly buildings. They are known even in log-by-hood. There was a feeling of peace and security among sleek horses and placid cows. Since barns were first built, boys have climbed hastily to the lofty piles of hay on the floor when they pitched the dried grass down on Fall and Winter afternoons as soon as they arrived from district school.

On stormy days, boys have dug tunnels along the sides of the hay mows and pretended, many a man now working in a dignified city office, that the scattered hay-folds for nests where free-ranging hens laid their eggs. Of course, there were chores in the barns, cows to milk, calves to be cleaning to be done and bedding spread.

On rushing summer days, heaped loads of sweet-smelling timothy and clover were pitched off by hand, and it was a lad's job to mow it away beneath hot eaves. Or crisp, blue-gold Autumn days baskets and boxes of apples were piled in bins beneath a scaffold to await later.

It was good to go to the old barn in early afternoon and watch the eager whinny of the horses as the door was opened and to hear the cows rattling their chains, impatient for their hay. Probably city sophisticates cannot understand it, but men and boys liked the beauty, fascination, and use of a small compounded of hay and grain, livestock, sawdust, harness and leather of the harness room.

Happy Nation Being Sought

Manchester Guardian Weekly

It seems, at first glance, odd of the Gallup Poll to choose Ireland as a candidate for the title of happiest country on earth. The poll has announced a "wide inquiry" into this matter, and the results will be put through the polisters' hoop in Ireland.

One might think that Irish literature and history provided political and national, clerical and religious, sexual, and demographic problems to put off the most eager country on earth. The poll-sters, Gallup is not to be deterred. "Poor people," he says, "are often happy people," and the Irish are proverbially to what his expectancy. But it scarcely looks as though Dr. Gallup has thought the subject the deep thought that it deserves. Is he not failing back on the "noble" view of the noble savage — "Lo, the poor Irish-man"? Or, perhaps, in the fear of inhibition, we hasten to say, is his not (sure.)

Happiness among nations is a quicksilver concept; neither cleverness nor peace nor outward laughter may be the safest index to what lies within. Some nations talk think the English fearfully and — except a few who have surrendered to Anti-Englishness think all dwellers under a hot sun must be happy — even Indians who have become entangled in the torments of bourgeois family life. Gallup is not to be.

If we are to heed travellers' tales, the happiest of nations must be the Burmese and Siamese people with a long, troubled history, which has no word for sorrow, not forgetting. Perhaps that is where Dr. Gallup should look for his slide rule — not to a fanciful lifetackwater, but to a place where people have no need to worry about that every flower that blows takes their minds off it.

Replenishing The Beaver

Oshawa Times-Gazette

Using a technique developed in Algonquin Park years ago, provincial wildlife officials of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests are engaged in a live-beaver trapping project in Keewatin area. The beaver, captured unharmed, will be transported by air to the area around Big Trout Lake, far to the north, in an effort to help Indians who rely on trapping for their livelihood.

Ontario's greatest experiment with moving beaver from a re-stocked area to a new one began in Algonquin Park when the Hudson's Bay Company, Fur Department, Association of Indian Affairs and the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests brought in some skilled Indian trappers from Moosonee on James Bay. Until 1927, the fur trade when the Bay area was probably the greatest beaver trapping area in the world but since that year trapping in the "old days" has been severely curbed in and, with reckless disregard for consequences, took everything they could.

Following the movement from large game animals, the fur animals were too plentiful, the Ontario area, it is said, contains five animals. It was hard work and trapping inaugurated the present system of zoning, and the trapping of a few animals per "live house." Each house usually contains five animals. It was hard work and for one or two, some Indians being able to take only five beaver during the whole season and the animal has once again become plentiful in their vicinity, providing them not only with fur but with meat for the table.

Just what the result of the movement to the North Lake will be remains to be seen at present. But the area did produce beaver prior to the introduction of civilization, and it seems entirely likely that they will make a comeback there, too.

Baby Dolls Or Teenagers?

Kingston Whig-Standard

We heard a few mothers complaining the other day that chil-dren are not what they used to be. Their main grievance is that, in their childhood, dolls were proper baby dolls and not the disreputable teenagers they have become so popular in recent years.

The mothers are clearly concerned about the perpetual fight against lipstick, nail polish, high heels and so on which most mothers wage against their own teenage daughters. But, in this the battle was already lost if, from the age of five or six years the children had been playing with dolls which had all these defects and disfigurements.

The mothers would be astonished to learn, however, that it is only a hundred years ago th a baby dolls became obtainable. Before that, according to a fashionable exhibition recently arranged by the London Museum, they were a grown-up people and with grown-up attachments.

The change towards baby dolls was started by Queen Victoria. It was when she was married to the mother of one of the most famous families in the world, and when she began to have babies of the same lines. Hence her maternal instincts found expression in a doll designed to produce the maternal instinct in even the youngest child.

Now, along with many other things, the baby doll has changed. baby dolls are on the way out. The adult doll is once more coming into its own. And we don't think the world will totter on its foundations as a result.

Fossil Rustling

It will take considerable forbearance on the part of Canadians to remain calm under the shattering impact of news that the fossil hunting interests are flicking fossils from us.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Unlike most of us whose summer cottages are on three hundred foot frontages of lake or stream, or else crowded up on fifty foot frontages in city homes, a friend of mine, years ago, bought a backwoods farm that had gone derelict and abandoned, but which had had a mile of beautiful shore line. Since this was a straight purchase, with deed and all, no one could complain of his possession, when the lake in due time became a thriving summer resort. And in due time, too, tourists in their cruising launches and boats began to throng the area. And they were in the habit of assuming that the beautifully kept property was crown land, and they landed on it, and camped, and roamed all inland from the legal road allowance, as it is called, along the shore, though no road is passable or conceivable on its steep rocks and inlets.

All around his property, signs, fences and other devices to keep the property private were of no avail until the owner thought of this sign, which he distributed around the shore:

"This is private property on which taxes are paid, and which is kept in the same respect you demand for your own property. Please stay off. Thank you." Nobody has trespassed since, and the sign still stands.

COLLECT HUMOR

Collecting anything is a fascinating hobby, but collecting humor takes one through such an exciting search as Lincoln's days in the White House. Lincoln lived many unhappy years without ex-pressing his deepest hurts.

There are scores of humorists who cheered the nation. Bill Nye, Josh Billings, Artemus Ward, and others, real comedians when great responsibility added to their burdens. We can laugh enough, but to do so stimulates the mind to collect humor. If you make friends with scores of writing humorists, and every other field of collecting that has been sadly neglected. While you are getting the most important boon to health by getting acquainted with the "funny men."

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you — weep and you weep alone" wrote Ella Wheeler Wilcox. And how very true is this. Our sorrows, even are precious things to us personally, but none of us want to display the fact. Nor do we care to share our disappointments. If they do they are the exception! The richest in spirit always wish to share their joy, and their laughter, while all people like them is kept for happier times.

It will be worth all the time you put into collecting humor if it is to become acquainted with t h e many publishers who put out such humorous bits, as well as books. They are good company in any mood, and if you have the proper ed time and time over that to be spent, it is even a bubbling spirit. We shall be deeply grateful if you have a sense of humor and use it.

Collect the books and publications that emphasize humor. There is a greater number than is expected. Many of these books are illustrated, the artist being a humorist. There is interest, therefore, all around.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

WE BECOME MORE PRONE TO ACCIDENTS AS WE GROW OLDER.

Letters to this column include a normal share from older people, about the complaints that develop with age. Now some conditions do develop because we grow older, but the tragic element is the number of problems which stem not just from our years, but from accidents. Often they are preventable accidents.

Dr. C. M. Cameron, of the University of North Carolina discussed this trend in a recent article, and I feel that his suggestions should be passed on.

What causes accidents? Sometimes, indeed many times, the common problems of aging contribute greatly to the accidents — weakness because of age, chronic illness or fatigue, poor coordination which could stem from a stroke, arthritis, and faulty vision and hearing. All of these conditions can have a part in causing accidents.

What to do about it? Well, first remembering that the handicaps exist will counteract much of the danger. The aged person must admit frankly to himself that he isn't as spry and limber as he used to be, so doesn't see and hear as clearly. I'll stress that last point as I've said than done. Psychologically some people just won't accept facts. They won't recognize that they have slowed down, and won't admit that they have to be more careful than they used to be, whether in crossing a street or going up and down stairs. There are some women who insist on using too much rouge and make-up, thinking that it will fool someone into mistaking the age of 30 for that of 20. It doesn't work! And the man who tries to act like a college boy when he's been out of school for 40 years fools no one but himself.

THERE ARE SOME HAZARDS

Many of us who are around the age of middle age, but have older people around the house — isn't it time to do something about it, then, too? We should see to it that stairways are properly lighted and have-handrails, and handling

Purple People And Pink Hens

Christian Science Monitor

A few years ago Sigmund Spaeth conducted a radio program in which he acted as "the public detective." It somehow had expanded the role with the help of aid from the Air Force project on "unidentified flying objects," popular the year before. It would have been protected from the terror i s n d mirth generated by the latter, but popular song about "The Purple People Eaters."

Public curiosities in such cases probably need some of the kind of intelligent, purposeful co-operation which came from Mrs. Mary Van Der Kruys in Melbourne, Australia, when a flock of pink and white chickens stolen, she dyed them pink and blue and green and yellow down the culprit and an accomplice. They found p i n k hens of the blue kind at a poultry house.

This was almost as helpful as one of those painted stripes on the ceiling of a New York subway station to help a man remember his sign. "Follow the green line," he would say, "and you will never get to Brighton Beach because he was afraid that if he followed the red line he would lead to a congressional committee summons.)

We don't know yet what is the answer in the invasion by the purple, pink, unidentified flying creature that eats only purple people and wants to be a frankfurter on a rock-and-roll band. But Mrs. Van Der Kruys has ingenious led the way in how to deal with the pink poultry poacher.

Aussies Should Stick to Mice

Hamilton Spectator

A new dispatch tells us that the British space rocket soon to be launched from the Woomera range in South Australia, and that they will carry animals before they carry people to the moon.

We wonder, though, if the best way to make friends with t h e man on the moon is to shoot him with the unusual birds a n d mammals which are found there. True, those little koala bears with their large fuzzy ears are engaging creatures, and could be frown at a duckbilled platypus or of fathers in the field of a kangaroo bird or laughing Jackass, once something had struck him as funny?

But to land a space ship on the moon and to have a kangaroo jump out and start leaping all over the place, and to have small, squirmy koala bears scampering abdominal pouch — well, t h a t would cause a considerable consternation in Gore Park, let alone among the moon-men and women of whom we hope to make celestial allies.

Better stick to mice until we get to know them better.

'Compatible' Announcer

Montreal Gazette

For years, television engineers struggled with the problem of producing a set which would be "compatible" for both black-and-white and color sets. The principle, a sound one, was that colour broadcasts, receivers should not be made obsolete by the introduction of color broadcasting.

Now, the BBC is introducing the comparable principle.

It has been a tradition with the British Broadcasting Corporation that white announcers should wear dinner jackets in the studio. Announcers have reveal that they didn't have dinner jackets anyway; they had "staff jackets" which were shared, wearing business suit trousers and all.

Now, the Corporation has introduced the "informal" announcer, in which announcers will be permitted to wear business suits — as long as they are dark suits.

To the average set-owner, the change will seem academic. The average set reproduces only in black-and-white anyway. The "dark suit" will cevne out just as dark as the dinner-jacket.

It is rather interesting to know if anyone inherits the staff dinner jacket which he will use with it without the trousers.

Maybe he could use it on radio shows.

Police Checking On Story of Double Murder

OSHAWA (CP) — The RCMP is checking a report of a double murder, alleged to have taken place between Oshawa and Port Hope in 1946.

Inspector William Supella of the criminal investigation bureau in Toronto said today that D'Arcy McMahon, 43, was arrested on a car theft charge in Shreveport, La., this week, and told Shreveport police that in the summer of 1946 he killed two hitch-hikers in the Oshawa area. He said he disposed of the bodies near a highway between Oshawa and Port Hope.

Inspector Supella said the RCMP believe McMahon's confession to be false, but that the report is being investigated.

"We have a file on McMahon," the inspector said, "which shows that he was in a United States prison from 1943 to 1950. If he is right about the date of the supposed murders, he could hardly have committed them."

Wage Contracts Being Drafted

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiations to draft new auto industry wage contracts were resumed on a quiet note today.

Neither side had any public comment as representatives of the United Auto Workers Union and the Ford Motor Company and Chrysler Corporation met in separate sessions.

The UAW and General Motors Corporation bargaining teams were to get together later.

Former Kansas Governor Grilled By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former governor of Kansas, Payne Harry Ratner, swore Wednesday he wasn't responsible for the quashing of a congressional investigation of Teamsters leader James R. Hoffa in 1953.

Ratner also denied that he had ever transmitted any political contributions from the Teamsters Union to Representative Wint Smith (Rep. Kan.), co-chairman of the 1953 inquiry.

Ratner, a lawyer who was a Republican governor of Kansas from 1939 to 1943, told the Senate rackets committee he did arrange for gentler treatment of Hoffa by the investigators.

When the 1953 investigation was dropped by Smith and his co-chairman, Representative Clare E. Hoffman (Rep. Mich.), they told reporters they acted because of pressure "from way up there." They never elaborated.

Now the Senate group, engaged in a wide-ranging study of allegedly improper labor-management relations, is trying to find out who killed the 1953 hearing.

Ratner was serving as counsel for the Teamsters Union in 1953. He testified he never asked Smith to call off the hearings but did ask for a postponement because of a grand jury investigation of Hoffa being conducted at the same time.

RAILWAY UNIONS

series of tussles with the railways.

They all went on strike simultaneously for 11 days in August, 1950, tying up the two transcontinental rail systems. An emergency session of Parliament ended the strike.

In the present case, there has been no public indication of the feelings of the general group of the unions on the report, made public July 30, which recommended less than half of what the unions were seeking.

Next week's session of the unions' general conference committee in Montreal will be its first since the report was delivered. Frank H. Hall of Montreal, chairman, has been in Europe in connection with union business.

RAILWAYS STILL SILENT

The railways also have indicated neither acceptance nor rejection.

However, the CNR and CPR in a joint statement Aug. 7 said the wage increases recommended in the report would cost these two railways about $60,000,000 a year.

The majority report—which is the official report of the board—was signed by Mr. Justice H. C. Nicholson, chairman of the board, and Vincent Bladon, Montreal lawyer, who was the union's nominee on the three-man panel.

A minority report recommending no wage increases was submitted by company nominee Philip Vineberg, Montreal lawyer.

Main recommendation of the majority report was for a series of staggered increases embodied in a two-year contract running to last Jan. 31, 1960.

An initial increase of four cents an hour would be retroactive to that date. One of three per cent would take effect next Sept. 1, and another of three per cent would be effective April 1, 1959. Both percentage increases would be calculated on the basis of wage rates in effect Dec. 31, 1957.

The unions sought a combination increase of 11 per cent plus 10 cents an hour, which would add up to about 25 cents an hour. Average pay of the group is $1.82 an hour.

NEW INSECT THREAT

PONTYPOOL, Ont. (CP)—Two new insect infestations, in addition to the Conte sawfly, are threatening this year's Ontario Christmas tree harvest. The lands and forest department said Wednesday the outbreaks in the 15,000-acre plantation area, 15 miles northeast of Oshawa, are alarming. Loss was put at five per cent. The new intruders are the balsam gall midge and balsam bark beetle.

Many Marriage Proposals Made In Dance Halls

80 per cent of all marriage proposals are made in dance halls, says Eric Morley, and he's coming to Canada to build some matrimonial ballrooms in this country.

He's a director of Mecca Limited, the world's largest ballroom chain with 30 dance halls.

Mr. Morley has already scouted Quebec City and Montreal and now he's looking over Toronto.

"If we find a suitable building we could remodel it and have in operation within six months. If we build, it may take a year."

He said his firm has paid out £10,000 to couples claiming the £5 note ($14) offered to anyone either making or accepting a proposal in a Mecca Ballroom—that works out to 2,000 marriages.

Lloyd dealt at length with Jordan where British troops were landed on July 17.

Jordan, a small country whose independence we had promoted, with whom we had had close ties in the past, asked us for help on the grounds that its independence was threatened. We gave that help . . . because we believed that its fears and its complaints were justified.

"We believe that this action conformed to the spirit of the charter and was in accordance with the established rules of international law.

"Our action on July 17 was fully justified and in my view any dispassionate observer would admit that it has contributed to stability in the area.

"We shall at any time withdraw our troops if the lawful government of Jordan requests it, or if suitable arrangements are made to preserve Jordan from external threat and to maintain its independence and integrity."

BARLOW — MJOLID

St. Olaf's Lutheran Church, Swift Current, Sask., was the setting for a pretty lovely candlelight wedding when Gertrude Randi Mjolid, Red Deer, Alta., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mjolid of Leinan, Saskatchewan, became the bride of Dr. Stanley James Barlow of Edmonton, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Morley Barlow of Bonarius, Ontario. The Reverend P. Olsen, of Kyle, Sask., assisted by the Reverend V. Propp of Swift Current officiated in the double ring ceremony before a background of lighted candelabra, baskets of gladioli and bouquets of carnations, interspersed with ferns.

Mrs. Grant provided the wedding music, which included the wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin", and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn. She accompanied the soloist, Mr. Gene Dundley, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Peter Mjolid, the radiant bride wore an imported gown of French chiffon velvet sprayed over tulle with Sweetheart neckline and tunic-length overskirt with band-inserts of tulle. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was caught in a double crown of seed pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a sheaf of pink roses.

DELINQUENCY OUT

LEAMINGTON, Ont. (CP)—Councillor John Garton says juvenile delinquency is non-existent in this town 30 miles southeast of Windsor because the area has a well-balanced program for youngsters, with adequate playgrounds.

Winner Will Need Brains Plus Beauty

HAMILTON (CP) — Erudition as well as elegance will decide who is to be holder of the Queen title of Miss Canada this year.

The 25 entries in the contest, which starts today and ends Saturday, are required to display talent as well as looks.

A New Brunswick entry, 19-year-old Constance Owen of Saint John, will deliver a speech about athletics for women. She has been best all-round athlete in her high school for two years. Vital statistics: 34-25-34, height 5 feet 4 inches.

Mary Gibson of Toronto is a highland dancer. Hamilton is providing pipers for the 18-year-old miss to skip to. If Mary Gibson wins the contest, she will spend the $1,000 scholarship prize on studying to be a teacher.

The winner will go to Atlantic City to compete in the Miss America contest.

VARIED TALENTS

The talents of the girls are varied, though many are professional models.

Joan Lounsbury, 21, "St. Catharines, is "Miss Mademoiselle" of Ontario, and her particular talent is baton twirling. If she wins the youngster wins, she will study to be a teacher of baton twirling.

Music student, Elizabeth Ann Limon, 19, Fort William, has brought a bundle of oil paintings to show the judges. She is 36-24-36.

Others in the contest include Sharon Grey, 19, Sudbury; and Velma Anne Smith, 25, Guelph.

Canadians Lag Far Behind UK, US Sisters

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian women lag far behind their sisters in the United Kingdom and United States when it comes to their rights and status, says Margaret MacLellan of Ottawa, prominent member of the Canadian Federation of University Women.

"Why, in England I hear that a group of students recently lobbied for a fair deal to men," she said in an interview Wednesday.

"It seems that when a man becomes a lord, his wife is automatically a lady, but when a woman is admitted to the House of Lords, the poor husband remains mister!"

Seriously, said Miss MacLellan, chairman of the federation's status of women committee, it is a "sad commentary of the apathy and indifference of Canadian women" that so few are prominent in Canadian politics.

"Of course, we're proud of the ones we've got—like Ellen Fairclough, first woman cabinet member. There should be many more like her."

The federation, along with other women's groups, was striving for equal pay for equal work for women and recognition of a widow's right to claim half her husband's estate tax free.

"Legislation has been passed in six provinces assuring a woman's right to equal pay but it's not enough just to have it on the statute books. There must be safeguards."

After-Dark Cashmeres

By ALICE ALDEN

Late afternoon and informal evening glamor isn't necessarily the glamor of silk or lace. Wool has its place, too, both woven and knitted. Specifically, luxurious cashmere crowned for many handsome and youthful after-dark clothes. Hadley does this new slipover of black cashmere. The neckline is square in front, descending to a deep V in back. Or, if so desired, the wearer can reverse the sweater for a quite different neckline. This glamor sweater is shown with a matching black wool skirt, softly slim in line.

So said my farmer friends when I phoned and said I was driving out to see them and what could I bring. What I did was jazz up a short rib roast with herbs (see below), Six of us, four of whom had young, ravenous appetites, ate it down to the last bare rib.

BRAISED SHORT RIBS WITH HERBS:

(This amount serves 4.) Two pounds short ribs (cut into serving pieces), 1-3 cup flour, ¾ cup fat, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup white vinegar, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon thyme, ½ teaspoon crumbled sage, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ½ bay leaf, ½ cup each sliced onions, fresh celery leaves, ½ head cabbage (1 to 1½ pounds) cut in 4 wedges. Melt fat in frying pan. Dredge ribs in flour, salt, pepper, thyme, sage, mustard by shaking together in paper bag. Brown in hot fat. Add all ingredients except cabbage. Cover and cook slowly until tender, — about 2½ hours. Add cabbage and cook about 20 minutes, or until cabbage is tender.

CHILI HASH:

Two tablespoons shortening, 1 onion, chopped fine, 1 clove garlic, chopped fine, 1 green pepper, chopped, 1 pound hamburg, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 or 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 2 cups chopped, peeled tomatoes (or 1 28-oz. can), ½ cup cold cheese, grated. Put shortening in frying pan. When hot, add onion, garlic, and green pepper and cook until onions are slightly browned. Add meat and cook until crumbly. Next, blend flour through mixture, then add remaining ingredients, except cheese. Turn heat to low and cook for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Just before serving stir in the cheese.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Jane N. — I want to go overseas.

Laura J. — It's a hare-brained idea.

Jane N. — My friend and I are two girls in our mid-30's. We have gone out together quite a lot and we both interested in marriage in the not-too-far future. It seems, to me, however, that our chances are mighty slim where we are now living. There is just a surplus of girls around. I feel we ought to pluck up our courage and move elsewhere — away from home. I would like to get a job overseas. So many girls do, and they have a lot of adventure and fun, even if they are disappointed with respect to a matrimony.

I don't feel I can do this on my own. But if I had Laura to go with me I think it would be much fun. But Laura is kind of chicken-livered.

Laura J. — I think it's a pretty silly idea to have to go travelling around the globe to find a husband. What is what it all comes down to, no matter how J a n e talks of adventure and fun.

I discussed it with my parents and they agree that it's a harebrained idea. I am certainly not interested in marrying a foreigner and I imagine will meet few eligible men overseas than we do at home.

The trouble with Jane is that she is hysterical about getting married before she has an old maid sister. She thinks that every day she lives her chances get smaller and smaller. I think she is too anxious and men sense that and don't like it. This would happen wherever we went.

The Council: We agree with Laura that one of the worst obstacles to making a match is hysteria on the subject of matrimony. Men sense that the girl is interested in them, not so much for themselves, but as a possible "catch." Nobody likes to be used as a means toward an end.

We do think, however, that there is nothing "harebrained" about the idea of girls placing themselves in a better position to meet men. In many areas the problem of surplus women is a real factor — an unfortunate one — in shaping lives.

Many girls have found adventure, fun and husbands too, through travel. However, it does take a bit of independence to do it. We do not understand why Jane is so dependent upon her friend to do what she feels she really wants. It may indicate she is not quite ready for the experience of being on her own so very far from home.

Only Jane can know her own real feelings. If she feels that she really wants a radical change, she should not try to impose-her attitude on her friend, but should pluck up the courage to do as she pleases.

On the other hand, Laura is wrong to blow cold air on Jane's enthusiasm. It is merely necessary for her to say that she does not care for this plan for herself.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

CORRECT FORM OF NAME ON PRINTED LETTER PAPER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For some time I have very much wanted to have some general-use letter-paper and also some stickers printed with my name and address. Now I have decided to order a supply. But I am uncertain about the form of name I should order, because in my window-shopping in local printing places I have noticed several forms of names used. I just don't want to make a mistake. I am a married woman. I am not a divorcee, or a widow. What form of name should I use: Mrs. John Madison (for example) or Mrs. Margaret Madison or Margaret Madison? In other words, exactly how should the name and address read when printed on this kind of letter-paper and on stickers?

— Reader

The printing on this general-utility letter-paper and on the stickers should read like a postal address. For example:

Mrs. John Madison
123 Fourth Street
Haven 5
Ontario

(Or city and province on one line: Haven 5, Ontario.)

Note your formal name at the top of the sheet, and you don't have to write it under your signature. The correct name-information is right there.

The name and address may be printed in a straight line across the top of the sheet (the form usually used on post cards). For example: Mrs. John Madison, 123 Fourth Street, Haven 5, Ontario

"HERE COMES THE BRIDE" . . . AND GIRL GUESTS WANT THEIR AISLE SEATS!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When two girls and two men go to a church wedding together, what is the proper seating arrangement for them in the pew to which the usher escorts them?

— The girls.

It's a wedding . . . and "the girls" should have the seats nearest the "romantic side," so to be able to gaze on the wedding party at close range when "Here Comes the Bride!" is played. The two companions may pass by the girls in the pew as gallantly as possible under the circumstances . . . or else the girls may stand at the end of the pew and let the men step in first. This is a procedure where "gentlemen first" is proper, more convenient for the ladies-in-the-aisle-seat.

CAMPBELLFORD

Canadian Legion L.A. Enjoys Bus Trip

CAMPBELLFORD — The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Branch 103, chartered two buses for 83 of their members and their friends on Wednesday, July 30th, for a trip to Watertown, N.Y.

Leaving the Legion Hall at 6:15 am, the ladies arrived in Watertown, via the Ivy Lea Bridge, at 10:30 a.m.

Some of the ladies took a bus tour around the city while others visited the Museum and the Public Library, which proved interesting to the group.

At 8 p.m. the buses left for the trip home with a stop over in Kingston for lunch.

This was the Auxiliary's first venture in organizing a trip, and it is hoped that it will be an annual event.

Gromyko Says U.S. Main Threat to Peace

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko answered President Eisenhower's Middle East peace bid today with a charge that the United States is the main threat to peace in that area.

Gromyko addressed the emergency Middle East meeting of the General Assembly shortly after Eisenhower had outlined a broad program for UN action, including creation of a standby police force and a regional agency to finance better living.

Gromyko charged that the policies of the United States and Britain "threaten to hurl mankind into the abyss of a new war with all its consequences."

He accused the United States of trampling the UN charter under its feet by sending military forces into Lebanon and that its direct aggression was a firm part of U.S. foreign policy.

Teaching Now Profession of Novices - Roberts

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Relations between teachers and school trustees have had an unusual amount of friction during the last year, the Canadian Teachers' Federation was told today.

Secretary George G. Crockery of Ottawa told the federation's 27th annual conference that events of the last year have shown teachers' organizations "will not be frightened or stampeded into acceptance of unfair settlements by threats of concerted action by trustees."

He called on teachers to strive for better teacher-trustee relations because Canada's students will best be served by harmonious and co-operative action.

He reported that federation membership has reached 90,000, a gain of 6,000 over last year.

UNQUALIFIED TEACHERS

President George Roberts of Oshawa said large numbers of unqualified persons are being herded into the profession.

"Not only are they impoverishing their pupils, they are diluting the profession which, because of rapid expansion, is becoming more than ever a profession of novices."

Government authorities were glossing over the realities and lulling the public into a false sense of complacency. Such measures defeated teachers' attempts at self-improvement more than poor salaries and equipment.

Eisenhower's 6-Point Plan Well Received in W. Europe, Hostility Shown in Egypt

LONDON (Reuters) — President Eisenhower's six-point Middle East program was generally welcomed in Western Europe today but in the Middle and Far East unofficial reaction varied from hostility in Egypt to disappointment in India.

In Britain, the Manchester Guardian summed up the feeling of many by calling the proposals "one of the most hopeful developments in the Middle Eastern policy of the Western powers."

But in Egypt, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram of Cairo said Eisenhower went to the United Nations to "hide his crimes, justify aggression" and threaten the Arabs. Editor Hussein Famy added that Eisenhower recently announced "America's stubborn decision following the old policy which led us to the brink of an Abyss."

There was resentment in Cairo that Eisenhower renewed his charges that Lebanon and Jordan were subjected to "indirect aggression."

INDIA DISAPPOINTED

Prime Minister Nehru of India refused to comment on the speech but said he found a full report of the president of the Western world's power. He warned that Eisenhower's whole program might fall through if he wanted to "protect" countries which are "synthetic" nation of Jordan.

The independent Berlin Welt Herdburg asked hopefully whether the plan signalled a new detente in the Middle East policy.

Eisenhower's speech generally was warmly applauded in Britain.

The Times said Eisenhower made two contributions to the task of establishing peace by proposing the creation of the Arab regional development bank and the setting up of a standby UN peace force.

"Obviously the United Nations would be able to act a great deal more rapidly if such a provision existed," The Times said.

The Daily Telegraph said "the very innocence and seeming naivety of the US Royal initiative may well be its most useful feature.

By placing the onus firmly on the United Nations and the Arabs themselves, the president may have elucidated the true nature of the dilemma."

MANY GET GAS

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Approximately 75 per cent of the residences in the city have been serviced with natural gas, first vice-president Walter Smith said. Another 4,353 premises could be serviced, officials say.

Plan May Have Come too Late Say Papers

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers today greet President Eisenhower's six-point program for the Middle East favorably but there are warnings that the plan may have come too late.

The London Times especially hails the Eisenhower idea of setting up an Arab development institution. But it says there might be a number of objections to establishment of a standby United Nations peace force. The paper urges a start on studing both questions.

The Manchester Guardian praises Eisenhower's personal plea as "conciliatory, firm and forward looking."

The Daily Mail says some of the president's ideas came late, adding "all would require time and there is little time available."

The Daily Herald, spokesman for the moderate left, says:

"What a pity that constructive thoughts of this kind take place before we rushed out troops . . . and before the United States refused Britain and France the use of our policy of peace trips over our own offices."

The British press reported Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko's address to the assembly but there was no editorial comment to match the space given Eisenhower.

Election Bid Cost Candidate $32,924, Lost

OTTAWA (CP) — Reginald J. Dawson, Progressive Conservative candidate spent $32,924 in bid to get elected to the Commons March 31—and lost.

A Commons return showed Wednesday that Mr. Dawson was the highest-spending candidate in the last federal election. He lost to Liberal Jean Marchand in Montreal Mount Royal riding won by Liberal Macnaughton who spent $34,305.

Of the four party leaders who ran for election, Opposition Leader Pearson spent the most—$10,000. Prime Minister Diefenbaker spent $6,651.

Election expenses of some of Mr. Diefenbaker's 32 cabinet colleagues were: Minister Without Portfolio Macdonnell, $8,040; Fi-Transport Minister Hees, $10,108; Health Minister Monteith, $8,000; Labor Minister Starr, $5,768; External Affairs Minister Smith, $1,698; Immigration Minister Fairclough, $4,350.

Indian Senator Makes Plea For Equality of His Race

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's first Indian parliamentarian — whose ancestors made this country their home long before white men even dreamed of its existence — has asked that his people in this present age be given equality with other Canadians.

Blackfoot tribesman Jim Gladstone made the plea Wednesday in his maiden Senate speech.

It's the now and for formality's sake is known as Senator Jim. He became the first Indian member of Parliament last January when Prime Minister Diefenbaker appointed him to the Senate.

The senator, who has lived most of his life in southern Alberta's Blood reserve, made it plain from his words that he does not intend to forget the strain of his blood.

He referred to his fellow senators as his "new tribe." But he said that when he speaks for Canada's 165,000 Indians "it will be only for them and not for those who are trying to tell them what to do."

"I want to be their voice in Ottawa until they all choose to take the federal vote for themselves."

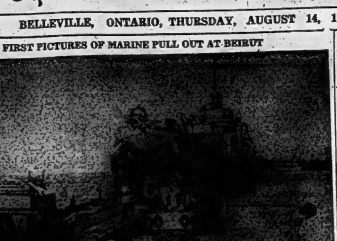
He said his appointment to the Senate had been described by some members of his race as "the biggest moment of their lives."

"Now they look forward to seeing some of the things which were promised to us by our great mother, Queen Victoria."

He found no difficulty in making plain what his fellow Indians want.

"As the original inhabitants they want not the patronage or tolerance of their fellows, but rather their understanding and help so that they may materially improve their present status in the months and years to come, so that the equality of opportunity' and 'equal status' will mean something in the future."

The Indians needed especially was education — "not only in the classroom but in learning the life of the white man today."



Senator Gladstone was critical of federal regulations that had taken an unsympathetic approach to Senators Vincent Dupuis (Liberal—Quebec) and Sauve (PC—Quebec).

"If we in Canada can freely grant aid, comfort and recognition to underdeveloped and distressed people all over the world, at the public expense," said Senator Gladstone, "it is only fitting and proper that we afford to have a careful and continuous regard to the fulfilment of the legitimate and highly humble, aspirations of our native Canadians."

Attempts were being made to restore initiative and confidence to the Indians in managing their own affairs but it would take a long time.

"When a man is treated like a child for many years, he is naturally slow to take any responsibility. On some reserves, the government has done the Indian's work, transacted his business, taken his allowance away from his home to be educated and given him no chance to think for himself or do anything as an individual."

Fleming Given Rough Time Over Proposed Tariff Changes

OTTAWA (CP) — Fighting off opposition criticism of proposed increases in Canadian tariffs on British wool cloth imports, Finance Minister Fleming charged Wednesday that the Liberals would be willing to let the textile industry in this country die.

At one point in the minister's sometimes lusty Commons performance, Deputy Speaker Pierre Sevigny intervened to urge Mr. Fleming to stick to the point.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker jumped up to urge that Mr. Fleming be given every possible latitude in "this high protection speech."

"Fool-in-mouth speech," interjected CCF House Leader Hazen Argue.

The minister picked up the debate ball following some bruising ground play over the field of tariff protection in general and the proposed increases in the British wool cloth preferential rate in particular. The rate would be raised to 40 cents a pound from 20 for British cloth for suiting and to 55 on cloth for overcoats.

INCREASES APPROVED

The increase to the wool tariff increases ended with approval by a vote of 130 to 32, the Progressive Conservative majority bowling over Liberal and CCF opposition.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Pearson had stated that he had no problems of the Canadian textile industry without suggesting how to solve them.

But J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista-Twillingate) had made clear that as far as the Liberals were concerned the industry could go bust if it couldn't make its own way.

Mr. Fleming added that the government's action is not on the whole solution, but the problem is linked with other government policy such as the plan to widen dumping duty legislation.

BLAMES IT ON LIBERALS

He said the textile industry's problem grew up while the Liberals held power. They had done nothing about it.

Mr. Pearson said the tariff increase resolution—"phony, insidious and useless"—had "dangerous implications" as a portent of a return to traditional Tory policy of protectionism.

Mr. Fleming said it is "a palpable untruth" to say the government has adopted a high protection policy. The result of the tariff increase would be that a man's suit would cost 15 cents more than previously and an overcoat 25 cents.

Mr. Pickersgill said it is difficult to think of any industry "less indigenous" to Canada. The raw material and machinery came from abroad and even the skills originally came from overseas.

Earlier, William Anderson (PC—Waterloo South) said the government is spending millions of dollars on supersonic CF-105 interceptors but doesn't "even have pants for the pilot."

He said three large textile mills in his area have closed recently and he had just received word that the last large cutting mill—he didn't identify it—will be forced to close unless something can be done in the next few days.

The wool tariff issue settled, the Commons swiftly moved through the rest of the detailed tariff changes proposed in Mr. Fleming's budget speech June 17. There was no further opposition.

Final approval then was given changes in the Excise Tax Act,

Suspect Held 15 Minutes After $5,000 Robbery

TORONTO (CP) — A motorcycle policeman arrested a bank robbery suspect less than 15 minutes after a downtown Toronto-Dominion branch had been held up Wednesday and shots exchanged between the bandit and 30-year-old driller.

The loot of $5,000 was recovered from a shopping bag where it had been stuffed with a pair of overalls which had a gun in the pocket.

Charged with the armed robbery is Frederick Allan Lane, 40-year-old laborer who police said had been out on bail on a charge of car theft receiving stolen goods and fraud.

12-BLOCK CHASE

Teller Peter Van Der Gluyten tripped the silent alarm when he became aware of the holdup, grabbed a gun from a cash drawer and fired several shots during a 12-block chase.

The holdup man forced a shot as he left the bank at Elm and Elizabeth streets. Police Constable Howard helped run down the suspect by relaying an account of the chase to police on his radio dispatcher.

The bandit tried to get into Mr. Antonacci's cab, couldn't because of a locked door, ran away and got his second wind. The taxi driver picked up another bank clerk and gave chase until he got stopped 12 blocks away opposite a lane.

The couple jumped out of the car and pointed towards a lane, the police said.

Police, aided by the cabbie's directions, arrested searched Lane and investigators and Constable Donald Belcher stopped a motorcycle cop on a nearby office carrying a shopping bag. When he asked the man what it was, he replied:

"All right copper, you've scored."

Moon Rocket Will Be Fired Next Sunday

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A rocket's new story of its trip toward the moon is scheduled to unfold in an auditorium here.

Informed sources say the U.S. Air Force will fire its first rocket at the moon next Sunday from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Once the rocket flashes into space, its scientific devices will, the air force says, send back information about the journey.

Half a dozen stations around the world will pick up and relay it.

Their raw information will be fed into huge "brains" of high speed electronic computers and correlated.

The findings will be announced simultaneously in Washington, D.C., Inglewood and here.

The tracking hub is in the heart of the Ramo-Wooldridge Corporation's Space Technology Laboratories headquarters.

Ramo-Wooldridge is a private industrial-scientific technological laboratories have been responsible for the Atlas missile and work and research for the air force intercontinental ballistic missile-to-space ballistic missiles program. Its six-building research and development centre covers 40 acres.

Malik on Way To UN Meet

BEIRUT (AP)—Official circles said Foreign Minister Charles Malik left for New York today ending a long wrangle over the Lebanese delegation to the special session of the United Nations General Assembly.

Some influential circles had insisted that no special delegation should be sent. They said that it should be left to Kerim Azkoul, permanent delegate to the UN, to answer any questions at the session.

The reason for the squabble was the opposition argument that Malik would represent only the administration of outgoing President Camille Chamoun and could not speak for future Lebanese policy. The opposition threatened to send its own delegation if Malik went to the UN.

Success Often Spelled 'Cash' Teachers Told

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — C. W. Both, Ontario's deputy education minister, told secondary night told teachers success today is too often spelled with a dollar sign.

Guest speaker at an education department dinner for delegates attending a conference of deputy Mr. Booth said:

"I'm not worrying money but there are other important things as well. Some teachers' organizations seem to be almost unfortunately associated in the public mind with the size of their budget and purpose of acquiring higher salaries regardless of service rendered.

"The truth in Canada is really much brighter. Our teachers' federations are performing remarkable and highly commendable services which the public knows too little — summer courses, in-service training, workshops, counselling services, loan and scholarship funds and research projects."

Seed Wheat Producers Lose Small Bushel Price Vantage Through Act of US Congress

WASHINGTON (CP)—Congress has wiped out a 15-cent-a-bushel price advantage that Canadian producers of seed wheat have enjoyed in the American seed market.

Whether it can make it stick depends on President Eisenhower. If he wants, he can use his presidential veto to nullify the congressional action but, with a congressional election in the offing, the chances are slim that he'll go along with the politicians.

The move was engineered by Michigan congressmen, led by Representative Alvin Bentley, who joined forces with Western seed growers to destroy a tariff advantage Canadian producers have had in the U.S. market for 16 years.

After a two-year fight, they put through Congress a bill to rescind a tariff concession which has applied to seed wheat treated with poisonous or other substances to make it unfit for human consumption. Wheat so treated comes into the U.S. bearing a duty of only about 5 cents a bushel compared with the 31-cent duty on wheat for milling or other food purposes.

FAVOR CANADIAN SEED

The legislation benefits only a few hundred U.S. seed producers who found they could not compete with the high-quality Canadian seed. The losers, besides the Canadian growers, are the many thousands of U.S. wheat producers who favor Canadian seed over the domestic variety.

But Canadian seed, because of its generally lower price, still will hold a competitive advantage in the U.S. market. Last year Canada sells in the U.S. for around $2.10 a bushel if the producer got $2.50 a bushel. It will go up to $2.20 a bushel. Comparable American varieties brought $2.50 to $2.80 a bushel.

The immediate cause of the congressional drive against the increase in recent years of imports of Canadian seed wheat, which in 1953 totalled 100,000 bushels. By 1956, they had risen to more than 600 bushels and congressmen supporting the legislation forecast a 1958 figure of 2,000,000 bushels.

RUST-RESISTANT VARIETIES

U.S. seed growers, backing their congressional supporters, claimed Canadian producers have used the tariff concession as a "loophole" and "subterfuge" to undersell U.S. producers. They said the provision never was meant to apply to seed wheat. It was designed to prevent the liberalized treaty their seed to take advantage of this.

The Canadian government said they treated their seed to prevent smut and other plant diseases. Furthermore, it claimed, the legislation would violate the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the U.S., if it adopted the law, would have to give Canada a tariff concession elsewhere.

The state department supported the Canadian case in congressional hearings on the bill and now is considering what action, if any, should be taken to compensate Canada.

Senator Haig Changes Words In Statement

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator John T. Haig said Wednesday in the Senate he did not state Tuesday that the Progressive Conservative party is in favor of election debts with "contracts on highways."

The former Senate government leader made the statement on a point of privilege in which he corrected Hansard, the official shorthand record of debates in the Senate.

The Manitoba Progressive Conservative was speaking Tuesday night on a government bill authorizing a loan guarantee certain CNR capital expenditures in 1958.

The bill also provides for the appointment of James A. de Lalanne of Montreal to audit CNR accounts for 1958, succeeding George A. Touche and Company, also of Montreal.

During the debate Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario) asked whether Mr. Lalanne's appointment "is the payment of an election debt." Mr. Lalanne was the unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in the Montmorency-Laval riding at Antoine-Wertmount in 1949.

"I hope it (Mr. Lalanne's appointment) is, but I doubt it," Senator Haig said. "Our fellows don't defer debts that way."

Senator Charles G. Hawkins (L—Nova Scotia) asked: "How do they pay them?"

Senator Haig is quoted in Hansard as stating:

"We prefer to give contracts on highways, not for debts that way."

Senator Haig said Wednesday his statement was:

"We prefer not to give contracts on highways, to pay our debts that way."

President's Address Along Lines of Canadian Thinking

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's officialdom studied the reports of President Eisenhower and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko's messages to the UN General Assembly and found some encouragement.

There was no immediate formal comment but it is known that Canada feels the plan for a United Nations police force is similar to criticism in the Eisenhower speech and also to views in line with general Canadian ideas on the Middle East problem.

The idea of a UN force to safeguard peace is one new idea that has always been advocated by Canada. It has been a principle behind the police charter was written in 1945 but no progress has been made in setting a permanent UN force because Russia would not go along with it.

Comments by the Russian delegate indicated the Soviet might now approve the creation of some sort of a UN peace-keeping force.

But there was no other apparent reason to believe the president would be any more successful with the proposition now than at any time in the past 13 years.

AID PLAN ACCEPTABLE

The president's plan for a Middle East economic aid program is in line with Canadian government proposals which have emphasized in recent days the necessity, for a Hoppean program of aid for the Middle East states.

Canada would no doubt be wholeheartedly in favor of any UN action to suppress inflammatory propaganda broadcasts and to control the shipments of arms to Middle East countries.

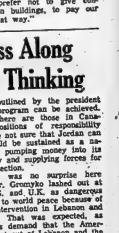
Many of the UN actions proposed by the president.

It is quite possible, however, there would be some question by Canadian authorities of President Eisenhower's sixth point in which he proposes a UN declaration of determination that Jordan's survival as a nation will be preserved presumably by American forces if forces now there by UN personnel.

There is no assurance, and perhaps a lot of doubt, that the hopes outlined by the president in his program can be achieved.

But there are those in Canada who feel it is the responsibility who are not sure that Jordan can or should be sustained as a client by pouring money into its treasury and supplying forces for its protection.

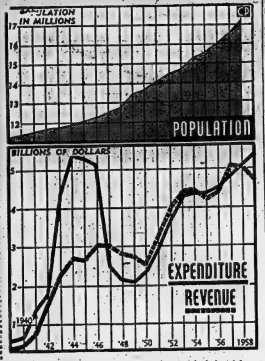
There was no surprise here that Mr. Gromyko lashed out at the U.S. and U.K. as dangerous threats to world peace because of their intervention in Lebanon and Jordan. That was expected, as was his demand that the Americans get out of Lebanon and the British get out of Jordan before the drive for UN economic and other assistance gets under way.



If Gromyko's speech indicated the Russian attitude it was that it permitted the dark-visaged, unsmiling Russian to be as mild and co-operative as he was.

Most likely the UN assembly and its other bodies have listened to the most bitter denunciations by Soviet spokesmen ordinarily denunciations of the U.S. as a warmonger.

United States spokesmen in the UN have been fairly unperturbed by these denunciations of Russia.



President Eisenhower did not hesitate to indicate he realized what Russia had been attempting to do with the present Middle East crisis.

"Jest a Second"

"How long have you had the telephone on today? The water is high this flower vase is boiling."

LARGER POPULATION, GREATER EXPENDITURE

Canadians, fast-growing in population and in industrial power, have been fast-growing also in expenditures and revenues of their federal government. Population since 1939 has risen by some 6,000,000 to more than 17,000,000.

Revenue and expenditure in the same period have each shown increases of around ten times, from about $500,000,000, to about $5,000,000,000.

Except for the post-war years, a few large post-war budgetary surpluses and the current year's large deficit, expenditures and revenues have stayed fairly close together.

In the war years expenditures far out-stripped revenues. (CP Newsmap.)

Canadians Paid Federal Government for Smokes and Drinks Forty-Four Years Ago

This article, one of a series, describes the development of Canadian taxation policies. Thursday: Tax cuts have been substantial since the war.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Once upon a time Canada had only two federal taxes—customs duties on goods entering the country and excise duties on liquor and tobacco.

Both were indirect taxes, levied on goods before they reached the consumer.

There was no sales tax — today's biggest indirect money raiser—nor any of today's other miscellaneous indirect taxes.

And there were no direct taxes—no personal income tax, no corporation income tax, no succession duties.

LONG TIME BACK

The last time this was so was 44 years ago in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1914, before the First World War.

In that year customs duties brought in $104,700,000 and excise duties $21,400,000, for total tax revenue of $126,100,000. Non-tax revenue—nearly half of it from the post office — yielded $37,100,000. Grand total revenue was $163,200,000.

The national government was run mainly by money that came as a by-product of trade with other countries, plus revenues from liquor, tobacco and a few other items.

The population was estimated at 7,602,822, so taxation averaged $16.57 per person and all revenue averaged $21.21.

Statistics are scarce for that period but the gross national product — the total value of all goods and services produced in Canada—has been estimated as somewhere above the $2,000,000,000 mark.

DIFFERENT STANDARD

Wages and salaries were low by today's standards. The dollar was worth about 2½ times what it is today and there were fewer things to spend it on.

Now move up 25 years to 1939, the year the Second World War began.

Taxes were still relatively light but the widened base of today's tax structure had long been apparent.

Personal and corporation income taxes — introduced during the First World War — were modest and had little impact on the average person, but their total amounts were substantial.

The sales tax — introduced in 1920 — had become the largest producer. In 1921 customs duties had ceased to be the major revenue factor.

Total tax revenue in 1939 was $436,300,000 and all revenue $502,200,000, including the following: Customs duties $78,800,000; excise duties $51,300,000; sales tax $122,100,000; personal income tax $46,900,000; corporation income tax $55,000,000.

The population was 11,267,000. Taxation averaged less than $39 per person and all revenue less than $45.

The gross national product was $5,626,000,000. Industrial earnings averaged $22.44 a week. The purchasing power of the dollar was about one-third lower than in 1914 but nearly double what it is today. There was a growing list of things to buy.

Move forward another 19 years to 1958. Note in passing that in 1943 direct taxes replaced indirect taxes as the major sources of revenue.

Tax revenue in this fiscal year is estimated at $4,224,000,000 and total revenue at $46,652,000,000 including the following: Personal income tax $1,360,000,000; corporate income tax $1,019,000,000; sales tax $700,000,000; excise taxes and duties $340,000,000; customs duties $450,000,00.

$250 PER PERSON

The population was estimated at 17,610,000 at June 1. Taxation is about $250 per person and total revenue about $276.

The gross national product is about $30 billion. Industrial wages average more than $70 a week. The purchasing power of the dollar is about half that of 1939 and about two - fifths that of 1914. There are many more things to spend it on.

Expressed another way, the tax increases look easier.

In 1914, taxation was about six per cent of the gross national product; in 1939 it was eight per cent; in 1946 it reached a high of 28.5 per cent; and this year it is about 13 per cent.

The spending tax and revenue figures reflect two world wars, the depression, a long post-war boom, inflation and a revolution in social and political thinking.

In 1914 the federal government entered little into the life of the average person except as a subject for political debate.

It had minor defence costs. It took virtually no direct interest in you if you were unemployed or sick; in how you were fed or clothed when you were a child; or in how you fared when you were old.

Today it spends about one-third of its revenue to defend you. From its general levies or special levie it aids you if you are unemployed; makes a grant to your parents if you are a child; pays you a pension if you are old.

TO PICK LOW'S SUCCESSOR

EDMONTON (CP) — Social Credit Leader Solon Low presided Tuesday at a meeting of former Social Credit members of Parliament and constituency executive representatives. The session were expected to discuss the date of a national convention to choose a successor to Mr. Low who has announced his intention to resign party leadership for health reasons. He had held the position for 14 years.

DISPUTE OVER FOAM

LONDON (Reuters) — The Civil Service Union accused the government Tuesday of firing six tavern managers because they were selling too much beer and not enough foam, but Home Secretary R. A. Butler said the managers of the government-owned pubs were fired because they weren't making enough profit. The government operates about 100 pubs near the Scottish border.

Water Supply To Be Studied By Engineers

CAMPBELLFORD — A special meeting of the Campbellford Public Utilities Commission was held on Thursday evening in the Board room, with all members present. Mr. Scott of the British Canadian Engineering Consultants, Toronto office, was present on invitation of the special committee of Water Supply.

On motion, the British Canadian Engineering consultants were employed by the Commission, on the committees' recommendation, to make a complete study of the water supply of the town with special emphasis to be put on the problems of water pressure throughout the system and the improvement of the water for drinking. Following the meeting, the consultant and the committee visited the pumping station.

It was recommended by the committee named to view the water works truck that the commission replace this vehicle with a new one and tenders to asked for in the current issue of the local newspaper. A rolled vote was taken, Councillor McGregor voting "nay".

The matter of heating the workshop was considered and tenders are being called for an oil furnace for this purpose.

Fire Marshal Advises Use of Amber Lights

DESERONTO — The monthly meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Mutual Aid Association was held in Deseronto on Wednesday night of last week. There were 40 some firemen in attendance from the various departments of the two counties.

Some unusual fires that had occurred in different localities were reported on and there was some discussion regarding fire department problems. H. Mallory, of the Fire Marshal's office, advised the meeting that legislation had been passed to allow volunteers to carry an amber light on their cars as a means of identification. These lights are now available from automotive supply houses.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in Marmora on the first Wednesday of September.

After the meeting adjourned, the Deseronto Firemen served a tasty and bounteous repast to the visitors.

...we hear that Admiral TV for '59 is out of this world

Take a look at Admiral TV for '59 and you'll be saying the same thing. It's like watching TV for the very first time . . . discovering that wonderful things have been happening since TV first came into your life. It's finding that Admiral gives you a picture so clear and bright and realistic that it's almost 3-dimensional . . . that Admiral sound is High Fidelity sound . . . that Admiral controls have done away with all the little irritations you've been putting up with for years. It's the enjoyment of having TV that's an attractive piece of modern furniture . . . as Admiral TV for '59 introduces "decorator approved" originals that are even slimmer than the first Admiral slimline models.

Take one look inside Admiral TV for '59, and you'll see some of the things that have made these advances possible. There's the 110° picture tube . . . the shorter tube that has banished the old-style "bustle" in the back that once marred the appearance of your TV. There's the horizontal chassis that reduces operating temperature, lengthens the effective life of components, helps to make possible that slimmer-than-ever cabinet. There's the power transformer that delivers more consistent power, steps-up voltage delivered to the picture tube.

There are so many new Admiral features in the '59 line. But they all add up to viewing that's away ahead of anything you've yet experienced. So if you want to get the most out of viewing, see your Admiral dealer . . . let him show you just what we mean. Then believe your eyes . . . if you can . . . and enter your own new world of TV entertainment with Admiral TV for '59.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Tomorrow the shortest two weeks of the year starts for this department. We shall be heading for the beauty, charm and cuisine of mine host Harvey and Hilary Frid at the ultra-comfortable Maitland Inn.

There in the shadow of the Big Rock we're going to loaf, rust and "blackmudge" while the pride of the family does the swimming, fishing and galavanizing with the youngsters of his age.

The duties of the sports department will be left in the capable hands of Gary Alexander for the duration of the summer vacation.

We shall, with a large degree of reluctance, miss the important Eastern Senior Hockey League meeting being held in Hull on Saturday. Much may come of this confab, and much should be accomplished.

For one thing the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens' Sammy Pollock should show his hand regarding his senior "A" entry. Pollock has indicated in various parts of the province that he will enter a club although the league has not been officially notified. . . .

A report from Sudbury says that Pollock has stated he is in favor of the Eastern League playing an interlocking schedule with the OHA-NOHA at present consisting of the Sudbury Wolves. The story quotes Pollock as saying he must win over Drury Denzes of the Belleville McFarlands. Denzes contacted here says he wants no part of any interlocking with any team anywhere. The Mics will play all their games in the Quinte area.

It has been rumoured that spacks still fly at the combat when Pollock and Blair try to get affiliates. Kingston, Belleville, Pembroke and Cornwall want no part of them. .

The latest story of hockey's will-o-the-wisp, Harry Sinden, is that he has signed with his old love, the Whitby Dunlops. This from the horse's (Blair) mouth itself. Sinden has been flitting from Whitby to Belleville to Kingston causing much conjecture, a flock of rumors, meaningless statements, and no facts.

Down Kingston way playing coach Bus Gagnon has signed CKLC stars Ray Partridge and Billy Colvin. Colvin was the league's top point-getter last season and will play on a line with Partridge and the coach. Kingston will also be favored to negotiate with players from the defunct Cincinnati club of the International League. Pollock has given his okay to this deal. Now will you be surprised to see Kingston vote in favor of affiliation for Cincinnati?

A story comes out of Kingston that their ace goalie Lynn Davis (again the fine hand of Pollock) will likely be back in the Limestone nets while John Gauthier, who developed into one of the better rearguards in the league last season, will not be back, but will do his puckchasing with the Ottawa-Hull crew.

A report out of Pembroke has it that Wally Lesser has given assurance he will operate a club despite the fact he has lost the services of playing coach Bucky Buchanan.

But Lesser should not worry. Ron Craig of the Pembroke Observer has devised a means to end all his hockey woes. After commenting in general on the current situation Craig comes up with "the talk up North Bay way is they would like to get into a league with the Kings. If the Trappers stir up a little dust in the right direction it could be the beginning of a new hockey league".

"The Eastern League," Craig mutters, "will have to pardon us for dreaming, but a loop composed of Sudbury, North Bay, Pembroke, Ottawa and Hull would be ideal."

He paints a pleasant picture. "For the Lumber Kings such a league would be perfect . . . Local fan interest would be tremendous . . . The loyal could make midweek journeys down to Ottawa (last season they couldn't get 'em down the street). Friday - Saturday trips to North Bay wouldn't be a strain and there would be those pleasant Saturday-Sunday and Hull on Sundays."

Craig goes on and on pointing out the wonderful advantages of such a league. When his dream vanishes into thin air and he comes down to earth, someone should inform him that it would not be a bad idea if hockey teams were formed and functioning in the centres mentioned, before the dream-loop is formed.

Cincinnati Reds are keeping the Milwaukee Braves in the National League pennant race.

After losing a two-game series at Pittsburgh, the Braves got well again at Cincinnati Wednesday night, sweeping the Redlegs 9-2 and 4-3 in a tri - night doubleheader. That gave the world champs a 10 - 3 record against Cincinnati and a 16-game lead over the eight Pirates, who outlasted Philadelphia 10-9.

The Bucs now have won seven in a row—their longest success story since 1949, when they won eight straight.

RAP ST. LOUIS

Third-place San Francisco rapped St. Louis 11-3, and Los Angeles escaped the cellar (while Cincinnati tumbled in) by beating Chicago Cubs 6-5.

A pair of solo, sixth - inning home runs by Ed Mathews and Andy Pafko bagged the nightcap for the Braves and Bob Buhl won his 12th with a six-hitter. Starter Alex Kellner gave up both blows.

Joe Adcock's two - run 15th homer got the opener out of reach in a three-run first inning against Joe Nuxhall in which Braves then made it a rout with six in the eighth, with winning pitcher Lew Burdette getting two singles.

The Pirates rushed to a 6-0 lead in two innings on a pair of two-run homers by Bob Clemente and Bill Mazeroski and a shot collector Jack Meyer (1-6).

SMITH WINS FIRST

Bob Smith, up from Buffalo first, in relief, but Vern Law had to get the final out after the Pirates had closed the gap on a pair of pinch-hit, three-run homers by Rip Repulski and Bob Boyer, who scored another three in the ninth, two on Willie Mays' homer.

Reliever Jim Davenport, Valmy Thomas and Willie Mays homered with seven hits between them while Ruben Gomez won his seventh with a eight-hitter, Wilmer Mizell (8-8) lost it.

The Dodgers, blowing a 5-0 lead, finally got to Cubs one out in the ninth when Don Zimmer singled and Gino Cimoli followed with a pinch double off losing reliever Don Elston (7-7). Cal Neeman then hit a game-ending fly ball to on, for the Cubs while Ernie Banks, 35 major league homers, hit his 35th. Fred Kipp (5-4) won it in relief, relirng the side in the 12th with one pitch.

A couple of petales had them selves a ball Wednesday night in the American League.

The Washington Senators, who hadn't beaten Whitey Ford in almost four years, rapped the New York Yankees' slobbery southpaw ace but good in a five-run frame for a 9-4 victory.

And the Baltimore Orioles, who had last seven in a row to Frank Sullivan of Boston Red Sox, beat the big right-hander 2-1.

CUT YANKS LEAD

These turn-abouts cut the Yankees lead to a mere 1½ games over second-place Chicago and dumped Boston into a third-place tie with Detroit, two back. The Sox split a twi-night pair with Kansas City, winning 5-4 after an 11-inning 2-1 defeat. The Tigers swept two from Cleveland 6-2 and 3-2.

Roy Sievers tied Mickey Mantle for the American League lead with his 32rd home run, a two-run shot in the fourth that broke a scoreless deadlock. Sievers' score-less innings at 17, Eddie Yost and Clint Courtney also homered for the Nats and Norm Siebern and Hank Bauer for the Yanks.

Gene Woodling drove in both Oriole runs, breaking up a 1-1 tie with a single in the seventh. Arnie Portocarrero (9-11) made it five straight over Boston with the help of relief help.

SIMPSON'S HOMER WINS

Harry Simpson's home run won it for Washington, ending Dick Donovan's winning string at five. Ned Garver (9-9) was the loser with a seven - hitter, although walking six.

The White Sox nailed the nightcap with two out in the ninth on Billy Goodman's single, a pinch single off losing reliever Bob Grim. Bob Shaw won in relief after the Sox had scored in the five-run fourth capped by Roger Maris' grand slam circuit blast.

Herb Moford allowed only three hits in the nightcap at Cleveland as the Tigers took their fifth in six tries. Moford got some support to Vic Power and a double and RBI triple to Reno Bertoia off Cleveland outfielder who worked three hitless, shutout innings of relief in the opener for Jim Wilson.

The Tigers took the opener with seven consecutive hits in a five-run fifth inning. Paul Foytack (8-10) gave 11 hits but went all the way, giving up a run in the first and J. W. Porter's homer in the ninth. Rookie Gary Bell (4-6) lost it.

Eskimos Set of Playoffs From There, Take Your Pick

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If pre - season figuring is anywhere near accurate, western football standings may be turned topsy-turvy in the 1958 season, opening tonight in Winnipeg.

On paper, that's the only thing being conceded in the five Western Interprovincial Football Union clubs is that Edmonton Eskimos will make the three-team playoffs.

From there, it's a matter of take your choice.

Eskimos, seeking a sixth straight league pennant, and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who won the league championship by knocking off Edmonton 2-1 in the final last TES, are the first to show their stuff.

They meet in Winnipeg Stadium tonight amid an atmosphere of mutual admiration, the respective coaches picking the opponents as the team to beat this season.

OTHERS RATED A CHANCE

None, however, is conceding that Calgary Stampeders, British Columbia Lions and Saskatchewan Roughriders won't be in the playoffs when the 16-game schedule ends Nov. 1. They finished in that order behind Edmonton and Winnipeg last year.

Bomber coach Bud Grant says Eskimos are the No. 1 team, Lions may grab the second playoff spot and his Winnipeg club will have to fight with Calgary for the third.

Sam Lopiy, who succeeded Popiy as Edmonton's head coach, picks Saskatchewan for top club and looks to the other three opponents as improved over a year ago.

The league has a few new outstanding faces—but for the most part the fans are likely to see familiar names come through when the chips are down.

TWO NEW COACHES

Lyle and George Terlep, who succeeded fired Frank Filchock with Saskatchewan, are the newcomers in the coaching ranks.

Among the new player names expected to stand out during the season, Calgary's Iranian prince, fullback Jim Bakhtiar from the University of Virginia, is probably the best two - handed ballcarrier weighs in at 198 and is expected to fill the vacancy left unfilled by Howie Waugh, top ground gainer in the league in 1954.

Eskimos' new offensive centre Don Stephenson of Georgia Tech as their offensive co-captain and while Bombers have some well-publicized talent in end Willar Dowsett of Nebraska, Archollis tackle Frank Rigsey from Iowa and half back Jim Yarone of the University of Miami.

Fullback Cookie Gilchrist is the head line of the Stampeders' camp, having come to Riders from Hamilton where Terlep was assistant coach last year.

Quarterback George Herring, from Mississippi Southern via the United States Army, is looked to for big things in British Columbia.

LONG SHOT WINS

CHICAGO (AP)—Battle Heart, a 45-to-1 shot, edged the 4-to-5 favorite, Dark Vintage, to win the $107,150 Prairie Stakes for three-year-old fillies in Arlington Park Wednesday. It was Dark Vintage's first defeat in seven starts. Ridden by Ken Church of Windsor, Ont., Battle Heart was timed in 1:10 4-5 for the six furlongs and paid $94.80, $24.80 and $10. Nasturtium was third.

May Decide Finalists in Junior Tennis

OTTAWA (CP)—Finalists may be decided today in all 15 classes of the Canadian junior tennis championships.

Canadians and Americans are battling each other in all but one of the six singles semi-finals. Four Americans are fighting it out in the boys' singles event.

Play is at the semi- and quarter - final stages of most doubles, which started two days later.

Yvon LeBlanc, 18, of Marieville, Que., and Vicki Berner, 19, of Vancouver, carried Canada's highest hopes of gaining berths in finals.

The latter was favored to defeat Paul Sullivan of Belmont, Mass., in one junior men's singles semifinal today, while Gerald Dubie, top-ranked American from Hamilton, Ont., was overwhelming favorite to beat Keith Carlson, 17, of Montreal in the other.

Miss Berner meets Sharon Pritchard of Windsor, Ont., in the juvenile singles semi-finals.

The girls' singles semi-finals pit Janet Berner against Nadine Neiter of Scarsdale, N.Y., and Miss Hickman against Marie Stubbs of Winnipeg.

In Wednesday's action in the girls' doubles, Carpenter and Derek Penner of Montreal defeated a Canadian-American team of Rich Lieberman, Philadelphia, and Miss Hickman 6-2, 6-3 in the semi-finals.

Bobby Piers of Truro, N.S., the only boys' singles winner, and the only Canadian to reach the open juvenile semi-finals, beating Paul Kent of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., 6-1, 6-3.

In the opening round of the girls' and boys' mixed doubles, Miss Berner and Jeffrey Dubie of Hamtramck, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Miss Neiter and Oliver and J. Crane of Buffalo turned back N. Burke and R. McAllister of Montreal 6-3, 6-3.

Another Cornwall pair went out in the second round of the boys' doubles as McAllister and G. Henderson lost 1-6, 7-5, 6-4 to Bower and M. Carol of Ottawa.

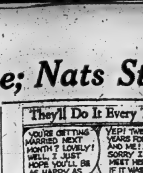
Eleanor Dodge Favored in Women's Tennis

TORONTO (CP)—Seven of Canada's seeded women tennis players battle it out today in the quarter - final round of the women's singles in the Ontario tennis championships.

The favorite, Eleanor Dodge of Montreal, meets the only unseeded player in the last eight, Miss Judy Barb Hughes of Halifax at 2 p.m. EDT on centre court.

Miss Dodge, who won the Canadian title two weeks ago at Vancouver,

Susan Butt of Victoria, second seeded in the tourney, meets Ann Freedhoff of Toronto, eighth ranked in the country, while Mrs. Nancy Bird Walton of Toronto, No. 1, faces Jean O'Brien of Toronto, fourth-ranked. In the other set Miss Benita Senn of Toronto, seventh-ranked, meets Mrs. Linda Beecroft of Toronto, fourth-ranked.



TOUGH COMPETITION

All these players won their matches Wednesday with comparative ease, although Miss O'Brien was given stiff competition from Inge Weber of Kitchener. Miss O'Brien, down 2-6 after the first set, rallied in the second to win 7-5 and took the third 6-0 as many of Miss Weber's shots went into the net.

The men's singles also moved into the quarter-finals today with Toronto's Don Fontana, second seeded in Grade A, meeting Hugh Peacock, also Toronto, in the feature match.

In the others, Don Plant of Toronto faces Gordon Hughes of Halifax, Jim Bentley, Toronto, meets Hugh Cooke, Hamilton and John Swann goes against Carmelo Belton in an all-Toronto match.

Point in Dying Seconds Gives Cats Win Over Argos

By WILF GRUBON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Grey Cup champions in 1957 but flops in pre-season exhibition tests this year, ended their slump Wednesday night but they did it more on the mistakes of Toronto Argonauts than on anything else.

The Tiger-Cats squeaked out a 22-21 win over their arch rivals in the Big Four football union when kicking star Cam Fraser booted a single point with 40 seconds left to play after Argos blew a 14-point lead in the final quarter with costly errors and bonehead plays.

Two intercepted Toronto passes, a bad snap on a third-down kick play and a 45-yard runback of an Argo kick paved the way for Hamilton to bounce back and lose for two points that cut Argos' lead to 21-13.

The victory was Hamilton's first in four exhibition games. For Argos, it was their second defeat after a win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

CAN'T RUN IN U.S.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The Australian Amateur Athletic Union has refused Herb Elliott, the record 3:54.5 miler, permission to run in the United States in December. Arthur Hodsdon, secretary, said: "We rejected the invitation because Elliott is a master athlete and extension this year of his 28-day overseas travel on expense rules. He has exhausted his time."

Fraser's single, Hamilton's other points came on two touchdowns by Robert Bobo, a new halfback import from Ohio State, a convert by Billy Graham and safety touch by defensive end Pete Neuman.

ONCE LED 14-0

Argos counted three touchdowns by Shatto, C. R. Roberts and Joe Petrosino and two of them were converted by Vic Kristopaitis. The Toronto club led 21-7 early in the fourth quarter after leading 14-0 at the end of the first 15 minutes, 21-14 at half-time and 14-7 at the three-quarter mark.

Neuman, who shaded Fraser by a few yards in a fine-kicking duel throughout the game, couldn't handle a bad snap on a third-down kick play to give Toronto the ball on the 21. Neuman crashed in to smear him behind the goal line for two points that cut Argos' lead to 21-13.

The victory was Hamilton's first in four exhibition games. For Argos, it was their second defeat after a win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Carmichael Takes Major Awards At Fair Track and Field Events

LAC Dick Carmichael of RCAF Station Trenton raced across the finish line about one yard ahead of team mate LAC Mike Day at the Fairgrounds Tuesday afternoon to capture the fourth annual Mead Mile.

The Mead Mile was one of two events which took place in the abbreviated field day. The quarter-mile was also completed with because of a lack of entries the relay and the half-mile were cancelled.

RCAF Trenton runners and another group from Point Anne were the only ones to participate in the events. A third relay team from Quinte Secondary School was entered in the relay but did not appear, forcing the cancellation.

Carmichael navigated the mile in four minutes and 45 seconds, well off his record time last year when he also won the mile event. His time then was 4.38 even.

He and Day travelled the course side by side Tuesday never more than a yard apart, both finishing strong. Third place went to Ron Hull of Point Anne while fourth went to the Point's Ed Smith. Another Point Anne runner, Jim Gannon, was a fifth starter but did not complete the first lap of the half-mile track. Hull finished far back of Carmichael and Day while Smith was well behind him.

Mr. Gerald Wishart, vice-president of the Mead Johnson company, presented Carmichael with the Mead Trophy following the race. Minutes later Carmichael completed the afternoon by also taking first place in the quarter-mile race.

Eight runners started this event, five from RCAF and three from Point Anne. All five skimmed finished in the first five spots while one Point Anne runner took sixth and the other two did not finish.

Carmichael was given quite a run by team mate Jerry Corriveau while Bob Bird finished third for Winchester fourth and Mike Day fifth. Jim Gannon of the Point came in sixth. They came in a group with the other Point Anne boys apparently dropping out when they saw it would be impossible to catch the leaders.

Lack of interest shown by Belleville runners was a disappointment and may force cancellation of the track events next year, with the exception of the Mead Mile.

Officials yesterday were: starter, Jack Bennett; timers, Bill Gault, Bruce Bishop; announcer, Jack Devine; judges, George Carter, Garry Alexander and Bob Phillips.

Leafs Squeeze Win Over Jets; Shave Margin

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus Jets of the International League may forget their current losing streak, but they certainly won't forget Stan Jok, slugging third baseman for the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Monday night Jok hit three homers to beat the Jets. Tuesday night he squeezed home the winning run. Wednesday night he did once more with another homer.

With the score tied 6-6 in the sixth inning, Stan lined his 16th homer of the year into the seats. The Maple Leafs went on to a 9-8 victory.

The Jets, who have lost 13 of their last 17 games, blew a 6-2 lead. Besides Jok's homer, Archie Wilson, Jim King and Tim Thompson hit four-baggers for the winners. Marlins edged Rochester Red Wings 5-7 and Buffalo Bisons edged Havana Sugar Kings 3-2. Montreal Royals, scheduled to play at Richmond, were postponed with rain.

Windy McCall came on to pitch 1-13 innings of shutout relief for the Marlins and protect the victory for John Gray, his first. With Rochester leading 2-1, Frank Herrera hit a three-run homer in the third to tie it. Jim Coker hit one an inning later to put Miami ahead and a big four-run fifth inning for the Marlins

Hutton Meets Eric for World Title

"This bout with Yukon Eric Friday night at Memorial Arena is definitely for the world title" heavyweight wrestling champion Dick Hutton said today.

"There will be no fooling. Eric is determined to win the belt and I am just as determined to keep it. He will give me a good battle, but I have no fears as to the outcome", Hutton said.

Hutton was right. He and Yukon are ring enemies from away back and tomorrow night's titular tussle should be one of the best seen here in many a moon.

The champion can dish it out any style you like it, but he'll have a sturdy foeman in the barefoot lumberjack.

Dara Singh and Lord Layton meet in the semi-final in what should be a battle of science and speed. Frenchy Vignal and Krusher Korman open the show.

MONTREAL (CP) — Pro Leo Desforges trudged wearily into the clubhouse of the St. Sauveur les Mont golf course Wednesday night, claiming a Canadian record for non-stop golfing.

Desforges played eight rounds, a total of 144 holes, on the hilly course in the Laurentians north of Montreal and averaged 75 strokes for each 18. Par is 72.

Michael Spoke at Reunion Of the Aging 'Millionaires'

RENFREW (CP) — Mike Rodden, in sport all his life as player, referee and sports writer, says the Renfrew Millionaires brought the drama to hockey and made it the multi-million-dollar enterprise it is today.

Rodden, sports editor of the Kingston Whig - Standard, was paid tribute Wednesday night to the surviving members of the Millionaires hockey club of 1909-10.

Five of them returned to what Fred (Cyclone) Taylor called "old haunts" to help Renfrew celebrate its centennial. This town of 8,000 threw a big banquet in their honor at which Rodden, great speaker, completed a day of reminiscences for the old hockey warriors.

Besides Taylor, 74, of Vancouver, they were Lester Patrick, 74, of Victoria; Newsy Lalonde, 70, of Montreal, Bert Lindsay, 77, of Sarnia and Herb Jordan, 72, of Renfrew.

ONLY ONE MISSING

Frank Patrick, Lester's brother, is the only other surviving member of the memorable Millionaires but he was unable to attend due to poor health. He sent his regrets from Vancouver.

Rodden, outside the National Hockey League record of refereeing 1,187 games, said: "There are much brought drama to hockey. They made possible the million - dollar enterprises that were made great by this sport.

The Millionaires, a star-studded team put together by the late Renfrew millionaire Alexander Barnet and Senator M. J. O'Brien for the sole purpose of winning the Stanley Cup, folded in two years after falling short of the mark. Montreal Wanderers beat them 5-0 in the cup final.

The five others who formed the team, all dead now, were Fred Whitcroft, Bruce Rowe, Hay Millar, Jack Fraser and Ed Hogan.

CUP TO RIBSTON

Rodden recalled a game between the Millionaires and Ottawa Senators. "I say literally and figuratively cut to ribbons."

Stories about that game conflicted.

Art Ross, who at the time played for Haileybury and who has since retired as general manager of the NHL Boston Bruins, had said earlier jokingly: "I played in many but lies in all my life."

The Haileybury "massacre" was given this slant by Jordan:

"We beat them by 14 - 0 on singles while Jerry Brennan had three. Cole with two his was the only scored much. It made for talk and a good time.

"Those fellows are getting pretty old and their memories aren't as good as they used to be," said Lalonde. "But I'll dents they recall usually lead to arguments."

Lou Costello Doing Fine After Split With Abbott

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"When I saw Martin and Lewis break up, I thought it was a mistake. Now they're as big as ever doing it solo. Maybe the same could happen to me."

This was Lou Costello's comment on his own breaking away from a long-time comedy team. And it appears that Lou's own fortunes are prospering now that he has been split from Bud Abbott.

Tonight Lou makes his live debut as a single at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas. He's going back to where he got his start playing comedy sketches. But it's not a matter of retrogression on Lou's part. He's drawing many, many times what he earned as a young comic amid the bumps and grinds in a Minsky's burlesque show.

Recently he completed two filmed shows for the new TV season. He plays a light comedy role in a G.E. Theater segment and a straight drama in a "wagon train" adventure.

IN NEW ROLE

"That's right—straight drama" he said, "this is a Lou Costello nobody has ever seen before. I play it with a heavy beard and all—and no laugh in the whole show."

Unlike the Martin and Lewis split, Bud and Lou broke up amicably. The reason was simply that no one was buying Abbott and Costello. Bud chose to rest on his laurels. Not Lou.

He's busier than he was in the heyday of the A and C teaming. And happy, too.

"I never felt so good in my life," he said.

AT THE PARK — Robin Hughes is threatened by an Amazon Indian in this scene from "Manhunt in the Jungle", the WarnerColor adventure filmed in the head hunting backcountry of South America, which opens tonight at the Park Theatre. Hughes stars as Comdr. George M. Scott in the true story of the search for famed explorer Col. P. H. Fawcett, who disappeared while looking for a lost city. On the same program "The Left Handed Gun" starring Paul Newman, Lita Milan, John Dehner and Hurd Hatfield. Both features are first Belleville showings.

Alberta Launches Five-Year Plan For Development

Dividend Legislation Shelved at Year's End

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's Social Credit government is shelving its citizens' dividend legislation at the end of this year as it launches a five-year development program, including special capital projects that will absorb the dividend appropriations.

Expanded services from every increased education expenditure, reorganization of the civil service and establishment of a separate department of tourism are among other moves.

Municipal Finance Corporation operations, suspended this year, will be resumed next year with a broader scope.

DIP INTO RESERVES

The program is expected to lift government expenditures during the next five years to roughly $1,500,000,000. Premier Manning estimates it will have to dip into its $330,000,000 reserve funds for between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 to make up the difference between revenue and income.

Premier E. C. Manning announced the plan Thursday. He described it as "the most vigorous year anti-recession development program that has yet been put into most aggressive and far-reaching program of its kind ever attempted by any provincial government in Canada."

The announcement followed a caucus of Social Credit members of the legislature and came on the eve of the 1958 Conservative provincial leadership convention here.

NO SNAP ELECTION

The premier scotched rumors of a snap election. He said he has no intention of calling an election "ahead of the normal time when elections generally are held." Under statute he must call one before the end of 196 and under normal procedure one should be called next year.

The five special projects that will absorb the dividend finances were headed by a program to erect 50 modern homes for aged citizens in 50 different zones of the province.

They will provide accommodation for 2,500 persons and after being built at a cost of about $18,000,000, will be given to local authority, and be turned over to the municipalities. This project is to begin next year.

COMMUNITY PROJECTS

For 1960 the government has proposed spending $10,000,000 for local community improvements, including street paving and facilities for curling rinks, swimming pools, picnic and camp sites and parks.

Calgary will get a provincial hospital, diagnostic and treatment centre worth $8,000,000 by mid-1960. It will be patterned after the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and be completed scheduled for 1961.

The following year an institution for the care of emotionally-disturbed children and a school for the physically-handicapped children are to be constructed. The latter will include aerobics and museum in 1963, probably in Edmonton, will conclude the special projects.

Burglar Brings Own Bread for Indoor Picnic

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Police are investigating the case of the bring-your-own bread burglar.

Officers said someone forced his way into the home of William Bischel here, raided the refrigerator and made sandwiches with some of the contents. But he brought his own bread for the indoor picnic and left some of it behind.

Aside from forcing a door, taking some victuals and leaving the refrigerator door open so that other food spoiled, the burglar did no damage, took no valuables.

No Sign of Crack In Wage Dispute At Steel Plant

HAMILTON (CP) — Representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and the strike-bound Dominion Company of Canada today continued to shift nonmonetary issues of their contract dispute. There has been no sign of a crack in the deadlock on wages.

The issues the company and union reached agreement Thursday on continuing the group insurance program and the union picking up the tab. But the company's five-cent package offer, which has been rejected by the union, was still its last word on wages. The union seeks a 35-cent an hour package deal.

The company announced Thursday night that pay cheques for workers before the strike, which started Tuesday, will be mailed out next week to the 7,500 employees involved. Most of the workers have seven to eight days' pay coming.

Labor minister Daley of Ontario repeated earlier statements that he will call the disputants together again when he feels the time is appropriate.

EFFECTS SPREAD

Meanwhile, the strike began to show its effects in other industries and businesses connected with steel production.

A carload company Thursday laid off 30 drivers and is expected to lay off others because 200 truckers and 300 construction workers supplied for unemployment insurance and a National Employment Service official estimated 12,000 could be unemployed if the steel strike continues.

E. F. Sipprelle, general manager of the General Motors Diesel Ltd. plant in London, said it will be forced to close down by mid-September if the strike continues another two weeks.

For a group of 450 company employees, the strike means learning something about wheat keeping the hard way.

The farm members of Steico's supervisory staff who are bedded down in the plant to maintain the equipment as foundries can be brought back into production with a minimum delay when the strike is settled.

Thermen work two and sleep in the plant, although they are not under siege as in the last strike in 1946 when 2,000 non-strikers held out in the plant which was ringed by 3,000 bitter and angry pickets.

STRIKE FEARED AS INCO TALKS BREAK DOWN

Conciliation Board Fails in Attempt

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations collapsed Thursday after four days of conciliation board hearings between the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

The end of conciliation board hearings left a contract settlement between the parties was announced by Mine Solski, president of the 14,000-member Sudbury Local 598, and spokesman for the 2,000-strong Port Colborne Local 637.

A union meeting to discuss the strike development is to be held Sunday night in Sudbury.

Negotiations at the Falconbridge Nickel Mines, Canada's second largest producer of nickel, are expected to be resumed Tuesday, Inco is the biggest Canadian producer.

SEVEN-DAY LAPSE

A strike by the Inco workers would be the first in seven years after a report by the conciliation board is made public by the minister of labor.

Fred Besard, a member of the union's bargaining committee Thursday night he had not been informed of the break-down in talks.

Mr. Solski said the company had made no concessions to the union's demands in direct bargaining in which the last April union had refused to change its stand throughout the conciliation board hearings.

The union was demanding a 15-cent hourly wage and five days' pay for four days' work.

Other demands included:

Elimination of the deduction of credit union deposits; property of the union; establishment of Sudbury, for a union hall; changes in statutory holiday provisions; overtime; vacations; health and welfare and pensions.

The company wants to hold the wage line and give no direct wage increases in the next two years. At the union hearings it said its earnings for the first five months of this year were $31,401,000 compared with $46,601,000 in the same period last year.

The conciliation board proposed nickel market had forced it to cut back 1,400 workers at Sudbury and Port Colborne and places remaining employees on a 32-hour week rather than lay off veteran employees.

Mr. Solski said "The company's attitude during these past four days leaves no room for doubt in my mind that the company had no intention at any time to bargain in good faith" and attended the hearings because of statutory obligations to do so.

To Hit Moon Experts Must Aim 2½ Degs, 137,000 Miles Ahead

By JOHN A. BARROUR

NEW YORK (AP) — Science has made a date with the moon. But until it gets there it'll keep its appointment.

As early as next Sunday, scientific marksmen hope to set off the first moon-bound rocket. But they will consider themselves lucky indeed if they bring off a rendezvous.

Here are some of the problems they must solve;

The moon is at least 220,000 miles out in space. The rocket must aim at an empty point, 137,000 miles ahead. It must, of course, and hope that both moon and rocket arrive at about the same point in time within about 2½ days after firing.

Using precisely perfect aim—and you can image what a small error could do in 200,000-plus miles—the three-stage rocket still must fire perfectly. This means boosting it speed to about 25,000 miles an hour needed to escape the earth's gravity.

Even this initial speed, the rocket will gradually slow under gravity's pull until nearing the moon, it will be travelling only about 3,000 miles an hour. In fact, its average speed for the trip may be only 4,000 miles an hour.

The speed is important. If the rocket moves too quickly, it will fall short of its objective. If it doesn't slow enough, it can zoom right on by the moon.

While there are many ways for the moon experts to miss or merely flirt with success, there is only one way to succeed completely. What the scientists say, they would really like to do is send up a rocket which will crash smack into the moon a few times and then return to the earth, a highly probable destruction.

The rocket, in its new Space Age, would take a series of closeup pictures—including never-before-seen shots of moon's hidden side—and relay those back to earth.

It also would measure the magnetic field of the moon, measure radiation and micrometeorites.

How many of its scientific tasks it completed would in a sense measure the rocket's success.

Find 35 Bodies In Super-Constellation May Have Exploded; End Search

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — All hope was given up today of finding any survivors among the 99 persons aboard the giant Dutch airliner that crashed in the Atlantic off Ireland's west coast.

The Canadian destroyer Crusader announced the search was being abandoned after a scouring of the area where the big four-motored liner crashed Thursday failed to show any sign of life.

By mid-afternoon 35 bodies had been recovered.

Evidence piled up that the super - constellation, carrying 91 passengers, either exploded in the air with terrific force.

Pieces of wreckage were found scattered over an area of four miles. Life jackets had been ripped to bits.

The plane, en route to New York, had climbed into a violent storm. A KLM official said what ever occurred came suddenly, possibly an explosion of nickel, are asked for the resumed Tuesday. Inco is the biggest Canadian producer.

Ontario Hotels Lacking Beer Start to Close

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario hotels began to go dry today as spokesmen for Brewers' Warehousing Company Limited and the United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) continued talks.

There was no sign of an end to the strike which started last Thursday in early retail beer stores. Breweries are producing only for export.

The only measure of agreement announced Thursday night after talks opened was a decision by both sides not to make any statements on the issues over which they are finished.

The union ordered shorter work hours and increases of 30 to $14 a week for its 1,300 store employees, now averaging $66 a week.

Beginnings of a beer drought appeared Thursday night when Ottawa's suburban Eastview hotel went dry. Other hotels were reported on the verge of closing Friday as the beer shortage apparently continued to dwindle. Most hotel taverns have run out of draught beer.

EXPECT INTERIM REPORT

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in the Commons Thursday the Borden energy commission hopes to present an interim report on Canada's oil and natural gas industry to the government early in October.

MINISTERS NEED U.S. PERMIT TO VISIT ARCTIC

Hamilton Ashamed He Tells Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton and Opposition Leader Pearson have expressed concern at the presence of United States servicemen in the Canadian Arctic.

"I am ashamed of the fact that through circumstances" beyond the power of almost anyone here we have had to give all responsibility for the defence of our northern area to a friendly power," Mr. Hamilton said.

The minister said it is also a matter of "national chagrin" that Canadian officials, including cabinet ministers, have to obtain U.S. permission to visit the Canadian north. Some had to wait "several months" for U.S. clearance.

Mr. Pearson urged that Canada take over "at the earliest possible moment" control of U.S.-defence installations in the Canadian Arctic.

"We must establish beyond any doubt our sovereignty in that territory," he said.

The two were speaking during a day-long Commons debate on spending estimates of Mr. Hamilton's department. This debate continues today.

MUST GET PERMISSION

Even Canadians have to wait several months to get permission to go and do their jobs in the Canadian north, the minister told newsmen after the session.

He made veiled references to this subject here dealt with U.S. permission for Canadian scientists to enter defence installations in the Canadian Arctic, such as the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line. However, Mr. Hamilton did not mention any specific defence establishments.

Mr. Pearson asked whether it was a fact that Canadian ministers and officials have to wait several months before they can get access to establishments on Canadian soil under control of the U.S.

"Ministers have very little authority," Mr. Hamilton said.

"The situation is different in the case of departmental officials waiting to go there in their line of duty."

Mr. Hamilton said he knew of one case in which U.S. clearance authority was delayed because a concerned took another job "and the work has not been done to this day."

DISCUSSED WITH U.S.

He had taken up the general question with U.S. authorities and had received a "very friendly" response, the minister said.

Earlier, Mr. Pearson said he realizes the U.S. built and controls the Distant Early Warning line in the Canadian Arctic, with Canada's agreement and Canadian co-operation.

Mr. Hamilton said "... Over the years I have advocated that the only way we can hope to hold this northern area for the use of our future generations would be by effective occupation and use of these areas by Canadians."

Red China Communist Shocks Many of Soviet-bloc Experts

HONG KONG (AP) — Two young Canadian engineers on a visit to Red China say that communism there is not used for Soviet-bloc technical experts to stomach.

James J. Clarke and Austin R. Hamilton, Toronto, said Thursday that during a month-long Red China tour they met a number of Soviet experts from all over eastern Europe who now are working in China.

Hamilton said several of these experts expressed disgust with China's current "recrification" campaign—"they told us nothing like this existed in eastern Europe-Can Communist countries."

The Canadians said witnessing an estimated 1,500,000 Chinese demonstrating in Peiping against the Anglo-American intervention landings in the Middle East the Chinese

Pressure Exerted On Contract Says Deputy Minister

Claims Montreal Mayor Tried to Influence Them

OTTAWA .CP) — Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, deputy works minister, testified today he was subjected to pressure by Senator Sarto Fournier, now mayor of Montreal, to favor a Montreal firm in connection with a contract for the government printing bureau.

The testimony mentioning the Liberal senator came out in the Commons public accounts committee's continuing investigation into the way some $16,000,000 was spent on the printing bureau in Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River from here.

It was brought out under questioning of the deputy by David Walker (P.C. — Toronto Rosedale) who suggested to Gen. Young that Senator Fournier had threatened the deputy with being fired in 1956 unless he helped the Montreal firm get a contract.

Gen. Young did not say he was threatened with firing, but testified he was under pressure from Senator Fournier.

CONTRACT TO LOWEST

Gen. Young insisted the contract eventually went to a firm whose bid was a little more than half that of the Montreal company. The contract was for a moving job involving the transfer of printing and the new one.

The Ottawa firm of Hurdman Brothers had bid $494,553 and the Montreal firm of J. P. Baillargeau $1,000,000.

The Ottawa company, Gen. Young said, was the lowest tenderer and got the contract.

He said he was backed up in his stand by the then Liberal works minister, R. H. Winters, who was defeated for re-election in the general election of June, 1957.

LIBERAL OUTLOOK

Questioning of the deputy was greeted with an outcry from the Liberals of "McCarthyism" and "Gestapo."

It came from J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonaventure e Twillingate), former minister of immigration and minister of citizenship and immigration.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier), former Liberal transport minister and former president of the St. Lawrence Seaway authority, also protested.

"We'll get to you on the seaway," Mr. Walker snapped back.

On the questioning of Gen. Young on the moving contract, Mr. Walker-agreed with a leading portfolio of departmental correspondence" he asked who had made objections to the deputy's recommendations that the Ottawa firm get the moving contract.

SENATOR NAMED

"Senator Fournier, of Montreal," Gen. Young replied.

"Did Senator Fournier try to have you fired?" Mr. Walker asked.

"I object," interjected

Classified Pace Won in Two Straight Heats

A splendid program of racing was concluded at the fair on Thursday afternoon with the 2.30 classified pace being the feature. Another large crowd was on hand to watch the races and the interesting program that was woven between the heats.

A horse, L. R. Ansoff which has been racing at Old Woodbine during the past few weeks, easily captured the 2.30 class pace. The pacer now owned by Ansoff in either heat and paced the fastest mile of the meet, 2.14. Mickey Magee, of Kingston stable, was the second best in the race but at no time threatened the winner.

Art McDonald's Pat Time Boy and Ross Garvey's Admiral Jr. had a real battle in the 2.35 pace, each of the horses winning a heat. Teddy Gratian Royal and Daisy Baker, both locally owned horses, were up in contention in all heats, but could not reach the leaders.

The track was in the best of the meet and the starts were excellent, due to Judge Garvey's starting gate operator. Cameron Bunnett again announced the winners and gave a description of the races as they were being contested.

Total Attendance at Fair 23,145 Exhibits Said Finest in History

The Belleville Fair wound up its 1958 exhibition last night after four days and nights of harvesting success and glory.

The weatherman was the fair's best friend. Brilliant sunshine streamed from cloudless skies with not a raindrop nor a threat of rain marring the four-day show.

Large representative crowds from all parts of Hastings and sister counties gave their stamp of approval to the exhibition.

The grandstand attractions, it was admitted, were not up to the standards of previous years.

Secretary Bob Phillips announced today that the total paid admissions for the four days, exclusive of children and cars, was 19,145, to which the total admissions amounted to 26,215.

Fair directors were not directly concerned with the decrease in attendance, this being partly due to the stage entertainment being below par.

They are proud of the fact, however, that the displays and exhibits of cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, horses and other entries were by far the largest and best in the long history of the exhibition.

Shoot Number Rabid Foxes In North Hastings - Vet.

Incidence of rabies among wild foxes in North Hastings is increasing a serious problem for the Federal Government health of animals branch at Belleville with officials reporting that the foxes have attacked dogs and cattle in the northern part of the county.

Dr. R. E. McGrath husband reported today that in all cases where foxes had been killed after acting strangely, examination of heads had shown all to be rabid.

"We don't want to start a scare, but the rabies threat is causing a bit of worry for our department, Dr. Youngh said.

In several instances in North Hastings foxes have chased and bitten dogs and in one case a bull in pasture had been bitten. Examination of the bull's head showed that it had to be killed, rabid. In this one case the entire herd of cattle had been placed under quarantine.

To protect dairy herds in the north against rabies, Dr. D. S. Moore, D.V.M., of Madoc has vaccinated several herds in the area, it was stated.

In one instance east of Deloro a rabid fox entered a farmer's kitchen and chased the dog around the room before escaping.

In another instance a rabid fox ran up to a farmer's house and attacked three dogs before it was killed, it is said.

Foxes are also reported to have darted onto the highway at the approach to bike riders passing cars.

Such fox foxes are believed to be the only carriers of the dread disease.

Dr. Youngshband noted that cattle at pasture have no protection against rabies. Only when foxes and farmers in the area are being advised to have herds vaccinated.

Latest Figure On Starvation On Deaths Now 16

OTTAWA (CP)—The latest figure on Eskimo starvation deaths in the bleak Garry Lake area of Hudson Bay stands at 16.

The figure was given to the Commons Thursday by Jean Lesage, Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton read a lengthy report on the tragedy from a northern service officer at Baker Lake, N.W.T.

The report said 16 Eskimos died of starvation and exposure, 12 as a result of the food shortage, the rest due to "other or related causes."

Last March the department placed the figure at nine and late last month at 14 when a question in Commons was 14.

Mr. Hamilton said the deaths occurred "as described by the report of the cache.

"I don't believe that the tragedy can be blamed on anyone," he told Mervyn Hardie (Liberal-Saskatoon City) who put the minister with a series of questions for complete details of the tragedy.

The minister, whose departmental estimates were under discussion when the news was two-thirds full at the time of the fire, said: "I don't believe that anybody in Ottawa knew how much food was placed in the cache originally by a private company.

Mr. Hardie said Spartan Airways of Ottawa, whose employees had done some work at the cache, had made a gift of 2,400 pounds of food to the Eskimos' cache.

$900 APIECE

In December a flight by an RCMP officer counted the stock of the cache. The fire followed and the deaths occurred in February and March.

Mr. Hardie questioned the minister about reports that the department might have received about the plight of the Eskimos at Garry Lake, including the fact that the caribou, the Eskimos' main source of food, had become almost non-existent.

The report read by Mr. Hamilton showed warnings came from a Roman Catholic priest and that food was flown to the cache.

The report said that the fire was due to the explosion of an oil stove.

Opposition Leader Pearson commenting on the report, said the tragedy "has driven home to us there are still Canadians whose problem still is stark starvation."

United Appeal To Contact Local Workers

A luncheon meeting of the Belleville United Appeal was held Thursday at the Quinte Hotel under the chairmanship of Archie Lewis, group chairman of the 1958 Belleville United Appeal campaign.

Mr. Lewis called the meeting to ask the division and group chairmen to provide him with a complete list of section chairmen and team captains.

He stated he would need a complete return from J. C. R. Punchard on the payroll deduction plan before the 1958 campaign could be finalized. He said only 60 days remained before the opening of the 1958 campaign on October 14.

Mr. Punchard, who is in charge of payroll deductions, reported he had contacted every Commerce survey shows 10 of 13 major local industrial firms (having more than 100 employees) contacted, have agreed in principle to institute payroll deduction plans for this year's local United Appeal campaign.

This represents a 78 per cent participation in this group."

WORK CONTINUES

Mr. Punchard said a second group of 22 firms having less than 100 employees were contacted, and 45 per cent have agreed to payroll deduction, although replies from six of these firms have not yet been received.

Results of questionnaires submitted to a number of local and commerce organizations indicate 43 per cent participation in this group.

"It is quite possible details may be worked out with the biggest percentage of these organizations can arrange to participate in the 1958 appeal," he said.

The questionnaire was sent to 84 organizations in Belleville, representing approximately 8,-000 employees. It included many more smaller organizations which have not yet been asked to participate.

Mr. Punchard said in addition to the C. C. survey that Belleville United Appeal will conduct a census of all Belleville workers through their firms by means of letters and personal contact.

It is hoped all employers will co-operate with the Belleville United Appeal in making this census a success," he stated.

Mr. Punchard added he felt confident most firms which have signified that they are not in favor of payroll deduction can be persuaded to participate.

Mr. Punchard closed the meeting by setting out a schedule of report meetings and announced a group meeting of Belleville United Appeal members will be held Wednesday, October 15th.

He said much work would have to be done in the interval before the 1958 campaign raise its objective of $85,000.

ALGIERS (Reuters) — French Army paratrooper Capt. Anderson Mosconi Thursday jumped from 36,000 feet and fell for 185 seconds before opening his parachute at 1,000 feet. He later declaimed to have set a world record for a delayed-opening parachute jump without breathing equipment.

Two Palestine Refugee Camps Being Searched

AMMAN (AP) — Police and soldiers searched the two largest Palestine refugee camps in Amman today, looking for arms and these tinderboxes of opposition to King Hussein's government.

The Jordanian army officer said 140 persons were taken into custody for questioning. About five of them had Communist leaflets, he reported. Police sources said hoarding powder and ammunition was found in one camp.

The searches were carried out under a curfew imposed on the two camps before dawn. By noon police and soldiers had completed their raids and the curfew was lifted.

The two camps contain about 30,000 refugees out of 350,000 persons in Amman. The other 25 UN relief agency camps in Jordan, housing about 450,000 refugees, were not affected.

The refugees have been in camps since the new state of Israel was formed 10 years ago. Most of the refugees in Jordan live on UN relief. They have bonded in the follow head of violently anti - Israeli Arab nationalism, preached by President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

The clampdown opened on the Moslem Sabbath, a day of possible trouble because it brings emotional, easily-inflamed crowds into the streets. Another 500 to 800 security troops were added Thursday night to the already heavy military guard in Amman. Reinforcements flew into Jordanian capital. One said that additional anti-riot units might occur today. Another said an attempted coup was frustrated on Thursday.

Freight-Riding Transients Get Three Days

TRENTON — Two transients were given three days in jail by Magistrate T. Y. Wills when they appeared in court last Tuesday on a charge of freeriding on a train.

Both men, Jean Poirier and Eddie Hackey were from New Brunswick and neither could speak English. Mrs. N. LeBlanc of 68 Front Street, Trenton, acted as interpreter and translated magistrate's words into French.

The men told the court through Mrs. LeBlanc that they had been in Simcoe, Ontario, looking for work in the tobacco fields but when they were not successful had started on their way home and had been picked up by CPR constable Cook while riding the freights through Trenton.

In passing his sentence the magistrate said the three days in jail would discourage them from riding on freight trains and warned the men not to get on them again when they came out of jail.

Lorne Pringle of Belleville, acted for the crown.

Three young men faced the court for obtaining liquor while under the age of 21 years. One was fined $10 with $3 costs and the other two were remanded until August 26th.

Two Accidents On Streets

TRENTON — Only two accidents on town streets have been reported to the police in the past four days and one of them occurred almost at the front door of the police station.

Gerald J. Brennan of 10 Ellsmere Street in Belleville stopped for the stop sign at the corner of Division Street and King St. as he was proceeding south on Division and when he started up again failed to notice another car going west on King Street and collided in front of it. Damage to his car was estimated at $350 by the front end.

The name of the driver in the second-vehicle has not been entered in the police book as yet but the car concerned was believed to have been a convertible and driven by a local resident.

Staff Sergeant Youmans and Constable Sid Vickers investigated the mishap which happened last Tuesday at noon.

The only other mishap to be reported during the week occurred yesterday when a car driven by Thelma Miller of Scarborough, stopped in the line of traffic near the intersection of Dundas Street East and Bay Street and the car behind him driven by Andrew Prenzuil of 259 Dundas Street East failed to notice him stop and applied his brakes too late to avoid the collision.

Damage to the Miller car was estimated at $25 to the rear end while the local car suffered $125 to the front end.

The accident was investigated by Constable George French.

EARLY ELECTIONS

Secret balloting was practised in ancient Greece and Rome by means of balls, marked tokens, shells and tickets.

Town Briefs

TRENTON — Today is the day when the bids from the different fire equipment companies are to be in quoting prices on the new aerial ladder truck the council decided to buy some time ago. It is expected the Protection to Persons and Property Committee under Councillor Lloyd Worrall will meet as soon as the deadline has been reached at 5 p.m. today. Many local citizens have commented that the aerial ladder, which was delayed through lengthy and sometimes heated debates in town council meetings, could have been well used recently as the Titus business block was destroyed by fire.

ATTENDS FIREMEN

Dr. D. E. Campbell was another of the town professional men who donated his services to the firemen when they fought the Titus Block fire on Tuesday night. Firemen reported today that the well-known Trenton doctor appeared at the fire shortly after it had started and stayed there until about 2 a.m. He had treated the Mitts brothers at the scene when they had been overcome by smoke and was prepared to handle any cases of burns or cuts which may have been inflicted on the firefighters.

TO NAME PARKS

The Trenton Parks board decided at their last meeting that the two new park areas in the Champlain Heights are in need of three things: trees, grass and names. The plantings of trees and grass they will take care of but are looking for names for the two fathers. They recommended that perhaps one of them could be named after the town's present chief administrator, Mayor Ross Burtt. It is expected the matter will be brought up at the next council meeting slated for next Monday night.

Top showman in the South Hastings 4-H Swine Club's show at the fair was Don Farrell of Moira, shown with his gilt.

Jordan Against Any UN Observer Team in Country

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada today joined in peacemaking efforts at the United Nations aimed at offsetting a stubborn position expressed by Jordan against any UN intervention in that country to supplant Britain's protective force.

The unexpected opposition by Jordan's delegate at the UN emergency General Assembly on the Middle East problem shook the general tone of reason and co-operation manifested at the outset of the session which opened Wednesday.

In that opening meeting a longrange United States proposal for Middle East tranquility was followed by a Russian offer to send out the problems in private discussions.

Britain Thursday defended her intervention in Jordan, saying that the legal government there formally had asked for protection. And Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd put on the record Britain's willingness to withdraw these troops if a generally acceptable UN peace - keeping force could take over.

FLAT REJECTION

But Jordan's delegate, Abdel Moneim Rifai, afterwards came out flatly against any future role of the UN in protecting that Middle East kingdom. Instead, Rifai called on the assembly for "material assistance" for Jordan to reinforce its own army and security forces.

This went against the prevailing idea at the emergency session—backed in varying terms by both the West and Russia—that a UN force augmented to include Jordan and Lebanon should take over and permit a withdrawal of the British and United States troops who moved into those two countries a month ago following the Iraq revolution.

No one could foresee today any immediate compromise solution in the assembly along the lines suggested by the Jordanian delegate. But a behind-the-corridor negotiations went on for a paper solution which might be accepted both by U.S. and Russia both, along with as many members as possible in the Arab-Asian group bloc.

SEEKING SOLUTION

Canada had been trying for such a solution before the Jordanian speech in the assembly there was cold water on the whole idea of a settlement under UN auspices. Along with such middle powers as India, Ceylon and Japan, the Canadian delegation had been rounding out sentiment for an assembly resolution that would call on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to use the powers of his office in moving the UN forces into the vacuum that would be created by a British - American troop withdrawal.

External Affairs Minister Smith had put Canada on today's list of speakers for about 3:30 p.m.—in the assembly debate before the human delegate upset the tenor of the debate's opening day.

It could not be learned in advance whether Smith might try for a new middle-power approach

PRESSURE

"The senator," Mr. Walker said, "wanted a contract awarded to Baillargeon and you (Gerry Young) were threatened with firing."

CHEVRIER INTERJECTS

Mr. Chevrier again interjected at what he called a "disgraceful manner of questioning." The questioning was being carried on in an unlikely way.

Mr. Walker tried a new tack with this question to the deputy-minister: Gen. Young, put under the most extreme pressure to accept the Baillargeon bid?"

Before Gen. Young could reply, Mr. Pickersgill was on his feet on the ground that Senator Fournier as a member of Parliament not personally payable himself. Senator Fournier now is in Florida.

Mr. Walker pressed in and asked the deputy:

"Were you subjected to pressure?"

"Yes," Gen. Young replied.

"By Senator Fournier?" Mr. Walker asked.

"Yes," Gen. Young said with a nod of the head.

LIBERALS TAKE TURN

With this task of the way, Mr. Chevrier took over the questioning of Gen. Young, by consent of the committee steering committee that the Liberals should have a turn at bat.

The former minister started by a general statement saying that "thus far there is no suggestion before this committee of any improper influence" by former Liberal administration.

"Look who's concluding the evidence now," interposed Mr. Walker in reference to Liberal claims that had been doing this.

Mr. Chevrier said that there may be evidence of "wasteful extravagance," which he hoped to bring out facts to the contrary.

ALBERTA

The province said the province could afford to finance the special projects as well as the oil and gas royalty dividend which last year at $20 each and this year at $17.50 will be distributed to citizens of Alberta. Funds for it come from one-third of the oil and gas royalties collected by the province.

The government will maintain the Dividends Act on the statute books and alter the five-year period may have to be cut to five dividends again.

The Provincial Finance Corporation was set up several years ago as a lending agency to provide capital borrowings at low interest rates. Its operations were suspended this year.

Mr. Manning said the corporation will be reviewed next year and its scope will be broadened to provide for loans to school and hospital boards as well as municipalities.

The industries and labor department will be split to form a separate labor department.

Sullen Jimmy Hoffa Fences With Labor Rackets Inquiry

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Every day for the last couple of weeks in the air-conditioned vastness of a big congressional committee room, a sullen, pot-voiced labor leader from Detroit has been fencing mentally with the tough U.S. Senate labor rackets committee.

For Teamster boss James R. Hoffa, the man with the faulty memory, the game is nothing new. He is on his second round before the committee, which is seeking to forge a link between his 1,500,000-member Brotherhood of Teamsters and a wide assortment of characters in the American underworld.

The setting is the same—a high-ceilinged caucus room in the Senate office building.

SAME CHARACTERS

Nor have the characters changed. The truculent Teamster president, who has been investigated by five congressional committees in recent years, spars daily with the chairman of the right - man committee, Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) and his mild-willed chief counsel, boyish Robert F. Kennedy.

The questioning is much the same as it was a year ago when the committee called Hoffa before it in its inquiry into what it called a tie-up between underworld big shots and crooked labor leaders. That was before Hoffa, then midwestern vice-president, succeeded Dave Beck, later retired and convicted of grand larceny charges arising from his stewardship of the Seattle union, as Teamster president.

The committee has received little co-operation from Hoffa who frequently seems to have forgotten the details the committee and its council most want to learn. The committee asked the U.S. Justice department last week to look into Hoffa's testimony for possible evidence of perjury.

To date, with no help from Hoffa, the committee has linked his name with underworld big shots and racketeers, including Johnson racketeers, alleging that they profited from labor rackets while helping Hoffa to rise to power in the Teamster union.

HOODLUMS IN OFFICE

Through testimony and other evidence, the committee has shown that Teamster officials still hold high positions in the union. Hoffa has bluntly told the committee that it is "none of its business" and will not take action" to oust those union members themselves vote them out or convict them in union - conducted trials.

The committee has associated the names of dozens of hoodlums with Hoffa and his union, including Tony Accardo, successor to the late Al (Scarface) Capone as boss of Chicago gangdom; John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, New York extortionist now in prison; New York gangster Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo; Ziggy Snyder, a Detroit waterfront tough, and a variety of others.

Bob Clare Wins Ticket To Europe

Mr. V.H. (Bob) Clare, Belleville held the winning ticket in the Belleville McFarlands Boostin Club venture for the free trip to Europe and the world hockey championship next February, at the Fair Grounds last night.

Mr. Clare, however exercised his option, and will take the $1,000 in lieu of the trip.

Booster club officials said today that the fund raising was a decided success.

Some 2,500 tickets were sold, leaving with approximately $1,500 expenses, a net profit to the club of $1,750.

Booster president Dick Beare, and fund chairman Jim Ward expressed the sincere appreciation of their organization to the general public for its response to their appeal for funds.

Princess Anne Has Birthday Aboard Yacht

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne celebrated her eighth birthday today sailing on the Irish Sea with her brother Charles the Prince of Wales, the Queen and Prince Philip.

The royal yacht Britannia is on a cruise along islands off the west coast of Scotland. The party was in the dining room of the yacht. The princess got her parents there, while up above radio operators were receiving messages from her friends.

The cake was square, smothered in flowers and emblems of the colonies and dominions, and surmounted by an icing reproduction of King Edward's crown.

MIDDLE CLASS PROBLEMS

In this decade many families have risen into the middle income group. But some of them, unfortunately, strive to adjust themselves too quickly to the standards in that bracket, so they find the price tag rather stiff.

Everybody cannot be a millionaire and current taxes make it hard to become one. The result as revealed in various statistical studies is that the middle income group is rapidly expanding and exerting the greatest influence upon our national life.

It is natural that families ascending into the middle income group should develop many new wants. Better housing, better cars, additional home conveniences, better clothes and better schools for their children are a few of the demands generated by this change.

Many problems of the cities can be traced to the failure of the middle income families to find the types of houses they want in incorporated communities and at a price they can afford to pay. This has been a big factor in the growth of suburban areas.

And a by-product is the headache of cities which many believe are destined to be inhabited by two classes only — the rich able to pay for the luxury of living in town and the poor, unable to finance the move out of the city to the more expensive life of the suburbs. Those who do move out run into many problems. Long-established suburban families have had time to acquire the appurtenances of such living but many of the new comers make the mistake of trying to match the old timers at one jump.

When a man moves to the higher income bracket, how can he help feeling puzzled if he finds it harder than ever to make both ends meet?

PILOTS CAREFULLY SELECTED

In commenting on the reasons airlines and governments select the men they do for piloting their precious cargoes, the Montreal Gazette says that two pilots of the Canadian Pacific Airlines, Captains Ken Dewar, of Burnaby, B.C., and Norman G. Forester of Edmonton, recently retired on pension at the designated age of 60. The two have flown a total of more than 7,000 miles.

Their retirement recalls the adage of their comparatively new business: "There are no old, bold pilots."

To be one you cannot be the other.

This does not imply any lack of the stouter qualities in those who enjoy a long life in an industry which is still, in popular legend, highly dangerous. It just means that foolhardiness is not one of the qualities that is accepted in a pilot.

The Gazette says flying club instructors who train potential airline pilots are told by the Department of Transport their personality characteristics are the most important ingredient, once the technical qualifications are supplied. This means that a steady pilot with a steady temperament will be recommended for a commercial licence; a brilliant pilot with a bad temper will not be recommended.

Two striking examples of this truth were published last week. For years, the United States Air Force has been carefully testing, grading, preparing a team which will fly the X-15 100-150 miles into space next year.

One of the pilots chosen, Captain Iven Kincheloe, died last week in a fighter crash. His successor, announced a few days later, is Captain Robert White. The other test pilots invited in the rocket flight into space have characteristics in common with Kincheloe and White. All are married, with children; all are over 30; all have engineering diplomas and 15 or more years of flying behind them.

When a company, or a government, or an airline chooses a man to pilot precious machines and even more precious human cargoes aloft, it doesn't choose an adventurer. They choose men who have overriding reasons for coming back to earth safely. They want men who will bring the aircraft back at the first sign of trouble, take no chances.

Because they choose men like this, aviation's proudest boast is its safety record.

JUST FOLKS

YOUR DAY WILL COME

Just because you've not attained
An honored place, as yet,
Because some other one has gained
Life's summit, do you fret?
And do you sit disconsolate,
Dismayed, sore and glum?
Take heart, if you will only wait
Your day will surely come.

Just plod along and do your best,
Attention you will claim;
Some one will choose you from the rest,
The world will know your name.

Although unnoticed you may be
At present, you will rise;
Your courage some one's bound to see;
No good work ever dies.

Don't think your labor's lost because
Nobody sees it now.
In time you'll win the world's applause,
You know not when or how.
But if unto your task you stick
To you will fall the plum.
It may be slow, it may be quick,
But your today's bound to come.

Hamilton's Mayor Chides Editor for Ignorance

Editor's Note: Hamilton's genial and handsome Mayor, L. D. Jackson, has written a letter to the editor of the Hamilton Spectator. In it he utters a protest against a picture of him in a position well understood by most rural residents.

To the Editor:
Your paper has presented me in a very bad light in this community and I am seriously considering bringing libel action against you for slander, defamation of character or any other charge.

I know that there are, in public life, many occasions when misunderstood, disagreements occur and sometimes impugning motives are indulged, harsh words are said and tables are pounded. But what does get me down is being maliciously and deliberately misrepresented by the press to the public of this intelligent community, as being in a boat and an important, public crime which you have represented me as committing in that regard. I am not raised on a farm but milking a cow on the "wrong side"!

You might not seem so terrible to you and your staff of neophytes who have been brought up as city slickers. I suppose most of them see the like in little Trafalgar Square eight years of age who came up to me last week at Park Farm and asked if milk, or, does milk from the factory come from the cow before you pasteurize it? Another lad insisted on calling the cow's teats, corners!

In my business, I have a lot of farmer customers and I am more horrified at the audacity of the head of the firm milking a cow before I could get at it. I am considering himself a farmer's son.

Unless this matter is corrected before this evil picture rights-side to, and putting me on the correct side of the cow, I shall have to resort to extreme measures to obtain redress.

At the next Town and Country Fair, I propose to further prove that I have no

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Archdeacon Jack Burnett Creegan and Mrs. Creegan announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Isabel, to George Arnold Wright, son of Mrs. Wright of Quebec City, and the late Mr. William Herbert Wright. The marriage will take place on Saturday, September 6th, at 3 p.m. in Christ Church, Belleville.

* * *

Miss Linda Langabeer is vacationing in Montreal with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McDonnell.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howard of Cannilton, have returned home from visiting the Reverend and Mrs. R. J. McCree, at their summer cottage, Restoule, on Commanda Lake.

* * *

Lou Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson, Marmora, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Office Work Is Career Not Just Routine

TORONTO (CP) — Office work is a career, says Winnifred Shooter of Toronto — not just a dull routine to be pursued during marriage.

Miss Shooter is registrar of the Association of Administrative Assistants or Private Secretaries, an organization that wants to raise the status of office workers and improve their incomes.

"We want to persuade young stenographers that office work can be a career they can follow if they do not marry, or return to after marriage if they wish.

"But we must also persuade them to take university extension courses to make themselves more useful, and therefore worth more money and responsibility."

SPECIAL COURSE

The group has organized a three-year course for office workers, now in its second year, and will give a certificate of competence at the end of the course.

Through the University of Toronto, correspondence courses are offered in English communication, psychology, English literature and economics, covering the first two years. In the third year courses will be available in business law, accounting, business organization and human relations in business.

About 130 persons successfully completed the first year of the course last year. It is open to anyone with university entrance qualifications, or those over 25 who have suitable business experience.

"Most of our students are older women," says Miss Shooter, "but we want to interest younger women too.

"Employers realize the need for better - qualified secretarial staff and many students have their fees paid by their firms." In the United States, persons holding a certificate from an organization similar to ours are paid about $30 a week more."

Miss Shooter is taking registrations up to the end of September for the next term.

Wedding

CRUICKSHANK — EASTON

A pretty summer wedding was solemnized recently, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, by the Reverend R. D. MacLean, pastor of the Church, when Gloria Ann Easton, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Easton, was united in marriage to Glenn Ellis Cruickshank, of Consecon, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cruickshank. Baskets of colored chrysanthemums adorned the chancel rail, and white satin bows the guest pews.

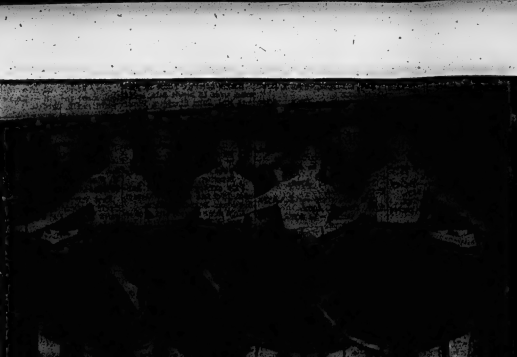
Mr. W. P. Youdale, church organist, presided at the console of the organ, and accompanied the soloist Miss Muriel Belch, in her rendition of "Because", and "I Love You Truly".

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Easton, the bride was lovely in her white satin bridal gown with molded bodice and jacket brocaded with sequins. The floor-length skirt fell in graceful folds. She wore a satin coronet an embroidered finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, and carried a bouquet of red roses with baby's breath.

Miss Gail Easton, of Belleville was her cousin's maid of honor, while Miss Carol Cruickshank, of Consecon, R. R. No. 2, sister of the bridegroom was bridesmaid. Both the maid of honor and bridesmaid were gowned alike in powder blue taffeta and nylon net with matching feather bandeaux white accessories and carrying bouquets of pale blue carnations.

Little eight-year-old Susan Stevens, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in pink nylon with white shoes and pink gloves, and matching headdress. She carried a small basket of pink summer flowers.

Mr. Ross Lumley of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Mr. Orval Holden of Glen Miller and Mr. Donald Lumley of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.



The reception for 65 guests was held in the church parlors, where guest tables were appointed with white cloths, and centred with vases of pink roses. The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink icing and pink roses and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. White tulle encircled the base, and the bride's bouquets added a further nuptial accent.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing navy blue crepe dress with accessories and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in navy blue taffeta with beaded yoke, with white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip to London, Ontario, and other western points, the bride chose a taffeta frock with beige accessories and corsage of yellow Talisman roses. Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank are residing in Melville, Ontario.

Guests were present from Toronto; Trenton; Wellington; Picton and Stockdale.

The bride was the honored guest, previous to her marriage, at a shower held at the home of her parents with Mrs. Hazel Doyle as co-hostess. Also at a community shower held by the Melville friends.

Thurlow township Junior Farmers' square dance team took the honors at Belleville Fair Thursday night by defeating Sidney in the finals. Elimination competitions were held earlier in the week. Shown above is the winning team. From the right are: Jack Vermilyea, Ruth Luxton, Gary Chambers, Carolyn Thompson, David Ray, Patsy Dafoe, Jack Chatten and Beverley Urch, with John Reynolds, caller.

And here are the Sidney square dancers who were bested at the fair Thursday evening by the Thurlow octet. From the right are Price Morris, Wanda Mallory, Bob Mallory, Pearl Tucker, Ronald Hamilton, Shirley Bush, Gary Harrington, Frances Tucker and Carl Richards, caller. Rawdon, Prince Edward and Northumberland teams also competed in the square dance competition, now an annual event at the fair.

Hart Family Holds Reunion

Even with rain and cloudy weather on August 10 it did not dampen the spirit of the annual Hart picnic which was held this year at the Canada Cement Company grounds at Point Anne.

A delicious dinner, put on by the women, was much enjoyed.

It was noted that the oldest woman present was Mrs. Joseph Hart, 72 years, of Roslin, whose sons, relatives and families made up the grand reunion. The oldest man present was Ed. Fraser, of Point Anne, who celebrated his 75th birthday on Friday.

The youngest present, Darlene Kirby, two months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kirby, of Toronto, who also had travelled the furthest distance.

Master Bruce Bolting, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bolting, of Belleville, celebrated his first birthday on the day of the picnic.

The youngest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hart, of Belleville, and the oldest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fraser, 45 years married.

Those in attendance were from Roslin; Toronto; Plainfield; Belleville; Prince Edward county and Point Anne.

Visiting, swimming and a ball game took up the afternoon, and after supper all departed for their homes, hoping that next year will be as successful as this year, and that those who were unable to attend this August will be present next year to make the reunion bigger and better.

Julie Andrews Would Prefer Simple Home Life in Country

LONDON (CP) — Stage-struck girls may dream of fame and glamor and of accompanying salary. But 23-year-old Julie Andrews says living in luxury isn't all that desirable, especially if your favorite meal is tea and toast.

Julie lives at the Savoy Hotel six days a week while playing the feminine lead in My Fair Lady, transferred from Broadway. She says she would gladly exchange her luxurious hotel suite to stay at the parental manse in Surrey. But she gets away only at weekends.

Even the last show every Saturday the brown-haired, freckle-faced girl leaves the family home at Walton-on-Thames.

COMMUTING WALKS

"And there," she says, "I like a quiet life. There is nothing I enjoy more than a stroll in the country with my poodle, followed by tea and toast with the family."

The British girl who made a smash hit on Broadway as Eliza Doolittle, is still slightly incredulous at her success.

When the show came to Britain last spring, Julie tried to make her cockney stage accent more authentic but felt she didn't succeed. Her first-night opening-night critics agreed with her.

Even though the show ran in New York for two years, Julie still admits to having nervous days. "It depends if things go wrong beforehand."

Things tend to go less wrong in London since she finds it more relaxing to work in her own country. "In New York one lives the

Movie World's Families Spend North Holiday

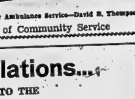
COOPERS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Children of the movie world's families at Hollywood are spending holidays at this spot near Lake Couchiching, 100 miles north of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cooper are natives of this area but lived in Los Angeles for about 20 years before acquiring an estate here. Nearly a score of youngsters from Hollywood now are on holiday.

Among the guests are Michael Hardwicke, 11-year-old son of Sir Cedric Hardwicke, and Nicky Korda, 13, son of director-producer Zoltan Korda. Others are the children of location managers, special effects directors and artists.

The children are trained in the arts during their vacation. A barn and a cheesy factory on the estate have been turned into dance practice rooms, where youngsters play for three hours a day.

They are also producing a play this summer based on Verdi's opera Aida. They will make their own beds and tidy their own rooms at the Cooper farm.



FAVOR TELEVISION

LONDON (CP)—A survey by the council of children's welfare shows that of every 100 parents questioned about the effect of television on their children, 84 said it was beneficial, increasing their knowledge and widening their outlook.

Weather Wonders

By ALICE ALDEN

The perfect antidote to a dull or rainy day is a smart coat treated to repel the raindrops. One of the best rainwear houses favours corduroy this year. For this high-style coat, the designer chose velvety, wale-wide corduroy, giving it a trim cut. Another clever touch is the slanting bias cut of the yoke, running into the sleeves from a soft shoulder line. Shiny gilt buttons accent the double-breasted closing. Mark such details as the roomy side pockets, notched collar and revers and turned-back cuffs.

Readers' Friday Column

by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

While in conversation with a lady on a bus recently, she mentioned a recipe obtained from a newspaper column some time ago for making peach pie filling, saying it is juicy (as you would fruit) ready to be put into pie shells when you open it. I believe it contained quick tapioca as a thickener, and some spice. I wonder if you would have this recipe and could offer fruits such as raspberries, cherries, etc. be done in like manner? . . . Mrs. E.M.B.

ANSWER:

Yes, you may can peach pie filling successfully, but it requires longer processing than plain canned peaches because of its heavy consistency.

PEACH PIE FILLING

(To Seal in Jars)

(These amounts make enough filling for three 9" pies — but since the size of peaches differs, number of jars is not given, however it is approximately 4 quarts.) Blanch 42 ripe peaches in boiling water for 1 minute (dipping only 9 or 10 at one time). Cold dip then peel and remove pit. Cut in slice, sprinkling them with 2¼ cups sugar as you slice to prevent browning. Add 6 tablespoons each bottler-lemon juice and quick-cooking tapioca, and ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and salt. Stir constantly over medium heat until boiling. Pour into hot sterile jars, leaving ½" headspace, and almost seal. Process in hot water bath 30 minutes. Tighten seal while hot.

NOTE:

Cherry pie filling may be canned in same manner, but sugar would be increased and flavoring changed to 1 teaspoon almond extract instead of 2 tablespoons lemon. Mace. Raspberries would not be satisfactory.

LETTER:

. . . It won't be long until pickling time is here, and I have a new way of doing down my gherkins and always have wonderful pickles. I fill plan jars with clean gherkin-size pickles. Add a spray of dill, 1 teaspoon pickling spice, ½ teaspoon mixed pickling spices, 6 good teaspoons sugar. (Note from Enemy: I think Mrs. N. E. means a silver teaspoon slightly heaping.) Fill jars to overflowing with cold vinegar and seal. Shake well until sugar dissolves. Invert jars 24 hours. For extra large jars I use 8 good teaspoons of sugar. (See note above.) They usually turn out crisp and a natural green color . . . Mrs. N. K.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

MAID OF HONOR SHOULD RETURN "ATTENDANT'S GIFT"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I was to have been maid of honor (the only attendant) at the late-September wedding of a friend of mine. Yesterday s h e telephoned me that they have decided to cancel the plans for the wedding. Two weeks after she invited me to be her maid of honor she sent me as an attendant's gift a very lovely pair of pearl earrings, which she said, in her note enclosed, I could wear at the wedding, if I wished to.

I wrote thanking her most enthusiastically for her lovely gift, and saying I would love to wear the earrings at her wedding. When she telephoned to me yesterday she didn't mention them, nor did I. But I'm wondering if, under the circumstances, I should keep them or return them. Which is do? — Reader

Since there is to be no wedding, the reason for your having this gift no longer exists, and so you should return the earrings with a note explaining and thanking her deeply for her thought of you and for the lovely gift.

GRACIOUS REPLY TO "THANK YOU FOR COMING"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When you go to a home or to a funeral parlor to pay your last respects to a friend who has passed on, and the member of the family whom you know best says, as you are leaving, "Thank y o u for coming," what is a proper reply? — R.

You may say something like this: "I wanted to come to t e l l you my deep sympathy a n d understanding. Is there any service I can do for you these days? I would so very much like to be of help."

WHERE ARE THE TEASPOONS PLACED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When I plan to serve tea and coffee with a meal, what do I do about the teaspoons? Should I put them on the table, with the fork and knife, when I am setting the table? — E.

No. Place a teaspoon on t h e saucer of each tea or coffee cup.

BRIDE SHOULD STAY UNTIL ALL GUESTS HAVE LEFT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Are the bride's parents supposed to stay at the wedding reception until all the guests have left? — A. N.

Yes. Since the bride's parents are the hosts of the wedding reception, they are expected to stay at the reception until all the guests have departed.

DOES HER HUSBAND REALLY WANT TO WEAR A WEDDING RING?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I, in October next my husband and I will celebrate our Twentieth Wedding Anniversary, and I'd like to give him a special present on this important occasion. I'd like to give him a wedding ring. We didn't have the double-ring ceremony when we were married, didn't even speak about having it. But now so many of his friends wear them, I feel that I thought it would be a good idea to give him one. Would this be permissible? If so, I should have our initials engraved on them. Shouldn't I add what date, the marriage date or the anniversary date?

Also, please, not this plan, should I give him the ring in private, or make a presentation of it to him at the dinner we a r e planning to give for our relatives and friends on our anniversary? — Reader

I. I may be wrong, but I have a feeling that you have not asked your husband if he would like to wear a wedding ring . . . and this you should most certainly do. Many men aren't willing to wear a ring of any kind, not even a wedding-ring. So be forthright about this . . . talk over your plan with him, and if you truly think he would like to wear a wedding ring, it will be a fine idea to give him one. Have it marked with his and your initials, and the date of your marriage.

2. Give him this ring in private . . . just you two.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each week it a presents one of a actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Harriet R. — He thinks more of his buddy than of me.

Leon J. — I don't want to break with him over women.

Harriet R. — I am very unhappy because the man to whom I'm engaged seems to think more of his best buddy than of me.

Leon's friend, Frank, just didn't approve of me from the beginning. He wanted Leon to marry another girl they have both known from their school days. Leon went with her for m a n y years, but somehow couldn't get along.

The first time he met me, Frank treated me in a very slighting, insulting way. He has tried to bust up our friendship and it looks as though he has no intention of stopping, now that we are engaged. Therefore, I want Leon to stop seeing Frank. Is that too much to ask?

Leon J. — Frank and I h a v e been best buddies for about t e n years and I don't want us to break up our friendship because of women. Besides, if I give up this friendship, it means giving up practically all my friends.

We have been in one crowd and Frank and his fiance are kind of the centre of the group. They would leave me out of things if it came to a teacup between Frank and me.

I think Harriet is being very silly and childish about this. After all, I picked her because I love her and I won't let anyone break us up. She should have confidence in me. Frank says that she's the domineering type and I am afraid that's true.

The Council: No, we don't think Harriet is being silly and childish. She has a legitimate beef.

In our opinion Frank is not a true friend at all. It is he who is domineering. He is apparently accustomed to being the leader of his group of friends and is angry because his will has been thwarted.

Harriet is placed in a most difficult position because her fiance is evidently under the sway of this small-time Fuehrer. If Leon were a more mature person himself he would let his friend know in no uncertain terms that he expects all his friends to accept his choice of a woman and to show her every respect and consideration.

Friends often have unfavorable opinions about one another's choice of mates, but if they are mature individuals and if they have a friendship, they k e e p those opinions to themselves. They make an effort to establish good relationships and they have an instinctive regard for their friends' choices.

If Frank persists in his ugly behavior, Leon certainly ought to break up the relationship. He will be well rid of this character and the foolish hangers in the crowd that picks such a character as its centre.

If Leon persists in clinging to a "buddy" who treats his fiance slightingly, we would say that Harriet would be much better off without such a man. Surely there are better potential husbands than this on the marriage market.

The Experts Say

Hobby of Weaving Good Cure for Frustrations

TORONTO (CP) — Take up weaving. If you want to fight frustration. That's the advice of Carrie Oliphant, secretary-treasurer of Ontario Handweavers and Spinners.

She has done weaving as a hobby for 35 years. "I advise any single business woman or anybody else who needs a rest from the rush and tear of modern living to take up weaving and relax," she said.

"Weaving is a creative art. It is used in occupational therapy, and in these hectic days everybody needs therapy."

ANCIENT INDUSTRY

Creating designs and new uses for woven materials is also keeping alive an ancient industry.

"Spinning and weaving had almost died out in Canada until about the 1930's," she said. A few enthusiasts kept the hobby alive, and then before the Second World War weaving began to be popular again.

"During the war the government encouraged it, believing home weaving might help the war effort, and since then it grew in popularity until today there are 1,200 weavers in clubs in Ontario, and countless others not affiliated to any organization."

Miss Oliphant says weaving is a hobby anybody can afford. A small box loom can be bought for up to $5 or can be built at home. Its initial materials need cost only 40 cents.

DO RESEARCH

Some weavers are conducting research on native Indian, old pioneer and Chinese weaving patterns.

"But the real joy of weaving—once you start you can't give it up — is making your own designs," said Miss Oliphant.

The hobby is ideal for retired persons, she says, but study of weaving should start before retirement. "It requires a certain amount of physical exertion and skill to thread the loom."

After a quarter-century as a weaver, Miss Oliphant, who is also an office manager, says: "It keeps you l i v e l y, keeps you young, and is an outlet for creative work."

OLD RESIDENT

VICTORIA (CP) — Miss Alice Turner, who would have been 102 in October, died in the private hospital where she lived for the past six years. She organized the first Christ Church Cathedral women's auxiliary here after coming from Millbrook, Ont., in 1901.

Likely TV Production Prices Rise

Wherever a good signal can be obtained, nearly every home in the country now boasts at least one television set. This "saturization" of the market has meant a slow-up among the manufacturers in the production of sets. This fact — and the rise in labor and material cost — is certain to affect the cost of manufacture per unit, which no doubt will be passed along to the buying public.

As a further result of this big volume of sales in the past, there is now a large number of TV sets that are about due to trade in, and dealers may find it difficult to dispose of so many used sets. Trade-in allowances will likely be lowered considerably.

Right now Booth Radio and Television limited can sell used television sets for summer home and cottage use and can still offer you a good allowance on your old set for a new one. If you are even considering trading your TV for a new set, it will pay you to act now. Call in at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street, Belleville. A7,8,11,13,15.

Has No Worries Over Big Fight Says Promoter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Youngsters Bill Rosenkahn, who picked a world heavyweight title fight for his venture into boxing promotion, says he has no worries about the financial prospects of the battle Monday night between champion Floyd Patterson and Roy Harris.

The 36-year-old New Yorker admits, however, that his original gate and attendance hopes have been revised.

As the two fighters tailed off workouts at their training camps Thursday, Rosenkahn echoed the records and said:

"I believe we'll have 18,000 to 20,000 in attendance at Wrigley Field and gate receipts approaching $250,000."

Rosenkahn, a former New York television executive, had hoped for a $400,000 gate.

Hay Rig Runs Away, 'Rubber Head' Survives

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)— James Crowden, 36, claimed in magistrate's court Wednesday that his "rubber head" saved him from serious injury during a wild upside down ride on a runaway hay wagon.

He said the two horses pulling the wagon ran away after the vehicle was struck from the rear on Aug. 4 by a car driven by Lawrence Armstrong. Both men are from Lindsay.

Crowden said he hung upside down by one leg for several hundred yards as the wagon raced down Highway 7B just south of Lindsay. He showed Magistrate R. J. Moore several indentations on the side of his head which he said were caused by a broken bar rack on the wagon.

ABSCESSES ON BRAIN

He said that since Feb. 1 he has been in hospital four times for operations to remove abscesses on the brain.

"My head would twinge like rubber but it won't fracture," he said. "If anybody else had got this they would have smashed their brains in."

Magistrate Moore inspected the "dinges" and commented: "Nine out of ten people would die in the operations you've had".

Armstrong was convicted of driving a motor vehicle while drunk and was fined $150 and $35 costs.

'Some Like it Hot' Brings Marilyn Monroe on Time

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I want the world to know," said director Billy Wilder, "that Marilyn is not only on time, she is three hours early."

Fantastic, but true: It was late morning when Marilyn Monroe sashayed — that's the only way she knows how to walk—onto the set of Some Like It Hot. It was her first day of shooting after she had known how to walk—onto the set of Some Like It Hot. It was her first day of shooting after a long absence from Hollywood, and she wasn't due for work until 10 o'clock.

She was decked out with spit curls, cloche hat and fur-trimmed chemise, and only she could save the sack from its imminent death. She looked great.

Marilyn sashayed up to her co-stars, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon, who were also decked out in spit curls, cloche hats and chemises. It should be explained that in the picture they join an all-girl orchestra to hide out from gangsters after witnessing the St. Valentine's Day Massacre.

Marilyn greeted set visitor Audrey Hepburn and director Billy Wilder.

Then the niceties. Marilyn stopped to talk with an old friend. She asked the grips about their children.

Mr. Duane Johnson, of Harold, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw on Sunday.

MGM and it brought back memories.

"This is where I did Asphalt Jungle," she reflected. "So may-be it is lucky to be in the picture here, though I don't believe in luck."

What does she believe in?

"A combination of circumstances," she said. "Like how I got the role in Asphalt Jungle. John Huston was considering another actress for the part, but a friend got me in to see him. It happened that I had met him briefly before, and he remembered it. After we had talked a while he gave me the role."

She played the sweetheart of gangland lawyer Louis Calhern. She had only a brief scene in which she climbed over a couch, but it made a big impression. MGM let her escape and 20th Century-Fox hired her. History resulted.

I asked whether she will be working more regularly.

SHE WAS TIED UP

"I hope so," she said. "I couldn't for a while because I was tied up in legal difficulties. Now they are all cleared up."

What about The Can Can?

"I've read about it, but Fox hasn't said anything to me about that picture."

The Jean Harlow story:

"I would want to be sure it was done right," she said. "It's a big responsibility to portray someone else's life. If someone did mine, I'd want to be sure it was handled in good taste." .

AT THE PARK — Paul Newman, left, as Billy the Kid, smiles disarmingly at his captors in a scene from "The Left Handed Gun", which premieres today and Saturday at the air conditioned Park Theatre. On the same program a thrilling adventure among the Amazon head hunters "Jaw Hunt in the Jungle", filmed in WarnerColor, stars Robin Hughes. Both features are first showings. Continuous shows starting at 1.00. Doors open at 12.30.

Ellery Queen Returns to TV After Absence of Many Yrs.

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The urbane detective Ellery Queen is returning to television after an absence of several years.

His reincarnation is being supervised by Albert McCleery, who produced Matinee Theatre. The Further Adventures of Ellery Queen will begin an hour weekly series Sept. 25 over NBC-TV Friday evenings at 8 p.m. EDT.

The series without a sponsor as yet, will be produced live from Hollywood as it was reported to be the equivalent of the average Alfred Hitchcock hour.

McCleery, who has come east in search of an actor to play Queen, was saying the other day that he believes it will be "a sophisticated show because Ellery Queen is deductive."

Queen is a personable New York lawyer who also writes detective stories. From a literary standpoint he's a direct descendant of Sherlock Holmes. He's the antithesis of Mike Hammer.

"In an Ellery Queen story," says McCleery, "you learn the facts of a crime and then you deduct who did it. This calls for a stream of consciousness technique which, in turn, must be offset by action.

"We plan to shoot special film outside the studio — chases and the like — and then integrate it with the live drama."

PAID AUDIENCE

According to Suetonius, the Roman emperor Nero had 5,000 paid applauders who attended performances of his play.

Sunday School Lesson

Minorities Make Problems

By ROY L. SMITH

It is a part of the glory of our American way of life that we have invited the oppressed of the world to seek sanctuary among us. For a hundred years those who aspired to liberty and freedom, anywhere in the world, turned their eyes wistfully in the direction of the American nation where democracy was the rule.

INSOLUBLE MINORITIES

The unfortunate result was that millions of the oppressed came from Europe, Asia, and Africa, and settled among us to continue being exactly what they were before they came. The result was that we had "little Italy," "little Sweden," "little Jerusalem," and

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 17: "JUSTICE TO MINORITIES." Leviticus 19:33-37; Deuteronomy 23:7-8; 24:14-15; Matthew 9:9-13; John 4:7-9; 39-41; Galatians 3:26-29.

traceable to the attitude of the original Americans, but at least some part of it was due to the attitude of the aliens who came in wanting to enjoy American freedom and continue to be aliens. The result has been a succession of insoluble minorities.

Any minority which is shut away from opportunity, no matter what the restrictive causes may be, is certain to become a social problem within the space of a few brief months or years. Any neglected minority is very apt to become a charge against the charity of the community.

ONE MEASURE OF JUSTICE

It is one of the undeviating standards by which we can measure the degree of justice we have achieved when we ask the minorities what they think of the quality of justice they find among us. A Negro was brought into a Los Angeles court one day charged with having transported two women across the state line in violation of the federal law. He was penniless, friendless, and helpless. In this condition the presiding judge appointed a public defender, postponed the case until all the evidence could be obtained, made certain that the man had a fair trial, and then said, "This is democracy."

One miscarriage of justice in the case of a minority can be more damaging than any labor disturbance, natural calamity, or epidemic.

JESUS AND MINORITIES

It was one of the elements in the genius of Jesus that he seems to have been able to make the lion and the lamb lie down together in the same company, and in good will.

Matthew, the publican, was one of the most important Roman officers in all the East. As collector of the customs at Capernaum he handled more funds for Rome than any other individual in that eastern end of the Empire. And in the same bend of discipline Jesus had a man named Simon, the Zealot, who would have been considered a radical if the language of today had been applied to individuals of that day.

It is one of the functions of good religion to absorb minorities and make them at home with the majority.

THE CHAMPS

Playdown time has arrived again on ball diamonds all across the country and here on the shores of Quinte Bay, the proud champions of the Belleville and District Softball League, the Point Anne Cementmen, enter the provincial title search tomorrow.

Manager Bill Shaw and coach Phil Loft have moulded a team that bears watching in the hunt for the Ontario Amateur Softball Association Intermediate "A" championship.

The Cementmen have compiled a fine record so far this summer, and against some tough competition at that. They captured the league pennant with a commendable 18-3 record, then roared through two playoff series with seven consecutive victories to win the B. and D. championship once again.

To top this off they captured the Kingston Pen Congress title with a pair of wins in as many games. In exhibition play which comes to mind at the present time they have won a pair and lost one. There may be more which have slipped our mind, but at any rate their record for the season stands at 23 victories and three defeats, unless we have forgotten a game somewhere along the line.

While past performances have little meaning when the playdowns roll around, it still takes a good ball club to win 23 of 26 — that's an .885 average.

A combination of veterans and youngsters has been their success formula to date. And most of the players are versatile enough to cover two or three positions when necessary.

A strong three-man pitching staff consists of Pat Marsele, Al Carkner and Gord Mawhiney. All three are right-handers. Marsele and Carkner will likely get most of the starting assignments with Maroney wearing the fireman's togs or taking a regular turn when the games are played close together.

The regular infield has Claude Carr behind the plate, Chuck Kingston at first, Johnny Batchelor at second, Doug Hull at shortstop and Jackie Wardbaugh at the hot corner.

Lefi has seven men available for outfield duty, with most of them also able to handle infield jobs when necessary. They are Pat Gilmour, Dave Jones, Jackie Elliott, Sr., Gary Goyer, Doug Seale, Jack Elliott Sr. and Cam Bushard.

Every player on the team is capable of hitting the long ball. They are excellent fielders all the way around and are also fast on the base paths. It sounds like quite a combination to beat but only time will tell the tale.

The opposition in the first round will be the Prince George Legion of the Kingston senior softball league. While not too much is known about the Indians, a few names strike a familiar note. In a recent lineup from the Whig-Standard, D Sealer is listed as the right fielder, and E. Sealer is the catcher. —Sounds like the hockey-playing brothers, and they are batting in the third and clean-up spots. Pat Deasy, who has met local opposition in many playdown series before, shares the pitching chore with a chap named O'Toole.

Teddy Batchelor, who played for the Cementmen before accepting a job in the Limestone City, is holding down first base for another team, in the Indian League. Ted claims the hitters are good but that the pitching and fielding cannot compare with that of the Belleville league. By the way, Ted had three home runs in his first four games down there.

The two clubs clash in the first game of a two-of-three series at Point Anne Saturday evening at 6.30. It should be a first class softball fixture so addicts of the popular summer sport are advised not to miss it. Maracle and Deasy will likely get the starting assignments. The second game is slated for Kingston on Tuesday evening. Winners of the series will meet either Oshawa or Peterborough in the next round.

WRESTLING

Don't forget the heavyweight world championship bout at Memorial Arena tonight when Yukon Eric attempts to tear the crown off the head of Whitey Mazzilli. It will take some doing and shapes up as a great bout. In the other contests, popular Dara Singh meets Lord Athol Layton, while Krusher Korman clashes with newcomer Frenchy Vignal.

On the baseball front in the South Hastings League enters into its four-of-seven championship series tomorrow night when Read entertains Latta with the game getting under way at 6.30. The dates of remaining games will be announced the first of the week.

The clubs are said to be about even-steven in strength and supporters of both clubs predict a few hard-fought battles before the championship is decided.

Charlie Jeffs' Belleville midgets face the Trenton youngsters tomorrow afternoon in the first game of their best-of-three series with the game slated for Trenton starting at two o'clock. The second game is at Memorial Arena at 12.30 for Trenton and it is stated there is room aboard for a number of supporters. The second game of the series will be played at the Fair Grounds here next Wednesday night starting at six-thirty.

The Belleville baseball juveniles tackle the Cobourg youngsters in Cobourg on Sunday afternoon starting at 2.00 p.m.

Daring Thefts Give Indians Win; Braves Pad Lead

Tribe's Rare Base Pilferer Steals Home Twice in Game; Fay One-Hits, Blanks Cincy

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Fred Haney of Milwaukee Braves is taking no chances these days. In a game against Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday he pulled young Joey Fay who was pitching a one-hitter in the last of the ninth in favor of the bellwether on his staff.

Joey gave up his eighth walk to the lead-off Cincinnati batter in the last of the ninth. This was enough for Haney even though his league-leaders had a comfortable 5-0 lead. In came 15-game-winner Warren Spahn.

Spahn completed the one-hit shutout and padding the Braves' National League lead to six games over Pittsburgh's idle second-place Pirates.

GIANTS IN THIRD

It also kept the Braves 6½ games ahead of third-place San Francisco. The Giants defeated St. Louis Cards and Los Angeles rapped Chicago Cubs 7-3 in the only other NL games.

The Braves, operating under Jimmy Dyker, who replaced the resigned Birdie Tebbetts as manager, had numerous opportunities against Jay, who walked the leadoff man in six innings. But the Braves backed up Pal Joey with two good defensive plays.

The Braves gave Jay, now 7-4, a quick lead against Don Newcombe on Billy Bruton's homer in the first.

BREAK TIE

The Giants cracked a 1-all tie on Daryl Spencer's 12th home run in the seventh-inning then put it away when Willie Mays homered and Orlando Cepeda hit an RBI double in the — run eighth. Johnny Antonelli won his 13th, but needed relief with the Dodgers loaded and two out in the ninth. Billy Moffett (4-4) lost it.

Duke Snider's solo 11th home run, a 430-foot poke to dead centre in the spacious Los Angeles Coliseum, gave the Dodgers a 2-2 tie in the third and Junior Gilliam's two-run single wrapped it up in the fourth. Don Drysdale, who hit a two-run homer, his fourth, was the winner, but needed relief help for a 7-11 record. Johnny Briggs (4-3) was the loser.

Experts Automatically Pick Dutchmen to Win O.R.F.U.

KITCHENER (CP) — It seems automatic that the experts should call Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen to win the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union championship. They don't even need a peek at the Dutchmen to call the shot.

The 1958 edition of the Dutchmen will be unveiled here Aug. 22, when London Lords provide the opposition. It is the first time in four years the Dutchmen will start the schedule without a pre-season game.

The experts point only to the Twin City club's past performance chart. Entering its sixth season in the ORFU, the club has the most successful competitive record of any team in Canada. The Dutchmen have won the league title four consecutive years — 1954-57 after losing out in the playoffs in 1953.

Club officials, publicly at least, aren't as optimistic as their fans. They figure the other four teams will be saving their best shots for the Dutchmen who have only 18 holdovers from 1957.

NEW COACH

Royal Danby, a hard-thumping fullback with the Dutchmen the last two seasons, has taken over as coach from Harvey Johnson, now head scout for Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four.

Bailey has one big advantage on his side. Quarter Bob Ciselet, four times the league's most valuable player and selected on the Canadian Press All-Star team every year since joining the team in 1954, is assisting in the backfield coaching. He is rated one of the shrewdest quarters in the game.

Giving the same kind of help along the line is defensive end Tom Mooney, an alumnus of the University of Miami at Ohio, who is line coach.

The Dutchmen, who have sent up half-a-dozen men for tryouts in the Western Interprovincial Football Union and Big Four, have many spots to fill. Montreal Alouettes have taken four Canadians and holdover hometowner Include wingback Syl O'Hara, end Nat Pagnan, guard Huck O'Connell, tackle Ed Bishop and halfback Bill McCoy.

LACK HOMERREW DEPTH

But the Dutchmen pick home-brew depth and hope to remedy this with the addition of halfback Davey West from Toronto Argonauts, Bernie Custis, formerly with Hamilton and Ottawa, and Creighton from the University of Western Ontario Mustangs; and a number of junior grads.

Holdover imports include Mike Norcia, a 215-pound, two - way back who was an all-star last year; Mooney, Ciselet, and possibly Roger Seizal who may return after a session in the U.S. Army.

New Americans include six-foot three-inch Chico Mandoza from UCU; Harry Jawish, centre and tackle from Maryland; end Art Powell, Arizona State; and Minnesota fullback Bill CLarke, from Fort Worth, Tex. an Argo cut, and 200-pound tackle Don Smith from the University of Miami in Ohio.

Richmond Beats Royals Twice; Leafs Defeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Someone changed the script in this International League pennant race and the league-leading Montreal Royals didn't get the word.

No one told them that Richmond Virginians would win the first three games of a four-game series, including Thursday night's twi-night doubleheader, 3-1, 5-3.

The Royals can give a big hurrah to Richmond pitcher Don Douglas who stopped second-place Toronto Maple Leafs last night, 6-5 and kept them from making any big headway in the standings.

In other games, Rochester defeated Miami 2-1 and Buffalo knocked off Havana 3-1.

Rance Pless drove in two runs with a clutch double in the opener for the Vees and broke up a 1-1 tie in the nightcap with a two run homer that provided the winning runs.

DICK WINS

Ed Dick (10-4) won the opener against Rene Valdes (12-11). Jim Bronstad (12-6) hurled an eight-hitter for the nightcap victory against Sig Giallombardo (10-7). Cleila Boyer had his 20th homer for the Vees in the nightcap while Bob Oldis cracked No. 2 in the opener for the winners.

Douglas struck out 13 Toronto batters in getting his 13th victory.

The win snapped a four-game Columbus losing string and made loser Pat Scantlebury's record 14-7. Howie Koplitz homered for Columbus. Milt Smith for Toronto.

Ray Katt's two-run homer and Dick Rickett's pitching combined to do the job for Rochester. Loser was Mickey McDermott.

Dave Newsky and Fernando Rodriguez shook off shoddy support by their teammates to hold Miami to three hits, and spoil Emilio Cueche's fine six - hit effort.

Queen's Trio Is Reunited Stewart Joins Rough Riders

OTTAWA (CP) — Lefty half-back Ken Stewart worked out with Ottawa Rough Riders Thursday night and said "It's nice to be here."

He finally had got his way after twice turning down opportunities to play in the Big Four first with Montreal Alouettes and this year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

He joined two other alumni of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., in a dressing room - get together after the workout. Lou Bruce and Gary Schreider, Riders' stars for the last two years, along with Stewart formed the power trio that kept Queen's Golden Gaels at the top of the intercollegiate circuit.

Stewart—5ft., five feet 7½ inches tall and 175 pounds — was obtained from Ticats in an agreement announced Thursday by manager Jim McCaffrey. Riders in payment gave up their first draft choice next year and announced cash believed between $2,000 and $3,000.

RATED HIGHLY

Stewart despite his size, is considered one of the greatest halfbacks produced by Canadian intercollegiate football in recent years.

He probably will get his first crack at professional competition here next Tuesday when Riders play host to Toronto Argonauts.

Stewart, who hails from his home, has expressed preference for playing with Ottawa since halfback drafted by Montreal two years ago. He refused to play in Montreal last year, preferring to remain at Queen's to study law.

He became Hamilton property in the off season. But again as this season approached Stewart remained in the Maritimes where he would rather study law at University of New Brunswick than play in Hamilton.

Stewart will continue his law studies here while playing with Riders.

Major Upset Marks Men's Tennis Singles

TORONTO (CP) — The men's ocean singles head into the semi-finals today at the Ontario lawn tennis championships and an unranked player is among the four competitors.

Hugh Cooke of Hamilton — a name absent Thursday in gain the semi-final round, defeating Jim Bentley of Toronto, third seeded in Ontario, 6-2, 0-6, 6-3.

Cooke will still be undergoing today Sandy Mahan, formerly of Vancouver and now a Toronto resident, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. Mahan, Canada, gained the semi-finals with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Centre men Bolton of Toronto, junior Davis Cup member.

In the other match, Don Fontana of Toronto, second-ranked in Canada, meets Don Platt, four-seeded in Ontario."

UPSET IN DOUBLES TOO

In another upset, Bentley and Platt lost to Fontana and Don Allum of Toronto 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, the winners reaching the men's open doubles quarter-finals.

Ralph Talley of Kitchener and Ned Hall of Niagara Falls, N.Y., went down in the doubles quarter-finals to Bruce Eagle and Barry Freedhoff, Toronto, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, to the third round Eagle had downed Bob Barkand and Bruce Harrison of Oakville, 6-1, 6-2.

Top players advanced in the women's singles quarter - finals. Eleanor Dodge of Montreal, who won the Canadian singles title at Vancouver a month ago; Susan Bitit of Victoria, Mrs. Louise Brown and Mrs. Rita Deloria, both of Toronto, were the victors.

In the first round of the veterans' singles, Tec Dodwell of Oshawa defeated John Raymond of Toronto, 6-4, 7-5.

Chicago Cards Should Be Good Says 'Pop' Ivy

CHICAGO (AP) — A rookie coach from Canadian football is hopeful of a winning season for Chicago Cardinals, with big help from a bunch of rookies.

Frank (Pop) Ivy, approaching his first season in the National Football League, is hoping for a great deal of improvement from the Cardinals who finished in last place in the NFL's eastern division in 1957.

Ivy came to Chicago from Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

"So far," says Ivy, "a great deal of improvement has been indicated by the attitude of the players by the team to work. The players have shown a great deal of desire."

Ivy is looking toward exhibition games for a better line on the team. He'll get it first when the Cardinals tackle Chicago Bears at Buffalo, N.Y., Sunday.

'Rocket' Will Shoot for 25,30 Goals

MONTREAL (CP)—The rest of the National Hockey League might as well know the bad news now.

Montreal Canadiens' Maurice (Rocket) Richard, the venerable gentleman who has just turned 37 years old, has overcome an almost disastrous foot injury, hasn't the slightest intention of retiring and is going gunning for 25 or 30 goals next season.

"As long as the puck goes into the net once in a while I'll play," the incorrigible Rocket told The Canadian Press Thursday. "When it doesn't I'll quit."

For the oldest guy in the league, how many times is once in a while?

"If I can't get 30 goals in a 70-game season that would be a signal. This coming season I think I can get 25 or 30, barring accidents of course."

The hunch that held Richard last season all but put him out of hockey. His right Achilles tendon was almost severed during a game in Toronto Nov. 13. He underwent surgery, hobbled back into action in the tag end of the season and was a sensation in playoffs, but relain their Stanley Cup championship.

Win 29-21 Bombers' Ground Attack Too Powerful for Edmonton

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, revealing a powerful ground attack, defeated Edmonton Eskimos 29-21 Thursday night in the opening game of the 1958 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

The defending champions used Eskimos' favorite formula, a hard - hitting attack along the ground, to win the victory.

Bombers held Edmonton's running play almost to a standstill, forcing Edmonton quarterback Jackie Parker to take to the air. The incomparable Rocket told

The remaining WIFU teams get into action this weekend.

Saskatchewan Rough riders travel to Vancouver Saturday night to meet British Columbia Lions. Lions meet Calgary Stampeders at Calgary and Saskatchewan plays at Edmonton Monday.

Harry James, 1957 WIFU scoring champion and Leo Lewis accounted for two Winnipeg touchdowns. James converted all four and full-back Charlie Shepard added a field goal. Halfback McMillian was rugged.

Parker, with two, and import halfback Jackie Smith from Houston, with one, scored Eskimos' touchdowns. Moore converted two and Bill Walker booted a single.

GETS $3,000 RAISE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Outfielder Leon Wagner, 26, rookie in flock of San Francisco Giants' freshmen, has been given an unusual tribute of a fat pay raise in mid-season. He earned it by team leadership in home runs and runs batted in, along with a tremendous competitive spirit. Reliable sources put the raise at $3,000.

Lindy McDaniel Joins Brother In Minor Loop

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lindy McDaniel joined his younger brother Von in the minors Thursday as St. Louis Cardinals optioned him to Omaha of the American Association.

The 22-year-old Lindy was 5-7 this season and owned a whopping earned run average of nearly 6.0. Last year he won 15 and dropped 9, compiling a 3.69 earned run average.

Brother Von, the other half of a highly promising pitching duo, was sent to Houston-Salem several months ago when he developed a hitch in his delivery.

Pitching: Joey Jay, Milwaukee Braves—Gave up eight walks and finally gave way to reliever Warren Spahn in the ninth, but yielded only one hit for a 3-0 victory over Cincinnati Redlegs in his first start in two weeks because of an arm injury.

Hitting: Rocky Colavito, Cleveland Indians—Drove in three runs with a pair of homers in 10-5 10-inning victory over Detroit Tigers.

'Birdie' Flits Redlegs' Cage Brass Concurs With Verdict

CINCINNATI (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, the philosopher, quit Thursday as manager of Cincinnati Redlegs and turned the manager Gabe Paul said he didn't blame him.

It was not that he felt that he was not doing a good job, Tebbetts said in a statement, but that he believed his continued presence as manager would hurt club owners.

Paul, reviewing the situation, poor pitching, disappointing hitting, and injuries, declared:

"I don't see how I'd do the same thing."

Tebbetts became manager Sept. 20, 1954, after the season ended.

Coach Jimmy Dykes, 62, longtime pilot of Chicago White Sox, will have charge of the team until a successor to Tebbetts is named.

The club, floundering all season, dropped to the bottom of the National League Wednesday night after losing a double-header to Milwaukee Braves. They lost to the Braves again Thursday night.

Tebbetts, manager of the year in 1956 when Cincinnati finished third, was popular with the fans until this season. Then everything he poked his head out of the dugout, he was greeted with boos and catcalls.

Caledonia Rink Wins Doubles Bowling Title

TORONTO (CP)—A Caledonia entry of Neill Salkald and Andy Anderson Thursday night won the Seagram doubles trophy at the Ontario lawn bowling tournament defeating Tommy Jones and Art Ottaway of Toronto Runnymede 21-18.

It was another in a long line of victories for Salkeld, holder of the provincial singles title for the last two years. In the semi-final they defeated Jim Smart and Don Basquil of Niagara Falls, Ont., 30-4.

In the second trophy a Toronto Parkside pair, Jim Burnett and Bill Swan, defeated Eaton Gold Cup winner Dick Edney of Kingston and Bill Duncan 16-9. Burnett led all the way.

The consolation prize went to a Welland duo, Bill Hillard and Bill Deakin, when they downed Jim Coulbrough and Danny Watson of Detroit 25-13.

Bobcats Claw Sports Centre 11-3 Take Two-Game Lead in AA Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Bobcats took a two-game lead in their three-of-five Canadian Intermediate "AA" Championship playoff series at CNRA Park last night by downing Sports Centre 11-3.

Third game is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the CNRA Park. Game time is 6.30 p.m. A Bobcat win will advance them to the championship.

Temple's Tabbies took advantage of errors by both of the two Sports Centre pitchers to win the game in the initial frame, scoring on three runs. They added a single in the fifth and a trio in the seventh. Sweet losers got one back in the fourth and two in the final inning. The Bobcats also nailed a cause of darkness at the end of the seventh.

Southpaw Bobby Green hurled a neat three-hitter for the Bobcats to gain his second victory of the series. He allowed Sports Centre only two runs, one in each of the fourth, sixth and seventh frames, striking out six, while walking five.

"Sonny" Holoway started on the hill for Sports Centre and registers but after retiring the first batter and giving up a single to Bobby Crawford he lost his control. He issued four consecutive walks in the seventh to two runs before giving way to Jim McLeod. McLeod also had control problems as he walked the first two men he faced for a 8-4 lead. Bobby Crawford got a single in and Crawford slashed his second safety of the frame to make it 7-4.

Holoway took the loss, while McLeod was credited with preserving up ten of the Bobcats' 11 hits. Neither fanned a batter while Holoway walked four and McLeod six.

Backed up by "Shiner" Murray, passed ball and wild pitch scored a single Sports Centre run in the first. A single by Faulkner, Green's two-bagger and Murray's passed ball netted the Bobcats' seven run lead in the fifth. They made it 11-1 in the sixth when Faulkner scored with a hard-hit homer down the left field line. A single by Green and a free pass followed with Bobby Wrcsez Browne's single, driving home both runners.

Sports Centre cut the margin to eight runs when "Shorty" Miller singled and Little walked and Stu Bobcat missed twice in the bottom of the frame. Bobcat catcher Doug Bone suffered a thumb injury when he caught a Green pitch on the end of the digit. A run scored all the way from second on the play and Coutsol came in from right field to do the receiving.

Floyd Crawford poled a double and two singles to spearhead the Bobcats' 11-hit attack. Bert Faulkner honored and singled, while Green helped his own cause with two singles.

Barclay, "Wiener" Brown, Bey Guidolin and Ken Coutts contributed one-baggers.

Fresh "Shiner" Murray collected two of the Sports Centre safeties, while "Shorty" Miller had the other.

The line-up:

Bobcats — Barclay, Crawford, Brown, Guidolin, Cousins, Casey, Bone, Faulkner, Green, Rupsell.

Sports Centre — Miller, Little, St. Murray, F. Murray, Si. Denis, Brooks, Whalen, Foster, Holoway, McLeod.

Umpires — Don Thomae (p). Harold Bawden. Time 1:21.

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Senor Teddy, the longest-priced horse in the field of five, won the feature at Fort Erie Thursday. Senor Teddy, cleverly ridden by veteran Con Errico, defeated County Teddy by three-quarters of a length while the favorite, Ali's Pride, finished third, a nose behind County Teddy.

It was the first victory of the season for Senor Teddy, owned by Col. K. R. Marshall of Toronto. The four-year-old gelding paid $24, $8.30 and $2.60.

Errico, who fractured his pelvis in an accident at Fort Erie spring meeting, completed the double-header Thursday with Senor Teddy. He had scored in the fourth race with the favored Vera Dear.

Joint Cabinet Committee Of More Benefit to Canada

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada stands to benefit more than the United States from the twin moves now under way in Ottawa and Washington, with parliamentary committees to try informally to iron out some of the difficulties between the two countries.

Largely this is because most of the complaints which throw Canada-U.S. relations out of harmony from time to time come from Canada. Americans customarily find little or nothing to irritate them about Canada and Canadians.

But, basically, Canada will benefit more because many of the American actions which aggravate Canadians originate in the U.S. Congress. Future misunderstandings might be avoided if the work of the parliamentary committees gives the average American Congressman a clearer appreciation of Canada and the way his legislative actions affect the Canadian people.

CONTRAST STRONG

The problem lies in some fundamental differences inherent in the governmental and parliamentary systems of the two countries. Both were set up as federal unions—a collection of states and provinces with a central government at the top—but the resemblance between them ends there.

The Canadian system embodies a strong central government with power vested in a cabinet that is part and parcel of the parliamentary structure. With the prime minister as its head, the cabinet sits in the Commons, commands the support of a majority of its members and is responsible for introducing all major legislation, including any bill that affects the public purse.

Under the rules of Parliament, government legislation has precedence and the private member is limited to the introduction of only certain private and public bills.

The framers of the American constitution, having just freed themselves of British rule, feared of vesting too much power in a central authority and adopted a system of checks and balances.

They distributed power between the Congress, which has a free hand to originate legislation, the president, who can recommend legislation and also veto congressional bills, and the Supreme Court, which interprets the constitution and, in that sense, also is a law-making institution.

The result is that the average American Congressman is a much more free-wheeling individual than his Canadian counterpart. Apart from a few limitations placed on him by the constitution, he can initiate legislation on just about anything. If he is a member of the Senate, he cannot introduce money bills. That privilege, as it is in Canada, is reserved for the lower House, known in the U.S. as the House of Representatives.

Congressional committees, too, are far more powerful than the committees of Parliament at Ottawa.

CARRY WEIGHT...

Committees can, and often do, write legislation. In actual fact, they provide the only genuine study in Congress of the need and probable effect of prospective laws. Partly for this reason, their recommendations carry weight with the individual members, none of whom ordinarily have the opportunity to consider the merits of each piece of legislation.

Their investigative powers also far exceed those of Canadian parliamentary committees and they frequently make use of them.

Duplessis Will Give 3 Members Lifetime Jobs

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis is to announce in the near future appointment of three new members to the 24-seat legislative council — provincial upper house, it has been learned reliably.

Usually well informed sources close to the provincial administration say cabinet ministers are rumored to be planning retirement, are to get the lifetime council seats and vacate their seats in the legislative assembly.

The shift, according to these sources, will be accompanied by the calling of provincial byelections—possibly three or four.

Politically, legislature circles say, the strategy will be to force new Quebec Liberal Leader Jean Lesage into an open election battle with the powerful Union Nationale party.

CONTROVERSIAL SALE

The issue? The sale of Quebec Hydro's Montreal gas-distribution system to the privately-owned Quebec Natural Gas Corporation April 25 last which Mr. Lesage has criticized in dozens of speeches following a series of articles critical of the transaction in the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir.

Except for the forthcoming a virtual certainty—all recent reports of byelections and cabinet changes are so far only the result of conjecture.

The truth is that no one but Premier Duplessis and members of the provincial cabinet know for certain who is to be appointed to the council and whether byelections are to be held soon.

Although Liberal opposition members talk of the possibility of a sudden provincial general election, government sources discount the talk as unrealistic.

The Union Nationale was elected for a fifth term in 1956. Its five-year term expires in 1961 but normally an election is held every four years and the next provincial election is expected in 1960.

Union Nationale party supporters see in byelections a chance to force Mr. Lesage to come out into an open election fight on the hustings.

Mr. Lesage has been touring Quebec for more than a month on what he calls "a march of liberation." His visit is nearly all regions of the province has stirred Liberal morale to rebuild their defeated/ridden provincial organization.

There are indications the Liberal leader may decide to ignore byelections when and if they are called by the government.

He and his party ignored a byelection July 2 at Matane. No Liberal candidate was nominated for the contest. The Union Nationale swamped the lone independent candidate in the race.

Mr. Lesage, who has no seat in the legislature, described the byelection as "a bear trap."

The current standing in the 93-seat legislature: Union Nationale 73; Liberals 17; independent three.

Warden L. Price PC Candidate In East Hastings

Wins Over 5 Nominees, Madoc Armouries Filled

NEW CANDIDATE

Lloyd Price, Actinolite, Warden of Hastings county was elected PC candidate for Hastings East at nomination meeting held at Madoc, Friday night.

In a "wide open" nominating convention which saw balloting last for over three hours as six candidates allowed their names to stand, Hastings county Warden Lloyd H. Price of Actinolite was Friday night named Progressive Conservative candidate for the riding of East Hastings.

Warden Price defeated V. A. McMurray of Gilmour on the final ballot after four other nominees had been eliminated. Balloting was not completed until nearly 1:30 a.m. There were 360 official delegates present out of 307 named.

Mr. Price will now be the Progressive Conservative standard bearer in the Sept. 11 by-election called by Premier Leslie Frost following the resignation of Roscoe Robson who resigned to become Hastings county sheriff.

The Madoc Armouries was filled almost to capacity for the nomination meeting which began with a parade of cars around the field and the fact that all parts of the county were represented, attested wide interest on the part of party supporters.

Other men offering themselves as candidates were Ex-Warden Jack Kincaid, Ex-Warden and present reeve of McClure, Wiscbee and Marger, William J. Davis, Reeve Charles Long of Tyendinaga, and Deputy Reeve Harold Tilary of Elzeford township.

Five others were nominated but declined to allow their names to stand. Those were Ex-Warden Arthur McCamey of Tweed; T. C. Graham of Tweed, who was absent from the meeting, Reeve Alf Wickett of Thurlow, Bruce White, son of Councillor George White of Madoc and Dr. H. N. Hartt of Roslin.

Guest speaker for the nomination meeting was Dr. M. B. Dymond of Port Perry, Minister of Transport for the Province of Ontario.

Wide applause, Other speakers included Senator George Wm. Hastey, Reeve Wilson Grills, M.P. for Hastings South, and W. E. Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West.

Besides naming a new party candidate, the party supporters also took advantage of the nomination meeting to honor their retiring member of the Legislative Assembly and presented him and Mrs. Roscoe Robson with a large engraved silver tray. Mr. Robson had represented the riding for the past 15 years.

The presentation came as a real surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Robson.

"I am very much surprised," said Mr. Robson as he expressed his appreciation for the gift. "It was very unexpected and is very touching."

He said that for 15 years he had enjoyed the co-operation of riding supporters during

400 Supervisors To Tend Furnaces Over Weekend

HAMILTON (CP) — A task force of 400 supervisors inside the strikebound Steel Company of Canada plant will maintain their vigil over cooling furnaces and ovens this weekend.

That and the restless pacing of 200 pickets from among the 7,500 idle production workers is about the only activity connected with the strike which ended Tuesday. Negotiations, moving sluggishly at week's end, are surrounded till Monday. There's little hope of settlement then.

The United Steelworkers of America (CIO) called out its members when the company refused to meet demands for a 33-cent-an-hour package deal. Since then the company has offered a five-cent-an-hour package—rejected by the union — and has said it has no more to offer.

There have been no incidents at the plant, in contrast with the last strike in 1946, when pickets, company and police clashed frequently and some workers were under siege within the factory.

Truck Driver In Accident From Belleville

COBOURG (CP) — A Whitby man was killed and two women injured shortly before dawn today when their car collided with a truck 1½ miles east of here.

Police are withholding their names until next-of-kin have been notified.

The dead man and his wife were returning from Montreal where they met the other woman of a stag party England, truck, owned by Direct Wisters Company was driven by James O'Hara, 30, of Belleville.

CANADIAN UNIONS 99 P.C. "PURE" SAY MEMBERS

Claim SIU Workers Live Under Tyranny

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Organized labor in Canada is 99 - per - cent "pure" but there are one or two exceptions, say two members of Parliament interested in labor questions.

Ernest Broome (PC — Vancouver South) said in a Commons debate Friday that most Canadian unions are led by "honest, conscientious and hard-working men."

But he described American-born Hal C. Banks of Montreal, leader of the Seafarers' International Union, as a "dictator" who thrust on Canada by American labor leaders.

SIU members, Mr. Broome said, "live under a tyranny which can only be compared with that existing behind the Iron Curtain."

GOOD AND BAD UNIONS

Arnold Peters (CCF — Timiskaming) said there are "good unions and bad unions." The bad unions were few and where they existed the management were usually corrupt. He did not name Mr. Banks, but referred to a "gentleman nobody in the labor movement is proud of" who had been imported from the U.S. to break up Communist influence in a union.

Fred G. Howard (CCF—Skeena), like Mr. Peters a former trade union official, said a small number of Canadian unions do not tolerate free speech within their ranks. Such bodies were only a fraction of the 1,250,000 unionized workers in Canada.

What Is on Other Side of Moon? Rocket Camera May Give Answer

NEW YORK (AP) — What's on the other side of the moon?

That's probably the biggest question the Air Force hopes to answer with the camera-equipped rocket expected to be shot around the moon sometime — perhaps Sunday morning.

There are a number of other controversial questions about the moon. No one knows with absolute surety where it came from or how to account for its craters or its so-called rays.

The rocket, if it does get close enough to its target, may help to answer those questions.

Is the side of the moon which earthlings see all the same as the face which always is turned to us?

What are the bright streaks called rays, which radiate from points near some of its craters?

Are the craters the results of meteorites striking, or something else?

T. L. Kennedy, Old War Horse Of Ontario Politics, to Retire

TORONTO (CP) — Col. Thomas Laird Kennedy, self-styled "Old Warhorse of Ontario politics, has decided to ligate the bugle.

He told friends attending his 80th birthday party at his near-by Dixie home Friday:

"After over 50 years of public service I feel it's a good thing if I retire — in an active way. I don't think you'll ever retire me permanently."

He would not again stand as Progressive Conservative candidate for Peel, the riding he has represented in the Legislature with only one break since 1919.

Col. Kennedy warned last year:

"The old warhorse isn't likely to be running down the road when he hears the bugle of the next election. He'll be kicking his heels in the pasture — but just in the pasture."

Premier Frost, who succeeded Col. Kennedy at the head of the Ontario government in 1949, regarded his decision to quit with some doubt Friday.

"We accept your statement," he said, "as one that anyone might make on an occasion like this, but when the chips are down I'm sure the great old warhorse of Peel will be out again to lead the forces."

Col. Kennedy first served as a leader in the First World War when he commanded the Governor-General's Body Guard and the 1st Canadian Cavalry in Belgium.

Back home, he was elected to the legislature in 1919 and reelected four times until defeated in 1934 while serving as agriculture minister.

Re-elected in 1937, he has retained his place in the legislature since and now is senior senior man in the House, surpassed only by Liberal Harry Nixon of Brant, who has held the seat continuously since 1919.

Col. Kennedy again took up the agriculture portfolio in 1943 and succeeded Hon. George Drew, now Canadian high commissioner in London, as premier in 1948 when Mr. Drew resigned to take over national leadership of the Progressive Conservatives.

He was premier for seven years and then became agriculture minister under Premier Frost until he resigned his post in 1955.

On his last birthday, Col. Kennedy recalled:

"It's been a wonderful life—every minute of it. Public life, wartime days, farming, the growth of the marketing programs for farmers — even the horse and buggy courting."

Resources Minister Reverses Statements on Arctic Visits

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton has reversed a statement that Canadian officials must obtain United States permission to visit some joint Canadian-American defence areas in the Canadian Arctic.

He said in an interview Friday that the U.S. state department statement was "quite accurate" in stating that Canadians "obviously" are free to travel anywhere in the Canadian Arctic "without clearance from any United States authority."

This would include visits to the Distant Early Warning radar line in the North. The U.S. built and controls this line for the detection of enemy aircraft which might strike from the Arctic.

Mr. Hamilton told the Commons Thursday that it was a matter of "national chagrin" that Canadian officials, including cabinet ministers, must obtain U.S. permission to visit certain Arctic areas.

He was "ashamed" of a situation in which he said some Canadian officials had to wait "several months" for American clearance. He also said Thursday he had taken up the matter with the U.S. state department and had received "very friendly and favorable" response.

Mr. Hamilton's statement resulted in immediate reaction in Washington.

The state department issued a statement Friday that "obviously a Canadian is free to travel anywhere in Canada, including the DEW line sites in the Canadian Arctic, or its own without clearance from any United States authority."

Mr. Hamilton said immediately that the state department's statement is "quite accurate." The minister said he had discussed the matter with a top official in Ottawa report today and he had been "goofed."

The state department said that if a Canadian wanted lodging, food, gasoline or other supplies at DEW line sites he had to apply through the DEW line co-ordinator who was a Canadian citizen. The co-ordinator since DEW line construction started.

The minister said that "negotiations" for a treaty into effect July 23, 1958. In his Commons statement Thursday, Mr. Hamilton did not refer to what he described Friday as new regulations.

IN EXISTENCE EARLIER

However, it is a learned authority that the regulations have been in existence since DEW line construction started. They were only put on paper and circulated last July 23.

This was the cause of increasing inquiries from persons seeking procedures for travelling to DEW line sites, which are not classified.

However, the sites are in isolated areas of the North and are not served by regular commercial airlines.

The Wheeler and Pacific Western Airlines have been hired by the U.S. government to fly supplies to DEW line sites. These

DOUKHOBORS WILL SOON CONSIDER GOVTS.' OFFER

Spokesman Says Sect Ready to Move at Once

By W. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Government offers to foot the bill in sending the radical Sons of Freedom back to the Russian land their fathers left 50 years ago will be considered soon by the Doukhobor sect's "fraternal council," its semi-secret governing body.

That was the first reaction from a Doukhobor spokesman Friday to the federal-provincial offer to pay the expenses for any of the estimated 2,000 to 3,000 Freedomites who decide to make the move. They will have to give up Canadian citizenship.

Joe Podvinikoff, who lives in a settlement at Hilliers on Vancouver Island, said the Sons are ready to move "any time and the sooner the better."

The fraternal council probably will meet somewhere near the main Doukhobor settlement at Krestova in the heart of the Kootenay area. It is there that recurring bomb blasts and burnings have for years been laid to the radical Sons who describe themselves as pacifists but refuse to obey Canadian law.

OFFER SIBERIAN SITE

Podovinikoff was one of a fourman Sons of Freedom delegation which recently went to Russia and came back with the glad news the Soviets had agreed the Doukhobors could settle on a Siberian site about 1,400 miles east of Moscow.

The governments' offer provides Ottawa and the federal government will pay transportation costs of all Freedomites who will provide financial assistance not exceeding $1,000 per family. Spokesmen for Freedomites to re-establish themselves.

Even as the governments were preparing their announcements there were new bomb blasts in the interior. Overnight bomb bursts Thursday night damaged two post offices and a public building at Grand Forks, Oliver and Vernon in the Okanagan Valley.

SAME TYPE BLASTS

Police said they were the same kind of blasts previously blamed on Sons of Freedom radicals in the Kootenay area.

The fraternal council probably will meet one of the sect's greatest

Evidence Shows Airliner Exploded In Air Before Plunging Into Sea

GALWAY Ireland (AP)—Strong evidence that the KLM airliner exploded in the air, killing all 99 persons aboard before the plane plunged into the sea, was uncovered today.

R. K. Hensdrager, chief medical officer of KLM, said postmortem examinations have discovered shows that the victims "died before the impact."

The bodies of 34 were recovered from the sea 100 miles off Galway Bay where the four-engined airliner crashed Thursday with apparent suddenness that prevented crew sending radio distress signals.

Autopsies were performed on the recovered victims—23 women, eight men and one child.

Passengers Bound For Holiday Camp Off Cape Cod

Injured Carried Across Boggy Land to Hospital

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—Twenty-two persons were killed and 13 injured in the fiery crash of a Northeast Airlines plane near Nantucket airport late Friday night.

Among the dead was Gordon Dean of New York, former chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Most of the passengers on the plane from New York were bound for vacations on weekend stays at this island resort about 25 miles off Cape Cod.

No Canadians were listed in the breakdown of dead and injured. Most of the passengers were from the New York city area.

Five of the injured were held at the small 40-bed hospital on the island. The other seven were flown to Boston's Massachusetts General Hospital. The injured included one baby.

Others among the dead were the plane's pilot, co-pilot and stewardess.

31 PASSENGERS

The passengers totalled 31, including the two-year-old girl who was riding in her mother's lap. Cindy Lou Young was thrown clear of the wreckage but was injured. Her mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Young, 18, of Nantucket, was killed.

The injured were carried on litters through boggy woodland. A coast guard team of 16 served as litter-bearers. The scene of crash was a wooded area about 300 yards northeast of the airport.

The crash was the second major air tragedy in two days. A KLM Royal Dutch airlines Super-Constellation crashed off Shannon, Ireland, Thursday with the loss of 99 lives.

The Northeast plane, which rolled as it was approaching its destination, was a 40-passenger Convair with a crew of five. A Civil Aeronautics Administration spokesman said it "disintegrated" on caught fire."

CAME IN TOO LOW

George Lusk of the airport communications staff said the pilot "apparently came down too low and hit some low pine trees and then jumped into a swamp and burned feet long. The plane shattered and wreckage was strewn all about."

Lester Costa, a repair shop operator at the airport, and Foreman Standship, a maintenance man, said they heard the plane's crash scene in a fire truck after seeing a "big ball of red fire."

"There was a big sound," Costa said. "We saw people crawling out."

There was a woman who seemed to be caught and Standship managed to get her out. Through the flames I saw a man in a dazed condition on fire. I managed to get hold of him and lead him away. Then we went to the man on the ground and put him with foam and water."

Dean, 53, was appointed to the AEC by President Truman and was chairman from 1950 to 1953. He left the agency shortly after the Eisenhower administration took office. He was a member of the New York investment firm of Lehman Brother since.

Embezzler Not Real Good Judge Of Character

BALTIMORE (AP) — "I guess I'm not a very good judge of character," Charles Herbert said ruefully.

He told of giving $300 to an alcoholic friend he was trying to reform. The friend lost it betting on horse races.

Herbert told his story Friday to a federal judge. He was explaining to the judge what happened to $547 he embezzled as a postal agent at North Englewood, Md.

The judge $2477 Herbert said he bet it on the races and lost, too.

The judge sent him to prison for six months.

Five Breweries Joining Company To Settle Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of Ontario's brewing industry are to meet Monday in an unprecedented move to settle differences with members of the United Brewery Workers of America (CLC).

Meanwhile, negotiators were to meet again today to settle a strike which started like days ago. About 1,300 distribution workers walked out after Brewers' Warehousing Company Limited — the distribution agency for Ontario breweries — rejected non - monetary demands in a new contract. The union also seeks wage increases ranging from $9 to $14 a week and a reduction of the work week to 35 from 40 hours.

Negotiations for five breweries — Carling's, Molson's, O'Keefe's, Labatt's and Canada Ale — plus Brewers' Warehousing representatives Monday to seek a settlement general strike of both plants and distributing outlets.

GRADUAL SHUTDOWNS

The strike in various stages of negotiation with most of the Ontario's by a vote of 1,300 to 1,000 started. Since then the breweries have gradually been shutting down because of no distribution facilities.

Union officials had indicated that once the breweries were closed, they would stay shut until a general settlement for both brewers and breweries' warehousing was concluded.

Almost all Ontario hotels and taverns have run dry of draft beer and bottle distributors are expected to vanish in most districts within a few days.

Timely Barking Of Dog Saves Toronto Family

TORONTO (CP) — The timely barking of a dog today saved the lives of a restaurant proprietor and his wife when an explosion shattered their restaurant on west-end Queen street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jullus Demeter jumped 10 feet from their apartment above the restaurant to the roof of a shed seconds before the explosion tore out the glass front of their restaurant.

Mr. Demeter said their dog awakened them by barking after the explosion.

Contents of the restaurant were found scattered half a block away.

Fire Damages Cleaning Plant In Deseronto

Fire, believed to have started in the boiler room, did considerable damage to the Dear Hub dry cleaning establishment in Deseronto on Thursday afternoon.

Deseronto volunteer fire brigade under the direction of Fire Chief James Meyer had the blaze extinguished in about half an hour but heavy water and smoke damage resulted to the dry cleaning premises, and to customers' clothing.

Swift fire work prevented the spread of flames to adjoining blocks but some smoke damage is reported at the Roach grocery store next door.

The blaze started about one o'clock and was under control half an hour later. Upstairs apartments were smoke-damaged but fortunately the apartments were vacant.

The cleaning establishment will be closed pending repairs and a cleanup operation.

Mother, Child Shot to Death

DAFOE, Sask. (CP) — A mother and her 14-year - old daughter were shot to death Friday in their farm home near this community 90 miles southeast of Saskatoon.

Police said Mrs. Mary Chorosby, 40, apparently shot her daughter Marlene, then turned the gun on herself.

Mrs. Chorosby's husband, Mike, was in the yard and could not hear the shooting because of a noisy combine on which he was working.

Salvation Army Band Featured in Sunday Concert

The Belleville Salvation Army Band will be featured Sunday afternoon at Victoria Park in the summer series of band concerts are moved indoors because of rain.

Of particular interest to the citizens of Belleville will be a trombonist solo by Mrs. Walters. Mrs. Walters' daughter Judy, lead band, is stationed at Belleville for the summer, is the daughter of Commissioner and Mrs. Harewood, former chief secretary for Australia. Following his stay in Australia, Commissioner Harewood was transferred to Canada.

It was Mrs. Walters who first introduced the precision playing of the tamborine to Canadian Salvationists when she came to Canada in 1950 and as a result the tymbral brigades are functioning in many Salvation Army centres across Canada.

Sunday's concert will consist of march selections by the band, vocal selections by male voice party, trumpet solo by Mrs. Walters, Scripture reading by Lt. Walters and hymn selections by the band.

Police Bluster

William S. Woods, 16, of North Park Street, suffered abrasions and bruises Friday when he was forced to swerve his motorcycle to avoid an approaching car which was passing another vehicle.

Police said Woods was southbound on Yeomans Street when the two motorists made an attempt to pass another forcing him to the curb where his machine hit a pot hole and threw him.

A series of street fights and disturbances kept police on the move last night with half a dozen such occurrences being reported.

At the fairgrounds David Appliances reported the disappearance of drapery material, which had been used to decorate their fair booth.

But another theft has had a big letdown by the time it appears in print. A local resident reported that six watermelon bottles had been taken from an office.

The big letdown was that the bottles were filled with water, not whiskey.

ALS CROP THREE

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes dropped three import linemen Friday, reducing their American roster to 17. Cut were Jim Hanson, centre - linebacker from South Dakota; Charles (Nap) Napoli, tackle from Brantford, Ont., and Jim Grimes, guard-tackle from North Carolina.

LONDON (Reuters)—Crimes of violence in London continued to show a marked increase during 1957, metropolitan police commissioner Sir John Nott-Bower reported Wednesday. The number of indictable offences in all age groups was 135,754, compared with 106,582 during 1956.

McComb and Son Premier Breeders At Holstein Show

The entries of A.B. McComb and Son, Belleville, dominated the Hastings Black and White show held August 13th in connection with Belleville Exhibition. Altogether Mr. McComb won fourteen first prizes, including all the groups, the Grand Champion cow, the Junior Champion female, the reserve Junior Champion female, the Grand Champion bull, the reserve Grand Champion bull, and the reserve Junior Champion bull. Jack Bramble, Madoc, who was runner up for premier breeder and premier exhibitor shared the Junior Champion bull, while Garnet Denyes, Plainfield, showed the reserve Grand Champion cow who was also the winner of the Best Udder competition. Burnside had a total of three firsts, Denyes two firsts, and Philo Harris, Madoc, one first.

Judge Roy Ormiston, Brooklin, commented on the good quality and strong tops in each class. The competition in the bull classes was extremely strong and Grand Champion being the winning aged bull, Glenalcomb Lucky Rocket, who is a son of the famous show bull Rockwood Rocket Tone. This bull has great length, a wide, level rump, and walks well on good legs. The reserve Grand Champion was the first prize two-year-old, Glenalcomb Pabst Sir Echo, a splendid young bull also with a wealth of quality and style. Glenalcomb Lucky Rocket bull was the first prize junior bull calf, Signet Ford Proprietor, while Mc-Comb's second junior Champion was the winning senior bull calf, Glenalcomb Lucky Jane. Both junior bulls were typey dairy bulls with sharp shoulder and good rib. The junior Champion cow which was headed by the grand champion, Glenalcomb Lucky Doreen, was probably the strongest of the show. The Grand Champion is a daughter of the famous Rockwood Tone, and is a well balanced, thick topped cow. Velda Royal Governor, who headed the aged cows in milk for Garnet Denyes was the reserve Junior and Grand Champion, but had to contend with being senior female to serve Grand Champion and Best Uddered Female.

McComb's junior Champion female was the first prize senior heifer calf, Glenalcomb Pabst Lucy, and his reserve Junior Champion female the winning junior yearling heifer, Glenalcomb Sovereign Fanny. These two, together with the first prize junior heifer calf and the first prize senior bull calf were the junior get of sire for McComb, being a very uniform group sired by the Grand Champion bull. Grand and reserve Grand Champion bulls made a very outstanding group to win the prize of dam class.

In addition to the Junior Champion cow, Jack Burnside showed the first prize three-year-old and the winning dry two-year-old heifer while Philo Harris had the milking three-year-old.

Altogether, fifty-eight head were shown by six exhibitors.

MOON SHOT MUST BE NEAR-PERFECT

Drawing of the moon shows the names given to various sections of the heavenly body. The first of four moon rockets August 17, with the hope that it will circle the moon in a "boomerang" shot. If the timing of the launching is miscalculated by even a few seconds, the rocket would either pass beyond the 24,000-mile-wide gravitational field of the moon, or hit the moon head-on. Scientists generally agree that it would be more desirable to have the rocket orbit the moon than hit; but some differ on how successful the experiment would be if the rocket should impact or fail to orbit. It is believed that the rocket has a 50 per cent chance of circling the moon and returning to earth's atmosphere.

Montreal Mayor Denies Statement Of Gen. Young

MONTREAL (CP) — Senator Sarto Fournier, Conservative general, denied in a statement Friday he had exerted pressure upon Deputy Works Minister Young.

The statement by Senator Fournier, who is in Florida on vacation, was issued from his mayoralty office in Montreal city hall.

It said: "I am not aware of any truth in what Gen. Young said before the public accounts committee."

Gen. Young testified before the Commons committee in Ottawa that he was subjected to pressure by Senator Fournier to favour a Montreal firm in connection with a contract for a moving job between the old and new government printing bureaus.

SAYS NORMAL PROCEDURE

"It is a normal procedure for a member of Parliament to recommend to governmental authorities that consideration be given to a supplier on a government contract," said Senator Fournier's statement.

"This I did on behalf of the firm of J. B. Baillargeon Express Ltd. of Montreal when they submitted their bid to the public works department.

"Unfortunately the bid of the Baillargeon Express Company was considerably higher than that of the next bidder and I could certainly not threaten Gen. Young with dismissal if he did not recommend the acceptance of the Baillargeon bid."

A question at the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Press earlier tried to have Gen. Young fired provoked considerable discussion but there was no direct reply.

Gen. Young did not say he was threatened with firing but replied "yes" when asked if he had been subjected to pressure by Senator Fournier.

Tot Escapes Serious Injury, Runs Into Car

TRENTON — Stephen Weller, 4, of 60 Crown Street, Trenton, escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when he ran out into the street and into the side of a moving car.

The tot suffered only abrasions to his left elbow and the accident was witnessed by Constables Ed Fay Scott. It was investigated by Constable Bruce Westfall of the Trenton Police Department.

The driver of the car, Harold Stoddart, 22, of 11 McGill St., Trenton, told police he was going west on Dundas Street East when the tot darted out onto the street from the north west corner of Scott Street. He said he swerved the vehicle to the left and applied the brakes and the car ran into the side of it and bounced off. The mishap occurred about 4.15 p.m.

HITS POLE

Another accident which involved $70 damage to the car in front fender of a car operated by R. Palmer of R. R. 6 Trenton, was reported to the police at station at 8.55 p.m. yesterday.

Police said the car was going north on Front Street when he reached over to close the glove compartment door. In doing so he lost control of the car, which ran off the road and into a pole. No damage to the pole was reported. He said he had three passengers in the vehicle at the time but no one was injured.

THREE INJURED

Three persons were injured slightly in a two car collision on the corner of King and Victoria Streets, Trenton yesterday afternoon which caused an estimated $300 to each car.

Ernest S. Henricks, R. R. 4, Trenton, operator of one of the cars involved, has a knee badly bruised and the front end of his car damaged to the extent of $300.

In the second car, young Robert Lowe had his nose injured and a small cut over his right eyelid when the sudden stop threw him to the floor. Donald Lowe, of R.R. 3, Trenton, driver of the second car suffered slight abrasions to his forehead and damage to the front end of his car was also estimated at $300.

The accident, of which full details were not available at the present time, occurred at 3.35 p.m. yesterday and was investigated by Constable Bruce French of the Trenton Police Department.

DAMAGE OF SLIGHT DAMAGE

The fourth accident of the day involved only slight damage and took place at the corner of Front and Bay Street. It occurred about 5.30 p.m. when a car was backed up and scraped a second car. Damage to the parked car was estimated at $30.

Hungarian Legation Scene Of Two-Hour Gun Battle

BERN, Switzerland (Reuters) — Two gunmen surrendered to police after a gun battle today in the Hungarian legation lasting nearly two hours.

The men surrendered after special Swiss shock police attacked the legation with tear gas. Four men were reported wounded, and one was said to be dying.

The two, said about 40 and said to be Hungarian refugees, entered the building this morning and locked themselves in a room. They opened fire on Hungarian diplomats, who returned the fire.

Passersby heard shots and called police, who sent a squad to the scene and surrounded the building.

Between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. more than 100 people were changed. The legation staff did most of the shouting.

Before a large crowd, including leading Swiss political and foreign officials, the surrender of the two men is surrender.

When there was no reply, a special police squad fired tear gas shells into the legation. At about 11:45 a.m. men, women, shabbily dressed and obviously wounded, were brought out of the building by police.

The Romanian legation here was attacked and seized by six armed Romanian exiles on Feb. 15, 1955. In a gunbattle, the legation chauffeur was killed.

The exiles said they asked the legation in reprisal for the arrest of Romanian resistance leaders. Two of them escaped, one was caught and three surrendered today.

Switzerland refused a Romanian request for extradition. The four men were tried in June, 1956, and were jailed for terms of 18 months to four years for political espionage and complicity in killing the chauffeur, Aurel Setu. All have since been released.

Bulgarin Now In Lesser Post

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikolai Bulganin has joined the ranks of Soviet officials consigned to the hinterlands.

Bulganin - Nikita Khrushchev's predecessor as premier of the Soviet Union, now is chairman of the Stavropol council of the national economy, a regional government post Friday. The change may have been for his health, but it ranks below his last job as chairman of the Soviet state bank.

Stavropol is in the northern Caucasus near a Black Sea resort area. Khrushchev recently said Bulganin had undergone a major operation but did not elaborate.

Bulganin succeeded Georgi Malenkov as premier in 1955 and held the post until March, 57, when Khrushchev supplanted the marshal and gave him the bank job. Stavropol is one of 105 regions into which the Soviet Union has been divided under Khrushchev's decentralization of the economy. It is one of the less productive regions.

Makarios Rejects Britain's Modified Plan for Cyprus

ATHENS (Reuters) — Exiled Archbishop Makarios today rejected Britain's modified plan for Cyprus and criticized what he described as lack of wisdom in "enforcing a plan against the will of the Cypriot people."

Makarios was replying to a letter from Cyprus Governor Sir Hugh Foot asking him to co-operate in the British partnership plan. The Greek government is expected to announce the official decision as the Greek Orthodox churchman, leader of the movement to unite Cyprus with Greece.

He said "the Greek people of Cyprus can never accept a plan which disregards their basic democratic rights and denies them both freedom and peace."

Hog Producers Stand to Lose $10,000 Per Day

TORONTO — Hog producers in Ontario will lose an estimated $10,000 per day because of the drop of $1 in hog prices on Wednesday, August 13, according to a statement from the Ontario Hog Producers' Co-op, sales agency for the hog producers marketing board. The price of sows dropped to $21 on the same day.

The break came shortly after an article by a Mr. Peter Pitt Donald of Bright, was published in the Kitchener-Waterloo Record of August 11. The article indicated that farmers could deliver their hogs direct to processors without fear of retribution from anyone until after the Supreme Court handed down its decision on farm marketing legislation. This created misunderstanding and confusion in the wholesale trade, and retail outlets took advantage and did processors drastically lower on cuts.

Establishment of prices is a delicate matter at certain times and prices can be easily depressed. Unfounded and misdirected statements made indiscriminately can do a lot of harm. Indications are that this article definitely weakened the hog co-op's bargaining power and resulted in the hog market breaking.

Check 17,000 Claims in Insurance Fraud

TORONTO (CP) — Two Montreal men were returned to Toronto Thursday night by a detective sergeant as police continued their investigation of 17,000 claims filed with the New York Underwriters Insurance Company.

Sgt. Wallace Mullen arrived by plane with John S. MacMillin, 23, and William J. Whalen, 36. Both were charged with fraud.

Two Toronto men—including a claims supervisor with the insurance company—were arrested last week and police say further arrests are expected as they continue their investigation into false claims filed with the company for an estimated $100,000.

The claims were for non-existent tires and car accidents, police say.

Claims supervisor Theodore Chapman, 30, of Moncton was charged with fraud involving $2,500 and Gilbert Vail, 28, of Toronto was charged with deceit and falsehood involving $2,905.

MacMillin, arrested by RCMP in Goose Bay, Labrador, faces a charge involving $616. Whalen, arrested in Moncton, is accused of fraudulently obtaining $192.45 from an automobile insurance claim.

Canada Mining New Company For Iron Deposit

An iron ore deposit in the Bancroft area of North Hastings with a potential of possibly greater volume than that at Marmora, is now in the initial stages of development.

This was announced at Friday night's Progressive Conservative nomination meeting at the Madoc Armouries by one of the convention nominees, Mr. V. A. McMurray.

Mr. McMurray stated that extensive diamond drilling was now going on in the area to prove the deposits which were in three different areas with most in Mayo township. He said the three separate developments had amalgamated, the company being now known as Canada Mining.

Try to Round Up 2,000 Wild Horses

CALGARY (CP) — One of North America's leading wild horse hunters faces the toughest task of a 40,000-horse career next week.

Chester Utter of Reno, Nev., a former rodeo rider who took to the air 25 years ago in pursuit of troublesome wild horses, will try to get hundreds of horses out of the eastern Rockies conservation area.

Weather permitting, two light aircraft will soar over the Ghost River area of the Bow River, 50 miles west of Calgary.

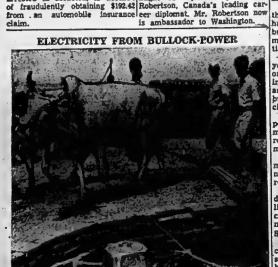
With Mr. Utter in one plane and an associate in the other, they will attempt to round up as many of the 2,000 wild horses as possible.

The job is the toughest terrain I've ever encountered", Mr. Utter said Friday.

The idea will be to get behind the horses, get them moving under the impetus of the engine's noise and keep them pointed towards a corral.

The conservation board wants the horses, most descendants of domestic animals turned loose by Indians and ranchers in the 1930s, removed because of their appetites. One horse will devour twice the food of an elk.

Dana Wilgress Will Probably Quit This Fall



OTTAWA (CP) — Leolyn Dana Wilgress, Canada's top expert on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, has reached the retirement age and will probably quit this fall as Canada's ambassador to NATO, it was learned reliably Thursday night.

The retirement is likely to create a shuffle at the top level in Canada's diplomatic service.

One possibility canvassed is that Mr. Wilgress' post in Paris will be taken by Jules Leger, undersecretary of state for external affairs.

Another item of speculation is that if that happened Mr. Leger might be replaced by Norman Robertson, Canada's leading career diplomat. Mr. Robertson now is ambassador to Washington.

ELECTRICITY FROM BULLOCK-POWER

Bullocks turn the wheels of progress in Khanpur, India, as part of a project designed to increase the output of electricity. The slow-moving animals pull a drive bars attached to a generator, which in turn is connected to a high-efficiency water pump. Tests indicate the bullocks can produce enough power to electrify an entire village, as well as supplying water to irrigate 100 acres of land for three crops the year round.

Part of the huge crowd which last night turned out at the Madoc Armouries to nominate a new Progressive Conservative candidate for the riding of East Hastings.

A crowd of about 600, including 206 official delegates, attended the meeting which saw Warden Lloyd Price of Actinolite, named candidate over five other nominees.

WARDEN L. PRICE

that time had made many loyal friends. "I will take away many happy memories."

Mr. Robson noted that it was with regret that he took the step of resigning to become Hastings county sheriff. He said he had been a hard decision to make but assured there were many able men in the riding ready to serve as Queen's Party.

"I only hope that you give your new candidate the same loyal support that you gave me," he said.

Mrs. Robson was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

PERSEVERE

Nearly every speaker, including Senator White, Dr. Dymond, Mr. Sanderson and the various nominees paid tribute to Mr. Robson for his service to the county at Queen's Park.

Senator White touched on what he termed the extravagance of the former Liberal Government of Canada, specifically referring to the new Hull, Que., printing building which to date has cost nearly $16,000,000 with the end still not in sight. Original cost of the building was $6,000,000 he said.

He said this was but one instance of the Liberal government's extravagance.

Dr. Dymond, Ontario Minister of Transport as the main speaker said he had been attracted to the Conservative party because of the many young people in its organization. He said it was refreshing to see that the party was still attracting young people.

In outlining what he said were the issues of the up-coming by-election Dr. Dymond pointed to the leadership which had been given by the Conservative government since taking office 15 years ago.

He said the Conservatives had followed a "timid and fearful" government following one of the most depressions in the history of Canada and have been giving the leadership and vision which the people have asked for.

The electors' approval was shown by the fact that the Conservatives had been returned with increased majorities each election.

NO NEED FOR ALARM

The present day record of the Frost Government denied opposition claims that the country and the province were head-ing into another depression. Possibly a recession but not a depression, and no need for alarm," he said.

Instead of admitting claims of the opposition the government had shown self-reliance and confidence built on the realistic assessment of the tremendous potentiality of the province.

"The provincial product last year had risen $15,000,000 or one-half of Canada's total; farm income had remained stable, and more houses had been built, while gains to the municipalities had been increased.

Looking to the future he pointed to Ontario's tremendous mineral and other resources, resources which would need men of vision to develop.

"The Conservative party is made up of men of the calibre necessary to develop Ontario's resources," he concluded.

Each of the speaking candidates spoke to the assembly outlining qualifications or announcing decisions not to stand for nomination.

SLOW PROCEDURE

Balloting was a slow procedure with no less than five separate votes being required before Warden Price was named the new candidate. A rousing cheer echoed through the Armouries as riding president Guy Bentley announced Mr. Price as the new candidate.

In a brief acceptance speech Mr. Price expressed his appreciation at being named candidate and assured that if elected he would serve honestly and fairly.

He said earlier that he felt he had the qualifications to represent the riding of East Hastings at Parliament. He realized the job was demanding of time but was prepared to give that time.

The 36-year-old Hastings county warden and now P.C. candidate for Hastings East, entered municipal politics 12 years ago when he was elected to township council. He is married with a family of four, three girls and a boy.

Jordan Most Perplexing Problem in Middle East

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Of all the myriad problems of the Middle East, the most perplexing and confusing concerns the future of the tiny kingdom of Jordan.

The one uncontestable fact about this country, mainly desert, is that it cannot support itself. Yet—and this is the crux of the problem—at least of all Jordan's Arab neighbors, really wants to pay the price of supporting the country.

This probably explains Jordan's surprise abandonment at the United Nations that she would oppose the sending of UN forces or UN observers to replace the 3,000 British paratroopers now in Jordan for troubled borders.

The Jordanian action is viewed by many here as a turning manoeuvre, designed to allow King Hussein to extract the best possible terms from Britain and the United States. Jordan is believed to need about £20,000,000 ($56,000,000) a year and, even with the latest U.S. offer of economic aid to the Middle East, that may take some getting.

There is little doubt that both the government and the general public in Britain would welcome United Nations action that would allow the British troops to be withdrawn from Jordan. But the Jordanian announcement has caused little comment.

In Whitehall, it is dismissed as of "little importance" and none of Britain's national newspapers deemed it sufficiently important to rate editorial comment. The general feeling appears to be that in the end Jordan will have no option but to do as she is told.

The British weekly, The Economist, however, expresses some concern over President Eisenhower's suggestion that U.S. and British troops in the Middle East be, in effect, replaced by the "presence" of the UN.

The Economist says the role of UN forces remains obscure. "Are they to exert the direct influence which in the past belonged to the great powers, or to guard and permanent United Nations agency in the Middle East might be taken from further considerations. Does it mean that the members of the UN, including the Arab members, are being asked to recognize that the capacity of the Middle Eastern countries for independence is limited, requiring the presence of a policeman from outside?"

The Economist says the Arab countries have tended to reject suggestions for concerted defence partly from a determination to remain neutral, partly because every defence plan appeared to them an attempt to re-establish outmoded controls.

They may regard a 'standby' force as just such another outmoded control; they may even begin, if the United Nations looks favorably on the plan, to entertain suspicions of the organization's neutrality.

aircraft are about the only means visitors may gain access to the stations.

As a result, a co-ordinator was appointed to determine plane space and facilities available at DEW stations for any visitors.

SUPPLIES FOOTS

The U.S. Air Force is notified of impending visits by Canadian officials using aircraft from the two companies. The U.S. wants the plans because it supplies to know who is being carried on the planes because it supplies them and provides accommodation at the sites.

The view in Ottawa is that since the U.S. provides transportation and accommodation and other facilities at DEW line sites, it is only courtesy to ask for these facilities before using them. Any security checks on Canadians are handled by Canadian authorities.

Mr. Reap said American authorities never have told any Canadian official he could not go to the Arctic bases. It had never refused permission to any one.

CANADIAN UNIONS

On the whole, said Mr. Howard, Canadian unions are free of leadership "by gangsters and thugs" such as found in the U.S.

Mr. Broome urged the Canadian Labor Congress to take action against the SIU.

SHOULD CLEAN HOUSE

"It is the job of the CLC to handle their own affairs and to clean their own house, and I suggest that the labor movement in Canada, which is 99 per cent pure, should take action against unions such as this one which negate the very principle of unionism. . . ."

In reference to unions occurred in the later stages of a day-long debate on labor department estimates, Mr. Howard, while earlier saw concentration on industrial and labor problems, including unemployment.

Opposition Leader Pearson warned that "we are sowing dragons" are looming in labor-management relations. Increasingly, the difficulty was that of the "confrontation" of huge corporate structures, not always controlled in Canada, by powerful union structures, similarly accentrolled here.

With management and labor leading to bigness, the "necessity of conciliation" and the priority of the public had to be recognized.

SAYS GAP WIDENING

Mr. Pearson said the level of employment so far in 1958 is lower than in 1957 for all months except April. He said the gap in the percentage of unemployed is tending to widen, though Finance Minister Fleming had said just the opposite in his June 17 budget speech.

Ernest Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said he can see no sign that the federal government is taking concrete steps to reduce unemployment. He criticized it for hoping to "ride out the storm," but that could be a dangerous policy.

Mr. Pearkes urged the government to establish a national labor code. This would lay down standards for wages, living conditions, holidays with pay, union security, streamlined conciliation procedures and other matters.

William Houck (L — Niagara Falls) asked the government to act quickly before the present dispute between the 15 non-operating unions and railways erupts into a strike.

Airport officials said the plane was coming in about 11:30 p.m. EDT Friday on an instrument landing through a heavy fog when it crashed 200 yards northeast of the airport.

Robert Young, communicator for the Civil Aeronautics Administration at Nantucket, said only the plane's tail section remained intact after the plane burned.

The pilot was one of Northeast Airline's most experienced pilots, John Burnham, 36, of Marshfield, Mass.

George Gardner, Northeast Airline board chairman, placed the time of the crash at between 11:25 and 11:30 p.m. at 1,000 CLOUDS AT 12,000 FEET

The last contact with the plane, he said, was at 11:14 p.m. when the airline office notified the plane that visibility was four miles with scattered clouds at 12,000 feet.

The weather bureau said it would not be unusual—because of the island location—for a heavy fog to close in between 11:14 and time of the crash.

The accident occurred exactly 11 months after a Northeast plane crashed in New Bedford, Mass., about 80 miles away—with the loss of 12 lives. Twelve others were injured on that flight from Boston.

Another Northeast Airline plane crashed on Feb. 1, 1957, on Rikers Island in the East River in New York City. Seven were killed in that Miami-bound plane.

complaints, and that the confinement of their children at a provincial governments school at Nelson, B.C., in which 200 children were sent there after their parents refused to send them to public schools, claiming such schools teach militarism.

The B.C. government will assist in restoring these children to their parents but only in cases who make application to migrate to Russia.

The provincial government also promised to "assist, if asked, in the orderly realization of assets, real or personal, of migrating persons and will credit moneys thereby accruing as directed by them." Cost of moving the sect is to be met in part by the sect, depending on how many elect to go.

Podovinikoff said the Freedomites would have no trouble meeting the $200 requirement and added that they renounce Canadian citizenship.

"The people never understood themselves to be Canadian citizens," he said, despite the fact many of them were born in Canada. The sect's religion does not allow them to give allegiance to any country.

It was this non-allegiance that led to the persecution which drove the Doukhobors from Russia in 1890s. Conscripted by the czar, they burned their rifles. Later they got permission to migrate and more than 7,000 came to Canada in 1899-99, settling first in Saskatchewan.

ON - - THEN OFF THE SHELF!

A poet once wrote, "Grow old along with me! The best is yet to come." This is ironic today considering the increasing number of men and women are growing old but have failed to enjoy "the best" of everything.

A man turns 65 years of age and he is retired not always because he is incompetent or failing in health. It is his birthday anniversary that is all. He is usually given a party and a present. At first he is delighted with the gift. The good fellowship of his colleagues gives him a warm feeling, but the next day he realizes he is out of a job. He has no more colleagues and he joins the expanding host of others his age or older. In other words he is on the shelf.

If he has money his material wants, at least, are taken care of. If he must depend on his pension, he sometimes has difficulties ahead. If he has a couple of hobbies he may continue to live on a steady emotional keel. If not, he is in for more trouble.

In many cases the psychological effect of not being wanted any more is overwhelming. The sense of not belonging makes for unhappiness. He may become bitter and develop an exaggerated attitude of feeling sorry for himself.

It is a cruel paradox. The span of life increases and the opportunities for useful living after an arbitrary chronological age decline to nothing.

Here and there in some of our cities, however, a growing number of employers of office workers are recruiting such men on their staffs with very happy results. We know of an insurance executive in Montreal who rarely employs a man under pension age. He says the morale of his office has never been so good since he inaugurated the change in policy. There is less absenteeism, no shirking on the job and a loyalty to his company and himself which has been a revelation to himself. Other employers who have heard of this man's success have instituted similar employment practices so that now there is a scarcity of men suited to do this type of work.

If more employers could see fit to fit men of retirement age into their organizations the future would be incomparably brighter for the thousands who come "of age" each year. They would be doing themselves a good turn and at the same time, making it possible for many of the oldsters to feel "wanted" again.

SEEING IS BELIEVING!

Plans for improving the under-developed lands of the earth are usually assumed to involve dams, tractor-drawn machinery, and similar examples of our mechanical age. However, a new twist has been used at this procedure has been used in a news story from India. The method greatly impressed the people who saw it and similar techniques will likely be followed in introducing modern ways of doing things in this and other eastern lands.

By using their imagination a couple of U. S. technicians recently developed an electric generator and pump which can be powered by two bullocks tramping round and round in a circle. This instantly caught the fancy of the natives because the slow-moving animals have furnished the motive power for India for hundreds of years.

The idea got the front pages of all the big Indian newspapers. One emphasized it with a black border. Another headlined, "Khanpur Village Sees Revolution." Most of the newspapers printed three-column pictures the head of the American team showing the system to Brahmin leaders.

This is not the first time a non-flamboyant move has apparently had excellent results. One of the best postwar examples was a simple demonstration brought to Burma by Japanese technicians which consisted of running strings across rice paddies to hold the heads of grain out of the water. Never before tried in Burma this increased production by prodigious amounts, as much as ten fold in some cases.

SCHOLARS ONLY

Standard of education in Ontario high schools is being raised progressively. The marking of examination papers has become stiffer than ever before, and most probably will become even stiffer than it is now, in the years ahead.

Basic reason behind this trend is the situation in the universities. Today there is no room in universities for anyone except students who are the way things are going now in education only scholars are going to get their feet in the doors of the universities. This trend is for the best. (Brockville Recorder and Times.)

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright 1958, Edgar A. Guest)
By EDGAR A. GUEST

YOUR DAY WILL COME

LITTLE TOTS

Little tots smiling,
And little tots sad,
Little tots pouting
And little tots bad;
Little tots laughing
Or shouting or still,
The world loves 'em any
Old way that they will.

The old folks are moody,
And selfish and vain,
And a whole lot of things
That I cannot explain.

But the youngsters are always
A source of delight;
If you do have to walk
With 'em sometimes at night.

I'm for 'em forever,
The boys and the girls,
The kid with his freckles,
The lass with her curls;
The sweet ones, the cross ones,
The good ones, the bad;
The little tots, bless 'em,
They keep the world glad!

Undress Has No Place In Parliament Galleries

Ottawa Journal

We don't want to be thought prudish or even too old-fashioned. We confess however, to some distaste for bare-legged young women in shorts mad in the galleries of the House of Commons.

The chief of the House protective staff says that "some ladies come to the House to be seen" wearing bathing suits in the House." And it is added that in this, but we don't think the "men may come in their shirt sleeves but their suspenders must not show."

Frankly, we think Mr. Speaker Michener should make an end of this. There are appropriate places for men to appear in their shirt sleeves and for women to wear bathing suits, but we don't think the galleries of Parliament is one of them. And if a person hasn't enough respect for Parliament to dress properly within its precincts his visit to Parliament can't do much for him.

Rules and courts of justice judges and lawyers wear gowns; the reasoning behind that tradition is to lend measure the reasoning that should apply to Parliament.

When the late great Lord Birkenhead was asked why he wore a gown on the bench, he replied: "I could give just as good reasons for wearing a jockey, but it wouldn't seem the wise."

In maintaining respect for law, for old and august institutions, dignity is no mean factor. And there is never any certainty about where things will end once standards of dignity are let down.

Rock, Rock That Sherry

A hundred-year-old custom was revived recently when a hogshead containing fifty-four gallons of sherry was opened in the hold of the ship "Ben Lomond" at London Docks to make a twenty-one thousand bottle parcel for Hong Kong and back in order to make the wine "ship shape," really known in detail what a sea voyage like this does to a barrel of wine," said Mr. Strachan, a partner in the shipping line, speaking on a 20,000 mile voyage. "We always get a wine that tastes three or four times as good."

Mr. Strachan, fond of giving the bottles in their cellars a shake-up, would tell Mr. Tipper, always warning that only a big wine, with a good deal of brandy in it to fortify it, would stand the treatment, and it is usually a sweet wine. "It stands up well to the sea voyage," he said, "but the sherry improves if it's tossed about like that, and if it's been very cold in the Bay of Biscay and very hot in Burma or somewhere, for some unknown reason it does the wine a lot of good."

Statehood

Christiebown Guardian

Referring to the granting of statehood to Alaska, a Soviet paper noted the "the legislation reflected United States' trying to find a new and more effective form of turning Alaska into a military strategic bridgehead for an attack on the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic."

The Soviet must have been half asleep or drunk when he let that pass. Congress knows that federal control of Alaska is a State will be less, not more, when it was a mere territory.

Tito Pops Off

Buffalo Evening News

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is reported to have commented as saying that the United States needs to be "cleansed" only in the Middle East but other areas. He says the U. S. tries "its best to liquidate even socialist countries' private affairs." Maybe Tito needs a good cleansing, too. It's him again that if the U. S. had not "interfered" with the affairs of his country to the tune of about $1,000,000,000 in armaments and economic aid, his government would have made inroads on international affairs in general and Americans' policies in particular would interest nobody — if he were still alive and talking.

Main Street Parking

Zurich Citizen News

Recently we have had different people tell us it is very hard to find a parking space on the main streets of our village, especially on Friday and Saturday. No doubt we are all to blame for this situation. Without thinking we all park our cars one after the other on each street, taking up valuable space which could be left for people coming in from out of town. This is not very encouraging to these people who are coming in from the outside the district to shop here.

Two Puny Bombs Did This

Vancouver Sun

Fifty-eight of them have died so far this year. Thousands of others live in constant fear of their lives for any moment their white corpuscle count may start to fall. More than 200,000 have been treated for various kinds of sickness. Their fellows shun them. .

They are the survivors. They are the ones who lived through the explosion of two puny bombs thirteen years ago. The bombs which fell on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Hiroshima was the first. On August 6, 1945, the great atomic mushroom claimed the lives of 78,150 persons, seriously injured 36,425 more. And on Aug. 9, another 73,884 died, 78,796 were injured at Nagasaki. At least 151,000 others were to suffer mutilation from the two cities. Forty thousand acres of property were destroyed.

These are the facts we have to live with, and will have to go on living with. More than a hundred people a year are still suffering from those two puny bombs. We have much better bombs today.

Should be Total Abstainers

Vancouver Province

It is now accepted that there are certain individuals who should never touch alcohol. We may come around to realizing that there are some people who are just as congenitally incapable of handling an automobile and that these people must be kept off the road. Not just for a matter of months, but forever.

Rather Abdicate

Hamilton Spectator

The late King George V liked shooting, farming, stamp-collecting and naval matters of relevance, particularly naval veterans.

He once had to endure a five-hour performance of Parliament and at the end was asked how he had enjoyed it.

"I'd rather abdicate than sit through that again", he replied gruffly.

Misguided Policy

Milwaukee Sunday Journal

The Russians started off their announcement on the subject of the new Government of Iraq in this manner:

"The Government of the U.S.S.R., being invariably guided by the principle of the self-determination of nations . . ."

Invariably, that is, except in Hungary. And, perhaps, in Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria and Albania.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The tent business must be flourishing. All the provinces of Canada have waked up to the fact that the highways are like rivers, and that campers are travel in something other than canoes. Thus, wherever highways go a string of tents usually follows. Both governments are establishing camp sites. And on a recent far-ranging trip, I was greatly impressed with the revival of the tent as a popular human habitation.

New imagination has entered the tent industry. In my camping days, nine out of ten tents were the familiar wall tent. Only occasionally, and in the hands of rather fancy campers, did you see umbrella tents, shed-shaped "campfire" or Baker tents, small canoe tents and pups.

Today, especially in these wayside camp sites, you will see very efficient tents made especially to be erected beside a motor car, like an extension of it. Others are like miniature bungalows, with screen fronts, windows, ventilators and all the rest of the new fabrics, light and tough. The campers appear to be highly comfortable, as they sit at their ease in camp chairs, surrounded by all the latest camping appliances, including ice boxes, gas stoves and even TV sets.

Mr. Shoemuk, the father of American camping, would have a fit if he could see them.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 16th., 1938

The city police will be increased to enforce the one hour parking law. Saturday night some twenty citizens were ordered to report to the police station where they were kindly instructed by Sergeant Arthur Booth as to the dire results which would ensue today if we err again and send on their way with kind but firm instructions to obey the law.

Approximately $800.00 were left with Belleville area men on Saturday by members of the Black Hawk Hiking Club on the tri-cities of Rock Island and Moultine, Illinois and Davenport, Iowa, who are taking a brief rest in camp at the city tourist camp. They are en route to the Gaspe Peninsula. "We wanted to wait until we got to Belleville, because we heard that we would get better goods and bargains here," stated one member of the club. Their purchases were principally fishing machines, tackle and other outdoor wearing apparel. Of course the grocers and butchers got a share. The club was formed in 1930.

From our file copy at this time in 1898: The members of the Belleville Road Club will meet tomorrow evening in the Charles Schuster's men's wear store. Refreshments will be served. Also from same file: The bush fires have broken out with renewed fierceness near Cannifton.

Jack Marsh, Belleville's talented young singer, will be heard over CKAC from the "Bel Air Cafe" in Montreal this evening between 9.30 and 10 o'clock. Many friends will be listening in.

Fruitless Larceny

Milwaukee Journal

Wednesday's high wind brought out the larceny in an enterprising man, but it didn't do him much good.

The wind shattered a display window at the Walgreen drug store 7149 W. Greenfield avenue, West Allis, leaving merchandise subject to theft.

Witness said a man stared intently at the window and then passed, examined his spoils, then discarding the box. It was empty.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NATURE'S LAP

Oh, if we only knew all that is dropped into the lap of Nature, and how nature absorbs it all. I wish I knew more about the beautiful birds that inhabit this island retreat. I know most of them, but all that is their secret life — how they live, for t h e y brave all storms and upsets. And I wish I knew more about the mad, these simple creatures live on, sing and work on in complete their cycle on earth.

Nature's lap is kind and farstrung. She loves her big family but she wants no interference. Nature supports such a wonderful collection of small birds, and they fight for their lives, and then sing a song. I have watched the busy little wren for hours, and how she loves to open up her breast and fill the air with t h e drippings from her heart.

God must have loved birds else He would never have made so many!

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

HUSBAND SHOULD BE CHECKED FIRST IN CASE OF "INFERTILITY"

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been married seven years and have no children. However I miscarried twice the first two years, reaching the five-month stage the second time. About two months ago the doctor discovered I have fibroids in the uterus — Mrs. D.L."

This is but one of many problems involved in what we call "infertility." However, here's a warning: the husband is found to be the infertile one in as high as 30 per cent of such cases so it is far easier and less expensive to examine him first. This can prevent the waste of a lot of time and money.

If the husband checks out properly, then it is time to look for the various problems of the wife: One is infection, at the cervix or elsewhere. Common ones are endocervicitis, trichomonas, or yeast infections. Another possibility is that the compatibility of the vaginal secretions may destroy the sperm. Infection in the fallopian tubes may also be present, preventing the sperm from descending.

Then there are "mechanical" difficulties, such as polyps in the cervical canal, or the tipped uterus so that miscarriage is likely. Or the wife may have a situation in which the placenta causes developing growth.

It is possible for pregnancy to progress normally even with fibroids present. The distinction lies in the number, size and location of the fibroids. I would seem — I say seem — logical to remove the fibroids which are causing trouble, and ignore the rest. However, I'm not a surgeon myself, so if doubtful effectiveness in actual practice, and consequently unwise. The whole uterus is removed.

Therefore in today's letter, or in cases like it, your doctor may find it possible to give you no better than a rather faint "maybe" on the chances of improving your likelihood of pregnancy.

While naturally neither I nor your doctor can be overly pessimistic, it is best to look at the situation frankly. Time is being wasted in hoping for success, which is remote. The time might be better spent in undertaking adoption proceedings while you are still young enough to be a good candidate. Remember, adoption takes time, and there are more people who want to adopt than there are babies to be adopted.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of using paper plates and cups for a member of the family who is bed with an illness? — G.O."

It's all right, except that they are sometimes hard to manage on a tray in bed, and food does not always seem as appetizing, especially to an invalid with a finicky appetite. And anyway, I like to see the silverware that needs to be washed separated from the rest of the family's silver. One trick I've heard of is to mark the patient's dishes and silver and to store them out of sight, to keep them separate. They can be removed when the need no longer exists.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Why does my little boy wake up in the morning with his mouth so often? He has good elimination and good teeth. — Mrs. R.S."

It could be that food particles are left in the mouth and teeth and are decaying. Or it could be some infection in the nose or throat, and tonsils are often the cause of this.

World Figures To Increase

(UNESCO)

If the world's population continues to increase at the present rate, the present total of 2,700,000,000 will be doubled by the end of the century. Population statistics for 1957, recently published by the United Nations, show that the world total is increasing at the rate of 5,400 individuals per hour, or 47,000,000 each year.

People all over the world are living longer, the U.N. report shows. Average length of life varies widely, however, ranging from 71 years in the Netherlands to 37 in India. Men usually live longer than men. In the United States, for instance, their average life span is 37 per cent longer than that of women. The report attributes to the high number of road accidents in which men are the principal victims.

What's an Igloo

Edmonton Journal

The layman might think that an igloo is a kind of fancy sandwich or doubt it so precise a science as statistics. However, the world is changing.

American statisticians are debating whether an igloo can be described as a house for the purpose of compiling housing statistics. Their problem arose when Alaska was made the 49th state in the Union.

By present definition, an igloo may well fall into the house category. This could have far reaching effects on a number of things. For example, it could seriously disturb the housing "starts" picture by adding to the winter total, which, it could be argued, would be misleading.

Another problem is that of American homes, and the statistics of price could be shaken badly.

Something New For Milady

Hamilton Spectator

There are women in England who are concerned about what they are to wear. This is a perennial feminine problem and one that does not disappear with inflation. Some members of the House of Lords, the first women in history to participate in their own right in that august assembly. And this has some costly robes for state occasions.

Some peers, particularly those who have acquired inherited these plushy, ermine-trimmed garments from their forebears and cannot afford to buy their own, hire them. A similar suggestion has been made for artists, a "pool" of robes from which, on special occasions, they can hire what they are at so much a day.

Men have no resistance in trying out "new looks" which the trade has a long and honorable record of service, particularly where weddings are involved. In more opulent times when banquets and balls dimmed their vo m n be loaded with diamonds, ladies rented out tiaras and duchesses' real and paste and did good business. But women renting out "normals" . . . that is something new.

I SURRENDER ALL

All to Jesus, I surrender,
All to Him I freely give;
I will ever love and trust Him,
In His presence daily live.

All to Jesus I surrender,
Humbly at His feet I bow;
Worldly pleasures all forsaken,
Take me Jesus, take me now.

All to Jesus I surrender,
Make me Savior, wholly Thine;
Let me feel the Holy Spirit —
Truly know that Thou art mine.

All to Jesus I surrender,
Lord, I give myself to Thee;
Fill me with Thy love and power,
Let Thy blessing fall on me.

All to Jesus I surrender.
Now I feel Thy sacred flame;
Oh, the joy of full salvation!
Glory! Glory to His name!

The great revivals which stirred America at the turn of the century produced an impressive group of great evangelistic preachers, soul-winners, and writers of spiritual songs.

Two of the best-known religious leaders of that era were Judson Van De Venter and W. S. Weeden. These two men were partners in song-writing as well as in soul-winning; their names are linked together under the titles of a number of favorite gospel hymns.

They shared in the writing of such gems as "Looking This Way", "The Heart That Is Broken For Me", and "I Surrender All". Mr. Weeden wrote the musical settings for all of these songs. Mr. Van De Venter, who wrote the hymn verses, was widely known for his gospel sermons. For a number of years the two friends held evangelistic services together and their songs were sung at these meetings to win friends and converts for Christ.

It was during an evangelistic service many years earlier in Sharon, Pennsylvania that Judson Van De Venter heard God's call to Christian service. He was singing in the revival choir at the time. Soon afterward he decided to give up plans for a career of singing and teaching and to pledge his life to soul-winning.

Of St. Paul's secrets for receiving enthusiasm:

And if we would keep up our spirits, we must have confidence in the purpose and permanence of what we are doing.

The routine duties of housekeeping are depressing drudgery to a woman unless she can see the results in the welfare and progress of her family. Men lose their enthusiasm for work, however well paid, unless they feel it is worthwhile.

But when we feel ourselves fellow-workers with God, faithfully doing tasks that advance His program, then we get another secret of St. Paul's enthusiasm. Hear it: "Be ye steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not vain in the Lord."

A Lift for Living

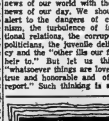
Rekindling Our Enthusiasm

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

A famous statesman once said to carry on. It proved the turning "Enthusiasm is the genius of sincerity and truth accomplishes no victories without it." Enthusiasm has a contagious power.

But enthusiasm is not self-sustaining. When we say a person is an enthusiast we are not paying a compliment. We mean that he is a person whose enthusiasm flares up easily and quickly but often is not very lasting. He is caught by some new fervor. He is like a match which soon burns itself out.

The fleeting flares of fickle enthusiasm are not good enough for these times. And is it not true that our enthusiasms tend to become shorter lived as the tempo of living is speeded up? The headlines of today's paper are rewarded to the back pages by tomorrow's news events. In our search for happiness we flit precariously from pleasures and are ever seeking new thrills. We are always trying to get a "kick" out of something new. But a succession of "kicks" does not give a sustained glow.



How can we rekindle the fires of enthusiasm when they die down? Of course, our own pluck and courage can do something. When we hold on past the point of quitting, we are likely to release a new current of energy.

Some time ago I heard a bishop of my church telling of a time in his early 30's when he wanted to quit the ministry. He felt that he was not accomplishing anything that he was getting nowhere. He went down to the business place of his leading layman to resign.

As he opened the door of the layman's office, he found him on the talking on the telephone. He was hopping from one foot to the other and gesticulating angrily with his free hand. Finally the layman banged down the receiver and shouted, "I'm going to quit this business, I'm through."

IN SAME BOAT

"Well, then," said the young minister, "I guess we're both in the same boat for I'm quitting, too." Then as they stood and looked at each other, the saving grace of humor came to their rescue; their hot heads were tempered by the warmhearted-ness of their friendship and both recovered their pluck and courage to start anew.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

The First Methodist Bishop

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Wednesday, August 30 — On this day in 1743 Francis Asbury was born in Staffordshire, England. Here was a young man who knew where he was going and lost no time in getting started. By the age of 16 he was a preacher. Always attracted to the Methodist Society, which at that time was shaking England with its new fervor, Asbury soon joined one of the itinerant groups that were travelling about the country preaching in houses, barns, open fields, and anywhere they could get a hearing.

The boy rose rapidly in the three years he had been made general assistant to John Wesley, Methodism's top leader, and sent to work in the American colonies.

When the Revolution came, Asbury stayed on in America, thus cutting his ties with England and identifying himself with the new nation. After the war it was quite natural that he should be instrumental in establishing an American Methodist church, independent of English Methodism as the United States was independent of the English crown.

And it was quite natural that his colleagues should make Asbury the head of this new church. What was surprising to many people was that they made him a bishop — the first in Methodism anywhere.

For these men were Englishmen, nurtured in the Anglican tradition which said, as it still does, that it takes three bishops to consecrate a bishop. For a group of preachers to claim this power was a daring break with the past. It showed the vitality and self-confidence of the new church.

Asbury worked in America more than 30 years, all told. Much of the growth and strength of Methodism in this continent is due to the combination of organizing genius and tireless energy that was Francis Asbury.

One of his great contributions was the development of the circuit rider system for which American Methodism is famous — and which in the pioneer days of this country solved the problem of clergy shortage by permitting one minister to serve many scattered congregations.

NUN OR SISTER?

From Asbury Park, N.J., the town named for the great Francis Asbury, comes a suggestion which indicates that not all the inhabitants there are Methodists. "It might be interesting sometime," our correspondent says, "to explain the difference between a sister and a nun. I find a great deal of confusion even among people who should know."

The difference is basically in the kind of vows they take. There are two kinds of public vows: solemn vows and simple vows.

Wants College Training for Prison Workers

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Federation of University Women wants university courses established to train correctional prison workers.

Mrs. Bernard Kane of New Westminster, B.C., chairman of the penal reform committee, today told delegates to the federation's biennial convention:

"There has been great expansion and professionalization of the correctional field in Canada over the last few years. The demand for professional staff is great and the source unlimited.

"It is hoped that university facilities will be broadened for this work."

University women are studying penal reform and otherwise taking active interest in correctional work particularly regarding education, she said in her annual report.

Margaret MacLellan of Ottawa, chairman of the federation's committee on the status of women, said clubs are showing a "real and growing" interest in acquiring equality of rights with men.

In London, ont., through the efforts of a CFUW member, Alderman Margaret Fullerton, a law prohibiting the employment of married women by the city was rescinded.

JOHNSTON — BLACKBURN

A wedding of exceptional loveliness was solemnized in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville, on Saturday, August 2nd, when Eleanor Mae, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alger Blackburn, of Belleville, was united in marriage to Howard William, eldest son of the Reverend Doctor and Mrs. Minton Coyne Johnston, of Toronto. The double ring service by Rev. Keith Daniel officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Tall standards of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and potted palm; interspersed with white candles, added to the beauty of the ceremony, while the wedding music, centred by white mums and tiny sprigs of huckleberry designated the guest pews.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, guest organist, presided at the console of the organ, and rendered pastorelle wedding music preceding the ceremony. During the signing of the register Mr. Gordon played "Ave Maria" by Gounod.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of pure white, white organza fashioned with bouffant skirt ending in a chapel length train. The bateau neckline and tucked bodice were trimmed with hand-embroidered lace in scroll design, and outlined with tiny brilliants. The short, fitted sleeves were completed by matching organza mitts, and her chapel-length veil of silk illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white gardenias entwined with periwinkle, in keeping with all those worn, mingled with white stephanotis. White, bracaded satin completed the bridal ensemble.

The attendants were Miss Natalia Shevchuk, of Belleville, as maid of honor, and Miss Joyce Blackburn of Belleville, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and were gowned alike in pale aqua taffeta brocade, with square necklines, fitted bodices, and full, flared skirts in street length, accented at the back by deep aqua marine fly-away panels. Narrow aqua velvet ribbon outlined the empire waistlines ending in bowed streamers cascading to the hemlines. The costumes were made by the bride and her maid of honor. They wore matching headdresses of deep aqua velvet ribbon, mitts and pumps, and carried cascade bouquets of Pinocchio 'mums and pale yellow roses.

Mr. Allan McLay, of Hamilton, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. David Lacey, Mr. Leslie Johnston of Toronto, and Mr. Jack Hall of Belleville, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the beautiful grounds of Maple Inn, Bloomfield, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, attired in imported navy Venetian lace, full length coat having a fitted bodice with scalloped neckline, and pleated skirt, regal in its simplicity. She wore a feathered hat of navy blue with matching accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

The bridegroom's mother, assisting in the receiving line, was gowned in orange-lace chiffon over beige satin in street length, with matching straw hat having burnt orange feather accent, beige accessories, and corsage of bronze-toned roses.

For the wedding trip, by motor, to undisclosed points, the bride chose an ensemble in chocolate brown with orange-ice tone hat, beige rose and brown accessories, and completed glamella corsage. At the bride's request her bridal bouquet was sent to one of the church members who has been ill for some months. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will reside at 245 Erskine Ave., Toronto.

Guests were present from New Brunswick, Boston, Burlington, U.S., Dundas, Hamilton, Toronto, Windsor, Brooklin, Ontario; Scarboro, Willowdale, Ajax, Thornhill, Trenton, Quebec and Smithfield, Belleville, and other points.

The bride was entertained at a pre-nuptial reception held in Toronto by Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, at a dinner and presentation of a lovely wool blanket by the Alumnae of the Toronto Teachers' College; at a trousseau tea given by her mother, and a rehearsal dinner at Hotel Quinte.

The bride is a graduate, of Ryerson School of Technology, Toronto, also of the Ontario Teachers' College, Toronto. The bridegroom is a graduate of McMaster University, and a sixth year student in Theology.

Motels Are Now Luxury Spots Rather Than Criminal Hideouts

By SHIRLEY AND BO BSLOANE

A review of our summer's travels to date brings forth one distinct impression: that it pleasures to pass along, and that's the emergences of the motel from the aura of promise it has had in during these postwar travel boom years into the limelight of fulfillment.

Scarcely a decade ago the term "motel," not a one was even then, had fallen into disuse a n d even a certain degree of disreputable. Most overnight highway accommodations were dingy shacks unsubsistingly or with modern cabins," a contradiction in terms if we ever heard one. Many were criminal hideouts.

They contained secondhand beds, a light bulb hanging on a cord from the ceiling, and little else. Few had showers and none telephones, air conditioning or other modern conveniences. Their chief virtues were negative ones: they had none of the drawbacks of the hotels of those days (as is sometimes of these days) such as expensive parking and tipping, and airless public rooms.

LAVISH MOTELS

Today's motels — and the term has become quite respectable today as it was then, but in t h other direction — are among the most lavish accommodations available. In literally hundreds of small communities throughout the continent they offer the only firstclass place to stay for travellers and guests of residents. In more than a few are found the best restaurants in the area and the only public rooms and banquet facilities.

Few commercial hotels h a v been built since before the great depression of 1929, and most of those few have gone up in major cities. Even in Toronto, New York hasn't had a new hotel structure in some 20 years.

One reason for this has been the fantastically multiplying costs of such major commercial undertakers, including chains, have satisfied themselves with renovating the old buildings and making money by wheeling and dealing in them as real estate operations. (Some hotels change hands so often even travel agents g e t confused, and the member lists of most chains vary dizzyingly.)

The motels, conversely, have been built for the travel market of the 20's and 30's — mostly by businessmen and nearly all arrivals by train. Thus location in the heart of town was the chief consideration.

Today 85 per cent of all travel in North America is by car, and as much is for pleasure as f o r business. This fact is so portentous that most of the vigor in hotel business thinking today is in the motel field. Even some hotel chains are spending the lion's share of their new development money in it.

The modern motel offers the best of what is indigenous to each of the rival forms of accommodation: the slick professional service, luxurious rooms, fine food and public service facilities of the hotels, with the spacious and attractive grounds, swimming pools, playgrounds, free and convenient parking, and the informality ad tip-freedom that long have been dirling drivers to motels who could well afford luxury hotels.

REFINEMENTS

Refinements have been added. Associations of independent motels — most prominent among them, in our view, Quality Courts and Best Western Motels — have been formed to maintain high standards and make guaranteed reservations available free to guests of member motels.

Many motels of recent years are actually luxury resorts and have been so successful that much recent hotel construction has been in motel style, rather than primarily layout.

Even in unpretentiously modest places offer all the elements of a vacation — luxuriously appointed rooms, facilities for swimming, sunning, boating and fishing, and outstanding service.

The summer we've found that most of the new motels around Ontario have been not only thoughtfully situated, off the highway but conveniently close to the best restaurants, with swimming pools the rule rather than the exception, and air conditioning universal. All have provided for children with family room rates, playgrounds, and even lists of qualified baby sitters.

It seems to make travelling more pleasant than ever in coming years.

Teacher For 50 Years Says Children Haven't Slipped

QUEBEC (CP) — Silver-haired Gertie Gallant says children haven't slipped in character since she began teaching school nearly a century ago.

Miss Gallant, 72, said it's true teen-agers are criticised more today, but that's only because parents were.

"They don't hide like their folks did. What they feel like doing or saying they do or say in the open. We're not any better or worse than their parents were," a 900 STUDENTS

Miss Gallant has had more than 1,000 regular students and has taught seven French and English - language schools since the entered teaching. She now has the longest service record in the province's education system, and is a commissioner of the order of scholastic merit—highest honor attainable by a Quebec teacher.

"Of all the students I taught, I heard of only one going wrong," she said in an interview. "And I don't believe that story.

"There was never a single student I have disliked. It was a matter of assessing each of their characters."

But she lost her temper "lots of times" in dealing with children.

SOMEE SHOW OFF

Miss Gallant's one qualm about modern children is that they have a tendency to show off. The result was that some of things they wouldn't normally do.

Miss Gallant's career began with some difficulty in this province's French - speaking. A native of Charlottetown, she was appointed at her first year of teaching by a citizen who objected to the English language being taught.

She protested in turn and the citizen was forced to apologize.

Miss Gallant has no plans for retirement or marriage.

"I've had plenty offers of marriage. But once a woman starts to teach she becomes independent. I could never see myself depending on a man to support me."

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The first meeting for August of the Women of the Moose was held in the Moose Hall, on Victoria Ave., with Senior Regent Gladys Ritch presiding.

Plans were discussed for a rummage sale to be held in the Belleville Armoures early in October.

The next meeting of the group would be September 8th and 6th. A euchre is to be held at Gladys Ritch's on Thursday August 21st.

The meeting was brought to a close with penny bingo enjoyed by the members.

Flying Officer and Mrs. Harold Gordon Mills are shown cutting the wedding cake following their recent marriage in St. John's Anglican Church, Aylmer. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lott, of Point Anne, and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Mills, of Ennisdale, Nova Scotia. (Photo by Bruce Edwards, Belleville.)

MILLS — LOTT

All the attendants were gowns of similar design; the maid of honor in pink, doted nylon and matching - toned taffeta in waltz length, with fitted bodices, three-quarter length sleeves, and matching cummerbunds fastened at the back with large flowers of matching material. The bridesmaids were in blue. All wore half-hats of petals of the same material, as their gowns, sprinkled with rhinestones. The maid of honor carried a crescent bouquet of blue carnations, and bridesmaids' fern, while the bridesmaids carried Colonial bouquets of shell-pink carnations and chrysanthemums backed by frill of stiff nylon net.

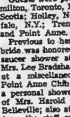
The little flower girl was demure in her frock of pink-dotted nylon over taffeta with short, full skirt, puffed sleeves and round neckline and short, frilled nylon gloves. She wore a headdress similar in color shades to those of the other attendants, and carried a tiny basket of deep red, full-blown roses.

Flying Officer Roger Shields of Downsview RCAF Station (Toronto), attended the bridegroom, while Flying Officer Robert Love of Trenton RCAF, Messrs. Scott Mills of Elmsdale, Nova Scotia, brother of the bridegroom and David Lott, of Point Anne, brother of the bride ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Orange hall at Point Anne, which was decorated with pink and white ornaments and white wedding bells. The bride's table was distatly appointed with white damask, and centred by a three-tier, pedestal wedding cake adorned with pale pink and yellow roses with blue birds hovering in the corners, and flanked by the bridal bouquets.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing powder blue lace in sheath style with overskirt of powder blue chiffon matching picture hat of lace, matching accessories and corsage of pale pink, Sweetheart roses.

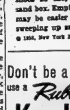
The bridegroom's mother assisted, gowned in champagne lace, also in sheath design, with pink picture hat, matching accessories and corsage of pale pink Sweetheart roses.



For an extended tour of the north country, by motor, the bride chose a fitted sheath in beige shade with matching three-quarter duster, orange-ice accessories, and corsage of white gardenias. Upon their return Flying Officer and Mrs. Mills will reside in Edmonton, Alberta.

The bride's gift to her attendants, pearl necklaces and earrings; to her flower girl, silver locket and bracelet; to her organist, compact. The bridegroom's gift to his bride, a wrist watch.

Guests were present from Belleville, Toronto, Ennisdale, Nova Scotia; Holley, New York, Buffalo, N.Y.; Trenton, Belleville and Point Anne.



Previous to her marriage the bride was honored at a tea and miscee shower at the home of Mrs. Lee Bradshaw, Point Anne; at a miscellaneous shower at Point Anne Club House, and at a personal shower at the home of Mrs. Harold MacDonald, of Belleville; also at a presentation from the staff of the Commercial Credit Corporation, Limited, of Belleville.

Nifty Knits

By ALICE ALDEN

Good wool knits take a commanding position as fall trends start to crystallize. Full-fashioned, smooth wool knit makes a splendid all-day dress, one to wear with distinction and pride. A tailored knit ribbon bow and streamers accent a "stand-off-ish" neckline and softly rolled collar. Moderately priced and sure to attract the college crowd, this typically American fashion comes in vivid colors as well as the good old standbys.

Bakers' Bonanza

by Mary Moore

Dorice is one of those quick working cooks who is convinced all things are possible, like when Charlie are Howard and Edna's indispensable Lake Muskoka neighbors.

Since the filling in butter tarts is so popular, why not try it as the top layer of a pan cookie? With little changes here and there (currants and lemon juice omitted) to adjust the consistency here is Dorice's version of

"BUTTER TART" PAN COOKIES

(These also served to a crowd of 9 at an after the uproarious game of Up-the-River.) One-half cup butter (or margarine), 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2 tablespoons white sugar, 1¼ cups brown sugar, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream the butter well, then cream into it the 1 cup sifted flour and 2 tablespoons white sugar. Press this smoothly into an ungreased 9" x 9" pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 15 minutes. Meanwhile, mix together all remaining ingredients. When base has baked 15 minutes, remove it from oven and spread second mixture over it evenly. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer or until golden brown.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

PARENTS TO GIVE DAUGHTER HER FIRST PERSONAL CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our daughter is to graduate from a large junior college next spring, and she would like to have us have some personal cards engraved for her now, so that she will have them to use next fall and winter, and then to enclose with her commencement invitations and other occasions of graduations. About these we have three questions.

1. Should we have "Miss" engraved before her name, or is she too young for this?

2. She doesn't like her middle name, so uses an initial instead of this name. On these cards she would like to omit her middle name, and not even use the initial for it. Her father and I have no objection to this, want her to do as she wishes. What do you advise?

3. What type of engraving would you suggest?

Thank you for any suggestions. — Mother

1. "Miss" should be engraved before your daughter's name. Every detail must be formal on such a strictly formal item as a visiting-card.

2. I completely agree with her . . . this is a perfect time for her to omit her middle name entirely (no name, no initial). Since you and your husband have no objection, no reason for her to hold on to it. Miss Rosemary Hill.

3. Today's most popular type of engraving is Shaded Antique Roman. This lettering is youthful and graceful.

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS PAY FOR THEIR OWN COSTUMES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Who pays for the dresses of the bridal attendants? I say that the bride's parents should furnish them. The bride-to-be maintains that the attendants themselves furnish them. Who is right? — E.

The bride-to-be is right. Although she plans and selects every item of the costumes of her attendants, each attendant pays for her own costume. The only exception to this is the attendants' flowers, which usually are provided by the bride or her family, although in some communities these are provided by the bridegroom.

PRONOUNCED VAL-ET . . . NOT VAL-LAY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle our discussion. My friend insists that valet is pronounced vallay, as it is a French word. But I say it should be pronounced val-et, as spelled. (Most people I know pronounce it val-et.) Who is right?

— Two Friends

You are . . . It's pronounced val-et. The word was originally French, but it has been Anglicized, and is now pronounced as it is spelled.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Clara J. — I want to move from that woman.

Fred J. — She is just trying to punish me.

Clara J. — For some time before our marriage my husband carried on an affair with a woman who left town and has now, six years later, returned to live in our neighborhood. In the meantime, she has been married and her marriage has broken up. She is becoming part of our social circle, and I feel very uncomfortable about her presence.

I cannot help feeling that my father was the deciding factor in persuading my husband to give up the other woman so he could marry me. My father was then his employer and I was a "good catch." I do not believe my husband gave her up out of any upsurge of virtue or repentance.

I have asked Fred to move our home into another neighborhood where I would not be constantly confronted with her painful presence, but he not only disagrees but insists that he has every right to associate with her since, he contends, we have a great many mutual friends.

I brought a great deal to Fred in our marriage. But for my father's generosity, he could not have managed to start his own business. I feel I have every right to the consideration I am asking.

Fred J. — Clara is completely mistaken about Helen. I almost wish Clara's suspicious attitude was justified. Helen was very good to me and she gave me up when I told her that I had a chance to marry a girl who could insure my future.

Whatever Clara has done for me, she has been sure to let me know often enough to drive me to despair. I miss very much the warm affection I was accustomed to before my marriage, but Helen seems to have developed contempt for me since we broke up.

If Helen would have me, I would gladly trade my prosperity for the happiness I used to know. The trouble is that if I were to ask Clara for a divorce, I would lose a great deal without gaining anything, since Helen shows no disposition to encourage me.

I would agree to move to another neighborhood if it would quiet Clara down, but I am sure it would not, since she would then accept my submission as proof of my guilt. I think Clara is pressing this point just to punish me for something she knew about before our marriage.

* * *

The Council: If ever there was a case where both man and wife are terribly wrong, this is it.

It appears that Clara was so eager to be married that she swallowed her pride for the moment, only to distort it into vengeance and nagging right after her marriage.

Fred was eager enough to make a good investment in marriage, but he had neither the good judgment nor the generosity to make an effort to persuade Clara that he loved her. He was, thus, just as cruel and vindictive as his wife. Now, both are trying to use the returned Helen as a club with which to hit the other over the head.

Both desperately need to find a touch of decency and kindness in their hearts, or they will continue to give each other the cruel punishment each has merited. Since both have been equally offensive, it may be difficult for them to find the virtue of forgiveness. But they are in for a miserable life together unless they relent and start anew.

As for divorce, it would leave both bankrupt and bitter. They should try their utmost to become human.

A sprightly salad garnish is made by mixing Worcestershire sauce into a cream cheese, then forming it into tiny morsels, with parsley sprigs for tops. Chill before serving.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Retire Young If That's Your Wish And If You Are Financially Able

By THOMAS COLLINS

"I am faced with the most difficult decision I have had to make in nearly 45 years in business.

"I am 59. I want to retire at 60. I am financially able to retire. Yet in every direction I look there are signs that tell me 'Don't.'

"I have made a fair success in business. But I had no schooling of note so I made what success I have by giving my youth — and in fact these last 45 years — to hard work.

"I want to pay myself back by having some pleasures before I am too old. I want to travel around and see America. I think a freighter trip to Spain and a walking tour through the Basque country there would be almost the end of a rainbow.

"I am afraid I may die. All men are, a little, at my age. I think I am more afraid that I have something like cancer or arthritis or angina will strike, and everything will be over. I am afraid if I were on a stage performing and somebody was threatening to pull the curtain and I had to hurry or I wouldn't be allowed to finish.

"But however compelling these reasonings are, there is my wife who tells me, over and over, that I will be miserable if I give up my work. There are my friends, who pretend to a wisdom I lack, who say I go out of the ball park when I retire, that I am out in the street for good. That I can hear the cheering men as I go. I can't get back in.

"And there is my own appprehension. I will be surrendering a job paying me over $10,000 a year. I can't get it back again. I will be relying on money I've saved and put into investments. These investments, what with inflation, war threats, and changing political climates, are out of my hands and in the lab of the gods.

MORE ELOQUENTLY

This man has expressed it more eloquently than most 58-year-olds do. But he speaks a piece that is in the hearts of most working men his age.

Should he voluntarily retire?

The experience of others indicates he should, for these reasons:

He is financially able. There are no commandments that a person should continue on at a commercial task beyond his need for it. Surely there is some purpose in life beyond home-base pay.

He is retiring to something, rather than trying to get away from something distasteful in what he now has. A walk in Spain seems a little bizarre b u t each man has a right to his taste.

He wants to retire. That, after 45 years of working, crosses out all sorts of objections.

He is afraid of his physical future, and he has a right to be. About 20 letters a week come to the Golden Years from widows who say that if only they had told their husbands to quit work sooner — or had insisted — they would still have them. Maybe this man would live to be 100. He file expectancy at 59 is a long ways down the road. But he can't be sure. One of the ironies of o u r times is that a blue-jawed auto mechanic can tell us whether our cars will make a 1,000-mile trip, but a stiff-collared specialist can't tell us whether we'll get out of his office alive.

WIFE'S OBJECTIONS

About the objections of h i s wife: Retirement means a drastic drop in income. It means a change, usually a lowering, of social status. It means a loss of various privileges. These things can affect a wife's thinking. And while a wife should have far more to say about her husband's job and money than she does have, in this case the man is a better judge.

About the warnings of friends: The advice of friends is almost always a liability when it concerns retirement. Any person's own quiet wisdom is usually more reliable. You can't get back into the ball park, as the friends say, and you'll miss the cheering if you retire and lose. If you have something to do, you won't miss it.

About financial uncertainties in the future: They have always been with us. This man should put his savings in the highest grade investments he can find, cut his wants to fit the income, and take his chances.

Summary: He should retire, take his trip, realize it is not so long to be a "has-grown" as he thinks, use the trip to map some activity he must follow when he comes home, start getting check-ups with the doctor every 3 o r months from now on . . . and start teaching his wife Spanish.

Dads know more than the good picnic spots

When it's a perfect day for a picnic, most Dads know where the grass is cool and green . . . where the swimming's safe . . . where the family can have fun.

Dads know a lot of useful things like that.

And one of the things they also know is that it pays to be realistic about life insurance protection. The family income, the children's education, their home — these are things worth safeguarding.

You can provide the full protection your family needs by selecting the company that offers life insurance at low net cost. That's The Mutual Life of Canada — the company with the outstanding dividend record.

Aviation Affairs

Parry Sound Men Open Aerial Workshop on Lake

By DON HARVEY

Up near Parry Sound a couple of commercial aviators have come up with something that should be welcomed by Almaguin and Canadian aircraft owners who occasionally fly across Ontario's rugged northland.

Bill Dicks and Gordon Simpson have formed Ontario Air Services on Maple Lake, 12 miles southeast of Parry Sound.

Ontario Air Services is an unique type of aircraft repair shop in that it will cater exclusively to privately-owned, float-equipped aircraft.

In a story by Dick Beckett in The Sudbury Star last Monday, Bill Dicks said: "Look at it this way, when you car breaks down you just call the tow truck and get it towed to the nearest garage or service station. But when your plane breaks down just what can you do? The commercial float plane operators have their hands full trying to keep their own planes in good order. Any work they do for the little man is purely a favor."

At the present time Dicks and Simpson are casting short shadows. They are just feeling out the market and seeing how things go. If they find existation in the northland will support a repair shop then they will settle a few more of their hangars, says Gord Simpson: "We hope to put in a temperature control room to do all the enamel work on the wings and body, especially in the winter when the fog and lists longer if it is applied in a temperature-controlled room. At present hangar will then be enlarged to accommodate more planes.

Why did they choose Maple Lake?

"For various reasons," said Dicks. "This is the most sheltered spot in the whole area. We have protection for our planes at all times and there is room to haul to get a place with hydro and telephone at the right price, and enough room to taking off and take frontage as well, it's not at all easy."

FUTURE PLANS

Eventually Ontario Air Services hopes to be able to rebuild planes from the bottom up, strip them completely, overhaul engine and wings and then resell them. At the moment, though, work is being concentrated on two single seaters which will be resold when they are completed.

Dicks and Simpson are in the aircraft salvage business, too. Last year they bought a plane ditched by Austin Airways in the bush some 35 miles northwest of Timmins. They removed the propellers and engines from the plane and salvaged the fuselage last winter.

That plane presented a formidable task. It was a cargo carrier with a wing span of 102 feet, weighed 14,000 and was capable of carrying 20 passengers.

"We're always on the lookout for this type of thing," Dicks said. "A complete new building job from top to bottom generates a highly active aircraft, pleases the new owner the builder and the owner, as the case may be."

A lot of credit is due to Dicks and Simpson. They have been called pioneers in the aviation workshop industry of northern Ontario. All they will need is some aircraft owners to keep more confidence in the knowledge that there is one workshop available in that area of Canada's north.

Their enterprise is very interesting. Quite likely a number of people, not necessarily aircrafters — will be watching to see how they get along. Simpson and Dicks say they will be right on the threshold of a very rewarding venture. That is, if there is a continued increase in the numbers of privately owned aircraft in Canada and the United States.

SOME FIGURES

At the end of December, 1954, there were 1,287 privately owned planes in Canada. But at the end of December, 1956, the number had risen to 1,566. Not an astounding increase, mind you, but at least it shows more people are buying airplanes. Of course, the number of privately owned planes in the States far exceeds the number in this country. Canadians, as a whole, still have not exploited the advantages offered by civilian aviation.

Like Dicks said, if your car breaks down all you need do is call for a tow truck and in short order your car will be towed to a service station. But become stranded in the bush because of an unserviceable airplane and you are out of luck as far as getting help is concerned. For small aircraft can carry more than the pilot and baggage.

Canada's northland has not yet been opened to any great extent. A tourist traffic, primarily because the only way to get to the north is by aircraft and consequently few people own planes. There really is a close relationship between the price of a modern "luxury" automobile and a light aircraft. Some people own two cars. Perhaps in the future they will own one car and trade the other in on an aircraft. That is what many Americans are doing.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

INFANT DAYS

What a fright we would get if we saw a new born baby walking! Yet some birds are able to run as soon as they leave the shell. The majority stay put for one, two or three weeks, others nearly two months.

The "precocial" birds, as they are called, come out of the eggs fully fledged because there must be sufficient albumin to feed the whole chick for a long time. Incubator incubates for about 27 days before all her babies break through the shell. Then she must get as soon as their down is dry she can lead them to food. Much the same is true for all sandpipers, snipe, and rails. In half an hour ducklings can run, feed and even swim immediately.

Broods may be laid on successive days, yet all hatch within a few minutes of each other. Right after birth mother and young can clan can run, though they cannot fly. Blinded by the sun they can neither fly nor walk, but are able to get around to a certain extent by pushing themselves with feed to reed holding on by the fingerlike claws on their wings. Parent ducks and grouse find food for their infants, but let them search for themselves.

HELPLESS AT BIRTH

Infant song birds hatch out in a short time and are helpless at birth. Most of the mothers lay an egg a day, and the babies are usually born on successive days. For instance, this is the plan for Yellowthroat. Mother bird gets really all the youngsters leave home on the same day, so the nest can be built and hatched by a week old when sent out into the big world. Although nestings of as four eggs on four successive days, they do not begin to incubate till all are laid. Then on the twelfth day all are hatched. The babies' eyes are open, and they leave in five days old, and they fly eight days afterwards. Parents stay by them at least two weeks.

Hawks and owls are babies for three months, but some of the birds leave for a long time. Owls are helpless when born and their eyes are open. The eggs of both these birds of prey are laid on different days, hatched on different week apart, so the ages of the young differ by a week. It is comical to see side by side birds of such different sizes.

The Week's News

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A KLM Royal Dutch Airlines plane carrying 99 people took off from Shannon Airport, Ireland, on a flight from Amsterdam to New York.

An hour and 35 minutes later radio contact with the huge Super Constellation was lost. Debris and wreckage from the plane was sighted on the floor of the stormy Atlantic off the west coast of Ireland.

There was no sign of survivors. What caused the crash could only be guessed at.

Pilots of other Transatlantic planes reported violent storms in the area. An undertaker said the first bodies brought ashore indicated an explosion took place. Only one of the bodies picked up was that of a small boy, had a life-belt.

ASSEMBLY DEBATE

President Eisenhower went before the United Nations General Assembly to present "the framework of a plan for peace" in the Middle East.

Eisenhower made six points: The UN should guarantee the area's independence when U.S. troops are removed; it should take measures to preserve peace in Jordan; it should form an international police force; there should be an end "to the fomenting from without or civil strife"; steps should be taken to create a new armorace spiral in the area; and the UN would consider an Arab-run Middle East development fund and technical assistance program.

Reaction to the plan, particularly Eisenhower's personal appeal, was generally favorable.

Russia's foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, met with the premiers of British and American troop landings in Jordan and Lebanon but said the Soviet Union would consult with "anyone" to modify its resolution before the UN calling for withdrawal of troops.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd defended British intervention in Jordan, saying that it said the soldiers would be withdrawn as soon as stability returned to Jordan and the UN can be made.

King Jordan's foreign minister, Abdel Monem Rifai, said his government wouldn't permit UN forces to enter the country. He asked for money and arms for self-defence.

LABOR TROUBLE

Ontario was best by labor troubles.

The Steel Company of Canada's plant at Hamilton, the biggest in the country, was closed by a strike. Beer supplies ran low in Toronto because brewery warehousemen walked off their jobs. Negotiations between International Nickel Company and its employ were at a standstill.

Mediation offers by Ontario Labor Minister Dana Porter failed in the strike of 8,000 Sielco workers.

The company abandoned its plant at a wage increase offered by offering a five-cents an-hour increase. The offer was rejected by members of America, asking for a 35-cent package, with the Canadian group the proposal by calling it an office.

The brewery warehousemen are holding out for a shorter work week and wage increases of $10 to $12 a week. Other brewery employees have been laid off because of the warehousemen's strike and tapmen in bars would be let out.

The International Union of J. Heid and Mr. and Mrs. David-son,of Alliance, Ohio at their cottage at Belmont Lake.

Miss Marian Masterson is spending some time with friends in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt visited Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Green, Marmora, on Sunday.

Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) asked INCO for a 10-per-cent wage increase and five days' work for five days' work. The company wants no change.

A strike call would be legal seven days after a conciliation board makes a public report. It has 15 days done so yet.

MARIE DIONNE WED

The third of the famous Dionne quintuplets, Marie, was married in Montreal Roule in an almost-secret ceremony in Montreal.

No relatives were at the nuptial mass and the altar boys who served the mass acted as witnesses. The reason was to avoid the publicity crush that attended Cecile's marriage to Philip Langlois last November.

The other married sister is Annette, now Mrs. Germain Allard. Still unmarried is Yvonne, a recent nursing graduate. The fifth girl, Emilie, died in 1954.

TOUR OVER

Princess Margaret, feeling "rather like Cinderella must have felt as the first terrible note of midnight struck," flew home from Halifax at the end of her four-week Canadian tour.

The princess spent her last day under a hot sun, part of the time in a Canadian Legion parade, but it was raining in London when she arrived.

RAILWAY LOSING

Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, had a gloomy report for the Senate transport committee.

"I regret to say the more passenger traffic we get, the more we lose money."

"Our Super Continental running between Montreal and Toronto has the best equipment in the world, and I'm told that it has cost us many millions of dollars we lose with this service."

Gordon said the CNR is studying the possibility of giving up passenger service altogether.

Parliamentary committees have runs in favor of fast - service trains between nearby cities.

PRINTING BILLS

Fifty members of Parliament visited the Printing Bureau in Ottawa, Oct., 1957.

They were trying to find out why the Government had asked, instead of the estimate of $8,000,-000.

Earlier, E. A. Gardner, chief public works architect, told the public accounts committee of Parliament that the works department had objected when the printing bureau put in the bill.

The visiting MPs were stunned. They found running pictures of water in the sub-basement, an elaborately - appointed bathroom and a splendid shower for the Queen's Printer and an air-conditioning system that didn't work. A temperature in one part of the building was 94 degrees but in another the man had to wear hats because of the cold.

Auditor - General Toronto Rosedale Conservative, said afterwards: "This is fantastic. An incredible story."

Pinch Hitting

WEEKEND SPORT

The sports-minded citizen will have plenty to keep him busy over the weekend as all individuals seek to one of the season's heaviest sports schedules in this district.

While it can hardly be classed as a spectator's event, the OHA Eastern Ontario Senior "A" Hockey meeting held in Hull, Quebec, this afternoon, holds plenty of interest locally. The big question seems to be: "Will the Hull Canadiens enter the loop this season as a full fledged member, playing a full schedule and participating in the playoffs?" This and other important matters should be cleared by the time Mac manager Drury Denyes arrives back here.

The season is fast approaching when hockey will be the big sport and with the McFarlands representing Canada in the world hockey tournament, interest should be fever high in another month.

Most of the district's softball fans will be on their way to Point Anne shortly after this hits the streets for the big OASA Intermediate "A" playdown game there. The Cementmen are playing host to Kingston Indians in the opening game of the two-out-of-three set. Game time is 6:30. Return tilt will be played in the eastern city Tuesday

And by now up at the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club, things are in full swing in that club's annual tournament. 164 golfers from Belleville, Toronto, Peterborough, Kingston, Napanee, Trenton and other clubs were slated to take part with the first foursome getting under way this morning at seven o'clock.

The gentlemen members of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club are also spending a busy afternoon. Men's trebles play got under way at one this afternoon and according to Claude Tice it was hoped about 32 rinks would be taking part. The bowlers shift to Brighton next Wednesday afternoon for mixed doubles play.

And the younger lads will not be pushed to a back seat as the city's minor teams take to the diamond for Ontario Minor Baseball Association playdowns.

The starry midget squad, coached by Charlie Jeffs, begins its hunt for the provincial Midget "A" championship, meeting with Trenton on the latter's grounds. Game time is two o'clock this afternoon. Return game will be played here next Wednesday.

The juveniles also enter OBA playdowns this weekend. They clash with Cobourg in their first game this afternoon and the opening game in Cobourg will be played at the Fair Grounds on Tuesday night.

The peewee Hawks, Belleville's entry in that division, meet Cobourg also in their initial "Event. They get underway up on the shore of Lake Ontario Monday evening at 6.15. Other players are asked to be at CNRA Park Monday afternoon at two o'clock to leave for Cobourg. The clubs meet again at CNRA Park next Friday evening.

While on baseball, we find Lasta and Read battling it out for the Hastings Intermediate "A" championship. The four-of-seven titular series will start tonight at Read. Game time 6:30. Soccer Art Hall reports good news that Lee Gretis, M.P., for Hastings South, has donated a beautiful trophy to be awarded to the winners.

Soccer activity finds the Bay of Quinte All-Stars playing in Kingston tonight at six o'clock.

Sunday morning will find the usual activity at the Quinte Trap and Gun Club, with visitors always welcome. Opening rounds are fired around 10.30 a.m.

Quinte Pigeon Racing Club has another young bird race on tap, also tomorrow morning. The pigeons will take off from the Hunstville area and fly home, a distance of 120 miles.

And that just about covers the weekend sport unless you intend to do a little swimming or golfing on your own.

Braves Leading Field In National Loop By 7 Games

Joey Jay, Carl Willey Give Team Consecutive Shutouts; Canadian Going for Red Sox

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just three days ago Milwaukee had lost a two - game series at Pittsburgh and there were faint thoughts that the Braves might still have a fog-light ahead for the National League pennant.

Now Joey Jay and Carl Willey, two righthanders, who couldn't break into the Braves' pitching pattern a year ago, have come up with consecutive shutouts and the world champions are seven games ahead again with a four-game winning streak.

Jay, seeking ninth-inning relief despite a one-hitter, won 2-0 at Cincinnati Thursday night. Then Willey went all the way for a six - hit, 1-0 decision over Philadelphia Friday night while Cincinnati jumped Pittsburgh's winning string at seven by beating the second-place Pirates 6-1.

GIANTS LOSE

Third-place San Francisco lost 3-1 to Chicago Cubs in 10 innings. And Los Angeles Dodgers returned to the first division for the first time since the fourth game of the season by sweeping a twonight pair from St. Louis. The Dodgers, winners since manager Walt Alston was told he'd be removed in 1959, tied the Cards for fourth by winning 4-3, in 11 innings, and 5-3.

Willey was his sixth in a row with his third shutout for an 8-3 record. He had the Phils hitless until Richie Ashburn, who had half of the Phils' hits, lined a third-inning single to left. Ashburn's major league hit Robin Roberts (12-11) took his eighth 1-0 defeat in his last nine starts as a relative pitcher.

The last-place Redlegs, winning only two of their last 12, broke up a 1-1 game with five runs in the eighth with Bob Purkey won his 14th by pulling down his former mates with a five - run rally. Frank Robinson's 23rd homer tied it in the fifth off Ron Kline (11-11), who gave up three - hitter for seven innings.

HAVE DUEL

Dave Hillman and Sin Miller had a brilliant duel for seven innings at San Francisco before singles by Ernie Banks and Tony Taylor and a force-out gave the Cubs a 1-0 lead in the eighth. Orlando Cepeda's 22nd home run tied it with one out in the ninth, but the Cubs scored the winning run in the 10th, with Cal Neeman's fifth homer opening the frame. Hillman, who struck out 10, now is 3-4. Miller is 3-7.

Elmer Valo's bunch single with one out in the 10th gave the Dodgers the opener for a 5-0 record in extra-innings. Jay took over their fourth in a row and tied Bob Friend's record for the first time since April 18 by battering old mate Sal Maglie (3-6) in the nightcap.

Homers by Carl Furillo and Don Zimmer gave the Dodgers their two-run lead in the opener against Larry Jackson (9-10). Ken Boyer got his 22nd for Cardinals' only runs. Cards' three in the sixth inning but Clem Labine then blanked 'em with relief for a 6-4 record. John Klippstein (5-4) won the nightcap in relief.

The Boston Red Sox, doomed to another year of disappointment months ago in the American League pennant race, at least may have found their long sought left-handed pitcher in rookie Ted Bowsfield.

The Pembleton, B.C., lad has been up just a month, working only 31 innings. But he has a 3-0 record, with both decisions over the pennant - bound New York Yankees — beating Bob Turley, the winningest pitcher in the leagues this season, in both.

Bowsfield, 22, beat the champs for the second time in six days Friday night, gaining his first complete game in his career with a seven hitter for a 6-2 victory. He walked five, but left 10 on base.

LOSE FIVE OF SIX

It was the coasting Yankees' fifth defeat in their last six games, cutting their bulge to 13½ games over the second place Chicago White Sox, who defeated Cleveland 4-3. Kansas City walloped Detroit 12-5, and Washington defeated Baltimore 3-1 in the other American League games.

Bowsfield, who beat the Yankees for six innings but needed relief help for a 9-8 victory Thursday at Yankee Stadium, was tougher still at Fenway Park, despite the nearby left field wall. He never trailed after the first, and blanked the Yanks for the last four frames.

The young lefty, up from Minneapolis of the American Association, closed it out by getting the last three men — Hank Bauer, Andy Carey and Enos Slaughter — all righthanded power guys — on eight pitches.

Ernie Bunning gave Bowsfield the lead with a 420-foot, two-run homer in the fifth and Bowsfield single scored the deciding run in the fourth and Turley's relief, Ryne Duren, Turley, who has won 17, had lost two straight only once before this season, and that pair, too, was to the same pitcher—Detroit's Jim Bunning.

ROOKIE LEAGUER

Rookie Barry Latman won his first of the season for the White Sox, beating Cleveland's Cal Neeman, a former Sox catcher, in a two-run Indian eighth. The Sox scored the clincher for their two-run lead when Hal Woodeshick (5-3) in a two-run sixth. Woodeshick gave up 6-for-6 and drove in a pair for Chicago.

Frank Bolling drove in all five runs Detroit got — a two - run homer, sacrifice fly and a single. Roger Maris' 24th homer smacked a two-run homer, his first, for the As. Murry Dickson (8-6) won in relief for Kansas City.

Vilo Valentinetti (3-1) won a relief decision for Washington. Boyd had two of the Orioles' hits, one a solo homer, for the The Nats' other run off Jack Harshman (9-11) with Jim Lemon hitting his 25th homer in the inning doubles by Albie Pearson and Roy Sievers scored the winning run.

'Name' Stalwarts Kept on Bench By Edmonton

OTTAWA (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos appear slated for box office trouble should they ever again tackle an exhibition game in Ottawa.

An Eskimo team of sorts lost 26-6 to Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four in a Monday night game before 9,000 fans who trooped in 51-degree heat to "see" the Eska.

Coach Sam Lyle, however, kept his "name" stalwarts on the bench for most of the game. It was only in the dying minutes he sent in such attractions as Norm Kwong, Johnny Bright and Jackie Parker.

CROWD BOOZES

By the Riders were leading 2-0 and the impatient crowd booed the substitutes.

Sports writers shared the fans' indignation.

General manager Jim McCaffrey of Riders, however, took the more tolerant view that "exhibition games are just intended to try the players out."

The sports writers were less accommodating.

Jack Wardlaw of The Journal wrote

"It was just about time, if Big Four clubs are to continue selling exhibition games, to put the fans in their place. Monday night did it.

"It seems every time they just about get used to the money and the exercise."

Jack Kinsella of The Citizen lamented that fans now spend $4 to watch Tiger-Cats "wrestle" the Alouettes and Edmonton is "then haven't just cause to demand a small refund at least."

Columnist Jack Parker was in for only 11 plays while "Bright and Kwong weren't used much either and Rollie Miles didn't play at all."

College All-Stars Score Upset Win Over Lions

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Mitchell's running and Billy Kinard's passing and Bobby Conrad's kicking gave the college all-stars a 35-19 upset victory over Detroit Lions Friday night in the season's opening U.S. major football game.

Mitchell was the receiving end of two touchdown passes from Michigan State's Nixowski. The University of Illinois star ran 94 yards down the sidelines after taking a flat toss in the second spectacular play of the night.

Conrad, Texas A and M, scored four field goals, from 44, 34, 34 and 19 yards.

The All-Stars savored by 13 points and the crowd of 70,000 fans saw Detroit's offensive command after Detroit ground out an opening quarter touchdown.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Leroy (Satchel) Paige, 50 - year - old pitcher for the Miami Marlins of the International League, is back on the baseball team's active list.

He was suspended Aug. 5 for disregarding rules. The disciplinary action against the durable Negro pitcher followed his first resignation from the team. He complained he hadn't been given his meal allowance or salary.

Hutton Takes Yukon Eric In Third Fall to Retain Title

BY GARRY ALEXANDER

Dick Hutton hung onto his world heavyweight wrestling championship before a rather small crowd at the Memorial Arena here last night when his opponent, lumberjack Yukon Eric, was counted out outside the ring in the deciding fall of their two-of-three match.

As fate would have it, Eric lost the bout because the Champion was just a mite faster with his feet. Hutton's favorite trick of jumping outside the ropes whenever Eric looked in a dangerous mood paid off. Both wrestlers had taken one fall with a couple of their favorite holds and both fans were determined to do it out with the third.

Hutton, who had worked on Eric's midsection to cop the first fall, went back to the same spot in the third. He pounded the fists and feet to Yukon's middle and then went into a body-slam act, when Eric took after him.

The big Alaskan took this for just so long then decided to follow Hutton outside the ring. This was a mistake. The pair struggled it out for a few seconds before Hutton booted Eric on the floor and rolled back onto the mat just before referee Bert Maxwell reached the count of ten. Yukon tried to beat the count too but missed by a hair. He was all but happy as Maxwell informed him that Hutton was still champ but it looked like the bewhiskered Yukon had lost his bid for the world title.

In the opening minutes of the first fall neither man took any chances. Hutton jockeyed for a headlock, leaping over the rope, every few minutes as Yukon got a bit peeved with Hutton belting him in the belly. Hutton tried his famous flying drop kick to the abdominal stretch but found Eric was too strong. Wrestling off with each other, the champ pilfed first after fist into Eric's midsection and then advancing Yukon to the ropes until Eric began to weaken. The champ then stepped in with his stretch to take the fall in 12 minutes.

SWEET REVENGE

Yukon got sweet revenge in the second fall when he had matters all his own way. He teased Hutton with a few chops to her bill, whipping him into the corner posts and off the ropes with a flying tackle. He hit Sinch chest in the corners. He finally finished Dick by catching him coming off the ropes with a tremendous bear hug and squeezing the life out of Hutton's torso. It took eight minutes.

Then came the third fall and Hutton's victory.

Lord Athol Saytour and Dara Singh two great fan favorites, battled to a 30-minute draw in one of the best one-fall bouts seen in the season. The pair were evenly matched all the way with Saytour having a slight physical an edge. They matched hold for hold and pitted strength against strength both to the fast delight. Singh took over as the favorite with the crowd when Layton used his judo but the East champ also tossed a few judo blows to even matters. The pair shook hands at bouts end.

In the opening bout on the card Frenchy Vigny pinned Al "Crusher" Yeager with a body press in 18 minutes after weakening the "Krusher" with an airplane spin.

Other winners of the night included Gus the Great from St. Thomas; Dusty Mac Cruise, Haliburton and Mary Anderson, Oshweken.

TORONTO (CP)—A nine-year-old gelding named Legal Express, freshly promoted from the ranks of C class trotters, surprised most of the patrons at Old Woodbine Park Friday night, and startled a couple of invaders.

Involved in a still field of seven starters aiming at a $1,000 invitation trot Legal Express returned $18.80 with a victory in the featured seventh race.

The bettors went heavily for a mare in a 9 - 5 choice Chips, owned by N. Litt and M. Baillie of Stratford and driven by Ralph McLean, Legal, at the strength of an impressive record at Hazel Park, Detroit, from whence she was recently shipped.

Another mare, Marjre Regent, owned by Mrs. J. Polk of Kingston, came in from Roosevelt Raceway, Buffalo, but apparently didn't manage to find the winner's enclosure.

Legal Express driven by Gordon Kitchen, held off "Rosena Chips" charge in the stretch.

In the class B eighth 'race, Chief Attorney Can, the five-year-old son of Stalwart Adios, driven by his owner, Russell Beattie of Grand Valley, scored in the impressive time of 2:05 over Dunc Campbell's Angelo Hanover driven by Craig and Harry Lumley's Sharon's Counsel from Owen Sound.

Bass-Bug Tyer Extraordinary

In Morgantown, West Virginia, lives a man named Joseph K. Jennings. Joe is a hunter and a fisherman. That, of itself, is not unusual. What is out of the ordinary about Joe is this — he is a specialist and an authority on certain phases of both hunting and fishing. You don't find very many of those.

Joe is a past-master at turkey hunting. Actually, he has forgotten more about the pursuit and capture of the wild turkey than most men ever find out. Each fall Joe can just about write his own ticket for what he wants to bring in — a trophy gobbler or a good "eatin' bird," which is another way of saying "a fat, mid-size hen." Of course, Joe does not restrict hunting and does it well, but turkey is his specialty.

Back in 1938, while I was conducting a nature course on freshwater angling at Columbia University, one of the group brought in a bass lure. This, of course, was par for the course. With a gathering of seventy-odd anglers, somebody usually showed up with some item of equipment to be brought up after the lecture for inspection and comment.

This particular lure, however, was in a class by itself. It was a remarkably life-like artificial frog fashioned from deer hair. As you know, there are a great many deer-hair frog on the market. They make them in all sizes and weights. Most are for fly-rod use, but some are heavy enough to be cast with a spinning rod.

But this particular frog was something else again. It was a bass-bug! Joe had brilliant intuition. Instead, its back was brown, same color as a meadow frog; its underside was a clear white and the undersides of the legs were yellow. The bend in the legs were reinforced, invisibly with bits of steel wire so that the legs would stay bent and not straighten out when wet. The little thing had been moulded from plastic lacquer, and the whole affair was lifelike indeed.

But the thing that was most impressive was the way in which that little frog had been put together. The lines of color demarkation — brown on the back and white on the bottom; brown on the tops of the legs and yellow on their undersides — were as clearcut as though they had been painted.

NATURAL DEXTERITY

However, the only paint on the frog was that used to mould the eyes. The rest of the color variance was achieved purely by manual dexterity. How anybody can fasten deer hair to the shank of a bass hook, using only repeated wrappings of silk thread, and turn out that degree of perfection is a complete mystery. Joe and I do not know, knows how to do it.

Naturally, I asked Joe for his address and in due course I received some meadow frogs. My fishing partner and I took them over to the North Branch of the Susquehanna River on the opening day of bass season. That stream holds more than its share of kingsize smallmouth, but they are well-fed and difficult to interest in any sort of lure or fly.

We don't believe in keeping limit catches so we kept one to seven fish. We let the rest "sort the finger" and replace little ones with big ones. Instead, we kept the first eleven fish that we caught. Then we quit and went home.

Several of those fish weighed between a pound and a pound and a half, but two of them tipped the scales from three and a half to five and a quarter pounds. The smallest catch weighed an even 32 pounds.

Since then Joe's frogs have been put to work in all sorts of bass water here and there about the country. Needless to say, they have delivered the goods, both with largemouth and smallmouth bass. Without question, that little frog is the deadliest bass lure yet to be devised. One day my son and I hooked, landed and released eighty over 100 small-mouth bass in the upper waters of the Delaware River of N e w York State, fish ranging in weight from half a pound to four pounds. That will give you some idea.

As I say, Joe is a specialist. Even more, he is a perfectionist. He ties other bass lures, notably his "mile-hammer" which is a largemouth bug, but my favorite is the meadow frog. Believe me, I am grateful to Joe for hundreds of pleasant hours on bass waters. Without the little meadow frogs, those same hours might not have been such happy ones.

Challenger for Floyd Patterson's world heavyweight crown, Roy Harris works out on the bag as his brother, Henry, watches. Harris' father, Henry Sr., is up in arms over a California State rule that prohibits a father or brother from acting as a second in the ring. The elder Harris vows he will get the rule changed before son Roy meets Patterson in Los Angeles on August 18.

Leafs, Royals Score Victories In Int. League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leafs scored two goals enough in Havana Friday night as the International League game between the Havana Sugar Kings and Rochester Red Wings entered the seventh inning tied at 2-2. Then bedlam broke loose. The Red Wings paraded 14 batters to the plate and scored nine of them with eight hits. They added single runs in the eighth and ninth to make the final score 13-2.

The defeat dropped the Sugar Kings into the basement as Buffalo Bisons won their game at Miami, 3-2. Toronto Maple Leafs beat Richmond Virginians 5-1 and the league leading Montreal Royals blanked Columbus Jets 6-0.

Bobby Balcena singled home Lou Ortiz from second base in the ninth inning to break a 2-2 tie and give Glenn Cox his 12th victory for the Bisons.

CHAKALES LOSES

Richmond's Bob Chakales allowed the Maple Leafs only three hits but two of them went for the distance. A sudden storm cancelled the game.

Charlie Rabe spun a neat three hitter as the Royals maintained their 1½ game edge over second place. It was the 14th loss in the last 19 games for the Jets.

Nino Valdes Scores Close Win Over De John

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Big Nino Valdes came a step closer to a possible shot at the world's heavyweight title by winning a split decision over Mike De John in their 10-round return bout here last night. Valdes weighed 214, De John 200½.

The scrap was almost as close as their first fight in Syracuse last April 25, when Valdes won a split decision.

Judge Joe Agnello scored it 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday 96-94 for Valdes and Judge Friday night. Leo Birnbaum scored it 95-94 but had Valdes down for a knockdown on points 9 to 8. Referee Ruby Goldstein scored 5-4-1 in favor of Valdes.

Valdes floored De-John in the second and ninth rounds but De John's adherents claimed he fell each time as a result of pushes rather than punches.

For Valdes it was his 46th victory. He has lost 15 and fought to two draws.

Oakville Oaks Senior Champs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's official now. Oakville Oaks are the Senior Intercounty Baseball League pennant winners. They clinched it Friday night with a 12-9 win over Guelph Merchants.

The Oaks still have one game to play but their closest rivals, Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, are two games off the pace and have not enough games in hand to catch up.

Guelph struck for a six-run lead in the first inning but saw it disappear in the fourth when the Oaks pounded out eight hits, including homers by Bill Hannivan and Grant Redshaw.

Manager Says OLA Has Taken 'Easy Way Out'

HAMILTON (CP) — Edward (Lefty) Jordan, general manager of Hamilton Tiger-cats, said Friday the Ontario Lacrosse Association "took the easy way out" in suspending his club from the parent body.

Jordan called the suspension unjustified and said he is considering seeking legal advice on its validity.

The OLA Thursday suspended the Hamilton team for failing to appear for senior series games with Brampton Aug. 13 and 13. Hamilton and Peterborough have been in a see-saw battle for the last playoff spot.

Jordan said the suspension followed a telephone poll of the other clubs.

"The OLA took the easy way out just as it has been doing for the past three years," he said. "I will be interested to see what happens to the $500 bond I posted for the 1958 season."

Three Controversial Marks Recognized by Federation

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The International Amateur Athletic Federation Friday recognized as world records three controversial marks in the mile, 1,500 metres and high jump.

Derek Ibbotson's mile in three minutes, 57.5 seconds, was beaten by Australia's Herb Elliott; the 3:36.1 time for 1,500 metres by Stanislaw Jungwirth of Czechoslovakia and seven - foot one-inch high jump (2.16 metres) by Yuri Stephanov of Russia all were given recognition.

Ibbotson's mile and Jungwirth's 1,500 metres had been questioned on the grounds that the times were made in paced races, Stepanov's high jump was made with the aid of a shoe with a built up sole.

While acting quickly on several record applications, the IAAF postponed action on the most recent and sensational of all—the 3:54.5 mile run by Herb Elliott of Australia at Dublin, Aug. 6, Although there was no question of pacing, the IAAF deferred consideration of this mark until its next meeting.

Walt Disney's Latest Hit, "The Light in the Forest" in Technicolor

Nineteen - year - old James MacArthur left his ivy league suit in his closet at Harvard University when he reported for his role in Walt Disney's newest live - action, full - length feature, "The Light in the Forest". Playing the part of a white youth raised by Delaware Indians during the 18th Century, MacArthur wears authentic tribal duds. His costume consists of a wampum - bead armband, buckskin leggings with Delaware woven ties at the ankle and moccasins. His Delaware - style haircut made in a braided pigtail adorned with scalplock and bonnet feathers. He is, indeed, the well-dressed Indian.

MacArthur, who enrolled at Harvard and does his acting chores on leave of absence, holds a top role among a stellar cast that includes Fess Parker, Wendell Corey, Joanne Dru, Jessica Tandy, Joseph Calleia, John McIntire, Rafael Compos and Carol Lynley. Filmed in Technicolor, "The Light in the Forest", is playing today for the last time, at the air - conditioned Belle Theatre in Belleville.

On the same program — in this very special 25 minute Featurette — Scotland, Land of the Heather", in Technicolor, and a clever. Canadian Novelette in Color.

Dressler and Garbo Great As Oldtime Films Revived

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the nice things about having a new baby in the house is that you can stay up with the late show on TV.

Lately, Caroline and I have been watching KTTV's Cavalcade of MGM Greats. For five nights each week, the station presents films from the careers of Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Lana Turner, Rod Skelton and others.

Our fancy was caught this week by the Greta Garbo festival, especially Monday night's showing of Anna Christie. The Eugene O'Neill drama has been done at least twice on live TV and recently in a musical Broadway version, New Girl in Town. Yet the 28-year-old Garbo movie was still fascinating to watch.

OH, THAT MARIE!

Oh, that Marie Dressler! What an outrageous mugger she was, exploiting every trick she learned with Weber and Fields and Mack Sennett. It was a beautiful job, and I can't think of anyone today who could approach such a performance.

And Garbo was a revelation. She was not the stolid Swede legend has created. She was animated and expressive, etching a perfect portrait of the world-weary Anna.

Watching these two great artists brought this thought: How much more exciting was the film medium when actors weren't afraid to make their faces move. The oldtimers were trained in silent films, when their expressions had to tell the story. Today's stars, who rely on words to carry the plot, are a dull, stone-faced lot by comparison.

Another thought: Anna Christie was one of the earliest talkies ("Garbo speaks" was the ad campaign). Yet it was better than most of the old movies on TV.

WHY THIS CHOICE?

Why do the stations take most of their old movies from the war-time and post-war years? That was at a time when quality of the Hollywood product was at a low ebb. Any kind of picture could turn a profit, because of the entertainment boom.

Why not dip into more of the oldies, yes, even the silents? Some of the best of the cinema days was created before the screen learned to talk.

JOANS GOLDEN BEARS

SARNIA (CP)—Ted Robinson, an American fullback released this week by Montreal Alouettes, joined Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Friday. He was with the OHFU champion Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen last year.

INCOME TAXES DOWN

Income taxes may seem high but they are away down from what they were.

This graph shows the taxes which have been payable by a married man with two children from 1939 to the present—at annual salaries of $3,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

For the man making $3,000 the tax is close to the pre-war range. Those earning the higher salaries, although paying much more than they would have in 1939, are well down from the wartime peaks. (CP Newsmap.)

Taxes May Seem High But They Have Been Cut More Than One Realizes

This article, one of a series, describes what has happened to Canadian taxes since the war. Friday: Why the per cent for more tax cuts is dim.

By FORREST RHODE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Taxes are high and are likely to remain high but they have been cut—perhaps more than is generally realized.

For many lower - paid people the personal income tax, in terms of dollars, is back in the range of pre-war days.

Using compilations of the Canadian Tax Foundation, take the case of a married man with two children who earns $3,000 a year. Forget, for convenience of computation, various deductions from taxable income which probably reduced his tax.

In 1939 he paid $7 a year. By 1946 this had climbed to a peak of $403. By 1949 it was down to $105. The Korean War sent it up to $123. Since then it has declined to $44.

SAMPLE FIGURES

On earnings of $5,000, the 1939 tax would have been $94; the wartime high $2,946; and the current tax $1,326.

The man earning $2,500 in 1939—assuming the same circumstances of wife and two children—paid nothing then, a wartime high of $276, and nothing now.

Taxes for those with fewer dependents and for single persons would, of course, be higher for all years.

A single person making $3,000 would have paid $84 in 1939; a wartime peak of $924; a current $261. One making $2,000 would have paid $36 in 1939; a wartime peak of $441; a current $117. One making $1,000 would have paid nothing in 1939; a wartime peak of $93; and nothing now.

The figures are exclusive of wartime compulsory savings and of the old-age security tax, which since 1942 has been two per cent of taxable income to a maximum payment of $60.

INCOME TAX PEAK

Despite the cut in rates, the personal income tax yielded a record $1,649,300,000 for the fiscal year ending last March. This compares with a wartime record of $920,726,000 in 1944, at the much higher rates of that time.

About half the total current tax comes from people earning $5,000 or less.

The increase in total collections reflects the increase in population and higher earnings.

In 1939 about 300,00 people of a working force of 4,500,000 paid income tax; in 1943 about 2,200,000 of a working force of 5,100,000; in 1957, 4,300,000 of a working force of 5,900,000.

The dollar comparisons don't tell the whole story. The man who earned $3,000 in 1939 got it in dollars that had about twice the buying power of today. Counting that are today's higher wages.

The corporation income tax has also been reduced. For small businesses the cut is considerable; for larger businesses the rate is well below its wartime high, but well above its post-war low.

COMPANIES' SHARE

The Canadian Tax Foundation has made compilations on this, too.

A company making a profit of $25,000 in 1939 would have paid 15 per cent in income tax. This reached a wartime high of 51.3 per cent; dropped to 23.8 in 1948; rose to 38.0 in 1952; and since then has dropped to 18.0.

The increase in total collections reflects tax increases in population and higher earnings. Many more people are making enough to be taxed.

In 1939 about 300,000 people of a working force of 4,500,000 paid income tax; in 1940 about 2,300,000 of a working force of 5,100,000; in 1957, 4,300,000 of a working force of 5,900,000.

The dollar comparisons don't tell the whole story. The man who earned $3,000 in 1939 got it in dollars that had about twice the buying power of today. Counting that are today's higher wages.

The corporation income tax has also been reduced. For small businesses the cut is considerable; for larger businesses the rate is well below its wartime high, but well above its post-war low.

COMPANIES' SHARE

The Canadian Tax Foundation has made compilations on this, too.

A company making a profit of $25,000 in 1939 would have paid 15 per cent in income tax. This reached a wartime high of 51.3 per cent; dropped to 23.8 in 1948; rose to 38.0 in 1952; and since then has dropped to 18.0—a tax on $25,000 of $4,500.

A minimum corporation rate of 18 per cent has applied to the first $35,000 of profit since December. Before that the varying minimum rates applied to the first $25,000 and, before 1953, to the first $10,000.

The rate on profits in excess of $25,000 is 45 per cent. In Ontario, under the present federal-provincial situation, it is an additional two per cent, or 47 per cent.

Take the case of a company making a profit of $500,000. In 1939 it would have paid a tax of 15 per cent. This reached a wartime high of 78 per cent; dropped to 30.0 in 1948; rose to 49.4 in 1952; and now is 43.7—a tax, on $500,000, of $218,500.

OLD-AGE IMPOST

In addition, companies pay a two-per-cent old-age security tax, so the total tax on the company making $25,000 is $500; and on the company making $500,000, it is $228,500. Add another two per cent in Ontario.

For the war years—when there was an excess profits tax—the compilation assumes that the average profit of each company in the base pre-war years was $10,000 and that all profits above that figure came into the excess-profits classification.

Total revenue from the corporation income tax also is around record levels — reflecting the country's growth.

The high wartime rates brought a wartime peak of $940,378,000 in 1944. In the fiscal year 1956-57 the total reached a record of $1,368,300,000. With currently decreased profits it is estimated at $1,019,000,000 in the current year.

SALES-TAX EXEMPTIONS

The sales tax levied on things you buy is still at its peak rate of 10 per cent. However, a lengthening list of things have been made exempt from it.

It started at one per cent in 1920; rose to six per cent in 1940; to eight—one per cent by 1950; rose again to six per cent in 1936; remained unchanged for eight years; rose to nine per cent in 1951.

At Jan. 1, 1952, the sales tax was reduced to eight per cent but an old-age-security tax of two per cent was added, so the total remained at 10.

The sales tax in 1957-58 yielded more than $700,000,000—exclusive of the old-age security portion—down slightly from the record preceding year.

The excise tax—which is really an added sales tax—has been removed from most items to which it applied in the Second World War and Korean War and its rates have been reduced on items on which it still applies.

Its yield of about $250,000,000 in 1957-58 was considerably from earlier years.

Excise duties on liquor and tobacco remain generally around the peak levels though reductions have been made in some items. Their yield of some $300,000,000 in 1957-58 was a record; the so-called "nuisance taxes" of war days—such as the stamp tax that had to be attached to cheques—have almost all been abolished.

Customs duties have tended downward in accord with trade agreements with other countries.

The Canadian Tax Foundation—whose compilations are used in the personal and corporation income comparisons—is a tax-research organization with governors nominated each year by the Canadian Bar Association and the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants. Its work is supported by some 2,000 individuals and corporations. Membership is open to all interested in its work.

All Brake Work Should Be Done By An Expert

By EUGENE MILMOE

You wouldn't drive a brakeless car — yet you could be risking equal danger by postponing needed brake service. Regardless of how minor it may seem, any condition which affects braking efficiency is always serious enough to warrant immediate attention.

Most poor braking results from such as fading, grabbing, dragging, chatter, pulling to one side, etc., are often traceable to grease or fluid soaked linings. However, it's also true that most of these troubles could be caused by faulty brake adjustments. Master cylinder defects, improper linings, wheel cylinder wear or leakage, air in the system, poor quality fluid, incorrect pedal adjustment — these and other conditions may have to be checked out before the principal cause is uncovered. In other words, don't try to do it yourself. Only an expert is qualified to keep your braking system operating safely.

Hints on Growing Good Roses

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

"A rose bush is a machine for making roses." But, some rose bushes like some machines turn out to be lemons. Pick proven performers, treat them right and you can expect to get good results. Buy from reputable dealers and they will be able to help you make a good choice.

Select plants with healthy foliage, strong canes. Before you are thrown up from the base. Ask for named varieties which are noted for their abundant blooms and types which are resistant to disease.

It will take a year or two to know what kind of actor your rose is. To help it give its best, supply all the props such as good planting practice, fertilizing, watering and pest protection.

Plant according to directions supplied by the grower. Dig in large quantities of humus in the form of peat moss, spagnum moss, chopped straw, or leaves, real mold or sawdust.

Then comes feeding. To turn out a steady supply of blooms and sturdy new growth plenty of readily available food must be close to the tiny feeder roots. Some gardeners insist that only animal fertilizers will give the best results. They use bonemeal, a slow acting food that has a phosphorus rich substance, which will produce healthy roots. To this they add dried blood. A mix of these three applied a little and often. Water generously between rains. Remember, all food must be reduced to a liquid state for the feeder roots to absorb it.

To repel and poison aphis, leaf rollers, thrips and caterpillars you will need to spray or dust with a poison powder or liquid, every two weeks. Mildew and black spot are due to fungus growth which are on the plants, in the air and on the ground surrounding them. An all purpose spray which contains captan, will take care of the fungus spaces, but for chewing and sucking insects and red spider. Spray the underside of the leaves and the soil all around each rose bush.

In spring the pruning should include removing all the twiggy laterals especially those coming up in the centre of the bush. These are the first to develop black spot and pass it on to outside stems. Do not allow buds to develop on these thin stems.

Ena Hartness is prone to this fault. Treat Ena hard by cutting out all undersize centre growth and the you will have of the best of the red roses. Do not cut stems more than 12 inches when pruning for name. Nor take that leaf left on the stem is on the outside, buds will induce new growth to grow outward.

Roses should be grown on stems standing up from the base. Budded to one flower only for each stem if you want flowers of top size.

The first All-American award for 1958 is an offspring of Fashion named Ivory Fashion. This floribunda with plenty of pointed yellow buds and a faint touch of yellow at the base of the petals.

Collins Bay Pen Fired By Sixty Rioting Prisoners

Three Buildings Burned, $65,000 Estimated Loss

KINGSTON (CP) — Sixty screaming prisoners rampaged through maximum security Collins Bay penitentiary Sunday setting fires that destroyed three buildings and damaged two others. None escaped.

They were locked behind when a guard, crouching behind a lumber pile, shot and wounded one of the leaders as they attempted to storm the kitchen.

Damage was estimated by Warden Victor Richmond at $65,000. Two men were injured, neither seriously.

ANNIVERSARY EVENT

Warden Richmond said the reason for the riot is unknown. He speculated it was an incident marking the anniversary of a similar riot at Kingston Penitentiary on Aug. 15, 1954.

Inmates Lawrence Lapointe, 23, of Ottawa, serving five years for attempted armed robbery, breaking and entering and theft was shot in the leg. Guard Ernest Hartwell was also taken to hospital for head injuries suffered when clubbed by a rioter.

Destroyed by flames were a cement powder plant, Gazuldog which housed 48 prisoners, a punishment building known as the Dungeon, and a shop. Two cells able to accommodate six men, was empty at the time.

A concrete electrical shop, a concrete paint shop, carpentry shop and a garage were badly damaged.

GUARD GETS CREDIT

The warden, in Toronto when the riot began, credited Guard D. S. Patterson with preventing the rioters from doing more damage. Patterson, armed with a pistol, saw the men breaking for the kitchen and waited for them behind a heavy lumber.

When two warnings failed to stop them, he fired, wounding Labelle.

Warden Richmond said there had been no hint of complaints about conditions. "They have ample liberties and why they chose to abuse them I don't know."

NO ACTION TAKEN

He said no disciplinary action has been taken and privileges suspended. Such action may follow an official investigation, he said.

King George VI Wanted to Write To Adolf Hitler

LONDON (AP) — The late King George VI wanted to write to Adolf Hitler in 1938—"as one ex-servicoman to another"—in an attempt to head off war, but the cabinet talked down the idea.

This was disclosed today by the King's official biographer, historian John Wheeler-Bennett.

Bennett, who had access to the late Duke's diaries, said the King offered to make a personal appeal in a letter to Hitler to save the youth of England and Germany from the horrors of another war.

P.M. INTERVENES TO TAKE PRESSURE OFF MINISTERS

Questioned on Labor Policies, Statements

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker intervened twice in the Commons Saturday to take the pressure off ministers under fire from the opposition.

At a sitting that seldom saw 100 members in their places, the government was critically questioned on labor policies and statements made by Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton on U.S. control of Canadian Arctic areas—statements later denied by Washington.

The prime minister closed off questioners on the northern issue by declaring any explanation of Mr. Hamilton's earlier statement. Later in the afternoon he took silent office to take the pressure off Labor Minister Starr.

FOR OPPOSITION

For the one recorded vote of the day there were 75 members to be counted. Progress was made and the estimates vote for the remaining estimates vote was approved.

Mr. Starr parried persistent questioning on government plans for dealing with winter unemployment.

Finally the minister said "recommendations" had been made following a recent Ottawa conference on unemployment. These would be considered by his department, conclusions would be reached by the government and "action" would follow.

NOT ENOUGH

This didn't satisfy Liberal and CCF members.

They charged the government with delay and CCF House Leader Hazen Argue moved "to defer consideration of the government could disclose its plans for dealing with winter unemployment."

The motion was defeated 98 to 73 on a standing vote, Liberals voting with the CCF.

The argument continued, how-ever, prompting Mr. Diefenbaker's intervention.

The prime minister said in effect he has full confidence in Mr. Starr's handling of the job condition wanted to challenge those policies, it should be done by motion. No such motion was tabled.

REPLIES TO PEARSON

Mr. Diefenbaker's first stint as trouble-shooter came after Opposition Leader Pearson asked about a statement Thursday by Mr. Hamilton on Canadian Arctic.

Mr. Hamilton had said he was "satisfied" Canadians, even cabinet ministers, have to get United States permission to visit its experimental bases in the North.

Mr. Diefenbaker said existing travel arrangements are satisfactory and in no way interfere with Canada's sovereignty.

Jugging up Harry Sludge in Clinic, Round Box Finds He Is Not With It

LONDON (AP)—"Two Harry reddens," said the youth in the blue jeans.

He thought our friend Percy the bartender would do his nut. Having sent the customer on his way with two glasses of ale—wise, Percy said grimly:

"We've had enough of these coffee bar types are doing to the English language. I'm launched to put them down—down the line. This was disclosed today by the King's official biographer, historian John Wheeler-Bennett.

Bennett, who had access to the late Duke's diaries, said the King offered to make a personal appeal in a letter to Hitler to save the youth of England and Germany from the horrors of another war.

Percy explained. "It's just a word these types throw in because in their set it's the smart thing to red wine. Champers is champers, Sludge, sludge and plasma are beer."

He said we had overheard one of the long-haired male girl friend to "chuck the snouts over." She passed him a pack of cigarettes and remarked, "Let's rile out of this clinic—I'm dead chocker."

"Snout is a British prison term for tobacco which has been adopted by the coffee bar set," explained Percy. "Clinic is their word for a pub, to ride out is to leave and dead chocker is terribly bored."

How did Percy become so fluent in the new tongue?

"By playing Parker," he snapped.

Parker's

"That's from Nosey Parker, a person who listens in on other people's conversations," said Percy.

Percy then supplied a glossary of some of the more common terms in use by the caffein fiends:

Lumbering—courting a girl.

Percy on bubble—getting bald.

Dead chuffed—delighted.

Bird—girl friend—unable to understand.

Belt up—be quiet.

Scupper up or log up—drink liquor or beer.

Char, kookers, bottled or parlyte—drunk.

Sundae or tole—street corner fight.

Bunch of five—a fist.

Round box — somebody who doesn't dig jazz — a square.

Doing his nut, or stroppy—getting furious; blowing his stack.

A screech—enjoyable show or party.

We said thanks to Percy for the translation and rode out of the clinic feeling like a round box but convinced that English is a living language.

First Moon Rocket Explodes, Recover Wreckage From Sea

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) Scientists pressed an intensive investigation today to determine what caused the first U.S. lunar rocket to explode.

The huge satellite-bearing missile shattered in a puff of white smoke Sunday 77 seconds after a fiery blastoff.

Even before this initial strike at the moon, a second attempt had been ordered. The follow-up U.S. Air Force lunar probe attempt is expected during a three-day period starting Sept. 14.

Plans for another try were disclosed as the Air Force began fishing the explosion-torn debris of its lunar missile out of the Atlantic.

Divers descended into 80 feet of water some 10 miles northeast of the cape and came up with sections of the metal skin of the Thor 1,500-mile-range missile that was the rocket's first stage.

The two upper stages—both borrowed from the navy Vanguard program — continued onward in undetermined distance after the explosion. It was not expected that part of the wreckage would be recovered.

Preliminary analysis indicated that the explosion occurred in the engine compartment of the first of the three rocket stages.

Maj.Gen. Bernard Schriever, chief of the air force ballistic missile division, told a press conference it might take a week to pinpoint the trouble definitely. A quick look at the data indicated a random failure.

A leak in or rupture of one of the liquid-oxygen or fuel lines would have touched off the explosion, he said.

Roy Johnson, head of the defense department's space program, said malfunctioning of any of 300,000 parts could make the missile do what it did.

This was the first of five lunar probes slated for the next year, three by the air force and two by the army.

The positions of earth and moon are such that launchings from any site only three or four consecutive days each month. Because of the days required to travel the 250,000 miles from earth to moon, the rocket must be aimed at a theoretical point far ahead of the moon.

The rocket launched Sunday was the largest ever fired by the U.S., an 88-footer. It weighed 53 tons.

Economists Warn of Poverty And Stagnation in Maritimes

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia may lead the country in economic expansion over the next 25 years.

Other provinces, too, may get in on the economic gravy-train but the outlook is bleak for New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

In fact, suggests Dr. R. D. Howland of Halifax, unless some "imaginative and bold" steps are taken the Atlantic provinces will stagnation and poverty in the Atlantic region may change that area and its economic way isolate those provinces from the rest of Canada.

His proposed steps include heavy, long-term federal investments to aid expansion of Atlantic resources industries, a revised federal tax policy, Maritimes freight-rate structure, and uprooting of marginal producers to provide them with more lucrative income in other industries.

Dr. Howland, in a report straight 30-per-cent federal rate subsidy on Maritime freight. The federal government ought to boost the subsidy on certain products, such as steel, and extend it to others.

This, says the former Nova Scotia economist, would have now a member of the Borden energy commission, would have special benefit on certain key Maritimes products, make them more competitive in central Canada production and aid employment opportunities in the East.

Nova Scotia's coal-mining industry was a special case. Even more of these miners were removed to other jobs. "There is a danger that the industry will be further impaired by the withdrawal of the more effective and vigorous from the labor force."

Prospects for the northland also appeared dubious. Unless the federal government put on some special "push," Dr. Howland couldn't see the Yukon and the Northwest Territories sharing to any extent in the quarter-century general economic expansion.

The North is a huge storehouse of resources but only "a small part" of it have to await the uping up of more easily accessible supplies, Dr. Howland suggested. Arctic temperatures discouraged establishment of large - scale industries.

The general outlook appeared to be bright for Ontario, Quebec and B.C. would be in the forefront of economic expansion. By 1980 the Ontario population anticipated to expand to 36,650,000 by 1980 from 15,500,000 in 1955. Ontario's share was predicted to climb to 3.1 per cent from 33.1 in 1955; Quebec's from 29; B.C.'s to 9.5 from 8.4.

Though there would be variations among the Prairies, the three-province area would slip to 22 per cent from 18 and the Atlantic provinces to 8.8 from 11.3.

His 300-page report, product of a two-year study, was prepared for the Gordon economic commission and made public today. The commission's final report, issued last April, appeared to go along with most of Dr. Howland's suggestions, proposing heavy federal contributions for Atlantic industrial development.

Dr. Howland also seems close to Maritimers' thinking in suggesting that Maritimers be aided to settle in some other parts of Canada for better economic opportunity.

Dr. Howland observes:

"The frontier psychology of the Prairie provinces unquestionably fosters mobility. On the other

MOUNTIES THINK DOUKHOBOR BOMB 'FACTORY' FOUND

Freedomite Killed In Kelowna Hills

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Police believe they have uncovered a bomb "factory" in the hills near here as the result of a premature explosion in which one member of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect was killed and another severely injured.

The explosion, RCMP believe, ended an attempt to make more bombs to be used in this city last Wednesday—the night bombing spree which saw seven Okanagan Mission, Okanagan Centre, Osoyoos and Vernon, other Okanagan centres.

Killed in the explosion was Philip Perverzensoff, 30, of Winlaw, in the Slocan Valley of southeastern British Columbia. Police said he was a member of one of the radical Sons of Freedom.

His body was thrown about 50 feet from where he was making the bomb on a lonely mountain road near McKinley Landing, eight miles north of Kelowna.

ARMS BLOWN OFF

Both his arms were blown off. His 20-year-old companion, Harry Bojey, also of Winlaw, is under arrest in the Slocan Valley jail. He suffered severe shock and a lung was destroyed. He also suffered serious facial injuries and was reported in fair condition in hospital.

RCMP Staff Sergeant W. B. Irving said two sticks of dynamite, two fuses and blasting caps were found by Mrs. Beatrice Maynard, Dearborn, who suffered a broken ankle when the car in which she was riding left the road and overturned after a 30-foot embankment.

TRENTON — Tiny Robert Labelle, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman LaBelle of 40 College Street E. in Trenton died from a ruptured liver in the Trenton Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon after being run over by his father's car while playing in the driveway of his home.

The accident happened at 8.45 a.m. and the tot died in hospital at 11.15 a.m. Dr. Byrne and Dr. Byrns, both M.D.'s and brothers, were brought to the hospital by his father.

Mr. LaBelle reported he had backed the car in front of his home and about eight feet off the pavement when he saw the child running behind the rear of the car when he accidentally released the emergency brake. The car rolled backwards over Robert and went across the road and into the ditch on the opposite side. Ted Fetter Motors a distance of about 50 feet.

Although the explosion was not discovered until Saturday night, police said the bomb exploded at 3 p.m. on Wednesday. A few minutes later two blasts in post offices at Oliver and Osoyoos and in an apple packing house at Oliver.

ONLY SECOND DEATH

Last week's death from bombs was the only one to occur here in the history of the blasts. Both victims, ironically, were Doukhobors.

The other, Peter Virigin the elder, original Doukhobor leader who died in 1924, was one of his followers when a time bomb exploded in Verigin's CPR coach.

Last Friday five Sons of Freedom were convicted here in a grand trial on charges of conspiring to cause explosions and fires.

113 Prisoners Now Segregated At Collins Bay

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton said Collins Bay prisoners at the Offlins Bay Penitentiary "will" be segregated from those segregated for taking part in Sunday's riot at the institution.

In a report to the Commons on the riot, Mr. Fulton said damage is estimated at $65,000. This excluded any damage to machinery which won't be known until restored.

The rioting prisoners caused panic-like scenes throughout the dining room, the carpenter shop, the paint shop, cells and several other smaller areas.

Mr. Fulton said two persons were injured. A guard received scalp lacerations "from flying glass or a pop bottle and a prisoner received a flesh wound in the leg from a shotgun blast. — ONE LOST SIGHT

The prisoner was wounded when a group attempted to storm the kitchen. Before the prisoners failed to heed a warning to stop, the guard fired a shot into the air.

Mr. Fulton said "the low shot ricocheted off the kitchen.

Prison officials were attempting to determine the cause of the riot. They also were giving consideration to what action should be taken to prevent future disturbances.

Prison officials received no advance warning of the riot, There were no rumors of an impending disturbance, he said. There was no cause.

Mr. Fulton said the riot started at 10:30 a.m. EDT Sunday when most of the 441 prisoners were taking part in recreation. Armed guards brought the riot under control in 10 minutes, permitting dollars in property damage. Property damage was the most extensive with previous comparable disturbances.

Toronto Surgeon Develops Cancer Serum Adding Years to Life

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto surgeon says he has developed a serum which adds months or years to the lives of cancer victims.

Dr. Gordon Murray, director of the Gardiner Medical Research Foundation, reports on new work with the serum in the Canadian Medical Association Journal today adding this week.

The serum, he reports, has had "definite results" in some cases. One woman suffering from a malignant tumor, was nearing death and had been given up for dead by her friends and re-moval of the ovaries.

Following serum treatment she changed from an invalid near death to being near-normal and went back to work for two years" Dr. Murray says.

But he warns the serum shows no evidence of cure with any patient. It only alleviates the symptoms temporarily, near death and considered hopeless by any other means.

The serum is obtained by injecting horses with human cancer tissue over a period of time, then removing blood from the horses and fractionating it.

Patients injected with this serum daily for three or four weeks showed improvement "beyond what could have been expected in any ordinary course of disease."

"Moreover, improvement occurred at a time when further treatment of the disease had been abandoned by surgeons, radiologists and those interested in hormone treatment," Dr. Murray reports.

He treated 223 patients in all, but only 91 received full dosage. Sixty-two of these were patients with metastatic breast cancer. One of these lived two years and 10 months, seven are still living after two years, and 14 are still living after one year. Three breast cancer patients died after receiving the serum. One received normal eyesight and control of a blind tumor for six months and the two others also regained eye functions.

Quoted in the serum, Dr. Murray says relieved or eliminated severe pain in patients, and gave others complete relief whose cancers caused difficulty in swallowing and consequent fear of strangulation.

Some patients who had tumors from spreading for months or in some cases years. In fact, Dr. Murray said, in all cases treated, the malignancy had been widespread and severe.

There has been a strong swing of medical opinion toward the view that cancer is caused by something against which the body's resistance may be improved, Dr. Murray says.

Offices of Public School Board Gutted, $40,000 Loss

Damage estimated at close to $40,000 resulted Sunday afternoon when fire gutted the offices of the Belleville Public School Board at the corner of Chatham and Bridge Streets.

The blaze started on the Bridge Street side of the three-storey structure used as the board offices and swept up through an old stairwell to the attic.

Also destroyed in the blaze, which was first noticed shortly after midday before being spotted, were school supplies for distribution in a general store.

George Olsen, board chairman, stated today that fortunately most of the supplies had already been distributed to the schools. Board officials and members were meeting this morning when fire broke out and temporary offices would be set up.

Firemen were unable to say what had started the fire which appeared to started in the office of school board administrator L. A. Kells. The blaze was well underway before it was spotted by a passerby and the alarm turned in.

When firemen arrived the blaze had already spread through the building and some of the downstairs windows had been blown out by the pressure of the heat inside.

Deputy Fire Chief Gerald O'Brien said today that because of the blaze would be investigated by the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department from Toronto.

GENERAL ALARM

Every piece of fire fighting equipment in the city was called to the blaze, which was quickly and the fire was brought under control in 45 minutes.

Mr. Kells, office believed to have been where the blaze originated, was badly gutted by fire and the interior which quickly raced up the old stairway to the attic. Other rooms in the structure were smoke and water damaged.

The public school board offices were in a former private residence purchased some years ago by the board as a permanent headquarters. The building was extensively renovated as board headquarters.

A Sunday afternoon rumour was that boys had been seen about the building some time before the fire was discovered, but this was not substantiated by firemen.

Until the building is inspected by an official of the fire marshal's department a guard is being kept at the gutted structure.

Although original estimates placed the total damage to building and contents at $20,000 an inspection of the gutted structure this morning by firemen and members of the school board indicated the loss would be closer to $40,000.

The interior of the building was so badly fire damaged that it would have to be completely rebuilt, board chairman George Olsen said today.

Temporary quarters for the public school board will be set up in the King George School. Decision as to what will be done with the burned structure will be made later.

Power Project Will Be Opened On September 5

MASSENA, N.Y. (CP) — The $850,000,000 St. Lawrence power project, four years in construction, will begin delivering commercial operations Sept. 5 amid music and pageantry.

Governor Averell Harriman of New York state and Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario will simultaneously switch to start the generators turning. Hundreds are expected to watch the ceremonies, to be held atop the Robert Moses power dam at Barnhart Island.

Moses, chairman of the state power authority, will preside.

WORLD'S BIGGEST PROJECT

The project is one of the world's biggest. It has a capacity of 1,800,000 kilowatts.

While the event will mark the beginning of large-scale operations, the first power, actually was produced several years ago.

During this test period, the output is being purchased by the Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation.

Composer - conductor Morton Gould will introduce his The St. Lawrence Suite, a musical composition the two governments commissioned him to write.

The project will be a full capacity on September, 1959, when all 32 of the giant generators will be operating.

Auto Industry Starts Working On 1959 Models

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry today started production of its new 1959 model cars in an atmosphere of uncertainty.

With contracts still to be settled with the United Auto Workers union, the industry's big three faced the possibility of a strike in the fall.

The union has said nothing specific and negotiations are continuing.
